

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

A small balance of the expense of publishing and distribution remained yet unpaid. On motion of L. C. Queal the Conference ordered this amount paid out of the funds collected for the Tract cause.

The XX Question—"Was the character of each preacher examined?" was taken up. Auburn district was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, L. C. Queal, was passed and he represented his district as follows:

AUBURN DISTRICT.

This report does not detail the days of earnest work and nights of wakeful solicitude that our Lord has knowledge of, and has rewarded in part, and will make the occasion of everlasting joy to those who have gone forth weeping and have gathered armfuls of sheaves. The farmer whose buildings, fences, fields and tools are well cared for, and whose herds and flocks are safely guarded and well fed, prospers. An inferior soil and good farming reveal thrift; a good soil and bad culture tends to poverty and entails debts. God gives the good farmer good crops, and to good preachers and good pastors the early and the later rain, and the cheering harvests. Thirty-six pastors began the year with purpose to make it a good one.

Rev. Milton Hamblin continued his appreciated and useful labors until April 10, and went to his reward April 17, from the home of a brother in Brooklyn, where he had gone for a rest. He was highly esteemed and sincerely mourned by the Clyde church and community. His life and labors will have fitting recognition in memorial services. The loved and lamented wife of Rev. C. A. Wilson, died in the parsonage in Savannah, the third day after she entered it. A weary one rests. Temporary illness has hindered others a little in their work, and fitted them for more sympathetic care for suffering men.

CHURCH PROPERTY

has appreciated during the year. At Moravia, a commodious and good barn has been completed and paid for. The Summer Hill parsonage debt of about $400, has been paid. The remaining subscriptions for our church at Venice, have been paid, and good sheds built and paid or provided for. At Waterloo, about $200 of floating debt has been paid, and at Seneca Falls, the remaining $1,000 on the mortgage, has been paid, and more than another $1,000 expended in draining, repairing and furnishing the church. They also received from a liberal gentleman, a good church bell and gave a smaller and good one to our Varick church, on the Cayuga charge. The Fosterville church, on the Cayuga charge, the rebuilding of which I reported nearly provided for, has been rebuilt and furnished, and nearly $600 raised in addition to previous subscriptions, and the whole cost paid or provided for.

About the time of Brother Hamblin's death, the Clyde church was damaged by fire to the amount of $1,200 or more. This amount, and more, has been expended in making the church very much better than before the fire. The churches at Huron and Bethel have been painted. The barn and church at Victory, and the church at Westbery, have been rebuilt at a cost of about $3,000, and the whole expense has been paid and provided for. It is a new charge, with the old name made appropriate, let it continue Victory. The basement of the Weedsport church has been newly carpeted. The old has given place to a good new parsonage at Red Creek. The money for the new, was subscribed before the trustees would consent to abandoning the repairing of the old house. This long needed and well done work is gratefully recorded. The Wall street church has been built, and the cost of the same, in addition to the site and the old brick edifice, was $15,000, all of which has been paid and pledged, and the subscriptions are being carefully collected. A lady belonging to the church put one of the best of church bells in the tower, and so Wall street renews her career of usefulness. Trinity church, organized immediately after our last Conference session, has made her first year of history. About eighty members from First and Wall street, in the neighborhood of its location, were counted in her first roll call. What the subscription lacked one year ago of enough to pay for the church edifice, and furnish the same, has been raised and paid. So for support of the pastor and for payments above recognized, at least $1,600 have been raised and paid during the year. Trinity has doubled her membership, met her apportionments for benevolence and stands on the million line for missions, as other churches do. The support of the pastors in the aggregate, will not show much change from previous years, so that in the midst of multiplied demands and denials, we have held the even tenor of our way.

enterprises we have found something to do, and have done it. The statistics will show only a part of the result. Two things will appear, more money has been given, and more knowledge has been received by the people, and the third is of some importance; that those pastors and churches which do most to promote the general church, have most of prosperity at home.

Two District Conferences, and one Sunday School Missionary Convention have been held, and well attended by the pastors and people of Auburn District.

that quickened and encouraged the church, and that were graced with new converts, have been enjoyed by a majority of the charges, and a healthy growth in the membership, I think, will appear. In manliness, kindness and courtesy, Methodist preachers are not second.

With gratitude to God, the giver of all good, and with hearty thanks to the pastors and people of Auburn District, through whom the good has been coming to me through the past year, I submit this report.

L. C. QUEAL.

Manner of Reporting.—On motion of W. H. Pearne, the Conference ordered that the pastors report the amounts raised for Missions and Conference Claimants. McKendree Shaw moved as an amendment, that the amounts raised for Church Extension be also reported, but the motion did not prevail. The original motion was adopted.

Legacy.—O. H. Warren reported a legacy for the fund for Conference Claimants, and on motion it was referred to the trustees of the Conference.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called. They reported their collections and their characters passed: G. P. Avery, Thomas Sharpe, J. W. Steele, Horatio Yates, J. J. Turton, G. C. Wood, James Gutsell, C. J. Pendleton, W. H. Giles, J. A. Roberts, C. J. Beach, C. E. Jewell, E. A. Peck, C. A. Wilson, Thomas Tousey, A. H. Shurtleff, W. C. Mattison, William Wardell, W. F. Butman, R. D. Munger, J. H. Rogers, James Stanton.

Cazenovia District.—Cazenovia District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, U. S. Beebe, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

CAZENOVIA DISTRICT.

At the close of our Conference session one year ago, I received from Bishop Andrews the appointment to Cazenovia District, and during the same week went to my work, and have been able to pursue it uninterruptedly to the present time, with the exception of two weeks when, from illness, I was unable to leave my room.

Thirty-six pastoral charges, consisting of fifty-eight distinct churches, have demanded all my time and strength, leaving me only four days' vacation, which was spent with Brother Annable at the Syracuse District Camp-meeting. I found associated with me a corps of earnest, active, consecrated pastors. They have wrought well, and the blessing of God rests upon their shoulders.

The year has been one of spritual advancement. Protracted revival services have been held in a large number of charges, all seasons of profit and spiritual growth, while some have developed into widespread and powerful revivals. Considerable increase in membership is reported from Canastota, Clockville, Cortland, East Homer, Truxton, Fabius and Keeney's Settlement, McGrawville and Homer. A lesser increase from other charges.

Two District Conferences have been held, attended by nearly all the pastors of the district; a goodly number of ministerial brethren from other parts of the Conference and a large representation from the city. They proved intellectual and spiritual feasts, and their influence for good is felt through all the churches.

Three Sunday School Institutes were held. They were well attended, instructive and served to intensify the interest in Sunday school work.

The Benevolent collections have been urged with commendable faithfulness and zeal by the pastors. The "Million Line" has been the motto throughout the district. The Sunday schools have been organized into missionary societies. Missionary barrels, birthday boxes, mite boxes and collection cards were introduced. While some charges will not reach this ideal line, we believe more persons in the church congregations and Sabbath schools have been led to contribute than ever before. We trust the reports of the pastors will show an encouraging interest in missionary contributions, and, at least, no falling off from other collections.

The subscription list for our church periodicals is much smaller than they should be. Many of our members prefer a village paper filled with personals, home gossip, cheap stories and sometimes with sceptical teaching at a dollar a year, to our valuable church papers at two or three dollars per year. We hope to enlarge our subscriptions during the coming year.

We are able to report progress in the work of increasing and improving church and parsonage property.

Our church at Dewitt, which was burned a short time previous to the last session of our Conference, has been replaced by a new one, which, in its style of architecture, elegance of furnishings and convenience of arrangement, is a model for a country charge. The whole outlay of expense has been paid. The church at Perryville has been thoroughly repaired, and a new bell in the belfry, the whole at a cost of about $800, which is provided for. One hundred and sixty dollars have been raised and expended in repairs and furniture by the Clockville charge. The church at Scott has been repaired and a new tower built at a cost of $800. Cost provided for. The church at Keeney's Settlement is being thoroughly repaired at an expense of $1,600, which is mostly provided for by subscription. The church at Union Valley, which for many years has been occupied by the Methodist and Congregationalists as a union church, has been repaired at an outlay of $1,900, and the expenses paid. About $200 has been raised and expended on the parsonage at Cuyler. The old parsonage property at McGrawville has been sold, and a new parsonage is being built on the lot adjoining the church which, when completed, promises to be one of the finest, if not the very finest, in the district. At Blodgetts Mills a new society has been organized with a membership of fifty. A neat and convenient church is being erected, which will be completed and ready for dedication in November next, the expense mostly raised by subscription. The pastoral week has been supplied by Rev. A. C. Smith, pastor at McGrawville. At Oneida Brother Mogg has raised by subscription $3,000 on their church which, in addition to subscriptions already secured, provides for the whole debt. There is great need of improvement in the method of providing for the support of the ministry.

On some of the charges the brethren seriously object to adopting any definite financial plan at the first Quarterly Conference. After such a plan is adopted little is attempted and less accomplished toward carrying it out until the close of the year. Slow payment of salary during the first half of the year, seriously embarrasses the pastor.

Near the close of the year Stewards on foot, on horseback, and in carriages are rapidly moving through the hitherto unexplored boundaries of the charge in search of deficiencies. Nearer the center may be seen numerous committees of ladies going from house to house in hot haste arranging for multiplied suppers, concerts, lectures and festivals. All this activity at the close of the year indicates an interest in the comfort of the pastor and his family, and a purpose finally to meet his full claim. But such tardiness and lack of system tend towards questionable methods of raising money and not unfrequently defeat the Stewards in reaching the desired result. These interests have been thoroughly discussed, both in Quarterly conferences and in the public congregations, and most of the charges are pledged to a more prompt and systematic method for the coming year.

For more than sixty years Cazenovia Seminary has been doing grand work. The past year has been one of marked prosperity, the attendance of students large, the grade of scholarship high, the financial report encouraging, and improvement of grounds and buildings considerable.

A strong revival interest prevailed throughout the entire winter term, until nearly every student in the hall was brought into the fold of Christ.

Our venerable and beloved brother, Andrew Peck, died on the 6th of May, at the ripe age of eighty-seven. He was converted when twelve years of age and began his ministerial work fifty-nine years ago. He has at various times been heard to say that from the time of his conversion he had not lost the witness of his acceptance with God. Just before his departure a friend asked him "if it looked bright ahead?" He replied: "Of course, it does."

Much has been left undone which we have hoped to accomplish. Whatever of success has been achieved is largely due to the hearty co-operation of the brethren, both of the ministry and of the laity, in all plans of work.

Thankful for the mercies and blessings of the past year, hopefully we trust the future of the church in Cazenovia District to Him who bought it with His blood.

U. S. BEEBE, Presiding Elder.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called. They reported their collections, and their characters passed: E. A. Tuttle, Charles Eddy, J. B. Foote, T. B. Dodd, C. C. Wilbor, Charles Haynes, E. B. Stull, F. M. Warner, Philo Cowles, W. H. Bunnell, B. F. Hitchcock, James Erwin, L. B. Wells, A. C. Smith, E. J. Brooker, Henry Meeker, O. G. H. Phillips, C. E. Mogg, Walter Statham, W. H. Pearne, H. W. Williams, William Jones, Orin Switzer, W. H. Curtiss, I. N. Clements.

Elmira District.—Elmira District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, E. J. Hermans, was passed, and he reported his district as follows:

ELMIRA DISTRICT.

Again have we come to our annual roll call, and accounting of Stewardship so suggestive of that which awaits us when "the books shall be opened," and we shall be judged "out of those things that are written therein." The work of another year is behind us; imperfect work, it is true, because planned by finite minds and executed by human hands; and yet wrought with prayer and holy purpose, it has not been "in vain in the Lord." With one exception, the charges of Elmira District have been served by true pastors who have fully "preached the word" and cared for the "flock of Christ."

The supply sent to Monterey in the midst of a good work, which seemed full of promise, was "overcome of evil," and left his charge and withdrew from the church. Zion has languished there.

Revivals have been as numerous as usual, but not so extensive as last year. Upon the following charges refreshing dews and timely showers have germinated the good seed sown, and a harvest of souls have gladdened the hearts of the reapers: Towanda, Liberty Corners and Asylum, New Albany, Chemung, Wellsburg, Leona, Burlington, East Canton, Canton, Troy, Mainsburg, Mansfield, Blossburg, Rutland, Millerton, Caton, Big Flats, Beaver Dams and Reading Center.

I regret to find that a few of our charges lack system and promptness in the payment of salaries, and some faithful brethren are subjected to the inconvenience and the depression of spirit which results from real, if not intended neglect. A fine improvement has been made in this regard in a number of places, and a majority of the charges do well; so that a year ago but six of them were reported as having failed to pay their salaries in full.

I note, with pleasure, an increasing interest in the connectional work of the church, and have reason to believe that the benevolent collections from the district will exceed all former figures.

Due attention has been given to the importance of pure and healthful literature, and the pastors have sought diligently to insure the circulation of our own publications in the homes and Sabbath schools of their parishes. I hope the coming General Conference will help the pastors in this work by advising its agents to give our publications to the people at rates that will defray competition, and silence the clamor of those who cannot be taught that some cheap things are very costly.

A good attendance has marked our district gatherings. They have conserved and cultivated fraternal regard, quickened thought, and awakened a spirit of research after a clearer apprehension of valuable and vital truths. The interest and profit of these meetings would be greatly increased if some brethren who so often seem to plan for formal calls only would resolve to come early and wait for their share in the final benediction.

Items of material interest may be thus stated. The substantial, commodious and ornate edifice in which we are now convened has been completed at a cost of about $38,700. which sum has not only been secured on subscription, but actually paid, with the exception of about $4,000. The church at Troy is being remodeled, enlarged, and made substantially new, and will be a thing of beauty and convenience. More than $5,000 are pledged for this work, and it will be completed without debt. A thousand dollars ($1,000) is being expended upon the church at Leona, which will make it a most attractive and commodious place of worship. A very pretty church has been completed at Greenwood, on the Monroeton charge at a cost of fourteen hundred dollars ($1,400), and dedicated without debt. Three hundred and seventy dollars ($370), have been used to renovate and beautify the Sunday school rooms of our church at Towanda. Two hundred and thirty dollars ($230) has been invested in organs and pulpit furniture for two of the Burlington churches. Eleven hundred dollars has been used to repair the churches on the East Troy charge. The parsonage at Mainsburg has been newly painted at a cost of fifty dollars ($50). Eight hundred dollars ($800) has been secured and used in remodeling the basement of the church at Mansfield, and providing new furnaces. The church on Rutland Hill has been painted at a cost of thirty dollars ($30), and seventy-five dollars ($75) expended to upholster the church at Rutland. Improvements amounting to fifty dollars ($50) has been made in the church at Tyrone, and forty dollars ($40) expended on the parsonage at Reading Center. The parsonage at East Canton has a new roof which cost fifty dollars ($50). The church at Ulster has been beautifully papered, supplied with new windows, and otherwise improved at an outlay of five hundred dollars ($500). An addition costing about two hundred dollars ($200), has been made to the parsonage at North Chemung. The church at Webbs Mills has been thoroughly repaired at a cost of about two hundred ($200). Hedding church has expended three hundred and twenty-eight dollars ($328) for a new roof on the church, and carpets and stove in the parsonage. Centenary church has paid six hundred dollars ($600) upon a funded debt, and five hundred and ninety dollars ($590) of floating debts. One hundred dollars ($100) for flag-stone walk in front of church, and one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for new carpets, etc., in parsonage. Two hundred and seventy dollars ($270) have been paid to liquidate debts at Chemung. The parsonage at Liberty Corners has been painted and improved at an expense of one hundred dollars ($100). At New Albany a grove with spacious buildings for public services has been purchased for nine hundred dollars ($900). A well conducted camp-meeting was held there under the direction of the pastor, and the first annual installment of one hundred dollars ($100) was paid.

Death, which claims "all seasons" for his own, has again invaded our ranks and saddened our hearts. Easter Sabbath evening the gates of Paradise were opened to the weary feet of a Christian woman whose home life was a benediction, and whose share in itinerant work contributed to the beauty and strength of the church. In the place we still call home, the holy words wife and mother are uttered with a subdued tenderness born of precious memories and an abiding sense of a great loss. Our dear Brother Brewster, a man "full of faith and of the Holy Ghost," was suddenly called from labor to reward, June 24th, 1887. In the relation of pastor, husband and father, he was faithful and true. Henceforth we shall miss his honest face, his cordial brotherly greeting and his efficient ministry. A great sorrow has come to the homes of our dear Brothers Phillips and Gearhart, a son of the former, in the midst of the hopes and activities of young manhood, was killed by accident, and the beautiful infant daughter succumbed to the Destroyer after a very brief illness. These stricken homes are not utterly desolate, for "the Comforter" abides in them, and the hope of the resurrection of the dead is kept alive by his presence. Greatful to our Father for the manifold mercies of the past, we are looking hopefully to him for guidance and success in the world which may be before us.

EDWIN J. HERMANS.

their collections and their characters passed: G. W. Moxcey, N. A. DePew, C. M. Adams, B. J. Tracey, J. C. B. Moyer, O. A. Houghton, E. M. Mills, A. W. Green, C. D. Smith, O. D. Davis, W. S. H. Geneva District.—Geneva District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, B. I. Ives, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

GENEVA DISTRICT.

In reviewing the work of the year upon Geneva District, while I am far from being satisfied with what has been accomplished, I do find abundant reason for thanksgiving and praise to God, for His wonderful goodness, and the amount of success that has crowned the efforts that have been made. By the good providence of God neither sickness or death has been permitted to enter the homes of any of the ministers during the year. All have been well, and I think have tried to do their work faithfully in the love and fear of God. The preachers with their people have also attended to their own work in their own way. And the result is, God has given us some most wonderful and powerful revivals, in which nearly eight hundred souls have been brought to Christ. It was glorious to be in attendance in revivals once more where the pastor and his people seemed to feel the responsibility of the meeting, and to see sinners so convicted of their sins, that they could cry out to God in prayer for pardon and salvation. Some of the most powerful and extensive of these revivals were at East Palmyra, where more than a hundred have been received into the church. At Phelps, also, a hundred were received, and at Kenney's Corners, on the Branchport charge, one hundred and thirteen have been taken on probation. We have also had blessed revivals at Milo Center, Middlesex, Rushville, Gorham, Palmyra, Williamson, Pultneyville, Sodus, Lyons, Newark, Fairville, Port Gibson, Hopewell, Seneca Castle, and indeed upon nearly all the charges in the district. A glorious revival is now going on at Benton Center. Some thirty persons were received into the church last Sabbath. To God be all the glory. Amen.

We have held during the year two Sunday School Institutes, one Missionary Convention, and one Ministerial Association. They were all a grand success. They were largely attended, intensely interesting, and, I think, of much profit to all who participated in them.

Some good work has also been done in the way of church and parsonage improvements, and in the payment of old debts. At East Palmyra the old parsonage property has been sold, another lot purchased close by the church, on the east side, and a very pleasant and commodious parsonage and a new barn has just been finished. This is a very great improvement, and one that was much needed. Many thanks to Brother Lane for this good work. At Dresden a new roof has been placed on the church. The old parsonage has been all reconstructed, and much improved, so that the brother who shall now go to Dresden, will at least have a comfortable house to live in. At Seneca Castle the church has been newly frescoed and otherwise improved, both inside and outside, at a cost of some $275, and that, with an old debt of $200, has all been paid. The parsonage at Wayne has been newly painted and improved, and the cost all met. Also at Marion a new roof has been put on the parsonage, the church upholstered, and both the parsonage and barn newly painted. An old debt of $300 at Lyons has been paid. A debt of $900 at Branchport, which has been a great embarrassment to our people for years, is now all raised. This has required great skill and energy on the part of the pastor, Brother Sackett, and I thank the Lord, who has given him this success. At Palmyra, the Sunday school room has been newly carpeted, and re-seated with chairs, to the great delight of all concerned. Last, but not by any means least in this department at Sodus a subscription of nearly $10,000 has been raised to build a new church, which will cost when finished, some $13,000. The contract has been let, the old stone church has been taken down, and the work of rebuilding is now going on. Great credit is due the pastor, Brother P. T. Hughston, for his energy and untiring perseverance, both in raising the subscription and in getting the enterprise started. I regret, as do all the people of Sodus, that the time limit is not removed, and I think it should be, so that this brother could be returned, and see the good work that he has so well begun carried safely through.

The Sunday schools of the district are nearly all organized into Missionary Societies, and are, I think, doing a good work in certain lines, particularly in the way of learning Bible history, and in raising missionary money. But very few of the children, except in the country charges, ever hear a sermon preached, or attend any other means of grace. The fact is, in most cases, the Sunday school seems to be substituted for all church service and religious worship, which is greatly to be regretted. Nearly all of the Sunday schools are well supplied with books and papers of our own publication.

And now as to the collections, I hardly know what to say. I believe the preachers, as a whole, have done the very best they could. Many of them, I know, have worked hard to bring up the apportionments, but all of them, I fear, have not succeeded. It is a fact, that most of the time, through the country charges, and in the farming community, there is a united wail of "Hard times and no money," and "Low prices and high wages." And I think there is something in it. The good Lord only knows how some of the ministers have managed to live through so large a part of the Conference year, on the small pittance in the way of salary that some of them had received at the Fourth Quarterly Conference. And yet I really expect that the collections will come up a little ahead of last year. And that Geneva District will still hold her position as the leading district in the Conference in the matter of collections. But, whatever shall be the result, when the count is made up, I believe that the pastors and the Presiding Elder of Geneva District, have in the fear of God, done their full duty.

The XX. Question was resumed. Ithaca District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, M. P. Blakeslee, was passed, and he represented his district as follows :

ITHACA DISTRICT.

Peace, harmony and bounteous blessings call for thankfulness. Among the preachers of the district there is not one who would not, if permitted, join me here in thanksgiving to God for His wide mercies during another Conference year.

The ministers have generally remembered their sacred calling and have so far kept themselves "unspotted from the world," that there are none here to charge aught against them. I wish I could say as much for all the private members of all the churches of the District as I can say of the preachers. The latter are all loyal to the church, loving towards one another and are studying to show themselves "approved unto God."

On the 20th of December last, death broke in upon the pastoral ranks. On that day our much loved brother and co-laborer, Ellis D. Thurston, stepped out of the body and fully, finally and forever into the Divine presence. As has been said of many a good man: "He ceased at once to labor and to live." Two and a half days only lay between his last conscious work and joy and the beautiful realities of the disembodied saints.

Except in the home of Brother S. W. Andrews, whose wife was for some time prostrated with rheumatic fever, the families of our pastors have been spared from serious sickness or accident.

At the beginning of the year considerable embarrassment was experienced in supplying some of the vacant pastorates. With the advice of Bishop Andrews, A. S. Durling was removed from Erin and Breesport to West Dryden and Asbury. The vacancy thus made was filled until January 1st by M. F. DeWitt, since which F. M. Windnagle has served the charge. Logan having been vacated, Brother H. D. Barber was engaged to supply it until Conference. For Enfield and Kennedy's, Brother Richard Wrench, for many years a member of the British Wesleyan Conference and latterly a Congregational minister in Michigan, was engaged. The gap in the ranks made by Brother Thurston's death, was supplied by Brother G. S. Reynolds, of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Canada. The church in Ithaca, left vacant by the transfer of Brother Clymer, was immediately supplied by Brother G. W. Chandler.

The condition of the work is good; in some instances it is better; in others it is the best. Its grade is largely determined, not by the pastor, so much as by the fidelity of the rank and file of the churches. There are places where the pastor has been patient, loyal, methodical, knowing and keeping Methodist Discipline, yet the immediate results of his labor are small, because those associated with him in name have not learned, or will not admit, that leadership is necessary in any great and important work. Where the Sunday-school superintendent has not forgotten who is the constituted pastor of the church in all its departments, where the class leaders all baptized with the Spirit, have sought to build up men and women in the truth proclaimed from the pulpit, where stewards have undertaken their task as a delightful and honorable service which they were permitted to render unto the Lord, where the larger number of church members have remembered "the pit from which they were digged" and therefore have not fallen into it again, there the condition of the work is the best. I will not name the churches coming under this head, although I could easily do. They are not necessarily large churches, nor even important churches in the conventional sense, but they are brilliant churches, and can be discovered by their shining.

The revival spirit has at no one time been general on the district, yet many churches have enjoyed seasons of unusual spiritual power, and, at a consequence, many have been added to the Lord. More than half of the churches have enjoyed these "times of refreshing" in which souls were saved. At Mecklenburg, Ovid, North Hector, Dryden, Groton and Van Ettenville the tide arose high and swept far. Upon the latter charge a good work was done in the winter at an out appointment, while at the village the Spirit has been wonderfully poured out during the last month, and as a result eighty persons have been received on probation.

The class meeting has not been as effectually revived as has been desirable. In some charges it retains its old-time place and power, and in others it is almost abandoned. Not two-fifths of our members go to class meeting regularly, and I greatly fear that a question of church economy likely soon to confront us is: "Shall we abandon the class meeting?" The subject of increasing the interest and attendance has been discussed in the District Conference and urged in the Quarterly Conferences, but with little apparent effect thus far.

The Sunday school work is believed to be improving. Two conventions, one at Ovid and one at Dryden, were well attended and have aided in maintaining the spirit of the workers, while they have been a stimulus to fidelity.

Excepting three or four summer Sunday schools, the Sunday schools are organized as missionary societies.

In the instruction of children in the Catechism of our church, little is being done, either in family or Sunday school. Paragraph 267 of the Discipline seems never to have been heard of. To this sad neglect of the children must be attributed the weakness of several churches in the rural part of the district.

I have endeavored to carry out the Disciplinary methods with reference to our great connectional benevolences. The subject of Missions has been kept before the people. When the figures are in, a healthful advance may be looked for. The pastors have labored diligently for this result. The increase in contributions had been greater but for some cold and selfish hearts which did not sympathize with the pastors who pressed the claims of the heathen world.

Still another obstacle to great advance in benevolences is in the fact that some of our largest congregations find themselves burdened and oppressed with church debts. In connection with this subject it should also be remembered that the district is least in the number of its pastors among all the tribes of the Conference.

There has been some improvement in pastoral support, but there is much yet to be wished. I have pressed the claims of the pastors upon the attention of the stewards, but the old and embarrassing habit of leaving this important interest until the close of the year, has for the most part been stronger than quarterly exhortations. There are many charges which pay small salaries, but the preachers upon these have labored with as much zeal and devotion as any. The heroic self-denial of Methodist preachers has small recognition among men, but their sacrifices are all remembered of God. Only one pastor has enjoyed the rare distinction of being at any time overpaid, and he for one quarter only. There is hope that stewards are growing wiser and that soon regularly paid pastors will lead the sacramental hosts up to full efficiency and the greatest spiritual prosperity.

Of the forty-seven church buildings on the district, thirty-three are insured for the aggregate sum of $105,900, at a triennial cost of $1,081.

There are twenty-five parsonages, sixteen of which are insured for at total sum of $14,700, at a triennial cost of $125. From these figures it, will be seen that about $400 are expended on the district every year for the insurance of church property.

Many of our parsonages have been improved within, and those at Sheldrake, Newfield, First Church, Ithaca, and at Jacksonville, have been re-painted externally. The pastoral residence in Millport has been entirely reconstructed, making it one of the most tasteful and convenient on the district, while it is the handsomest house in the village.

The church at Odesa has waited for ten years for her capstone. About one thousand dollars has been paid and provided for on the debt and on the edifice. The work of completion was aided both by a donation and a loan from the Board of Church Extension. The people also "had a mind to work." The debt due the Board is so arranged that with God's blessing it will be extinguished at the end of five years.

At Pine Valley and the Millport charge, our people have been compelled to hold their growing Sunday school and other services in unsuitable and inconvenient places. To meet their pressing need they are building a plain but neat chapel, costing about $800. It will be ready for dedication in November.

At Ludlowville about $250 was expended in roofing the church and in renovating the interior. The audience room is very beautiful in its renewed state.

The growth of our church at North Hector is requiring more room for the people and also for their carriages. Land has been purchased for additional sheds and a subscription is in circulation, having for its object the enlargement of the church edifice.

At North Lansing and at East Genoa men are grown righteous in regarding the life of their beasts and the horse sheds, long needed, are well rebuilt. At Little Gem merciful regard has also been had for the horse by expending about $125 for sheds.

The pretty church in Erin is being painted and otherwise improved externally at a cost of $100.

The churches at Ovid, Horseheads and Mecklenburg have had their hot air furnaces renewed.

The church in Groton City has been newly roofed and painted, and is undergoing a much needed renovation within.

Necessary repairs upon our Church on State street, Ithaca, have consumed about $250.

At the First Church, Ithaca, an important improvement is now in progress. The auditorium is being newly frescoed and painted, the organ case is to be rebuilt and the mode of introducing artificial light bettered. The basement rooms are being changed so as to give a large, airy, bright and convenient Sunday school room. The old, and if so many saints had not entered God's house by it, I would say abominable, side entrance to the basement has disappeared, while a commodious and inviting entrance in front has taken its place. An expenditure of $1,500 is contemplated.

I can say but little of myself. My novitiate in the Presiding Elder's office has had no great successes, and I humbly trust that it thus far has had no great failures. I have sometimes blundered and stumbled, but I have ever found Christian brethren ready to help me up and on, and by the blessing of God I am here this day to give him all the glory of the year of toil.

I have traveled about 3000 miles in the discharge of the duties laid upon me by the church. With a single exception I have held all of the Quarterly Conferences. Every Sabbath has been devoted to the district. I have invariably held two services, and, for nearly half of the time, three full quarterly services on the Sabbath. My health has been uniformly good; my heart has grown warm in the work; my admiration for Methodism and my love for Christians have greatly increased; my faith in the ultimate triumph of the gospel has taken a new hold, and, for these, and for all blessings, I am truly grateful to Him who is "the Head of all things."

Syracuse District.—Syracuse District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, W. H. Annable, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

SYRACUSE DISTRICT.

To Central New York Conference, held in Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1887:

Syracuse District has had a year of prosperity and growth. The brethren in the ministry have been preserved in health, and with but one exception death has not entered their families. It will be remembered that Brother Wesley Mason was summoned from the seat of the Conference at its last session, to the death-bed of his precious daughter, who in a few days passed away. No serious divisions have occurred in our societies, and, in the main, the utmost harmony has prevailed.

Possibly some petty differences between individuals have, as usual, annoyed and hindered the local societies, and caused the pastors some anxiety; but the bond of Christian fellowship has not been broken. Among the ministers there has been the most delightful harmony in feeling and action.

THE GENERAL WORK.

As to the work of the year—there is the usual variety of talents among the ministers, and consequently there are some marked differences in the development of the various departments of the work. We have many good preachers, and many good pastors, so far as visiting the flock is concerned. If there is a failure, it is in neglecting our Lord's command, "Feed my lambs." We are doing much for the children, but I fear we are not feeding them according to the spirit of this command. Some are more careful in the detail of a Methodist preacher's work; but some have not cultivated this quality to a pre-eminent degree, and hence fail in some essential points. Methodism is a fine system to work by if we will only observe the few simple rules laid down in our Discipline, which show just how to succeed. Experience will prove that nine times out of ten they furnish the key to success.

BENEVOLENCES.

The Conference benevolences have been quite generally presented. Reports from the pastors to the District Conference, show that on every charge save three, all the benevolent causes have been presented, and collections or subscriptions taken. Our apportionment for missions, on the million dollar basis, will be reached by the district. The Sunday schools are organized into Missionary societies, according to the Discipline.

MINISTERIAL SUPPORT.

The department of ministerial support causes more perplexity and care, than almost anything else in our work.

The pastors salaries are small—too small--and the want of system in raising and paying them into their hands, makes it onerous and difficult for the stewards, and distressing to the pastors and their families. It sometimes impairs the usefulness of excellent men by compelling them to go into debt, or go without the actual necessities of life. This must be reformed or some fields must soon be abandoned. Earnest, systematic effort on the part of the officary of the church, will support the gospel on the weakest points of Syracuse district.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Our church property has been greatly improved during the past year. On the Amber charge, the Otisco Valley church has been improved by spending a few dollars in paint and paper. At Bridgeport, $300, laid out in ceiling the auditorium overhead and in renovating the old wood work, has made it very neat and substantial. The Collamer society has reconstructed the interior of this church edifice at an expense of about $600, and now have a very complete auditorium. The Euclid people have completed and dedicated a new edifice at Euclid village, costing about $3,000, which is a very creditable improvement and meets the wants of that community.

The work of re-building the church at Jordan, begun last year, has been completed, and the church dedicated. About $8,000 has been expended, and we have one of the most beautiful church edifices in the district outside of the city.

The Cold Spring appointment on the Liverpool charge, has also remodelled the auditorium of the church and made a substantial and tasteful improvement.

The Lysander church has, by new decorations in the auditorium, added much to the beauty of the place. The church at Manlius Station has been repainted. The amount necessary to pay for it fully met.

The largest enterprise on the district, is the building of a new church edifice on Furman street, Syracuse. Begun last year, it was completed and dedicated in May, last. It is a fine brick structure, built after a most complete and beautiful plan. It is substantial, convenient and elegant in finish and detail. It was completed at a cost of about $18,000, (a marvel of good management on the part of the pastor and the building committee). Some parsonage improvements on the district have added to the comfort of the ministers and their families. And, the best of all this work, no debts of any account remain. In almost every case, not only was the money pledged, but it has been paid and the indebtedness cancelled. Other improvements are under consideration, and will soon be begun.

ONONDAGA INDIAN MISSION.

In respect to the Onondaga Indian Mission, of which, in my report one year since, I spoke with some uncertainty, I can now speak more encouragingly. The Indians are in harmony with each other, and with the missionary, Brother Abram Fancher. Some of the pagans (if it can be said there are any real pagans among them) are coming to our services and are seeking the Lord and presenting their children for Christian baptism. Our last quarterly meeting was a precious season of grace and holy fellowship. I am very hopeful for our work there.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION.

A Missionary convention was held in the city of Syracuse, in May last, which gave a new impulse to our work on the district. Dr. J. M. Reid and Dr. C. C. McCabe were with us, and did much good.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

During the past year we have organized a District Conference, which has begun well. The session just closed was pronounced by all to be a most interesting and profitable occasion. The representation of the members was large, the reports from the charges good, the examinations of the candidates thorough, and the responsibility of licensing, renewing licenses and recommending candidates, was conscientiously and carefully met. Several promising young men presented themselves on recommendation, for license to preach, some of whom will make the ministry their life work; while the others will fill a place in the ranks of the local ministry. The literary programme was practical and was fully carried out. Carefully prepared papers and addresses were presented by both laymen and ministers.

CAMP MEETING.

We held a camp meeting during the third week in August, which was an occasion of great comfort and edifying to those who were present. About forty persons professed conversion, mostly young people of the families tenting upon the ground, and who will receive careful training in their respective home churches. A large number, young and old, were earnestly seeking the fullness of the Spirit, and found the rest of "perfect love." Sunday was a day of power. The throngs of people who were in attendance were attentive and serious. At the evening service, ten professed conversion.

REVIVALS.

Revivals have been the rule throughout the district. Not extensive in most cases, but good and thorough. In the city of Syracuse the accessions were large. In part, the result of union meetings held under the direction of E. E. Davidson. But other meetings resulted equally well under the ordinary labors of the pastors and the people.

In conclusion, let me say, that with devout thanksgiving to the Master, I recognize my obligation to Him for my health and strength to do my work and meet all my appointments, save one—and that because the roads were absolutely impassable. I have been greatly favored in this particular, and although the work has been difficult and hard, I have had the strength to do it; and above all, I have had the comfort of the Holy Spirit. I hope I have been helpful in the work. I know this, I have given myself entirely to it. I have been very anxious to bring it up to the highest standard. Possibly in my earnestness I have trenched upon the patience of the brethren, for I have not given them much chance to forget anything; but I hope they are ready to forgive me as I am to be forgiven. I promise them I will another year (if I have the opportunity) do better. That is, we will move further on toward larger benevolent collections, more faithful work among the children, more earnest aggressive measures to possess the world for Christ.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. ANNABLE, P. E.

To the Members of the General Conference of 1888, of the Methodist Episcopal Church :

DEAR FATHERS AND BRETHREN:—While disclaiming all intention of desiring to so cheapen the price of our periodicals, that the Book Committee shall not have ample funds from their sale to furnish first-class articles in their respective lines, we, the members of the Central New York Conference, do believe that the interests of our common Methodism, especially in these days of intense competition in the fields of journalism, demand that our various periodicals should be published at but a small profit, to the end that all reasonable, and many unreasonable, barriers may be removed from the way of our periodicals becoming a more powerful factor in making an intelligent, loyal, progressive and consecrated body of the vast membership of our rapidly growing church.

J. H. ZARTMAN,
R. D. MUNGER.

Resolution.—William Reddy presented the following resolutions, which on motion, were adopted :

His genial spirit, his wise, able and impartial presidency, and his effective influence in the pulpit and on the platform, and we shall most gladly welcome his return to us whenever Providence may permit.

Moved that the chair appoint a committee of three to wait upon Bishop Hurst and invite him to address the Conference. Adopted.

The chair appointed as such committee the following: Hon. John I. Nicks, Hon. Thomas Scutt, and Charles Backman.

Before the second ballot was taken, a previous motion allowing a delegate to place only one name on a ballot was rescinded, and on motion each delegate was allowed to write two names on his ballot.

The tellers reported the formal ballot as follows: T. W. Durston, 29, Thomas Jones, 18, David Decker, 23, A. C. Lindsley, 11, G. C. Sawyer, 5, Aaron White, 3, G. H. Guernsey, 2. No choice, it requiring a majority to elect.

The chair then ordered a second formal ballot to be taken

While the vote was being counted Bishop Hurst appeared under the invitation of the committee, was introduced and addressed the Conference in a very happy, earnest speech.

Memoirs.

REV. ELLIS D. THURSTON

Of Central New York Conference, was born in the town of Pittsfield, Otsego county, N. Y., November 10, 1821; he fell asleep in the parsonage in Varna, Tompkins county, N. Y., December 20, 1886.

Brother Thurston was born in a Christian home; his mother was an intelligent and devoted Methodist, his father an active member of the Baptist church. He was converted when nine years old while returning from a revival meeting on horseback—a good beginning for an untiring itinerant. His opening mind and consecrated heart grew by the helps of home, school and church life. He was marked by those who knew and noticed his gifts and grace as called to the work of the ministry. Some things were learned in prayer, class, love-feast and revival meetings in those days, that we still should covet as the best things in the education of our ministry. Brother Thurston felt the need of a more complete education, but was persuaded, by the need of more laborers and the zeal of those who thought saving souls was better than getting knowledge, and moved by an intense love of souls—was it not given from God in answer to the prayer, “Send forth more laborers into thy work?” Hearing these voices he entered the itinerant ministry, joining the Oneida Conference in July, 1844. In the forty-two years and five months of effective service he lost only three Sabbaths; this interruption by sickness was the only break in his long and useful service. The following charges were favored with his faithful ministry: New Berlin, 1844; Westford, 1845; Richmondville, 1846-47; South New Berlin, 1848; Coventry, 1849-50; Bainbridge, 1851-52; McDonough and Smithville, 1853-54; Green, 1855-56; Plymouth, 1857-58; Guilford, 1859-60; Mt. Upton, 1861-62; Earlville, 1863-64; New Berlin, 1865; Newfield, 1866-67; Ledyard, 1868-69; Warners, 1870-71; South Onondaga, 1872-73; Euclid, 1874-75; West Dryden and Asbury, 1876-78; Milford, 1879-80; Enfield, 1881-82; McLean, 1883; Varna and Etna, 1884-86. Forty-two years of diligent and faithful pastoral work among all classes found in his charges; hearty and loving co-operation in all benevolent and connectional enterprises; a continuous and wise use of the means of grace for the saving of souls; an earnest, faithful preaching of the gospel in which he instructed, comforted and persuaded, have in every place made known a happy, holy and useful man.

Excepting one year when not well he has served much of the time as chairman of the Board of Conference Stewards for more than twenty years. His well-done work has been approved by his Conference. In his own home he has been revered, beloved and loving. Brother Thurstton married with Miss Eleanor A. Lynch, sister of Rev. W. R. Lynch, a deceased member of the Wyoming Conference, August 2, 1846. Three children preceded him, two in infancy and one at the age of fourteen. One son and two daughters remain to cheer and comfort their mother; all are active and useful Christians. If men have preached more eloquently, none have lived more divinely than Ellis D. Thurston. No whiter soul has been transferred from any Conference than his. After rising and while dressing on the morning of December 17th he was stricken with apoplexy; three days later in the evening he was out of the body and present with the Lord. His funeral was held December 23, in the church at Varna, where his last Sunday morning sermon was preached from "If any man serve me let him follow me; and where I am shall also my servant be; if any man serve me, him will my Father honor." There was a large audience in which thirteen Methodist and other ministers were present. Rev. M. P. Blakeslee, his presiding elder, gave a brief sketch of his life and other brethren had part in the service. An address was made by the writer of this, he using Psalm xxxvii:37, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; the end of that man is peace."

L. C. QUEAL.

REV. MILTON HAMBLIN.

The Rev. Milton Hamblin was born in Aurelius, N. Y., Dec. 18, 1843, and died April 17, 1887, in Brooklyn, N. Y., whither, together with Mrs. Hamblin, he had gone for a little respite from his work.

He was the youngest child in a family of eleven children, eight boys and three girls. When fourteen years of age he was converted to God, and so radical was the work wrought in him that the once timid boy would stand before large audiences and tell with great delight and animation of the marvelous grace that had come to him. At the age of sixteen years he was made Sunday school superintendent and leader of the young people's class in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Cayuga, N. Y. His zeal and success were even then phenomenal. These positions he held until 1862, when he enlisted in Co. K., 111 Reg., N. Y. Vol., and with his regiment went to the front. He served in this regiment and in the V. R. Corps, three years and one month. He was severely wounded on the third day of the famous battle of Gettysburg. At the close of the war he returned to his home and resumed his preparation for the ministry.

March 25, 1865, he was married to Miss Pamela T. Warrick, of Cayuga, N. Y., who, together with three children, two boys and one girl, survive him, two lovely girls and a baby boy having gone before.

Brother Hamblin was received by the Genesee Conference on trial in 1872, and into full connection in 1874. His fields of labor were as follows: Webster, three years; Chili, three years; Troy, Pa., two years; Ithaca, State St., three years; Syracuse, W. Genesee St., three years; and he had but fairly entered upon his work in Clyde when the disease, the foundation of which was laid while in the army, and against which he had battled so bravely until the once stalwart man was little save the shadow of his former self, overcame him and he "ceased at once to labor and to live." Thus far it is easy enough to write of Brother Hamblin, but to indicate what the above bare outlines mean to the charges he has served, and to Him whose servant he was, is another and more difficult thing. His personal presence was dignified and commanding, even when he was enfeebled by disease. His high, broad forehead indicated unusual intellectual power, and here was a promptness in his movements which told of unyielding purpose.

Our brother did not graduate at a university. He was among that large company of studious young men who heard the nation's moan in its awful test-hour, and closing their books rushed to its relief, their college campus henceforth the bloody battlefield. Their graduation day was ushered in with roar of hostile cannon. Many of them graduated with high honors. Their noble spirits went up higher than the platform of the college, higher than the clouds in the sky, until they heard, not the chancellor of a university, but the Supreme Chancellor of the Universe saying unto them, "Well done, good and faithful servants." The rostrum from which Milton Hamblin graduated was Cemetery Ridge at Gettysburg. The audience before him, the charging columns of Pickett's division—his orchestral music the shriek of the death dealing shot and shell, and his diploma was written with his own blood.

We would not by the above seem to intimate that our brother was not an educated man, for he was throughout the years a very close student, and his was a mind of such poise and comprehensiveness that for him simply to read was to acquire what many others could learn only by pain-taking study. He was naturally eloquent—we question that he could have been otherwise without effort—and so carefully were all his sermons and lectures prepared, that his diction was well nigh faultless. As a preacher he was conspicuous also for the high range of scriptural and philosophical truths with which his sermons were replete. In the language of the late Dr. Porter, of Geddes: "Had health permitted he could have filled any pulpit in the land acceptably." As a matter of course very large audiences waited upon his ministry, and never, in their eyes, was the preacher belittled or his theme minified by undignified speech or action in the pulpit. His imagination was exceedingly vivid, and whenever he touched upon Bible scenes or characters, he was sure to clothe them with freshness and with beauty, which to his audience were both new and edifying.

He has many souls as seals to his ministry. As a pastor he was faithful to the last measure of his strength. In his intercourse with society at large, he was exceedingly fortunate, and ever maintained his Christian dignity and a character that was above suspicion. To many of his Conference the inner life of Brother Hamblin was but little known. He seldom attended the ministers' meetings, but we know the reason now. He was a dying man, with failing strength, seeking to meet the full measure of his responsibility to his charge.

His last sermon was preached Easter morning, April 10. It was a wonderful sermon. It seemed as if the preacher realized that he stood at the very portals of the life immortal, of which he spoke. His officary persuaded him not to preach in the evening and insisted that he take a vacation, for they felt that the end was not far away. Reluctantly he acceded to their request and announced that there would be no service that evening, and that the pastor would take a short rest at Coney Island. The next Wednesday as he seated himself beside his wife in the cars he said: "I have never left my people without feeling that I had done all I could for them. If I die it is for the church. I have never spared myself and I do not know but that I have gone too far."

When he reached the residence of his brother he was utterly prostrated, and upon Sunday morning following, the closing scene came, and it was as eloquent as his life had been. At three a. m., he desired his wife to call the family saying, "I think I am going; a strange feeling is passing over my whole frame." The friends having gathered about him, he desired Mrs. Hamblin to help him recall a poem which he said "we both know," but she could not remember it. Then he spoke of a ship, "our own ship," in sight. "He means the ship Zion," said his sister; he smiled and laid his head over upon his wife's arm and rested. Then rousing up he exclaimed with rapture: "It is sweet to be with the angels." When he had grown too weak to speak above a faint whisper, his wife saw his lips move, and bending over him asked if he desired water, and he smiled, and with shortening breath whispered, "Home, home, home." Again his lips moved, and in response to the question what he desired, he answered in a firm voice: "I close these lips with the seal of death," and then he whispered again, "Home," repeating it until his lips, though moving, sent forth no sound. And then he was at home.

To us sometimes it seems strange that death should be permitted to take away such a man in the very height of his intellectual power, when the church so much needs him, but death cannot destroy. It only sets in fast colors the beauties of a noble character, and as an artist places us in our best position ere he takes our picture, so death photographed Milton Hamblin at his best, and has given to the church the memory, not of an old man leaning upon his staff, but the picture of a warrior in full armor, battling for the truth. Thus will his dear family, his brethren in the Conference and the world at large remember him. And who can say that the brightness of his life and words, made more conspicuous by the dark background of death and the tomb, may not speak more effectively to men than the eloquent lips even of the living preacher? God knows. The funeral services were held in Clyde, April 13. His congregation sorrowed as children bereaved of a parent. There were present mourning friends from every charge he had served. Rev. B. I. Ives, D. D., took charge of the services. A large number of his ministerial brethren were in attendance. The next day the body was interred at Cayuga, N. Y.

A. W. GREEN.

REV. ANDREW PECK

Was born in Middlefield, Otsego county, N. Y., April 29, 1800. His span of life stretched out over eighty seven years, dying May 6, 1887. At his modest, though comfortable home in Cortland, N. Y., where he had long been waiting with good cheer for the summons to go to his better home on high, he finally passed from promise to fulfillment—from evening to morning.

He belonged to an illustrious family. Five sons were devoted to the ministry by the Christian mother, viz.: Luther, George, Andrew, W. L.

He survived all his brothers, and all but one of them died when only twelve years of age, and has never lost the witness of his adoption as a child of to work for the salvation of others. His brother, Mr. Peck, acknowledges him as the means of his awakening. At the age of eighteen Andrew joined the church at Lansing, N. Y., Bishop Roberts presiding, and after he was received into full connection by Bishop Doane at St. John's Lane, Canada. The well-remembered names of Z. A. Fillmore, and Micah Seager, are among the twenty that attended this Conference, all of whom preceded the subject of this memoir to the goodly land beyond the river. He believed himself to be the surviving member of the original Genesee Conference.

He was married three times—to Polly Hudson in 1824, to Mary in 1833, and to Betsy Finn in 1857, who is still living. Of his children, eight in number, one, Wesley, is now a member of the Genesee Conference, and one, Elbert, a member of the Central New York Conference.

Mr. Atkinson, the honored mother of Anna, lately returned from the mission field in Japan, died a few years ago in Cazenovia. One grandchild is in the ministry, and fourteen other grandchildren are all useful members of the M. E. Church. There are seventeen great-grandchildren of the deceased, now living.

Although, by reason of physical infirmity, especially weakness of voice, Bro. Peck was actively engaged in pastoral service only twenty-five years, including three as a Presiding Elder; it was, nevertheless, emphatically true of him that, in some patriotic or philanthropic, as well as Christian enterprise, he was an indefatigable and successful worker till very near the close of his life.

He was a hater of slavery and of intemperance, and hesitated not to avow himself as such. For thirteen years he labored in behalf of the Bible cause. Cortland, Onondaga, Madison and Tioga were among the counties explored and supplied by him. He also rendered great service to the Cazenovia Seminary in raising funds for the erection of Williams' Hall in a crisis when abandonment of the important enterprise seemed inevitable.

He was always in hearty sympathy with the pastor where he lived, heartily co-operating with him in every good word and work, and until his infirmities prevented, was regular in his attendance on all the social as well as public means of grace.

The day before he died he roused from sleep and said to his wife, "I thought I was in heaven;" and while friends were singing "Palms of Victory, Crowns of Glory," he raised his hands, his face beaming with delight. No wonder, in reply to a question a few minutes before he breathed his last, if it looked bright ahead, he answered, "Of course, it does!"

The funeral was held in the Cortland M. E. Church, largely attended, the pastor being assisted in the services by Revs. Messrs. Reddy, Pearne, Stacey, and others. This memoir is condensed from one published in the Northern Christian Advocate, written by L. A. Eddy, an old-time friend of the deceased.

C. C. WILBOR.

REV. ROBERT BREWSTER

Was born in Perthshire, Scotland, and born again in Canada, when fourteen years old. He was ordained a minister in the Wesleyan Methodist church at Belleville, Ont., June 11, 1854, and received in the Central New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1870. He preached the gospel and cared for the churches at Brewerton Magnolia Chapel (now Brown Memorial), Oneida, Fayetteville, Lodi, Port Gibson and Blossburg, Pa. With unceasing industry he toiled, and the lives of those converted by his ministry, the memories of the people, and the still more exact books that will be opened have the record of these seventeen years stamped upon them. Suddenly the activities closed when he fell asleep at Blossburg, June 24, 1887, in the sixty-second year of his life, and the thirty-fourth year of his ministry. The good profession which he professed before many witnesses was in account with the Scriptural standards of the church at whose altar he served, and produced in him the effects of quietness and assurance. In his Conference he was gentle, fearless and loyal; his place in the Conference prayer-meeting was rarely, if ever, vacant. June 20, 1855, he married Miss Malissa J. Roblin. The wife, two sons and one daughter who now miss him so, enjoyed his saintly presence and were under his thoughtful and kindly care and guidance until the children were grown and fitted for life's work. He was turning his thoughts toward provisions for a home for his old age, but the house not made by hand, was ready first.

Those who knew and loved him feel sure that he is at home, and that though he may not come to them to abide with them in earthly tabernacle, they may go to him, and shall find him in mansions prepared for them that together shall dwell there.

Services of burial were held at the parsonage and church at Blossburg, Pa., conducted by the Presiding Elder, Rev. E. J. Hermans, assisted by other ministers who were present. His body awaits the resurrection at Rochester, N. Y.

W. S. H. HERMANS.

MRS. CLARINDA TOWNSEND,

Widow of the late Rev. Elbridge G. Townsend, an estimable member of the East Genesee Conference, departed this life at the Hygienic Institute at Geneva, N. Y., July 2, 1887, in the seventy-seventh year of her age. She was a daughter of Obin Gwin, of Cambridge, Washington Co., N. Y., where she was born in the year 1810. At the age of fifteen or sixteen she was happily converted, and immediately united with the Methodist Episcopal church, in which communion she continued until she was transferred to the church above. Religion was to her a satisfying reality, and she exemplified its practical value in the various societies with which she became associated during the long period of sixty years. As the wife of an itinerant minister she proved herself to be a help indeed, not only in making their own home happy and attractive, but largely aiding the different churches under her husband's pastoral care in their various temporal and spiritual affairs, doing her full proportion, and often more than her proportion, in the working and the giving. And in addition, with her rich religious experience, with more than usual ability in prayer and testimony, she was an efficient and always reliable helper in times of revival and in the established social meetings of the church. Thus she was known wherever her husband was appointed, beginning in 1836 at LeRoy, thence to Canton, Pa., Waterloo, Lawrenceville, Pa., Catharine, Benton Centre, Lyons, Phelps, Rushville, Ovid, Bath and Canandaigua. In 1855 her husband was appointed agent of the American Bible Society, and they fixed their residence in Geneva, where, in 1862, he died. Mrs. Townsend continued to reside in Geneva until she departed for her permanent home in Heaven. Here, where she resided longest and was most intimately known, she was very highly esteemed, and she was for many years one of the most active and useful members of the church. At church sociables, festivals, donations and other associations that required much labor in the preparation and for the entertainment, she was always ready for planning and for action. She was skillful in devising what should be done, and knew just how to do it. And, withal, she was a spiritually minded Christian, and did not rely upon these outward activities as the evidences of her real piety. She knew, she sought, she found, she enjoyed, she confessed the richer attainments of holy living. Soon after attaining to the age of three score and ten, which she celebrated with a few of her friends, she was suddenly stricken with paralysis, which, for a time, totally disabled her. It came on during the night without her being sensible of it at the time. But when she attempted to rise in the morning she found that one-half of her person was paralyzed. By strong self-effort, and through skillful medical treatment there was a gradual improvement in her condition, so that she could use her limbs a little, walking with difficulty a few inches at a step, and thus she continued for three or four years. During this time, by great exertion, she came occasionally to church, especially at communion season, so great was her love for the house of God and the fellowship of Christian people. Disease, however, continued to progress until she was finally confined to her bed, and had become during the last few months entirely helpless. By decay of the brain she was considerably deranged toward the last, and death gradually but evidently approached, until the weary wheels of life stood still. A few days before her death the writer visited her in company with one of her most intimate friends. He was not certain that she recognized him when his name was mentioned, or that she was sensible of what was said when some portions of the Scriptures were repeated. But when the verse of a hymn was quoted:

"There I shall bathe my weary soul
In seas of heavenly rest,
And not a wave of trouble roll
Across my peaceful breast."

she instantly responded, "Hallelujah! hallelujah!" Thus lived and died Clarinda Townsend.

MRS. ADELIA STORRS HERMANS.

To the ever lengthening list of elect ladies, who in the capacity of Methodist ministers' wives, have in singleness of heart adorned and served the church, even unto their lives end, must now be added the name of Mrs. Adelia Storrs Hermans, wife of Rev. E. J. Hermans, presiding elder of Elmira district, Central New York Conference, and daughter of George D. Wyman, of Potter, N. Y. Sister Hermans was born in Potter, N. Y., September 8, 1832, and died after a protracted illness at the family residence in Elmira, N. Y., April 10, 1887.

August 5, 1856, she was united in marriage to the Rev. E. J. Hermans, who, together with their two daughters, Mary and Carrie, survive her. Hattie M., another beautiful daughter, having died August 27, 1883. Surely for those who remain, I need not bespeak the prayers and sympathies of the large circle of friends who knew and loved this dear wife and mother. Sister Hermans came to know Christ when she was about twenty years of age, and so intimate was her association with Him, so deep her knowledge of His word and so complete her consecration to His work, that in the many responsible fields where she toiled with her husband her life, like the broken alabaster box, senth forth a precious fragrance which will linger to the glory of her Master until the last person who knew her has passed away. This is indeed saying very much, but those who knew her best will not consider it too great praise.

She was a lady of great natural refinement, of delicate tastes and of a gentle, even disposition, to which were added the graces of high Christian culture. Although somewhat retiring in her manner and in delicate health much of the time, she succeeded in meeting the requirements of the churches which she served, and in touching all hearts with potent influences for good. As a member of Hedding church, while her husband was its pastor, and again while he was the presiding elder of the district, she was highly appreciated. To see her face in the congregation was an inspiration to her pastor, and her well chosen words to him after the sermon were sure to be an encouragement to him. In her family her presence was a benediction. In the church she was a star of steady and beautiful ray.

In the beginning of her last illness she spoke often of her complete satisfaction in Christ, but in the last weeks of her life her mind wandered so that her family were deprived of the "last testimony," as that phrase is commonly understood, but they are cheered as they remember her long life fully consecrated to God and filled with loving thoughts and works for humanity. That she should die upon Easter Sunday seemed altogether appropriate, for to none were the words and flowers of that beautiful day more full of promise than to her who lay with shortening breath betokening the approach of death and of the life immortal.

"Calm on the bosom of thy God,
Fair spirit rest thee now,
E'en while with us thy footsteps trod
His seal was on thy brow."

Upon Tuesday afternoon, April 12, the funeral services were conducted by the pastor, assisted by E. M. Mills, O. A. Houghton and A. C. Gillett, of the Presbyterian church. Bishop Andrews, who was present, offered the closing prayer. The day following, her remains were borne to her early home for interment.

A. W. GREEN.

MARY C. WILSON.

Mary C. Wilson, wife of Rev. C. A. Wilson, of the Central New York Conference, was born in the city of New York, May, 1849, died November 5, 1886. Aged thirty-seven.

The deceased was married with Rev. C. A. Wilson in the city of Brooklyn, February 1, 1869, at which time she little thought she was to share the responsibilities and trials of the itinerant life.

She was converted at Long Ridge, Conn., during the pastorate of her husband on that charge, and commenced the work of her new religious life. Although retiring, naturally shrinking from publicity, she was always popular and exerted a healthful influence over the people on the charges they afterward served. Through her dignity, intelligence and refinement, she attracted the attention and won the affections of all who knew her. In her sickness she was cheerful, happy and full of hope. During her decline, she spent most of the time under the tender care of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Phebe J. Wilson, at Long Ridge. Just before her death she was brought to her new parsonage home, where she was permitted to receive the warm sympathies and benedictions of the people of Savannah, and finally fell asleep in Jesus, while sitting in her chair.

The funeral services were held in the Methodist Episcopal church of that place, and conducted by Rev. L. C. Queal, presiding elder of the district. The bereaved husband and four motherless children, are left to mourn the early loss of a loving wife and an affectionate mother.

Reports of Committees.

EDUCATION.

Your committee, after carefully considering the matters referred to them, report for your adoption the following:

We direct that collections be asked for in behalf of our Conference Educational purposes under one head. That we ask for $3,000, the same to be apportioned by the Presiding Elders. That the funds so gathered be forwarded to Chancellor C. N. Sims, Special Treasurer of this fund, as soon as practicable, and that the disbursement be made by him in the ratio of two-thirds to Syracuse University, and one-third to Cazenovia Seminary.

We recognize the importance and excellence of the work being done by the Board of Education of our church, and recommend in accordance with the Discipline "that, whenever practicable, a collection be taken in the Sunday School in aid of the Sunday School Fund of the Board of Education."

We strongly disapprove of the diversion of moneys so collected to other than educational purposes.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

We rejoice in the continued and increasing prosperity of this, our one University, in the great State of New York. During the past year an endowed lectureship, a great library with fifty thousand dollars endowment, a well-equipped astronomical and meteorological observatory, the foundation of a Library building, and the promise of a great College edifice are among the material additions to its prosperity.

Its incoming Freshman Class numbers 150, and the total number of students reaches 500.

Its large increase of equipment demands larger outlay for current expense, and creates a pressing necessity for more endowment.

The calls for help from many worthy young persons who desire a collegiate education, but are unable to meet the necessary expenses, should be answered by the establishment of additional scholarships, and by individuals and churches furnishing the needed aid.

We renew our expressions of confidence in the management of the University, and pledge our earnest co-operation in all plans for its enlarged usefulness.

We will look after the young men and young women in our churches who ought to go to college, and will direct the attention of our benevolent people to the Syracuse University, that they may make it an object of their beneficence either by direct gifts, bequests, or gifts subject to annuities.

For the completion of the Central New York Conference professorship, we recommend the following plan:

1. To secure from pastors lists of names of persons able to donate larger sums to this fund.
2. When such names are received, that information be distributed to them, and they be appealed to for contributions either in person or by correspondence.
3. That a full canvass be made for this fund in the charges where it has not already been done.
4. That pastors and Presiding Elders be requested to co-operate personally in this work.
5. That C. N. Sims, L. F. Congdon and the pastor of the First Church of Syracuse be a committee to carry this plan into execution.

CAZENOVIA SEMINARY.

This Institution in the average of all its interests never presented a more encouraging prospect than at the present time. Its faculty, although some changes have occurred within it during the present year, is as efficient as in the past. The grade of scholarship in the school was never higher. The usual religious tone is being maintained, and many of the students have been converted. By skillful management, and by denying itself certain desirable and highly necessary improvements, the Institution is keeping within its income.

Some repairs have been made on the buildings, the old and unsightly laundry has been removed, thus enlarging the rear campus, and a small store-house has been built. The number of different students during the year was 817, which number, aggregated by terms, was 585, of which thirty-one graduated at the last anniversary.

A very large proportion of the students were in the Classical Course. The fall term opened with the usual number of students, including many new ones. Both boarding-hall and dormitories are well filled, which fact ensures their self-support. The receipts of the year from all sources were $23,687.67. The expenditures were somewhat less, but the slight excess of income over expenditures was at the sacrifice of the increased facilities and improvements, which are of immediate necessity.

The endowment at the present time amounts to $25,000. There is imperative need for an endowment sufficient to enlarge the curricula in the departments of English and Modern Languages, increase the faculty, and at the same time keep the expense of attendance within reach of all. It is felt that the Conference should aid in this matter, not only by maintaining, but by increasing the amount which is annually raised for the Seminary. The members of the Conference are also requested to seek personal gifts toward the endowment of the Institution. At the last anniversary, the Alumni Association formulated a plan for the endowment of scholarships for the benefit of needy and deserving students. Particular attention is called to this action of the Alumni.

We congratulate the Conference on the gratifying outlook for Cazenovia Seminary. We take pleasure in expressing great confidence in its highly successful and worthy Principal, Rev. I. N. Clements, A. M., and in those who are associated with him, and we bespeak earnest and prayerful co-operation with them in their faithful and efficient work for the welfare of the Institution.

BOSTON SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY, AND DREW THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

We note with much satisfaction the great work which is being accomplished in these institutions of the church. Founded for the express purpose of training young men for the ministry, these schools have steadily advanced in efficiency from the first. Here may be enjoyed at the least possible cost, the best advantages under the wise training of trusted and able instructors. We recommend them to all our young men who, being called to the ministry, are seeking the best possible preparation for their work.

We recommend that L. C. Queal be elected Trustee of Syracuse University in place of L. C. Queal.

The following are nominated as Trustees of Cazenovia Seminary: Hiram Gee in place of Burr Wendell, I. N. Sherman in place of I. N. Sherman, George L. Rouse in place of George L. Rouse, W. W. Watkins in place of W. W. Watkins, Thomas Tousey in place of Thomas Tousey, I. N. Clements in place of I. N. Clements.

The following visitors are nominated to Syracuse University: George Newberry, Hiram Gee, C. C. Wilbor, A. W. Green, C. T. Moss, O. A. Houghton, M. Coyle. To Cazenovia Seminary: L. F. Congdon, A. N. Damon, J. H. Zartman, G. S. Transue, C. L. Connell, F. M. Wheeler. To Boston School of Theology: W. H. Rogers, T. R. Green, C. E. Mogg. To Drew Theological Seminary: E. B. Gearhart, W. York.

The Presiding Bishop is respectfully requested to appoint the following members of the Conference to the institutions named: C. N. Sims, Chancellor of Syracuse University; W. P. Coddington, Professor in Syracuse University; H. G. Mitchell, Professor in Boston School of Theology; I. N. Clements, Principal of Cazenovia Seminary.

Respectfully submitted,

DAVID DECKER, Chairman.

THERON COOPER, Secretary.

MISSIONARY CAUSE.

We recognize with thankfulness the matchless opportunity offered in our day to the Missionary; to the Home Missionary, by the coming of church; to the Foreign Missionary by the facilities of travel, the away of non-Christian populations to our shores, and within the reach of our Christian nations in heathen lands, and the growing respect of unintelligent heathen for the products of Christian civilization.

We realize that these growing opportunities imply growing responsibilities, and that this calls for increased diligence on the part of the church; broader plans, more intense devotion, and greater liberality, therefore,

Resolved, 1st. That as a Conference we solemnly dedicate ourselves anew to the work of Christian missions.

Resolved 2d, That we will ourselves, so far as lieth in us, act as missionaries, seeking to bring the Gospel to bear upon the neglected classes on our charges and within the reach of our personal efforts.

Resolved 3d, That we are in hearty sympathy with the work of our Missionary Society in the domestic missions, the Womans' Home Missionary Society, and all other agencies aiming at the evangelization of the neglected masses in our own land.

Resolved 4th, That we recognize the great importance of our missions to foreign lands; heartily rejoice in the success of our historic missionaries, and thank God for the providence which is opening the way of the Gospel among the people, and winning the favor of the reading and thinking classes in Europe, India, China, and especially in Japan and Corea.

Resolved 5th, That we heartily approve of and pledge our support to the Womans' Foreign Missionary Society, and rejoice greatly in the success of its medical and zenana missions.

Resolved 6th, That we regard "A million for missions from collections only," as the least that our church ought to do for our Missionary Cause, and promise to use our best efforts to assist our missionary secretaries in securing at least this amount during the coming year.

Resolved 7th, That we heartily endorse the action of this Conference last year, and re-affirmed at the present session, recommending a return to the "old time missionary meetings and deputations," and committing the work of carrying out this recommendation to the "officers and directors of our Conference Missionary Society."

Resolved 8th, that we move in the case of this Society a change of relation "from supernumerary to effective," and make it the duty of its officers and directors, with the advice of the Presiding Elders, to prepare a plan of missionary meetings and conventions on each district, and a missionary meeting on every charge. To submit this plan to each of the District Conferences at their next session, and to act as a central committee to advise and assist in carrying out this work. We pledge ourselves to stand by the officers and directors of our Missionary Society in this work by accepting and thoroughly preparing for the work which may be assigned to us, and by doing all in our power to make the missionary conventions and meetings successful.

Resolved 9th, That we recommend that Easter Sunday be observed on all our charges as Missionary Day.

Resolved 10th, That we recognize in the "Gospel in all Lands" a periodical unusually instructive and interesting, and worthy of the widest circulation as a valuable auxiliary in promoting missionary intelligence and increasing missionary offerings.

Resolved 11th, That we nominate as officers and directors of our Conference Missionary Society: President, Bishop John F. Hurst: Vice-President, O. A. Houghton; Secretary, Rev. A. Broadway; Treasurer, C. T. Moss. Directors: E. B. Gearhart, F. M. Wheeler, W. H. Giles, E. M. Mills, D. Keppel, M. S. Wells. All of which is most respectfully submitted.

TEMPERANCE AND CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION.

There is with us as a church and people no question as to the fact that Temperance is one of the fruits of the Holy Spirit, and that intemperance in all its forms is a crime against man and a sin against God; one of the greatest enemies of the family, the church and the state.

The aim of the liquor traffic is the gain accruing to the vender thereof, regardless of the ruin which invariably follows. The simple problem is, shall we be ruined by this heartless monster of iniquity, or shall we arise and destroy this foe of God and of man?

In reviewing the past year we behold encouragements and embarrassments in the progress of the cause of Temperance.

We rejoice most of all in the success in some states of Constitutional Prohibition of the liquor traffic, while we regret its temporary defeat in the states of Michigan, Texas and Tennessee.

We are embarrassed by the combined influence of the enemy brought to bear to control and corrupt political organizations, courts of justice and national legislation. We are hindered by (falsely so called), temperance measures which endorse and legalize this crime, and divide the forces of temperance to contend against a foe united, determined and desperate. We name as such false moves high license and recognition by taxation.

We are opposed to taxation of crime, and in favor of the entire outlawing of this whole curse and abomination.

We deprecate the complications which arise from the tax collected by the National government in states where the traffic is prohibited by law.

While we do not presume to dictate to our people as to their political affiliations, we deprecate the continued supremacy of the liquor traffic in the politics of the country, and we do earnestly urge our people against being associated with this great crime at the ballot-box.

Regarding the liquor traffic as the most determined foe to the spread of the Gospel, and as socially, morally and politically, evil and only evil and that continually, we will, by all just means in our power, strive for the complete overthrow of the supreme curse of intemperance in our own, and in all lands.

S. F. SANFORD, Chairman.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

The evil effects of an ungodly literature cannot be estimated. Our characters are as truly influenced by our reading as by our associations with living men. Hurtful publications are everywhere thrust into the hands of the young people of our flocks. The Sunday newspapers are not only doing vast harm by their Sabbath desecration, but also many of them by their vile and pernicious character. This evil cannot be overcome by mere suppression. A supply of that which is pure and wholesome must come in to take its place.

We rejoice in the fact that our Methodist fathers, from Wesley down, appreciated this need and diligently endeavored to supply it. They set in motion the publishing machinery of the church, which has in the past accomplished so vast a work. Are we, their sons, acting as wisely and well as they? Have we as good a literature, and is it as well circulated? That we have the good literature admits of no doubt. We, as well as others, have heard the call for pure, clean, instructive Christian reading, and have responded. The old books remain and others, of equal merit, stand by their side. Our Advocates are unexcelled. It is fitting that we make special recognition of the value of the Northern Christian Advo- cate as an important factor in the interests of Methodism, especially within its patronizing territory. Considering this and its high literary character, and its adaptation by its breadth and versatility, to the variety of classes whom it seeks to influence, we must not be diverted by any influence to diminish our effort to sustain it; and we are determined, as heretofore, to do what we can to extend its circulation. But we are convinced that, if the price were lessened, our efforts would meet with greater success. And we think that the price of the Advocate at New York could also be diminished with advantage to the cause.

The Methodist Review continues to occupy its well-known high position. The publications for our children and young people in the main are such as to deserve our best confidence and earnest attention.

Our literature ought to have a larger circulation. Many Methodist homes have scarcely any religious reading at all. The members of such families are weak and worldly. It is with sorrow that we learn that the circulation of our excellent papers is so small. Every connectional interest of the church suffers when the church papers are not in the homes. The best of outside papers and books, even though moral, religious and reformatory, should not crowd out our own Methodist Advocates and books from our home and Sunday school libraries. We recommend to our publishers that an effort be made to bring the price of our literature, as far as possible, within the reach of the poorest.

The circulation of tracts on our charges should be made an engine of power. We are glad that our Sunday schools are generally using our own helps. They should not in any case be supplanted by those of other houses. Sunday school libraries should be selected with the greatest care; and we must remind ourselves, and our Sunday school boards should know, that the Discipline makes it the duty of the pastor to decide what books shall enter the library.

Respectfully submitted,

J. B. FOOTE, Chairman,
G. E. HUTCHINGS, Secretary.

BIBLE CAUSE.

The salvation of the human race can only be looked for where God's word is known. That knowledge is to be imparted through the living preacher and the printed Word.

The purpose of the American Bible Society is to supply the whole race with the Holy Scriptures. The increase of our people at home, the spread of intelligence abroad and the enlargement of missionary operations all over the world, make increased demands upon this society. Without its co-operation all missionary efforts would be greatly impeded.

The Methodist Episcopal church, being the most active missionary church, stands most in need of its help. Its direct gifts to our foreign missionary work during the past year amount to more than $700.

Only 110 charges of our Conference, report collections taken for the American Bible Society. The total amount contributed is $623. Ninety-two charges have reported nothing. $230 came from Clifton Springs. Omitting this, the average contribution is $1.80 per charge, which seems too small for an interest so vital to the world's salvation. Your committee would respectfully urge that the pastors present this cause to their people and take a public collection.

H. B. SMITH, Chairman.
C. E. JEWELL, Secretary.

WATKINS CHURCH.

Your committee to which was referred the financial condition of Watkins church, desire to submit the following report:

We find the total indebtedness at the present time to be $3,175.00. Of this debt, the sum of $1,500 is the unpaid pledge of this Conference, and $1,675 is the uncollected pledge of the home church. Therefore,

Resolved First, That we request the church at Watkins to meet their part of this debt within one year.

Resolved Second, That we renew our pledge to meet the balance of the $3,500, promised by the Conference, when this has been done by them.

R. D. MUNGER, Chairman.
P. S. WHITE, Secretary.

WHITE CROSS.

The committee appointed to consider the communication from Miss Willard, respectfully report that,

WHEREAS, The Society of the White Cross has for its aim the promotion of social purity, particularly among young men, by a triple pledge including abstinence from intoxicants, purity in thought, conversation, and reading, and chastity in life; and,

WHEREAS, The Society seeks these important results through carefully prepared sermons or addresses on the evils suggested, and by the distribution of suitable literature, pre-occupying the mind with what is enlightening and ennobling:

Resolved, That we, as a Conference, heartily appreciate the aim of the Society and, as far as practicable, will co-operate in securing the desired and important results.

JAMES ERWIN,
WESLEY MASON,
JOHN EASTER,
Committee.

FREEDMAN'S AID SOCIETY.

We believe the Freedman's Aid Society to be one of the strong arms of the Methodist Episcopal church in the South. Its history has been one which has reflected great credit to its founders and its workers. No other field of benevolent effort has brought forth a more abundant harvest to the church. The $1,900,000 spent on executing the work of the society, could not have been better employed in any other field of labor. The twenty-four institutions established and sustained, the 100 teachers who have been employed in the field for twenty-one years, the 100,000 students who have been taught in the schools and the 1,000,000 pupils who have been instructed by the students in the lower grade of schools, bear testimony to the fact that labor and money bestowed by the church has not been in vain. While many persons souls have been brought to Christ, 6,000,000 more are in great need of the light of knowledge and salvation, and are now standing at our doors. This great arm of power should be sustained by our earnest prayers, heartiest sympathy and unbounded support.

While we have looked with interest at the settlement of the Chattanooga University difficulty, and the disposition as made by the Society, we can but say that great wisdom was displayed, and the settlement made has met our approval.

WHEREAS, Our Conference has fallen short of meeting its apportionment in this and other years, and the great need and pressing wants of the Society have been so strongly presented to us by the corresponding secretary and others, be it therefore

Resolved, That we, as a Conference, pledge our heartiest support to the Society and will set apart a day during the coming Conference year in each of our respective charges, to represent its interest to the people and receive their contributions to this worthy cause.

Respectfully submitted.

A. J. KENYON, Chairman.
W. E. RIPPEY, Secretary.

STEWARDS REPORT.

Resolved, That the Presiding Elders be requested to divide among the several charges the sum of $8,125, for collections during the coming year.

Resolved, That the Secretary of Conference be instructed to forward to all claimants, the Conference blanks for the use of the Quarterly Conference committee on claimants.

Resolved, That Rev. N. A. DePew be appointed the custodian of the funds going to the Rev. S. B. Dickinson.

SILAS BALL, Chairman.

SINFUL AMUSEMENTS.

Your committee to whom was referred the subject of sinful amusements, submit the following report:

It is with deep regret that we are compelled to notice the absence of personal consecration and spiritual power of many of our people, one of the chief causes of which is the indulgence in misleading and sinful amusements, which tend to impoverish their spirituality and paralyze their religious ardor.

We believe there is no amusement which exerts a more baneful influence and is more pregnant with evil tendencies and results, than modern dancing, with all its evil association; it has been said that one half of the evil coming from amusements, is from this source; truly it has blighted and blasted many young lives and ruined characters that were once pure and beautiful.

We lament that some of our people, and we fear churches, not only sanction, but invite the introduction of grab bags, blind-man's buff, catching and kissing rings, that the church may be supplemented, the influence arising therefrom is often baneful, and tends to deaden the moral susceptibility and lead to practices more questionable, therefore,

Resolved, (1) That as members of the Central New York Conference, and as ministers of the Lord Jesus Christ, we will preach at least one sermon this year upon the subject of sinful amusements.

Resolved, (2) That we will be more in earnest in condemning attendance on circuses, horse-racing, minstrel shows, theatres, progressive euchre parties, patronizing dancing schools and parlor dancing, which are contrary to the spirit and teaching of our Church Discipline.

Resolved, (3) That we will endeavor to substitute for these amusements such exercises as are inspiring, elevating, and refining in their nature and tendencies, viz: The circulation of pure literature, debating societies, lyceums, Oxford laymen, praying bands, and then secure the attention and influence of our young people for God and the church.

PUBLICATION OF PASTORAL ADDRESS OF 1887.

The special committee appointed by the last Conference to publish in tract form the Pastoral Address, adopted by the Conference, would report that they caused to be published 5,000 copies of said address, and that they sought by various means to get these into the hands of the pastors, mainly through the mails; the brethren ordering their supplies to a limited extent. The receipts from these sources would have been sufficient to meet the expense of publication, but for the postage, which amounted to nearly half of what the publication cost. The result is, that there is quite a quantity of said circulars on hand at this Conference, which are brought here for gratuitous circulation, if the Conference so please, and which would be of great value if fully distributed among our congregations. But there is a small balance on the bill for the publication and express, still due the publishers, of some $2.46.

The committee would ask the Conference to provide for the payment of this balance, either by authorizing the treasurer of the Conference Tract Society to pay the same out of the tract collections for this year, or in any other way which the Conference may judge proper.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MISSIONS.

Your committee report that we have within the bounds of this Conference, two Indian missions, the Onondaga and Oneida. Both are in a hopeful condition. Some conversions from among the pagans at the Onondaga Reservation, have occurred during the past year, and harmony prevails.

We recommend that the sum of $700 be appropriated by the Parent Missionary Society of the M. E. church for the support of these missions for the coming year, to be divided as follows: $500 for the Onondaga and $200 for the Oneida.

W. H. ANNABLE, Secretary.

BLODGETT'S MILLS CHURCH.

The committee to whom was referred the matter referred to in the memorial from Blodgett's Mills, would report as follows:

First. We appreciate and commend the enterprise of the society at Blodgett's Mills, in their earnest efforts to build a church edifice, and would gladly do anything that we could intelligently and lawfully to aid them in their laudable work.

Second. But we have no data at hand to corroborate the facts alleged as to the payment of such funds into the treasury of the Conference. We have no record and no voucher for such asserted claim. We know not when the money was paid over to the Conference, nor how it was applied.

We therefore recommend that the pastor of the society petitioning, be authorized to examine the records of the Oneida Conference, now in the archives of the Historical Society, to ascertain any facts relating to the receipt of such funds, and their application, and to report to the next Conference.

Meantime, we commend this case to the favorable consideration of the Conference Board of Church Extension.

WILLIAM REDDY,
A. C. SMITH.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

The committee on District Conference Records report that they have examined the records of Cazenovia, Elmira, Ithaca and Syracuse districts. We find these records neatly and correctly kept. The committee were not able to obtain the records of Auburn district.

TOBACCO.

WHEREAS, Our Christianity demands the overthrow of every evil habit, the rejection of whatever damages body and soul, and whatever subtracts from our ability to contribute to the purposes of the gospel, and

WHEREAS, We regard tobacco as next to alcohol in its power for evil, therefore,

Resolved First, That we admonish our ministers and members to abstain from its use in every form.

Resolved Second, That we will use our influence in our Sunday schools to pledge our scholars against it.

J. B. SHEERAR,
W. W. HUNT, Secretary.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

WHEREAS, Money greed, pleasure seeking and a careless disregard of God's claims and commands in many ways, violate the sanctity of the Sabbath, therefore

Resolved, That as pastors we will faithfully instruct the people under our care concerning the importance of strict observance of the Sabbath in its letter and spirit.

Resolved, That we will firmly resist all the encroachments upon the rest and sanctity of the Lord's day, which have a tendency to convert this Holy-day into a holiday.

Resolved, That as American citizens we will warn the people against the grave dangers to our country, growing out of Sabbath breaking; and we will diligently instruct the young that history concurs with the word of God in teaching that punishment will surely follow its violation.

J. V. BENHAM, Chairman.
J. E. ALLEN, Secretary.

GENERAL CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

Your committee regrets to say that the General Conference Collections, this year, do not meet our apportionment by a deficit of $735.50. The amount apportioned to us was $1,489.00, of which $753.50 have been raised. This deficiency can in part be accounted for by the fact that seventy-nine charges in our Conference report no collection taken in behalf of this fund.

We recommend that some measure be adopted by which the delinquents are requested to report their collections by the first day of January next.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS SHARPE, Chairman,
A. W. BROADWAY, Secretary.

AUDITING COMMITTEE.

Your committee appointed to audit the accounts of the Superintendent of Missions, report that they have done so, and found them correct.

Pastoral Address.

We, your pastors assembled in our Annual Conference, send greeting unto the Church of God within the bounds of the Central New York Conference; "to them who are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints. Grace be unto you and peace from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ."

It seems to us fitting, after another year of service in the cause of Christ, from the standpoint we now occupy, and in the light of the reports which have come up to us from every part of our broad field, that we should address a few words to you from this point of observation.

We desire first, to thoughtfully acknowledge our appreciation of the cordial greeting we received when we came to you in the name of Him whose we are and whom we serve. We can never forget all those tender ministries from your hands, which have contributed to the comfort of our families. Your Christly sympathy and faithful co-operation in the Lord's great work are gratefully remembered. Our hearts warm toward those of you who stood shoulder to shoulder with us in facing the foe and in the struggle for victory. If we have attained to any degree of success in saving souls and in growing the spirituality of the church we delight to recognize you as important factors in these successes. Without your believing prayers and consecrated activities we must, in some degree, have proven failures.

Dear brethren, when we shall come to you and enter upon the work of another year, we would come "filled with the Spirit," and the fulness of the Gospel of Christ, and may we not hope to be received, not with the cold and critical gaze of curiosity, but with that charity that "thinketh no evil," that will mercifully cover our faults and failings and supplement our deficiencies, and with those warm melting sympathies which flow from Christian love. "For we are laborers together with God." As the servants of God, and the ambassadors for Christ, our duty is definite. We have but one work—to speak the words which God doth command us. Paul's charge to Timothy is the bidding of Paul's Master to us, "Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine."

We trust that you may not be numbered with those who "will not endure sound doctrine, but after their own lusts shall heap to themselves, teachers, having itching ears, who shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." You will not count us your enemies when we tell you the truth, though its accusing, rebuking finger points at you. Welcome truth as you would your best friend, even though it smite and scathe you with its lightning stroke. Apply it to yourselves. Prayerfully ask, "Lord, is it I?" "We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus; the Lord and ourselves, your servants for Jesus sake." But while "Christ and Him crucified" is the gospel minister's central vitalizing theme, there are doctrines and duties revolving around this grand center that must be enforced and obeyed. Christianity has a "cross" for every one. Every genuine Christian is crucified with Christ, and resurrected with Christ. The relation between Christ and the believer is vital. Life binds them together. Christ is the vine and you are the branches. Fruit grows on the vine; it is not tied on. If you "bring forth fruit unto God," you must have the life of God, and the way to life is by crucifixion with Christ. "In him was life." It is not we that live, but Christ that liveth in us." Beloved brethren, we are the representatives of Christ; we are to breathe his spirit, speak his words and live his life. We are called to be living incarnations of Christ, "going about doing good." And our works are signs of what we are—the visible tokens of our character and faith. It is not so much the quantity of our service as its quality, that carries reward.

In some sense every day is a judgment day; decisions are being made all the time that are effecting character and destiny. We who preach and you who hear, are all accountable to the great Judge. "Take heed how you hear." We cannot come to you altogether with smooth speech, for the Gospel is a sword that cuts both ways; a hammer that breaks in pieces; a voice of thunder that stirs the dead; a fire that consumes; a power that kills and makes alive.

Faithfulness to our commission requires that we wound as well as heal, correct as well as comfort, warn as well as promise—warn against the road to hell, as well as point the way to heaven. The awful woe that hangs over us if we preach not the Gospel, and a sincere desire to save souls, forbid mild, mincing and meaningless platitudes, and sickly sentimentalism, that have no remedial influence and saving power. We cannot treat sin as a slight mistake or misfortune, which education may correct, or natural goodness may overcome, when God hurls his hot thunder bolts at it and is pledged to punish it. Sin is so deeply rooted in human nature, so inwrought, that it requires the old heroic treatment of the Gospel, "Repentance towards God and faith on our Lord Jesus Christ."

The cry of the church is for a ministry for the times, and the cry of the ministry is for a church for the times; and the need of the world is both an inspired ministry and an inspired church. Neither can inspire without inspiration. It is not more orthodoxy that the church needs; it is not more machinery, but Heaven's inspiration. Mechanical enthusiasm cannot be substituted for a divine life. We cannot vitalize without vitality. We cannot love without life. The hand cannot go where the heart does not go.

Let us be real, and not "whited sepulchers." When we come to God's house for worship do not allow the thought and affection to be elsewhere, bring your being there, as well as your bodies. When the knee shall bend at God's altar, see to it that the spirit be not rebellious and refuse to submit to Heaven. When the mouth opens in prayer let it be more than the cold chattering of a lifeless soul. When you listen to God's word, may it so possess you that you shall go out and preach the sermon in all your living. "Ye are our epistles." The eloquence of the life is more effective than all of the prayers of the litany and the forms of the ritual. The best Christian evidences are the reconstructed characters and reformed lives of believers. Permit us to emphasize the necessity of personal piety.

Nothing can be substituted for the experience of grace in your hearts. Go often to the mount of communion with God.

Get the glow of a fresh and fervent religion in your souls.

Write "Holiness to the Lord" upon everything you touch.

"Be men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom."

Be pure to your fingers' ends. The Gospel is full as well as free.

There is always room at Father's banqueting table. There is bread enough and to spare.

Welcome to your hearts the fullness of grace, and then give of this fullness—"Freely ye have received, freely give." Give like the sun that shines none the less brightly by reason of its profuse giving. All hoarded grace will spoil on your hands, like Israel's manna. In service pour yourselves out to the last red drop; make your consecration complete.

Again, suffer us to press upon you who are parents, the importance of family religion. The Roman orator said: "The nation is at the fire-side," and we may add, the church is there, too. Early consecrate your children to God in Christian baptism, and then train them for Christ and the Methodist Episcopal church. Cultivate in your children the spirit of reverence for religion. Let not priest or preacher, or any other teacher, come between you and your child. Trust not the spiritual interests of your child to the wisest and best. Be your own priests at the family altar. No church or Sunday school can perform your religious duty to your children.

And let us urge you to give yourselves to revival work. Aid your preacher in planning for it at the opening of this new year.

Methodism must not lose its prestige and power in the work of evangelism. Our church obtains her recruits from her converts. When our altars cool off and we cease to be a revival church, then decline and decay will begin. When it was asked how the early Methodists were made so efficient, the reply was, "They are all at it, and always at it." This was the spirit of the apostolic church; daily saved souls were added to the church, "The word of God increased, and the number of the disciples multiplied in Jerusalem greatly."

Preserve the spirit of Christian union. Remember Christ's great prayer for His disciples—"May they all be one, that the world may believe." We cannot convince the world if the demon of envy and jealousy be not cast out. Sad it will be when Christians cannot rejoice over each other's successes. Are we not "members, one of another," one household? Are we not all in the same ministry, pulpit and pew, all ordained at the Cross? all receiving our orders from Heaven? Is not my brother's success my victory? In the church of Christ, then no class distinctions; no inner and outer circles, but all are one in Christ Jesus.

We call upon you to be generous in your gifts to Christ's cause. Some of you cannot give much money, but you may contribute what sometimes is infinitely more valuable than silver or gold. Peter and John had no money to give the poor cripple at the gate of the Temple, but they had something to give—they gave him healing in the name of Jesus of Nazareth, and this no amount of silver and gold could buy. He must be a poor Christian who has only money to give. A million for missions will do little or nothing toward the conversion of this world, unless there shall go with it sanctified hearts and consecrated hands, sympathy for the suffering and love for the lost. "Thy money perish with thee if thou thinkest that the gift of God can be purchased with silver and gold."

Not less money to send the Gospel to the ends of the earth, but higher ideals, but broader views, deeper convictions, loftier aims, worthier motives and purer purposes, are needed. Let the cry this year go all through our Methodism, a million souls for Christ! And for this give your Christian intelligence, noble impulses, generous sympathies, spiritual energies, consecrated services and Christly love, and you shall be numbered among the greatest and best benefactors of the world.

Christian brethren, will you not join your influence with us, your pastors, in promoting spiritual public worship? Let us set our faces as a flint against a hollow formalism and a cold ritualism which chills the warmth and freezes the life of our Christianity. Can we not do more to encourage congregational singing, to make it less a performance to be participated in by the few, and more, a part of worship to be engaged in by all ?

Are we answering our divine call to be a "witnessing church." "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me," was our Savior's last charge to his church. The one thing we have to testify to, is, "Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners." It is not alone the Christ of eighteen centuries ago, but the now present and now living Christ, that we are to witness for. After philosophers have spoken their philosophy, and moralists have taught their ethical proverbs, and infidels have preached their infidelity, and all of the other teachers of the world have been heard, is not the whole world ready to hear what Jesus of Nazareth has to say ? And who shall tell the world Christ's story is not his church ? Let us plead the promise of power and pray for the pentecostal baptism as a preparation for this work.

Suffer us to call your attention to the great connectional interests of Methodism. Let your intelligent thought and prayerful sympathies reach beyond your own local church and grasp the general work of the church in her world-wide reach. The spirit of Christianity is too broad to be sectional ; it takes in the whole circle of the globe.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

"Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen."

The XX Question.—"Was the character of each preacher examined?" was taken up. Auburn District was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, L. C. Queal, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

AUBURN DISTRICT.

The service and sacrifice, the way and work of all laborers in the vineyard of our one Lord and Saviour have an imperishable record, a fragment of which my watch and care help me to report in this presence. One year ago on Auburn District seventeen pastors went to new charges; thirteen to the same charge for the second year, and six for the third year. Four charges have been served by supplies. The year began with general good cheer and hopefulness. The most of the pastors' health and opportunity have made a year of success in their work possible. The church property has been increased in value. Parsonage improvements have cost, in Seneca Falls, $1,800, Union Springs, $125, Savannah, $35, Waterloo, $100, Owasco, $50, Canoga, $125. The following sums have been expended on our church edifices: Moravia, $1,000, Bethel, $700, Ira, $100, Locke, $200, Huron, $130, Rose, $250, Conquest, $126, First Church, Auburn, $600, Cato, $160, Owasco, $50, Savannah, $220, Summer Hill, $185, Sterling, $175, Waterloo, $50. A good organ, costing $1,300, has been put in our church at Weedsport.

REVIVALS

have not been as general as in some years, but churches have been quickened and sinners saved in Locke, Moravia, Waterloo, Butler, Wolcott, Rose, Sterling, Tyre, Canoga and Fleming; and some have been gathered in, in Trinity, Wall Street, and First Church, Auburn. Good work has been done in other charges, and fields are white to the harvest.

allowed the pastors are not all paid, but as nearly so as in previous years. The charges paying less than $400 are as tenacious of service as those which pay more. The salary does not represent the degree of consecration to good work. Some men with small pay and little help from men, win many souls. Good charges may justly include two things, comfortable support and a fair opportunity to edify saints and save sinners. If desire or necessity result in much thought and considerable talk about pay, money and salvation grow less and criticism more. Some of our work is in part maintained by self-support. Our ability and our obligation to the home, and the away-from-home work make a demand for wise instruction, persistent work and a gracious baptism by which we shall be filled with the Spirit of Christ.

Our connectional life is not declining. Our instructed people are liberal. They are not all dead who delight in the gospel which brings to them a kingdom and a crown, but do not delight in the same gospel which lays on them the obligation to offer the same kingdom and crown to all the world; but by death and life we hope their end is near. Some churches have fallen below their contributions of last year for missions, but others have raised more, by which I still hope there will be an aggregate advance by the District.

The uniform report in the Quarterly and District Conferences concerning Sunday schools is that they are prosperous. They are organized into missionary societies, nearly all of them use the helps published in our church. Not a few teachers and scholars do too little, and are helped too much; but these are better than past times. The Master has given us a year of peace.

We do not all think or vote alike. We cheerfully consent that men shall think for themselves; but our consent has not been given to any one to make the Discipline, the pulpit or the press of our church an appendage of any political party. Our opposition to evil prevents consent to its continuance, but its general prevalence justifies us in limiting it as rapidly as possible, so we continue to work and pray "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done." Amen.

Last June Brother E. A. Peck, stationed at Red Creek, began a few weeks of rest, during which he decided to leave his work, and he now desires a supernumerary relation to this conference. His health is frail. Rest may restore him.

Brother Thomas Tousey, who joined the Itineracy forty years ago, was appointed last year to Clyde. On the 23d day of July he had a slight shock of paralysis from which he has partially recovered, but is advised by his physicians to continue his rest for at least another year. May the Master who has been with and honored him for forty years sustain him now.

Brother Horatio Yates, pastor of Tyre, has recently buried the body of his mother, who, in fullness of years and of the spiritual life, ascended from the home of her itinerant son to be with the blood-washed before the throne of God.

At the end of another year I record my testimony to the unfailing kindness and generous hospitality of Methodist preachers and their families. And in other homes I have found a cordial welcome and have lengthened the list of my cherished friends.

The work of the year would be crowned with great joy if I could name to you Bishop Vincent for your authoritative announcement, appointments which would meet the needs of pastors and their families, and gratify unselfish ambition; and at the same time furnish to the charges the pastoral care and pulpit ability that would insure success.

May He to whom we and the church belong guide to the best conclusions and largest prosperity.

Respectfully submitted,

L. C. QUEAL.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called. They reported their collections and their characters passed: O. A. Houghton, Thomas Sharpe, Walter Statham, W. M. Ward, J. A. Roberts, James Stanton, Thomas Tousey, J. J. Turton, G. C. Wood, W. H. Giles, C. E. Jewell, C. J. Beach, E. A. Peck, W. H. Rogers, G. W. Reynolds, Edward Jarvis, E. A. Tuttle, C. E. Smith, Horatio Yates, S. S. Barter, W. F. Butman, R. D. Munger, J. H. Rogers, Charles Eddy, H. G. T. Mitchell and William Searles. E. A. Peck was granted a supernumerary relation, at his own request. Thomas Tousey was granted a superannuated relation, at his own request. Brother Tousey addressed the Conference briefly, speaking in a most hopeful manner.

Cazenovia District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, U. S. Beebe, was passed, and he represented his district as follows :

CAZENOVIA DISTRICT.

Of the thirty-eight men appointed at the beginning of the present Conference year to fields of labor within the boundaries of Cazenovia District, thirty-five return to report toil and conflict and, under the blessing of God, encouraging success.

Rev. E. D. Terpenning went hopefully to his appointment, although at the time in a poor state of health. Nervous exhaustion soon developed into paralysis, disabling him entirely for work.

The marked enthusiasm manifested on taking up the work one year before was equaled by the quiet resignation with which he, at the direction of the Master, laid it down. His strength gradually wasted until he bade farewell to his fellow laborers on earth and passed on to report at roll call in Heaven. The charge has since been supplied by Rev. G. Banker, one of our local brethren from Cortland.

Early in the summer failing health compelled Rev. George F. Buckley to leave his charge in Union Valley for a vacation. The hope that a few weeks of rest would enable him to resume his work was not realized. His decline was rapid until, on the 13th day of August last, from the home of his sister in Cortland, he passed to his home beyond the skies. Bro. Buckley was for some years a member of the Vermont Conference. Five years since, receiving a certificate of location from that Conference, he returned to Central New York, the home of his early years, since which he has supplied Clockville and Union Village charges. He was known as a cultured gentleman, an earnest Christian and an able preacher. He has exchanged labor for its reward.

Rev. Philo Cowles has for some weeks been dangerously sick, but we learn is rapidly improving and hopes to reach the Conference before the close of the session.

On the eighth day of June, Rev. T. B. Dodd, stationed at Perryville, resigned his charge, and in a letter received from him bearing date June 14th, he formally withdrew from the ministry and the membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The charge has been most fortunate in securing for the remainder of the Conference year the services of Rev. J. S. Clark, a member of the junior class in Syracuse University.

With these exceptions the pastors have been blessed with good health, and in the spirit of the Master have without interruption continued in their appointed work.

The year has been one of spiritual progress. Extensive revival influences have been enjoyed at Cortland, McGrawville, Chittenango, Preble and South Spafford. Other charges have shared these influences in a less degree. The aggregate number of reported conversions is about 500.

Considerable improvement has been made in church property. The new church at Blodgett's Mills, which at the date of the session of the last Conference was in process of erection, has been finished, dedicated, and cost provided for. The church at Keeney's Settlement, which was undergoing extensive repairs, has been completed, re-dedicated and the outlay fully met.

The new parsonage at McGrawville is completed and paid for, and is a model of taste and convenience.

The old parsonage property at Cazenovia has been sold, a new property bought at an increased value of fourteen hundred dollars, and the whole outlay provided for. Eight hundred dollars have been raised and expendent in repairing and beautifying the church at Cincinnati. At Onativia four hundred dollars have been expended in repairing the church. Bennett's Corners church has been greatly improved. At Oneida a subscription of $3500, previously secured on the church debt, has been collected, the debt paid and the church freed from all encumbrance.

Two exceedingly interesting sessions of the District Conference have been held, with a full attendance both of the ministry and the laity.

A number of Sunday schools kept alive during the winter which have formerly been buried in the autumn to be resurrected some time during the spring months, a larger membership registered, a more thorough organization into missionary societies, are some of the encouraging features of our Sunday school work.

The benevolences have been faithfully presented on most of the charges. While we do not expect an advance equal to the large increase of contributions of last year, we trust the reports of the pastors will show some progress.

Cazenovia Seminary, beautiful in its location, healthful in its climate, rich in its past history, fortunate in the experience and ability of its faculty, now as in the past offers advantages for intellectual, social and spiritual culture equaled by no institution of its grade in the state.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, they reported their collections, and their characters passed: C. L. Connell, C. E. Mogg, J. B. Foote, W. W. Hunt, Charles Haynes, E. B. Stull, F. M. Warner, Philo Cowles, William Wardell, Thomas Stacey, James Erwin, L. B. Wells, A. C. Smith, E. J. Brooker, Henry Meeker, O. G. H. Phillips, W. H. Curtiss, H. W. Williams, Elias Andrews, William Jones, O. J. Purington, Orin Switzer, I. N. Clements and G. P. Avery. On motion of U. S. Beebe, T. B. Dodd was permitted to withdraw under charges.

Leave of Absence.—On motion of U. S. Beebe, Elias Andrews was granted a leave of absence.

ELMIRA DISTRICT.

The work of another year is a thing of the past, and again we are readvanced to review the field and the workmen. The contour of Elmira District is unchanged. Its thirty-two appointments cover a territory stretching across the boundary between the Empire and the Keystone States from Mud Lake in the northwest, a hundred miles to the historic Loyal Sock in the southeast. It is "a land flowing with milk and honey," (and buckwheat).

These appointments present such contrasts as exist between the best city churches and the weakest rural parishes.

The assignment of brethren to these charges one year ago was as satisfactory as such appointments can be until bishops and presiding elders can be found who can supply all churches with superior preachers, and appoint all preachers to first-class churches.

The pastors of this district will compare favorably with those of any other. And their work has been characterized by loyalty to God and commendable zeal in His service. My relation to these brethren, and the churches which they have served, have been most fraternal and pleasant; and according to my ability I have sought to be helpful to them and their work.

Again are we called to chronicle the death of a brother beloved.

January 28th, 1888, Rev. Wesley Cochran, a supernumerary member of this Conference,—a pure man and an efficient workman, suddenly passed to the country of which for fifty-two years he had been speaking. He died at Mansfield, Pa.

After a wasting illness of about three months, which was endured with remarkable patience and sweetness of spirit, Rev. A. J. Kenyon, pastor of Centenary Church, Elmira, died in the Lord, May 12th, 1888. He was a cultured, affable, brotherly man ; a consecrated Christian, an able preacher, a loving, thoughtful husband and tender father. His sorrowing household have the sympathy of a large circle of friends, and are blessed with the presence of the Comforter. The church has been very satisfactorily supplied by Rev. C. E. Ferguson, a local preacher of large experience in pastoral work.

The health of Brother G. E. Hutchings, pastor at Tyrone, has been so impaired that he has been compelled to refrain from work for a few weeks, but we are happy to report that he has so far recovered as to be able to resume work.

The year can hardly be called remarkable, so far as visible results are concerned, and yet revival influences have so far pervaded the district that conversions have occurred upon the following charges : Forksville, East Troy, Burlington, Smithfield, Leona, Canton, Mansfield, Mainsburg, Millerton, Wellsburg and Daggett's Mills, Wellsburg, Hedding Church, First Church, Centenary Church, Caton, Beaver Dams, Monterey, Terrytown, and doubtless some others that may not now occur to me. On some of these charges scores have been numbered among the saved.

A successful camp-meeting was held on the New Albany charge, conducted by the pastor, which resulted in good to that and the surrounding charges.

The sums expended for improving church property on the various charges are as follows : Mansfield, audience room repaired and carpeted, $300 ; Towanda, repairs are progressing to cost from $500 to $800 ; New Albany, new barn, $150 ; Greenwood, organ and bell, $160 ; Franklindale, $60 ; Burlington, old church repaired, $300 ; Milan, church repaired, $175 ; Canton, stone walk in front of church, $75, also piano for lecture-room ; Mainsburg, parsonage repaired, $90 ; Blossburg, church repaired and orchestra changed, $200, and $1,100 subscribed and work commenced on new parsonage ; Millerton, church re-built and parsonage repaired, $1,060 ; Reading Centre, church papered and stove for parsonage, $60 ; Tyrone, new windows in church, $110 ; Beaver Dams, $200 pledged to liquidate debt ; Monterey, new roof on church, $58 ; Big Flats, pipe organ, carpets and cushions, $350 ; First Church, Elmira, barn repaired, $40, and new piano ; Hedding Church, Elmira, new carpet for parsonage and repairs on church, $400 ; Troy, new church completed at a cost of $6,500 ; Centenary Church, Elmira, $2,400 pledged on debt. The various benevolent interests have received due attention, as we hope the reports will indicate.

Thankful to God for the manifold mercies of the past, we hope to abide in his love and improve our record in the future.

EDWIN J. HERMANS.

Introduced.—Dr. Villars, President of McKendree College, C. C. Hemenway, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, and E. P. Sprague, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Auburn, were introduced.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, they reported their collections, and their characters were passed : N. A. DePew, C. M. Adams, B. J. Tracy, O. D. Davis, H. A. Carpenter, E. C. White, F. M. Smith, C. C. Wilbor, A. W. Green, B. F. Hitchcock, Harsey King, W. S. H. Hermans, H. B. Troxell, R. D. Phillips, J. H. Day, G. W. Moxcey, M. S. Wells, E. B. Gearhart, G. E. Hutchings, DeWitt Myers.

Geneva District was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, B. I. Ives, was passed, and he represented his district as follows :

GENEVA DISTRICT.

In presenting this report of my district, I desire, first of all, to express my heartfelt gratitude to my Heavenly Father, who has kept me in perfect health through all the year, so that I have not failed in any of my appointments and have attended to all of my district work without any interruption. And also that, with one single exception, there has been no severe illness and no deaths among the ministers or their families during the entire year.

The one exception referred to is the sickness and death of the faithful Christian wife of our dear Brother McKinstry, who died very soon after the session of our last Conference. Sister McKinstry was quite ill during the Conference, but no one supposed she would leave us so soon. But she was all ready and her death was peaceful and happy. With a calm trust in Jesus, she passed away from her blindness and suffering to be forever with the Lord in the world of light and glory.

God has blessed us during the year with some very precious and some quite extensive and powerful revivals of religion. This has been the case at Branchport, at Italy, at Canandaigua, at Dresden, at Lyons, at Pultneyville, at Williamson, at Palmyra, and more or less upon several other charges, so that between four and five hundred persons have been taken into the church, and we trust they are of such as shall be eternally saved.

Much has been done during the year in the way of paying old debts and the improvement of church and parsonage property. At Geneva the church debt of some $4,000 (a part of which has been standing for years), has all been raised, and about one-half of it already paid. This was all accomplished by private solicitation. Great credit is therefore due the pastor, Bro. C. H. Wright, for his energy and untiring perseverance in taking hold of and carrying through this important work. At Dundee our people have paid the last of their church debt of $1,000, and have also done something to reduce the debt on their new and beautiful parsonage. Bro. Bengier has had three years of great prosperity at Dundee.

The new church at Sodus is approaching completion, and when finished it will be the largest, most beautiful and commodious church edifice in Geneva district. Bro. Sheerar has held the fort and done what he could to help on the good work, and has had a good year, though he has labored under great disadvantages, as all the religious services have had to be held in the opera house.

On Sunday night of January 22d our church at Benton Center in some mysterious way took fire and burned down, with all that was in it. Our people were very fortunate in having an insurance on the church of some $3,000. Under the leadership of their pastor, Bro. Charles M. Eddy, they immediately rallied and raised some $5,000 more, and now they have a very beautiful new church nearly ready to be dedicated. Since the burning of the church our people have worshipped in a temperance hall that was kindly tendered them. They have had good meetings and some spiritual prosperity.

The church at Clifton Springs has been greatly improved and beautified, outside and in, and a new bell of near 2,000 pounds put into the belfry. All of this has cost a little more than $2,000, and is all paid or pledged. This good work has been accomplished under the leadership of the pastor, Dr. McCarty.

At Milo the church has been much improved and refurnished, and also a new block of sheds built, extending across the entire lot south of the church. This is something that has long been needed.

At Wayne and Barrington both of the churches and also the parsonage have undergone repairs and improvements. The pastor, Bro. Joralemon, has taken a very important part in this good work and has shown himself "a workman that needeth not to be ashamed," in more ways than one.

The little society at Yatesville, on the Potter charge, has expended and paid something more than $200 in improving the interior of their church.

Our people at Hopewell Center, inspired and led on by their faithful pastor, Bro. McKinstry, have taken a new departure, and have so reconstructed and improved their house of worship as to have almost an entirely new church, expending some $1,800, nearly all of which I think is provided. The church is to be re-dedicated on the 25th of this month.

For a little more than half of this Conference year Bro. Philip J. Bull has been serving the Sodus Point charge, and with his family occupying the parsonage. This has given the few Methodist people who are there, and the friends of the church generally, new courage, and they are making a noble struggle for life. They have not only done the best they could to take care of their pastor, but since he has been with them they have bought and paid for a good bell, which now rings out from the church tower to remind the people of duty and of God.

Our people at Palmyra have just enjoyed a great surprise. Through the influence of their very successful pastor, Brother Broadway, a Bro. Budd, who has been a stand-by in the church for many years, has made the society a present of one of the very best bells that could be found, weighing 2,075 pounds. The church and congregation will greatly appreciate this noble gift, as they have for so many years felt the need of a bell of their own. May the Lord greatly bless the donor.

The parsonage at Dresden has been finished and is now a comfortable and beautiful home for the minister and his family. Bro. Rippey has done well in leading his people on in this and every other good work during the year that he has been with them.

Four hundred dollars have been paid on the parsonage debt on the Hopewell and Flint Creek charge during the year. The good people at Lyons have done a good thing and added greatly to the comfort of their pastor's family by supplying the parsonage with good water, and also by heating it with a good furnace and putting some very fine furniture in the church. No one has a better right to enjoy these good things than Bro. Hamilton. Also at Marion through the efforts of Bro. Easter some old debts have been paid, the church and parsonage property improved and well insured; which I wish was the case with all of our church property.

We have during the year held two Sunday School institutes and two ministerial associations. They were all well attended, were intensely interesting, and of real profit to all who participated in them. Our Sunday Schools are nearly all "organized into missionary societies," and many of them are doing a good work in that direction. I am pleased also to say that the most of our Sunday Schools are well supplied with papers and publications from our own publishing house. It should be so with all.

As to the collections, I can only say we have tried in the fear of God, and with great love for the church to do the very best we could. Many of the ministers have worked faithfully and hard to bring up their apportionments. Some of them have met with opposition to their making efforts to raise money for the benevolences of the church, and from those who should have encouraged and helped them. But some of them have made a success, and some of them have failed. And some of the brethren who have failed have no doubt worked harder than some of those who have had success—and their record will be on high.

We have not believed it to be our duty to greatly press any one of the collections to the neglect or detriment of any other, but have tried to give each cause its proper place and consideration in our efforts. And notwithstanding it has been a very hard year to raise money for any cause, I expect to find some increase in all the collections.

One thing I have noticed during the past year more than ever before, and that is that the men and women who read our church papers are generally in sympathy with all of our church work. But with those who do not in most cases it is otherwise. They cannot be relied upon in the day of battle. I am impressed with the thought as never before, that no person should be elected or appointed to any official position in the Methodist Episcopal church, that does not take at least one of our official church papers. As a rule it is but little trouble to raise money for good causes among intelligent christian people who understand the demands in the case, and know what the church has on hand, what she has done and what she is trying to do. And this information can only be obtained by a faithful and constant reading of our church papers.

B. I. IVES.

The XX Question was resumed. Ithaca District was called. The character of the presiding elder, M. P. Blakeslee, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

ITHACA DISTRICT.

Another year of blessing has completed its cycle and we come up to our great annual gathering with our numbers unbroken, our honor unsullied and our hearts yet warm with a Saviour's love. While none from the ministerial ranks have died, one, Brother Geo. Hine, of the North Lansing charge, was obliged by ill health to abandon the field at the middle of the year and his place was immediately supplied by Brother W. N. Sharp, of this conference, whose home is upon the charge from which Brother Hine retired.

On Aug. 16, 1888, a great affliction fell upon Brother Sharp in the earthly loss of his wife after a painful illness of many weeks. The tender ties of long years were thus sundered, but immortal hope remains to comfort our brother. In April last the Lord, in tender love, took from the home of our brother, F. D. Hodgson, the precious invalid daughter. Death was to her most glorious gain, and the home is not altogether desolate for the Saviour has there an abiding place. With these exceptions health has remained with all our ministers and their families.

There was commendable improvement last year in the matter of ministerial support. Whether this year shall disclose any advance on last year is yet to be known. It is hoped, however, that there has been progress. To persuade quarterly conferences that method in pastoral support is a part of Methodism has often been undertaken. Excellent plans have been made by which pastors should be regularly paid, but through neglect in their execution they have often come to naught. But this is not applicable to all. There are some zealous, noble, unselfish stewards who esteem it a pleasure to do everything they can to advance the work of the Lord.

Except in two instances the current expenses of the churches are being met as they fall due. Much of the credit for this belongs to the pastors, who have jealously guarded the churches against the danger of debts of this sort.

The work of church improvement is still in progress, and very soon it is expected that the last sign of dilapidation will disappear from the church property of the district.

At East Genoa, on the North Lansing charge, the church edifice has been repaired and renewed at a cost of about $1,000, making it one of the finest country churches on the district. It will be ready for re-opening immediately after conference.

Under the wise leadership of the pastor the repairs and enlargement projected one year ago at North Hector are approaching completion. An addition has been made in front which has given opportunity for architectural display, including a tower and spire of rare symmetry, and has, also, provided commodious rooms for the various social meetings of the church. The audience-room has also been renovated and decorated. The entire cost has been about $2,500, all provided for in advance.

The Odessa church has been further improved this year by a beautiful carpet and fitting interior decorations, with the expenses all met.

The choir of the Groton church has been removed to the front and that of the Watkins church has what was much needed, an enlarged platform. The Sunday school rooms of the Horseheads church have been tastefully renovated. The audience-room of the Millport church is newly carpeted. The money is subscribed with which to repair and renew the church at Havana. At Ludlowville a new organ has been purchased and by the generosity of a noble woman new pulpit furniture has been provided. Church indebtedness is being cleared away. As one result of the precious revival at Odessa payments have been made in advance of the time when they fall due. At Newfield, by the untiring zeal of the pastor, the whole amount of the debt is provided for, and almost one thousand dollars of it actually paid. Van Etenville rejoices in the midst of the temporal adversity of her people as the last dollar of her church debt is pledged, much of the credit for which belongs to the faithful preacher in charge. The interest on the funded debt at Watkins and at State Street, Ithaca, has been duly paid.

The preachers have with great unanimity been faithful to our connectional benevolences. Simultaneous missionary meetings were provided for by the district conference, but the time chosen for them, just before Easter, was not favorable to their complete success. There will be, however, a healthful advance in contributions to the cause of missions.

The Sunday schools are receiving careful attention and are apparently increasing in members. They are organized as missionary societies. Three Sunday school conventions in different parts of the district were held and gave new inspiration to many workers.

The circulation of our own periodicals has everywhere been urged, and in view of this it is quite humiliating to find that our own excellent Northern Christian Advocate goes into but four hundred and seventy-one families. This is one subscriber to every ten members and probationers. Better things can be done, no doubt.

The Holy Spirit has been poured out upon many of the charges and revivals of religion have followed. At Catharine, Dryden, East Steamburg, Erin, East Genoa, Groton, Havana, Horseheads, North Hector, Odessa, Trumbull's Corners, West Dryden, and at State street, Ithaca, special meetings were held. At all of them souls were saved and believers quickened.

Two sessions of the District Conference have been held, with an excellent attendance of ministers, but with room for many more lay members. These gatherings were very profitable and aided much in unifying district interests. I have held all of the quarterly conferences with the exception of one, which was by mistake announced at other than the time appointed.

With devout thankfulness to God I mention that my health has been fully preserved amid all of the exposures of the work, and I have missed no appointment except one in the blizzard of January, and that was missed by everybody else.

Finally, for myself and the preachers of the district I will say: The Lord has been with us throughout the district; His banner over us has been love; His peace has prevailed over strife; His mercy has had many a victory over sin; still we trust, and will trust, in His Word.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, they reported their collections, and their characters passed: T. E. McMullen, H. T. Giles, R. N. Leake, N. M. Wheeler, David Keppel, G. W. Chandler, S. A. Chubbuck, J. H. Zartman, James Gutsell, J. H. Ross, W. H. Pearne, S. F. Sanford, J. R. Drake, George Fosbinder, E. E. Morris, Michael Coyle, H. C. Moyer, A. N. Damon, J. L. King, Frederick Devitt and A. S. Durling.

Syracuse District was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, W. H. Annable, was passed, and he reported his district as follows :

SYRACUSE DISTRICT.

Another year of labor is numbered with the past. Its good and its evil, its successes and its failures, have all gone to make up the history of that part of the field in which we have respectively toiled. Our joy is not in the fact that we have done the best that could be done, but that in all good conscience we have done the best we could do. That we have given our best thought and effort to make a success for our Blessed Master.

My own health has been wonderfully preserved through the entire year, so that I have not lost a single day nor missed an appointment. I have taken but one Sabbath from my work, which was spent at the seat of the General Conference. This was during a few days of absence from the district for the purpose of a visit to that body. I have no complaint to make as to the arduousness of the work. I am thankful for strength according to my day. I have been kindly received, hospitably entertained and encouraged by the preachers and the laymen.

SPIRITUAL CONDITION.

The spiritual condition of the district is comparatively healthful. I speak guardedly on this point because, on one hand, I must not disparage the work of God, and yet I feel that in view of the large provision of the Gospel and the call of God to come up higher, and the demands upon us for more exemplary and holy living, we do not reach the ideal experience and conquering power set before us in the Scripture. A higher standard of spiritual life would give more enthusiasm and more success in the work of the church, bring more comfort and joy to the burden bearers of Zion and bring the laggards up to duty. Some excellent revivals of religion have occurred on the district during the year, and most of the charges have had conversions and accessions to the membership on profession of faith. Our camp-meeting held at Haven Grove, August 21st to 29th, gave a good impulse to the work of entire consecration and faith which brings a full salvation. It was a delightful privilege to be permitted to labor with so many dear brethren who were seeking and finding this grace. I believe our converts and young are being carefully trained in spiritual things, and are as truly pious and earnest as the fathers and mothers.

BENEVOLENT COLLECTIONS.

The benevolent collections have, I think, been thoroughly presented to the people, and I trust will maintain the standard of last year, though it has been a hard year to raise money. The people are easily discouraged by trifling losses, or unfavorable circumstances, and some excellent ministers have not the art of raising money for benevolences against the protest of the indifferent and selfish people whom we find on all our charges. The apportionments were early in the hands of the pastors, and occasional letters of encouragement and appeal have been sent out by me, suggesting methods and prompt efforts. I expect the apportionment for missions will be fully met, notwithstanding the early frosts have cut off the resources of some of our charges.

LOCAL MISSIONARY WORK.

During the year the local missionary work of the district has been moving forward with vigor, and has reached some grand results, though confined principally to the city of Syracuse and its suburbs. We have five Mission Sunday schools in the city and immediate vicinity, all of which are ably manned, and are doing excellent work gathering in the children and youths of the neighborhoods heretofore neglected. Four of these points must soon be preaching stations supplied by local preachers and such others as can be enlisted to give their services to this cause, and the financial responsibilities as well as the maintenance of the Sunday schools and social services to be assumed by the seven Methodist churches of the city. For the accommodation of this work three beautiful chapels have been erected at a cost (with lots), of about $6,000, the other two schools occupying other quarters,—one a school-house on what is called the Furnace Road, the other a chapel at the famous Lakeland stock and nursery farm just outside of the city. I may say that this work of church-building and organization is under the direction of the Methodist Episcopal Union of the city of Syracuse, which is duly incorporated, and holds deeds to all the mission property. Our city Methodism was never so enthusiastic and united in Christian work as now.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS.

The work of local improvement of our churches and parsonages has gone on during the year with great success. In addition to the building of the chapels above mentioned, the First Ward Church has been reconstructed and enlarged so that it is one of the most attractive and convenient of our city churches. The parsonage has also been greatly improved, so that we have a beautiful home for the pastor and a delightful place of worship. The amount of money expended is about $4,686. Some internal improvements and furnishing of the East Syracuse Church has added much to its appearance and comfort. The West Genesee Church of Syracuse has been greatly improved by painting. The parsonage, which narrowly escaped destruction by the burning of a neighboring building, has also been repainted. At Warners a new parsonage has been purchased near the church, which will make the charge more desirable than ever. The parsonages at Skaneateles and Bridgeport have both been improved by repainting.

There is at present a much needed and extensive improvement being made in the Centenary Church building. For several years they have been greatly straightened for room for social meetings and Sunday school. During the year a subscription of $8,000 has been made to build a large annex which will give all needed room, and add to the beauty and convenience of the church. One more improvement is under consideration, if not already begun, and the money practically raised. The old church at Camillus has long been a reproach to the enterprise of the Methodist people. But the people are moved now to make a thorough reconstruction of the interior especially, and make an attractive and convenient auditorium. The proposed plan will involve an outlay of about $1,500.

The debt at Mottville has been reduced $600, and the balance, about $100, nearly provided for improvements at Brown Memorial Church at Syracuse.

ONONDAGA INDIAN MISSION.

The Mission is not materially changed since my last report. Rev. Abram Fancher is patiently and earnestly laboring to save the people, and elevate them to the plane of a true Christian civilization. Rum and licentiousness would quickly annihilate this people, were it not for the influence of the missionaries who live among them.

THE MINISTERS.

The brethren of the ministry have been diligent and true to the interests of the work. Not a shadow of reproach has fallen upon a brother or his family. Their homes have been centers of Christian influence and patterns of domestic piety. Some of these homes have been invaded by death and sickness. Rev. L. F. Congdon has buried a child, aged two years. Rev. C. E. Fry, of Bridgeport, was called to part with his wife, to whom he had been married but about fourteen months. Rev. Daniel Fancher, a superannuated member of this Conference, died at the home of his son, at the Indian Mission, July 17th, and was buried at Tully. A suitable memoir will be presented at the regular Memorial session of this Conference. With the exception of Rev. Benjamin Shove, who was taken sick early in the season and laid aside for some weeks, the brethren have been preserved in health. Brother Shove is recovering his usual vigor and promises a speedy and full restoration to health.

In July last the venerable Dr. E. G. Bush suffered a severe stroke of paralysis, from the effects of which he has not recovered. It is a severe trial for him not to be present at this Conference.—the first absence from similar occasions for more than fifty years. He lingers in triumphant hope of a glorious re-union with his brethren in the eternal kingdom.

Memoirs.

REV. DANIEL W. RONEY.

Rev. Daniel W. Roney, of the Central New York Conference, was born in Canaan, Columbia county, N. Y., February 19, 1811, and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. B. Jones, in Utica, N. Y., November 24, 1887, in the 77th year of his age. His parents were emigrants from Ireland, settling in Canaan, where they remained until removed by death. There were seven children in the family, of which Daniel was the fifth in number. During the war of 1812 his father enlisted in the United States army, and in the meantime the care of the family devolved wholly upon his mother. She, in order to lighten her burdens, sought other homes for a part of her children. Meeting a woman who had no children, she said to her: "Mrs. Warner, you may have one of my boys and keep him as your own child." The woman accepted the offer, made choice of Daniel, a child only two years of age, and adopted him as her son. He there found a Christian home until he was twenty-one years of age. He enjoyed the advantages of the best public schools during the winters and he was taught manual labor on the farm during the summer months. When he reached his majority he had acquired a good, common, school education, which he afterwards supplemented at the Canaan Academy with the purpose of fitting himself for a teacher. He taught three terms in his native town, when he came to Central New York, where he also taught for thirteen years.

He was the subject of strong religious convictions during his childhood and youth, but he made no public profession of Christianity until he was twenty-four years of age. He then united with the Congregational church at Canaan Four Corners. But on leaving home and being thrown among strangers, he at length became back-slidden in heart. In this state he spent four years of his life, the memory of which caused him much subsequent sorrow. While teaching in the town of VanBuren he was reclaimed under the ministry of the Rev. Royal Houghton, and he was received, in company with several of his pupils, as a member on probation in the Methodist Episcopal Church. After studying the doctrines and usages of the Church, he found himself in harmony with them, excepting the doctrine of Christian perfection. His idea was that no person could attain to that state of grace and remain very long in this world of temptation and sin. But he soon had the opportunity of listening to a sermon by the Rev. P. S. Bennett, from the text, "Knoth walked with God," which settled his mind on the practicability of living with this great attainment. He was soon appointed class-leader, an office which he held about two years.

During these years he was wrought upon with the conviction of his duty to preach the gospel. Indeed, while a member of the Congregational Church, he commenced a course of study preparatory to the ministry, but, for lack of means, he abandoned it. Rev. Anson Tuller now gave him license to exhort which he reluctantly accepted, but he folded the certificate and laid it away, intending not to use it. But the next preacher on the charge, "being crafty, caught him with guile." He would announce an appointment from the pulpit and say that brother Roney would fill it. In this way the preacher kept him at work during the year. In the meantime he attended a camp-meeting in the town of Granby, where he heard more powerful preaching than he had ever heard before, where he promised to preach the gospel if the Lord should require it of him, and where his soul was filled "with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

He received his first license as a local preacher from the quarterly conference of VanBuren circuit April 10, 1847. He united with the Black River Conference on probation in June, 1848, was admitted into full connection in the Conference and ordained deacon by Bishop Janes in 1851. He was ordained elder by Bishop Morris in 1854. He served the following charges, on the most of which he remained the full disciplinary term: Schroepple, Red Creek, Cato, DePauville, Carthage, Canton, Belleville, Rome, Embargo Street, Adams district 1861-4, Baldwinsville and Boonville. In 1868 by a change in conference boundaries he fell into the Central New York Conference, and thereafter his appointments were: Marcellus, Phenix, Liverpool, Centreville, Kirkville and Conquest. In 1882 he was, at his own request, granted a superannuated relation to the Conference and soon after settled in Liverpool, where he rested from his itinerant labors until his home was broken up by the death of his wife in October, 1886. He spent the most of the last year of his life in the West with his children. He returned last fall in time to meet his brethren once more in conference session. He would, even then, at the age of 76 have gladly taken another appointment in the field with his brethren had an available charge been open to him. But his work was done. After a short visit with his daughter in Utica he was called to his eternal home, no more to labor, no more to suffer, no more to weep. When dying he said: "It is all bright ahead." When asked what he saw in the brightness he replied: "Nothing but angels." The angels were indeed coming, for in a short time they had carried him home.

REV. WESLEY COCHRAN.

Rev. Wesley Cochran, A. M., of the class of '47, Dickinson college, a member of Central New York Conference, died suddenly of neuralgia of the heart January 28, 1898, at Mansfield, Tioga Co., Pa., aged 74 years.

He was a son of Enos Cochran, born in Peru, N. Y., January 13, 1814, prepared for college at Lima, N. Y., and began preaching in 1835. He married Elizabeth Gleason, who survives him, Sept. 6, 1837. Their children are living: Mary E., wife of Daniel S. Bacon, and Frances A., wife of Dyer J. Butts, Esq. Brother Cochran was two years a probationer, and fifty years a member of an Annual Conference. One year supply, thirty-nine years preacher in charge, four years presiding elder.

and nine years supernumerary. The following appointments within the Genesee, East Genesee and Central New York Conferences are the fields of his work : Supply at Middleport, 1834 ; preacher in charge of Leroy, 1835 ; Attica and Orangeville, 1836 ; Murray, 1837 ; Batavia and Alexander, 1838 ; Parma Circuit, 1839 ; Churchville, 1840 ; Caryville, 1841 ; Alexander, 1842 ; Scottsburg, 1843-4 ; Wellsboro, Pa., 1845-6 ; Pittsford, 1847 ; Lima, 1848 ; Avon, 1849 ; Groveland, 1850-1 ; Rush, 1852-3 ; Mount Morris, 1854 ; Nunda, 1855-6 ; Richmond and Canadice, 1857-8 ; East Palmyra, 1859-60 ; Mansfield, Pa., 1861-2 ; Angelica, 1863-5 ; Canisteo, 1866 ; presiding elder of Troy District, 1869-70 ; Lawrenceville, Pa., 1871 ; supernumerary, 1872-7 ; Big Flats, 1878-9 ; Monterey, 1880 ; Breesport, 1881 ; Sheldrake, 1882-3 ; supernumerary, 1884-7.

He wrote and published two books : "The Emigrants," and "Life of Human Souls." In all these labors abundant he bore the fruits of the Spirit, was a faithful preacher of the Word and a pure, cultured man. If his well-rounded character had any special feature it was marked executive ability.

At three score and ten he gave up the work of a pastor, and for two years was strong enough to be a class leader in the Methodist Episcopal church, Mansfield, Pa. For a year he was feeble, but was growing stronger so that he began to look for years of usefulness in the Church in the prosperity of which he was deeply interested, when one Sunday afternoon he went out and fell dead upon the beautiful snow. He had, indeed, fought the good fight, and had from early life kept the faith. That a crown was waiting there is no doubt.

Services of burial, February 1, at home and church, were conducted by the writer, who had the privilege of being his pastor. E. J. Hermans, presiding elder of Elmira District, Harvey Lampkin, S. G. Rinevault and W. D. Taylor, retired members of Genesee Conference, C. C. Wilbor, pastor First Church, Elmira, N. Y., and his pastor in short addresses paid tribute to his memory, or spoke words of comfort to the family and church. Henry Vosburgh, of Genesee Conference, E. B. Gearhart, Harsey King, C. A. Wilson, Paul Smith and G. W. Moxcey, of Central New York Conference, were pall-bearers.

If the life in the many years he lived and worked was like the three years in Mansfield, the many memories thereof must be and are an inspiration, and the life itself an example that helps to retain the Christ-like type in the Church of God.

W. H. S. HERMANS.

REV. ANDREW J. KENYON.

Andrew J. Kenyon was born in Pitcher, Chenango county, N. Y., May 7, 1835, and died of lung fever, in Elmira, N. Y., May 12, 1888. He was one of a family of twelve children. His mother, a most devout Christian, ere his birth consecrated to God the "child that should be hers" and it is not strange that at the age of eleven years he was clearly and once for all converted to God.

At the age of fifteen years the call to preach the gospel came to him, to which, a few years later, he responded. Soon after entering the ministry he was married with Miss Augusta Fox, daughter of Rev. Wesley

Fox. Four children were born to them but death removed the loving wife and precious offspring and our brother drank the cup of bitterness, of which none can know but those who are called to taste it. August 5, 1873, he was united in marriage with Miss Carrie Fries, of Auburn, N. Y. Three children have blessed this union: Albertus, Jessie T. Peck and Carrie Perces, who, together with their devoted mother, were permitted to minister to the dear husband and father in his last hours. Sad indeed was the sight of this little family in a comparatively strange city, although surrounded by a most affectionate Church, standing so unexpectedly by the death-bed of their loved one; and yet the scene was beautiful for "the Comforter was there, pouring balm on their wound" and their grief, although sore, had in it the resignation and courage which are born alone of the Christian faith.

Brother Kenyon was emphatically one of the self-made men of which our Methodism is so justly famous. In listening to his well-prepared sermons and lectures it would be difficult to decide in what respect the most careful collegiate training would have improved them. Brother Kenyon began his ministry as a "supply" on Onondaga circuit in 1857. In 1858 he was received on trial and in 1860 into full connection by the then Oneida Conference. Without tracing Conference boundaries we record his fields of labor as follows: Jamesville, two years; Camillus, two years; Madison, two years; New Hartford, three years; Oneida, two years; Sandwich, Mass., one year; Provincetown, Mass., two years; Moravia, N. Y., two years; Clyde, three years; Geneva, two years; Rochester, three years; Newark, three years; Clifton Springs, two years; and then he was appointed to the Centenary church, Elmira, where the disease of which we have spoken terminated his life; so valuable to the Church and to the world, and a pastorate which promised to be one of the most prosperous of his life. His Church had learned to love and appreciate him and his most efficient wife, while the community at large was coming to understand that in the "Centenary pulpit" there was a man of strength and character.

In estimating the character of our deceased brother, both as a minister and a man, we have space only to mention a few characteristics which will be readily recognized by all who knew him. He was systematic in his work. The exact classification of his books and sermons in his study and of all things in his household indicated his systematic and pains-taking care in the various departments of his ministerial work. He was a sympathizing and faithful pastor. As a public speaker, both in the pulpit and upon the lecture platform, he was much above the average. He was always argumentative, sometimes eloquent. In prayer, we have seldom heard his equal. When a boy but eleven years of age, his father, at that time, not being a Christian, he established a family altar in the home, and it is said that the neighbors would sometimes gather in the dooryard of his father's house to listen to his wonderful prayers. In his pastoral work, he would enter, for the first time, a home and in a short time gather together the wants of the family and then kneel before God and pour forth a prayer so comprehensive in its scope and so special in its petitions that the family could scarcely realize that he had not known them for years. In public, his prayers were often wonderful. One leading trait of his character was deep sincerity. He believed and therefore spoke and acted. He was transparent before his brethren. Of selfish intrigue, either in or out of his Conference, he was incapable. Of a nervous temperament, and exceedingly conscientious himself, departs from what he conceived to be right, upon the part of others, disturbed him more, perhaps, than they would some other pastors, but all of his people knew Brother Kenyon to be a generous, loving pastor, who desired above all things else, the salvation of his people. His eye was always upon the duties which belong to Godliness and membership in the Church of Christ. Doubtless from every church he served, will come stars to deck his crown. Of Brother Kenyon it is safe to say, he possessed as few infirmities as any of us and none of them belonged to the class of which we are ashamed. He was a "clean man." If, indeed, a sound conversion to God, an abiding Christian experience, a firm adherence to the truth of God, a fearless utterance of that truth, a character that is above suspicion, and perfect honor in every relation of life, constitute, in the sight of God, a perfect man, then Andrew J. Kenyon was a perfect man. More than this we would not say of any man. More than this it would be superfluous to say. During his illness he often spoke of the "increasing preciousness of Christ" and although he expressed a desire to live for the sake of his family, yet he was prepared to go. While for him life had many attractions, death had no terrors. The funeral services were held in the Centenary church in Elmira. Revs. Hermans, Wells, Moyer, Smith, Houghton and the writer took part in the service, while other of his brethren were present. Upon the next day, May 15, the remains were taken to Cortland, where, in the presence of his aged mother, brief services were held and then all that was mortal of this grand man was consigned to the grave at McGrawville, N. Y.

A. W. GREEN.

REV. DANIEL FANCHER.

Rev. Daniel Fancher was born at Greene, N. Y., in 1803, and died at Onondaga Castle, N. Y., July 17th, 1888, aged 85 years.

His early life was spent at Otsego county. He was married to Miss Lucy Payne in 1826. Five children were born to them—three sons and two daughters—all of whom survive him.

Brother Fancher was converted in early life in Otsego county, N. Y. He was licensed by the Quarterly Conference of Worcester, in that county. The Historical Record of 1888 shows that he supplied at New London for a time before joining the Conference. In 1834 he joined the Oneida Conference on trial, and served the Bainbridge charge for two years; was received into full membership in 1837, serving Scipio Circuit one year, Scott one year, Cortland one year, Otsego two years and Truxton one. In 1842-3 he was at Cardiff, 1844-5, Pompey; Onondaga and Indian Mission from 1846 to 1850 inclusive; Fayetteville 1851; was returned to the Mission in 1852; was superannuated for six years, viz: 1853 and 1859. In 1860 and 1861 he served the Mission again, and then was obliged to give up his work.

He has given to the church twenty-five years of earnest effective work in those days when hard work and poor pay were the inevitable of a Methodist minister's lot. He has waged a good warfare, left a clean record on earth, and his name is written in Heaven.

He died in the house he built as a mission house, and where a quarter of his ministerial life had been spent, and under the shadow of the house he built for the worship of God and for the gathering of souls for the Master. The funeral obsequies are held on the spot where, as a pastor, he went in and out before the Church of God, and we lay his dust where amid scenes of his early life he shaped the future.

I have not been intimately acquainted with Father Fancher until lately, but he impressed me as a typical Methodist of a half a century ago. He knew God. He preached Jesus and the resurrection. He had faith in the Gospel of Christ as the power of God unto salvation unto every one that believeth. His hope was full; his conversation was in Heaven. My last interview with him was at my last visit at the Mission. He was feeble, so that conversation wearied him, but he gave me some valuable facts in respect to the founding of the Onondaga Indian Mission. He seemed to be waiting patiently for the summons to depart and be with Christ. He was restful and happy.

It will be written and said of him as of that long line of worthies of whom inspiration speaks: "And he died."

Repeated o'er and o'er,
From time's remotest shore,
Where life was human life
Death's thenody of life—

And he died.

'Tis sung in chants of grief,
Or whispered as a sheaf
Bends in the spending gale
With trembling lips, and pale—

And he died.

Echo that never ends,
Binding and losing friends,
For every soul that is born,
It waits to wail forlorn—

"And he died."

But when the name of Daniel Fancher has been forgotten, and the marker which marks his grave has crumbled away and the march of business enterprises has ploughed over his grave again and again, the work which he did will live and its influence spread. His work and influence are immortal, and as a victor, tells the story of his hard fought battles and rejoices in the results of his suffering and strife, so on the immortal heights of blessedness he will tell the story o'er and o'er and cast his crown at the feet of Him who called him to be a soldier and led him to victory.

Oh, happy, happy saint of God!
Crowned at last!
Immortal habiliments donned,
Eternal occupations begun!

No more weakness of age, no more dimness of vision nor dullness of hearing. No halting step nor trembling hand. No fears nor tears. No shadow of death nor sting of sin.

WM. H. ANNABLE.

REV. A. BENJAMIN

Was born in the town of Middleburg, Schoharie county, N. Y. His ancestors originally came from England and settled on Staten Island. When our deceased brother was eight years old, his parents moved to Albany county, N. Y. Though his parents were not professors of religion, yet they taught him to pray. In early life he became thoroughly convinced of sin. In speaking of it, he said: "When about ten years of age convictions deep and pungent rested on my young heart. I would often retire to some secret spot to pray, and sometimes under these exercises felt a degree of comfort, and I have no doubt if I had been properly instructed at that time I should have been led in the right way and have known the joy of sins forgiven." But the conversion of children was a subject but little known at that time. It was thought that children must grow to manhood in sin and then seek for a change of heart. Our brother was permitted to drift along; feeling all the time that he was a sinner, but not encouraged to accept of Christ as a personal Saviour until he was twenty-one years of age. In speaking of it he said: "When twenty-one years old the Holy Spirit moved upon my heart and led me to seek pardon and acceptance through the merits of Christ, the witness of which was clear and satisfactory." It is a grand thing to have a clear Christian experience. Soon after Brother Benjamin's conversion he, with his father, mother and older sister, united with the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Two years later he was licensed as an exhorter. Taking this as a call from the church, and feeling the inward prompting by the spirit to preach, he soon commenced preparing for what he felt was to be his life work—the preaching of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

After spending some time in Cazenovia Seminary he was employed by the late Rev. George M. Lane, then presiding elder of the Susquehanna District, as a supply on old Canaan charge in Wayne county, Pa. This was an extensive field, embracing the territory of some six or seven charges at the present time, and was about fifty miles in length. The young preacher had for colleague the late Rev. Benjamin Ellis, a man of God. He could have no better man to instruct him in the mysteries of soul-saving. During this year he came near quitting the field and giving up the work entirely, but a remarkable dream encouraged him, and he went forward. He was received on probation in the Old Oneida Conference at its session held in Binghamton in the year 1836.

During his active ministry he served twenty-one different charges, doing good work for the Master. He was twice married; the first time when he was preaching on the Lanesboro charge and about four years after he had united with the conference. He said of this union: "Here I married my first wife, which happy union lasted four years, when she died in the triumphs of faith and in the enjoyment of that peace which is vouchsafed to his children." In 1850 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary J. Wilson of Cazenovia, who, with a daughter, survives him. In 1859 he took a superannuated relation to his conference, and held it up to the time of his death, which occurred at his home in Norwich, N. Y. Brother Benjamin was possessed of many excellent traits of character. You were impressed with his Christian experience. You felt that he was a Godly man and had learned of Christ. It could be said of him as of Barnabas of old—"He was a good man, full of faith and the Holy Ghost."

His heart was tender and his nature sympathetic. These qualities endeared him to his friends. He was conscientious and anxious at all times to do right. He was an honest and true man. Though a man of some ability, yet he was modest and unassuming. He was a Methodist. He believed in Wesley and his co-laborers. He accepted most heartily the policy and doctrines of the Methodist Church. But he is gone. I will not say he is dead, for the good never die. One of our poets has said:

"There are no dead;
Tis true many of them are gone;
Singly they came, singly they departed.
When their work was done they lay them down to sleep.
But never one hath died.
Forms may change, but spirit is immortal."

A. J. VAN CLEFT.

REV. E. D. TERPENNING.

Eddie Duane Terpenning was born in Lapeer, Cortland county, N. Y., October 13, 1849, and during the most of his life his home has been within the bounds of that county. He was about seventeen years of age when he gave his heart to God and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Virgil. He attended school for a number of terms at the old Academy in Cortland and later was a student in the Normal school in the same place. He also spent one year in Cazenovia Seminary, in continuing his course of study. For a considerable time he was engaged as teacher in the public schools at Groton City, Willett, Harford, Binghamton and Virgil.

January 16, 1877, he was married to Miss Jennie Chubb, and together they served the Master until He who doeth all things well, severed the sacred ties that united them. During the pastorate of Rev. J. W. Steele, at Virgil, he received an exhorter's license. This he held until about eight years ago, when he was licensed as a local preacher by the Cazenovia District Conference, and thereafter was always in hearty sympathy with his pastor, heartily co-operating with him in every good work.

In 1886 he was recommended by the District to the Annual Conference, for admission to the Travelling Connection. At Canandaigua, N. Y., on October 3d, 1886, he passed his examination and was admitted into the Conference as a probationer, and was appointed to the North Pitcher charge. He started for his work, full of faith and a desire to serve God and the Church that he loved so well. During the year his work as preacher and pastor fully occupied his time and heart. Near the close of the year he began to weaken from nervous prostration, but continued to work far beyond his strength. He came to Conference at Elmira, last fall, in a very hopeful frame of mind, and ready to receive his appointment for another year. He was appointed to Freetown charge, and promptly moved there and commenced his labors. He was permitted to preach a few sermons in his new field, but soon found the work too arduous for his weakened nervous condition, and at last he realized that others must finish the work that he had begun. After weeks of weary waiting and patient suffering, he was not, "for God had taken him."

His death occurred Sunday morning, March 4th, 1888. During the days of sickness and decline he was cheerful and hopeful; anxious to continue his work if God so willed; ready to lay down the work and go to his crown, if this better pleased the Master.

The writer had the privilege of assisting in caring for him during his last days of suffering and when the hour of parting came he said: "Oh! brother, the religion of Christ was never so sufficient to me as it now is. I am trusting in Jesus as never before. He never was quite so precious. May God bless and protect my dear, faithful wife. Good bye until we meet in Glory." The funeral services were held at the M. E. church in Virgil and were conducted by his Presiding Elder, Rev. U. S. Beebe, assisted by the pastors of the Methodist Episcopal and Baptist Churches of Virgil, and the writer.

W. H. ROBERTSON.

GEORGE F. BUCKLEY.

George F. Buckley, son of Joseph and Olive Buckley, was born in West Barnstable, Mass., May 29th, 1834, and died August 24th, 1888, being 54 years and three months old.

Joseph Buckley was a sea captain on a whaling vessel and was at one time away on a three years' voyage. When George was three years old his father moved to Summer Hill, N. Y., where he and his wife, Olive, lived and died. There were six children in the Joseph Buckley family: Benjamin, George, Charles, William, Susan and Myra, of whom Benjamin and Charles are the only survivors. Olive Buckley, being left a widow, married Mr. Hathaway, whose daughter Mary, is now Mrs. Ladd, of Cortland. Here Brother Buckley sought medical aid and amid the kind attentions of his half-sister expired, unexpectedly, yet in the triumph of a Christian faith, August 24th, at 8:30 p. m.

The childhood and early manhood of Brother Buckley were passed at Summer Hill, N. Y., helping his parents, going to school and working his own way. He learned the art of penmanship and pen-drawing and had regular school in this department of study. When he became of age he went to Boston and opened a store. While in business there he married Miss Elizabeth J. Burgess of West Barnstable.

In these days he became a class-leader in the Bromfield M. E. church, where Dr. Geo. Prentice, its pastor, gave him an exhorter's license Sept. 2d, 1871, and whose Quarterly Conference gave him a local preacher's license Jan. 13, 1872, which is signed by William R. Clark, Presiding Elder of the Boston district. From this Church he entered the Vermont Conference and his first appointment was South Londonderry, where he stayed three years. His next charge was Wilmington, Vt., where he repaired and re-furnished the church edifice. After a pastorate of two years he went to Ludlow, Vt., where, in about one year, he was taken with nervous prostration and was unable to preach for three years. This period he spent with his relatives, endeavoring to recover his health. Physically improved, he was appointed to North Hero, Vt., an island on Lake Champlain. In this county seat Brother Buckley improved the church property to a large extent and won the hearts of his people.

At the end of two years he was appointed to Montgomery, Vt., remaining here two years. He with his daughters came to the Central New York Conference in the fall of 1884 and was appointed to Clockville, N. Y., where he made improvements, and, as the people say, laid the foundation for the revival which followed in the next pastorate. At Union Valley, his last appointment, he was highly esteemed as preacher and pastor, and, in the language of one of his official members, "his influence for good will always be remembered.

He, like other pastors, sighed for greater visible results of his labors. Yet, to prove his own faith, we will quote from his poem entitled "Cast Thy Bread upon the Waters:"

"On the waters cast thy bread.
After many days are o'er,
It will, greatly multiplied,
Come in triumph to the shore."

"On the waters, cast thy bread,
Let it be profusely cast.
And if not till thou art dead,
It shall gathered be at last."

Several most worthy poems, stories and articles printed between 1857 and 1860, remain to bear witness, not only of a poetic vein but of the pure, elevated and noble sentiments which characterized him. George F. Buckley, battling with sickness and difficulties, has lived a useful life. He has "fought a good fight and finished his course." His children mourn the loss of a kind father, and those who knew him best in his fields of labor, feel that a true and faithful minister has been taken from the Church militant. Loyalty to God and his Church, courtesy toward men, and not only a desire but the actual improvement of his fields of labor, characterized his ministry. The inspiration of his early conversion never left him. His aim was ever upward and onward, to be good and to do good. His grave in Clockville, N. Y., will be honored by his children, and his memory held sacred by his former parishioners. Let us listen as he says in his poem entitled "Heaven."

"There is a sky, beneath whose dome
I long to spread the wing,
And learn, while airy fields I roam,
The song that angels sing."

"And there are hills, delightful hills,
On which I hope to stand,
And while my breast with rapture thrills,
Survey the Holy Land."

"There is a home, a happy home,
Where all our wanderings cease.
Where cruel partings never come,
Where all is perfect peace."

WM. W. HUNT.

MRS. PORTER MCKINSTRY.

Mrs. Chloe Ann, wife of Rev. P. McKinstry, of the Central New York Conference, died at the parsonage in Hopewell Center, N. Y., Wednesday, October 26, 1887, at half-past 9 o'clock. She was the eldest daughter of John and Cynthia Hadley, formerly of Bennington, Wyoming county, N. Y., and was united in marriage with the Rev. P. McKinstry at the close of his first year as a probationer in the Genesee Conference, by Rev. James Heminway, Presiding Elder of the Cattaraugus District, September 9, 1839. For many years she had been in failing health, but when her strength would allow, had been a willing and successful worker in the Church and Sunday-school. She possessed a talent well adapted to Bible-class instruction. She was very conscientious in the observance of the Sabbath and delighted in the services of God's house. She had ever cheerfully borne her part in the life-work of her husband, and was never heard to complain of any field of labor to which they had been assigned. Though many times wearied with the toil of frequent removals, repeated thirty times, yet she was uncomplaining to the last. She was a faithful wife and the mother of six children, four of whom have gone on before to welcome their loving mother to their glorious abode in the skies, where parting is unknown. The place she filled so long and so well in the domestic circle is now vacant and lonely; but "the memory of the just is blessed." Some weeks before her departure she had the sad experience of total blindness, but she murmured not at this painful privation. We laid her gently to rest in the Sand Hill Cemetery, near Hopewell Center, to sleep the years away, till the "Lord himself shall descend from Heaven with a shout, and the dead in Christ shall rise." Then will the faithful wives of gospel ministers, who have borne a cheerful part in recovering this lost world to God, "Shine forth as the sun in the Kingdom of their Father."

ALFRED J. BARLTHROP.

HOPWELL, Nov. 13, 1887.

MRS. J. L. S. GRANDIN.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Grandin, wife of the Rev. J. L. S. Grandin, of the Central New York Conference, died at her home in Elmira, N. Y., Dec. 3d, 1887, after a brief illness, with disease of the heart. Her maiden name was Elizabeth M. Knapp. She was born in Orange county, N. Y., March 2d, 1818, and was married to Rev. J. L. S. Grandin, at Nelson, Tioga county, Pa., Sept. 21, 1844.

At about the age of sixteen years she gave her heart to Christ, and ever after, through trials and afflictions incident to Bro. Grandin's twenty-two years of active labors in the itinerate work, she maintained a consistent, even Christian life. She leaves behind, her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Baldwin, of this city, who, while they deeply mourn her absence, are anticipating a blessed reunion through Christ. Oh, precious hope! May it shine higher and still clearer until its rays are lost in the noontide glories of realization. So sudden was the unexpected summons to Sister Grandin that there was no time for last words. There was a sinking and a gasping of the poor suffering body, and then the blood-washed spirit was with her merciful Saviour.

Sister Grandin's life was like that of so many Methodist minister's wives, devoid of striking incidents which would tend to awaken in the casual reader of memoirs especial interest. But to those who knew her, and to God whose servant she was, her life was beautiful and heroic. She was to her husband a helpmeet, indeed. Although quiet and unostentatious in her learning, she possessed a cultured and well balanced mind, and a heart which beat in true sympathy with her Master's work. Amid the trials incident to Bro. Grandin's work, she made the home beautiful and comfortable. She was indeed the wife and mother described in the Thirty-first Chapter of Proverbs, and now is fulfilled in her case, the twenty-eighth verse of that chapter, "Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband, also, praiseth her," and in these respects the wise man's verdict of her would be, "Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all." But a Greater than Solomon saw her in her home when her husband was away upon his field of work, maintaining the family altar; saw her in the meetings of the church and heard her testimonies and fervent prayers for seeking penitents, and hath ere this said, as we confidently believe, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." The memorial services were conducted by the writer at her late home, and then we tenderly laid the worn body in Woodlawn Cemetery. We would ask the prayers of the church for the remaining members of the family, and especially for Brother Grandin who, in the feebleness of advanced life, feels all the more the sorrow of bereavement.

MRS. JULIA A. FOSTER.

Mrs. Julia A. Hopkins Foster, wife of Rev. George W. Foster, a superannuated member of the Central New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, departed this life at their home in Norwich, N. Y., April 8, 1888, in the sixty-fourth year of her age. Mrs. Foster was the daughter of Frederick and Polly Hopkins, deceased, of Norwich, N. Y. She gave her heart to the Lord in her youth, united with the First Presbyterian Church in her native place, and was a highly esteemed member of that branch of Christ's Church. On the 20th day of November, 1861, she was married with Brother Foster, then a member of Oneida Conference. At the time of her marriage she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. With modest and Christian refinement she entered and continued in the work of the Master as wife and helpmate in the itineracy for twenty-three years. At the Conference in Elmira, October, 1884, on account of failing health of herself and husband, a superannuated relation was granted to Brother Foster, and they removed to their home in Norwich, N. Y., where they have since lived. The Rev. A. J. Vancleft, her pastor at Norwich for the past two years, who attended her funeral, says of her that her Christian life and works shone every day and everywhere so brightly that no one ever doubted that she possessed a title clear to a home in Heaven; that she was faithful to all the means of grace and the ordinances of the Church. The writer has been intimately acquainted with her for the past twenty-seven years, having often spent several days at a time in her home, and also entertained her and Brother Foster as guests, and esteemed her as a Christian lady. On every charge where-she lived she labored and prayed with tears to save souls and build up the Church, gave liberally of her own personal means to all the benevolences of the Church, visited the sick and gave to the poor. About the middle of December last she was attacked with muscular rheumatism and suffered much pain all the winter, and did not take a step alone up to her departure from earth. She bore all with Christian fortitude and faith, often saying, "The will of the Lord be done. I have perfect confidence in the Lord. He is a dear, precious Saviour. I shall be so glad to meet Him." During the last few days of her life she seemed in constant communion with the Lord, praying, "O, my Heavenly Father, come! O, come quickly!" When asked if Jesus was precious to her now, her reply each time was, "O, yes; precious Jesus, He saves me as I am. He saves me now, just as I am; just as I am." The people where she has lived and labored will remember her Christian work and life, and may her assurance at the last be blessed of God in leading all who knew her and all that read these words of hers, to yield themselves to be filled with the spirit and love of the dear Saviour. Her dear companion, an only daughter, Grace W., several brothers and sisters, a step-daughter, Mrs. Hattie F. Lewis, and many friends, all deeply mourn their loss, yet feel that it is her gain through the Divine One.

MRS. JOHN ROBINSON.

Mrs. Robinson, widow of Rev. John Robinson, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Collson, in North Chemung, N. Y., April 27, 1888. She was born at Avon, N. Y., April 25, 1821. Her parents both died of the fever in 1824, when she was only five years of age. Her maiden name was Chappel. She made her home with an uncle in Rochester until she was married, which occurred in her resident city January 29, 1840, with Rev. John Robinson, then of the Genesee Conference, she having met and become acquainted with him at the session of this Conference that had been recently held in that city. For twenty-eight years she labored as untiringly with her husband in the itineracy as her health would permit, when Brother Robinson left the itinerant's home below for the heavenly mansion above, at the age of sixty-seven. How true did the words he spoke to the one so soon to become a widow prove, when on his death-bed he said: "For a long time you will be left alone, and a solitary wanderer on earth." She survived her faithful companion twenty years, and both died at the age of sixty-seven. She was converted in early life, and ever led the same steady and faithful Christian life. She was devoted to God and his cause. During her long period of decline, when she could do little else, she was wont to take delight in singing the old-fashioned songs that she had learned in her early days. She had resided here before, her husband having served acceptably this charge for two years—the limit at that time—1860 and 1861. It was then connected with the old East Genesee Conference.

It seems that our departed sister was born to suffer, for she was sick in youth considerable and suffered by reason of bodily afflictions during the greater part of her life. At the age of forty she lost her hearing, later on her sight, then her mind, and finally, a few months before her death, her body became partially paralyzed. Although an invalid during so many years, yet she complained not, and with all her suffering, at times intense, she was patient. I have thought how much like Job's life in this respect was hers. His "eye was dim by reason of sorrow, and all his members were as a shadow." Suffering and pain had produced a like experience for her. An invalid so long, then another and another bodily ailment added, it might seem to us that the so-called "light afflictions" were, in her case, heavy ones, and that she had more than her share, but she bore them patiently, trusting that according to promise, "these" would "work for her a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." As she lay on her bed, day after day, while others were busy, and night after night while others were at rest; and, as with Job, so it seemed that "wearisome nights were appointed" unto her. With her worn out body racked with pain, I wonder if she was not "waiting for her change to come," and longing for her Lord to come. Little by little her life "ebbed out sweetly to its close." One sister in the West and four daughters remain to mourn their loss. The mother, bowed with the weight of years and worn with life's struggles is no more, but she still lives in the hearts of her children, and by her influence and example, by her lessons of toil and patience, watchfulness and care, ever will live. The funeral services were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church at North Chemung, the pastor preaching from the text, Job xiv, 14: "All the days of my appointed time will I wait until my change come." Her remains were laid to rest in the cemetery opposite the church.

MRS. T. F. HARRIS.

Emily L., wife of Rev. T. F. Harris, of Peterboro, Central New York Conference, was born in Nelson, August 8, 1836, and died at her home in Peterboro, May 20, 1888, aged 51 years, 9 months and 22 days. She experienced religion when fifteen years of age and her conversion was clear. At an evening meeting held at a school-house in the neighborhood, she rose for prayers when the invitation was given. After the meeting closed she went home and asked her father to pray for her. The next morning she expressed her feelings by saying, "Everything seems so changed." She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church when she was nineteen years of age and labored faithfully for the Master until He called her away. Eighteen years ago last April her husband commenced the work of an itinerant preacher. She joined him cheerfully in every possible way. No one could have taken better care of the preacher's home. She labored incessantly for the comfort of her husband and children. There seemed to be no time for her to rest until she reached her home above. Part of the last winter and spring was spent in caring for her invalid father and mother, and also for her daughter living in Nelson. She returned to her home the 16th of May, having been with her daughter six weeks. After lingering three and a half weeks she left this world of care and suffering for her home in the skies. Death found her ready to go. She often spoke of the blessings received from the Lord during her sickness. A large number of neighbors and friends gathered at her funeral and followed her remains to their resting-place. She leaves a husband and three children to mourn their loss.

MRS. ELIZA M. HOWARD COOPER.

Mrs. Eliza M. Howard Cooper, widow of Rev. John W. Cooper, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. George H. Hacker, in Auburn, N. Y., on Sunday evening, June 10, 1888. She was born in Toland, Conn., April 17, 1813, but when a babe her parents moved to Preble, Cortland county, N. Y. Though having only the advantages of a common public school, she obtained a thorough English education and was for several years a successful teacher. She was converted at the age of seventeen, at a camp-meeting held on what was then Fabius circuit, Oneida Conference, and had a clear and decided experience. She went to the altar near the close of evening service and when earnestly seeking Christ was asked to retire for the night. She begged to stay, saying she could not live until morning unless she found Jesus. The ministers and good people stayed and prayed with her until 2 o'clock in the morning, when she merged into the light and liberty of the gospel, and "it seemed that the trees and all things were praising God." Happy in Christ, she at once joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at Preble, under the pastorate of Rev. Alvin Torrey. Her future husband was converted soon after and joined the same church. After an acquaintance of several years they were married by Bishop Hedding September 27, 1834. The entrance of Brother Cooper upon the ministry in 1841 was a severe trial to both, and from the strongest convictions of duty. But she entered upon the work with great faith and zeal, and was indeed a helpmate to a worthy and successful minister of Christ. She had superior social talent, was always popular, was able in prayer and exhortation, and an earnest and efficient Christian worker. When her husband had been forced into the superannuated relation at Red Creek, and during their long residence in Auburn, until her health failed, she was an active and leading woman in the Master's service. Her near friends and co-workers are eloquent in her praise, and "her husband also praised her." When near his end he lamented that he could do no more for his wife and daughter, especially when he thought of the part his dear wife had taken in all the toils and cares of life. He said: "Her counsels and prayers have been of great service to me. She stood by my side in the itinerant work like a true helper in the vineyard of the Lord." She was greatly beloved by a large circle of friends, and especially so by her only daughter, in whose family she long resided. She is greatly missed by the entire household, for "none knew her but to love her." Consequent upon a serious accident, resulting in softening of the brain, her mind was clouded during the latter part of her life. But she was ever interested in religion and its duties, enjoyed family worship, and was fond of prayer and praise in her room. Her common and most frequent expression was "Blessed Jesus." He was truly her staff and comfort to the end. Her death was simply "transition."

"So fades a summer cloud away,
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er,
So gently shuts the eye of day,
So dies a wave along the shore."

Rev. Drs. O. A. Houghton, L. C. Queal and E. P. Sprague officiated at her funeral and paid eloquent tributes to her memory. Her mortal remains were laid to rest beside her husband and only son, James, in Fort Hill Cemetery, Auburn, N. Y. J. B. VAN PETTEN.

MRS. ANDRIA J. ALDRIDGE

Was born at Union Springs, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1831, and died of malignant cancer June 29, 1888, at the residence of Isaac B. Bowen, Auburn, N. Y. She had a larger share of the sorrows of life than fall to the lot of most women, but these never embittered or crushed her; all seemed only to sweeten her disposition, widen the large kindness of her character and make firmer her trust in God. In 1873, she was married with Rev. Sylvester H. Aldridge, of the Central New York Conference, thinking to have a companion for the remainder of her days, but he was taken from her in 1879, after six years of rare sympathy and congeniality. All who knew her were impressed with her pleasant, refined, cultured ways. Said one who loved her: "She never forgot that she was a lady." Early converted at Union Springs, she never ceased thereafter to work for the conversion of others to the cause she loved always. Her life, closing amid awful pain, was doubtless shortened by her work in ministrations to many others. For months she was eager to join the company of those gone before.

MRS. MARGARET E. SHARP.

Margaret E., wife of W. N. Sharp, of Central New York Conference, died of blood poisoning at the family home in Genoa, N. Y., August 16, 1888, aged 58 years. Mrs. Sharp was converted at seventeen years of age and immediately entered upon that faithful Christian life which she subsequently illustrated as the wife of a Methodist preacher. Her marriage occurred in 1850. Three sons and two daughters, deeply sorrowing over her mysterious demise, "rise up and call her blessed." Her husband, although called upon to walk alone, has an inheritance of precious recollections of her wifely devotions and motherly affection. Her last illness was one of eight weeks' duration in intense suffering, but fully exhibited the patient waiting of a confident Christian. Faithful hands ministered to her bodily necessities until the angels came and escorted her spirit away to await a happy re-union with loved ones yet tarrying here.

M. P. BLAKESLEE.

Pastoral Address.

To the Methodist Episcopal Church within the bounds of the Central New York Conference:

DEARLY BELOVED: Your pastors assembled in Annual Conference session greet you in the name of our common Lord: "Grace be unto you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers; remembering without ceasing your work of faith and labor of love and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father: knowing, brethren beloved, your election of God." We would remind you that we are a peculiar people, called to be saints and followers of God as dear children. The ties which unite us together in holy fellowship are more sacred and abiding than those earthly ties, however important and endearing, that unite people in political, social or even family life. These all are to perish with the using, but the holy ties which unite God's people remain forever.

Our sacred society is the only one which will pass unharmed through the changes of time, survive the fall of dynasties, the ruin of human achievement and merge into the glorious and everlasting Kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ. Truly, our citizenship is in Heaven, whence we look for His appearing.

Seeing we look for such things, what manner of persons ought we to be in all holy conversation? "We beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

"And be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God."

Surely, if any people have been more favored of God than another, we are among them. We have a goodly heritage. Our lines have fallen to us in pleasant places. If one were to choose in what land or nation a home might be made and supplied with the greatest variety of comforts and where social enjoyment might be richest, political, religious and social privileges largest and freest, one need not go beyond the bounds of the Central New York Conference to find all these things. But can it be conceived that these mercies are for our exclusive enjoyment? Are we lords over God's heritage? May we do what we will with our Master's goods? Can we secure for ourselves the blessings of redemption and meanwhile remain indifferent to the condition of perishing multitudes about us for whom Christ died? How can we possess the holy, compassionate and self-consuming spirit of Christ and not feel and speak and act as He did?

This, then, is our calling: To be sacrifices to God; not dead, senseless and inactive offerings, but living, active and energetic ones, filled with the holy fire of Christ-like zeal and presented in a manner worthy of God's acceptance; so heartily, truly and unreservedly that it can be known that we are no longer our own, but that we aim at God in all things and at all things in God, and yet so patiently and perseveringly that it can be seen that our eye is fixed on the prize of our high calling in Christ Jesus.

Beloved, this is no small undertaking. It cannot be accomplished by occasional effort, however great, nor by perfunctory service, however regular. We may perform all the acts of service and yet serve God in none of them. We must be transformed. The renewing of our mind should be complete, so that we shall stand forth under the Captain of our Salvation a new race of human beings. If there are any people on earth who walk with God, who partake of His nature, and who are more than conquerors through Him that loved them, why should we not be those people?

We more than ever feel the importance of those scriptures: "Without holiness no man shall see the Lord"; "For this is the will of God, even your sanctification"; "Faithful is he that calleth you who will also do it." We are called to do this. There is no option. We have no liberty to neglect the Spirit's call. Let others neglect or delay if they will; we cannot do so without loss of Divine favor and peril of spiritual apostacy. The testimony of clean hearts and holy lives was never more imperatively needed than now. Satan's kingdom does not grow weaker. Some forms of evil grow apace. We believe also that Christ's kingdom grows and that righteousness increases at the same time.

Tares and wheat side by side in the same field, nourished by the same rain and dew and ripened by the same sun, are waiting the harvester's sickle.

The increase of worldly goods, which on one hand affords means of blessing the needy and perishing millions, on the other hand runs to luxury and riot, debauchery and death. The great intellectual activity of our time is shown in some instances in seeking after God and true wisdom, but in many others in seeking out many inventions and in oppositions of science, falsely so called.

The great boon of civil and religious liberty, so necessary to the development of Christ's kingdom, becomes to multitudes the means of leading lawless and ungodly lives. Among the things which we deplore, some require special mention:

Sabbath desecration has become an evil of fearful magnitude and is increasing. This especially appears in connection with summer watering places, Sunday excursions and other forms of pleasure seeking. With thousands of people all thought of worship and all practice of our holy religion on the Sabbath day have given place to the pursuit of pleasure, social dissipation and general business. This is an awful evil. Like a malignant cancer it has fastened itself upon social life and threatens the destruction of our religious institutions. Though this hideous thing has the face of innocence and the voice of a siren, it was conceived in sin and shapen in iniquity, and when it is finished bringeth forth death. Beloved, abstain from every form of evil. Have no fellowship with these unfruitful works of darkness. Have nothing to do with Sunday excursions. Do not give them countenance nor apologize for them. Avoid the Sunday newspaper. It is a deadly serpent. Give it no entrance to your home. Abstain from Sunday visiting, social calls and pleasure taking. Judgment must begin at the house of God. His people must be pure before they can make others so. We do not believe that either ministers or people can innocently ride in trains, steamboats and stages on the Lord's day, though the purpose may be to attend Divine service, or even to go to camp meeting.

The end does not justify the means. We do not understand how Christian people can, with good conscience, become stockholders or managers in Sabbath-breaking corporations, or the servants of such corporations when their duties require the desecration of the Sabbath. "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day: and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable: and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words."

Then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord, and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth and feed thee with the vintage of Jacob, thy father; for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it."

On the great question of temperance we can find no better deliverances than those of our General Conference and of our Bishops. We commend them to you: "Total abstinence is the duty of the individual and the total legal prohibition the duty of the State." "The liquor traffic can not be legalized without sin." Be the license fee high or low, it is the price of sin; of sin that is exceeding sinful. We have no political methods to propose, and no political parties to commend as such. Whatever aims at and promotes legal prohibition commands our sympathy, our prayers and our co-operation. We deprecate all bitterness of spirit and denunciation in speech. We must be calm, courageous and persevering to the end. The battle is on. We must fight it out on this line until through the Wilderness of our struggles we reach the Appomattox of our cause.

Again beloved, "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together as the manner of some is." It has become the custom of too many to forsake wholly, or in part, public preaching and the social means of grace and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

This persuasion cometh not of Him that calleth you; it comes of a fond, foolish and self pleasing spirit that pampers the flesh, starves the soul and grieves God's spirit.

The old and wholesome Methodist practice was to hear the word expounded as often as possible, never to willingly omit attending a class meeting or a prayer meeting, and to take the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper upon every opportunity.

We fear that the practice of summer vacations in churches has produced serious evils. Not that ministers should not have vacations at proper times and under certain limitations, but the common abandonment of religious activities, the suspension of religious privileges, and the dearth of religious ministrations during a considerable portion of the summer must result in loss and harm. The poor, the sick and the laboring classes have no vacations.

The forces of evil in the land never cease their watchful activities. The churches should provide that when some laborers sleep or rest others should take their places and watch and carry on the toil; if by different methods and in humbler manner, still Zion's walls should never be without watchmen, nor Christ's flocks without shepherds.

We commend to you the healthful literature of the church. Be intelligent Methodists. Know what the church is doing. Have an interest outside your own neighbors. Let your affection and intelligent benevolence be concerned for men and things beyond the horizon which limits your vision. You will find our Advocates inferior to no current literature of their class.

You cannot read them without profit, nor neglect them without loss. They are strong, clean and healthful papers; friendly to the church, helpers to the pastor, and bulwarks to truth and righteousness. Give them place in your heart and home. We have many other things to say but we cannot with pen and ink write unto you, but we trust to come to you and speak with you face to face. Watch. Be sober. Quit you like men and hope to the end. "For if these things be in you and abound they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Reports of Committees

Present Need of the Church.

There are many needs brought to light in the rapid growth and development of our Methodism: To a few of these we beg leave to call the attention of our members, and urge them to seriously consider a remedy.

We have observed that while many of our people live in the continual sunshine of God's presence, by far too many are careless and indifferent as to their spiritual needs. We therefore consider that our greatest need is more holiness, believing that as this want is supplied, most other needs will disappear.

It is a lamentable fact that in many portions of our church the attendance at prayer meeting is very small. It is also noticed that there is a falling off in the numbers that attend class-meeting, considering the importance of these social means of grace, we deem it necessary that there should be a revival of class and prayer meeting interest amongst us. There also is need of better and more spiritual singing in our congregations.

We believe there is need of greater conscientiousness on the part of our people in observing the vows which they took on entering the church. We call especial attention to the questions and answers as found in our excellent Book of Discipline, part 554, page 278.

While it is commonly reported that many of our people habitually break the rules of the church as they pertain to the matter of amusements, neglecting the ordinances of God, doing nothing for the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom. And while many do not contribute anything to the benevolencies of the church: and while the statistics of this Conference reveal the fact that fifty-five of the pastoral charges report deficiencies in pastor's salaries, we are forced to the conviction that we need greater conscientiousness with respect to our vows as members of the church.

J. B. FOOTE, Chairman,
S. F. SANFORD, Secretary.

Education.

Your committee, after careful consideration of the matter referred to them, respectfully report:

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

We recognize the great service which the Board is rendering to the cause of Christian education. The money it has loaned to needy students has borne fruits in the higher education of ministers, missionaries, teachers and laymen in our church. We hail with satisfaction the suggestions of the Corresponding Secretary, which look to widening the field and increasing the usefulness of this valuable organization. In our judgment it should not only loan funds to needy students, but also co-operate in the building, equipment and endowment of our church institutions of learning. This may be done by incorporating in its literature a special commendation of our schools by name in their own respective territories, and by using its influence with our people for their support.

It would also be well to connect with Children's Day services, in each annual conference information concerning the church institutions under its special patronage. By thus lending its great influence both to build up the schools and aid the students, it would win a larger share of the interest and love of the whole church.

We recommend that collections be asked for in behalf of our Conference educational purposes under one head. That we ask for $3,000, the same to be apportioned by the Presiding Elders. That the funds so gathered be forwarded to Chancellor C. N. Sims, special treasurer of this fund, as soon as may be; and that the disbursement be made by him in the ratio of two-thirds to Syracuse University and one-third to Cazenovia Seminary. Also, as recommended by the Discipline, "that, whenever practicable, a collection be taken in the Sunday-school in aid of the Sunday-school fund of the Board of Education."

We strongly disapprove of the diversion of monies so collected to other than educational purposes; and we also ask that the Statistical Secretary be requested to divide the column in Minutes, pertaining to education, so as to give one space to the parent board and another for Conference purposes, the latter to be sub-divided for collections taken for Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

We are profoundly grateful to God for the great progress and rapidly increasing usefulness of this institution, located within our bounds and to which we are closely related. We note among the items of the past year's progress:—the completion of the Holden Observatory; the arrival on the ground of the Von Ranke library; the raising of over $30,000 for the library building, and the building itself pushed almost to completion; the opening of the J. Dorman Steele Lectureship of Theistic Science; the rapid progress of work on the John Crouse College; the greatly increased number of students, and the large increase of property.

We also recognize in this condition of growth and the necessarily increasing current expenses, the imperative need of raising the full amount necessary for the support of our Conference chair, and we pledge ourselves to most earnest effort to this end. We commend the management of the University to the confidence of our people and urge them to send their sons and daughters to it for their higher education.

We recommend as Conference visitors to Syracuse University, for the coming year, C. C. Wilbor, Prof. W. Somers, J. C. Nichols, Prof. E. Joralemon, H. C. Moyer, E. L. Talmage.

CAZENOVIA SEMINARY.

Notwithstanding the competition of high schools and academies, so numerous within its territory, Cazenovia Seminary is both maintaining and increasing its usefulness.

The efficient faculty, with Prof. I. N. Clements at its head, remains the same as last year. The principal continues to exhibit the same care and skill which have distinguished his administration from the beginning.

The whole number of students in attendance during the year was 285, or aggregated by terms, 553. Of these twenty-three were graduated at the last anniversary, fifteen of whom have entered colleges.

The endowment fund has been increased to $30,000, two thousand dollars of which was conditioned upon an annuity. We commend the latter fact as an example worthy of being followed. Might not pastors and other friends of the Seminary secure similar gifts?

Improvements have been made on the property of the institution. The rear campus has been enlarged by the purchase of two adjacent houses and lots costing $26,000, and the ladies' hall has been refurnished at an expense of $800. The receipts from all sources for the year were $24,615.19, and the expenditures amounted to $24,757.01. The Seminary greatly needs apparatus and other equipments in order to do its best possible work, and for this and many other pressing necessities, it requires and should receive an increase of endowment to at least $100,000.

The Christian tone and advantages of the school continue to bear fruit in frequent conversions among the students and in the maintenance of a religious sentiment both restraining and elevating in its influence. The Conference may well give to Cazenovia Seminary both confidence and earnest practical effort for its continued success. The prospect of the institution was never brighter than now—perhaps never equal to the present outlook, and both faculty and trustees are confident as to the future.

Let our pastors and others help the school by influencing gifts to it from the benevolent, and by sending it students.

The following persons, whose term of office as trustees now expires, are nominated for the same position: O. A. Houghton, J. C. Tillotson, H. T. Noyes, F. G. Weeks and B. Shove.

We recommend as visitors, Arthur Copeland, David Keppel, G. P. Avery, J. E. Allen, Casper Decker and M. Shaw, and that T. R. Green, C. E. Mogg, and W. H. York be appointed a standing committee on current expenses of Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary.

BOSTON SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY AND DREW THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

We note with much satisfaction the great work which is being accomplished in these institutions. Founded for the express purpose of training young men for the ministry, these schools have steadily advanced in efficiency from the first. Here may be enjoyed, at the least possible cost, the best advantages under the training of able and trusted instructors. We recommend them to all our young men, who being called to the ministry, are seeking the best possible preparation for their work.

The following are nominated as visitors to Boston School of Theology: J. H. McCarty, G. W. Chandler, and W. H. Annable. For Drew Seminary: C. N. Sims, B. W. Hamilton and J. H. Rogers.

Rev. Hiram Gee, a member of this Conference, has promised a gift of $10,000 to Syracuse University in addition to the sums already bestowed by him.

On request of the Committee on Education he assures us that "in all reasonable probability" the said amount, being now in property, valued at $10,000, shall be appropriated toward the payment of the Conference Endowment Fund. In view of this, we do Resolve, That we hereby express our satisfaction at the assurances thus given, and our high appreciation of this gift, which, if thus bestowed for the benefit of the Conference obligation, will so materially assist us toward the consummation of the enterprise.

C. C. WILBOR, Chairman,
JOHN EASTER, Secretary.

Conference Commission.

Your Commission was appointed "to devise and report to the Conference a plan for the more systematic and equitable distribution of funds for conference claimants."

The Commission met in the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 6th, 1888. The chairman presented documents containing valuable material upon his subject, to which, especially, to the such action being duly certified to by the President and Secretary of the same. To give the amplest time for the fulfillment of these requirements, the Conference Secretary should send the requisite blanks to all concerned not later than a full quarter before the session of the Annual Conference.

We recommend the following as the form of the Question Circular :
(See Document A.)

2. That a Board of Conference Claimants for the Central New York Conference, to be auxiliary to the General Conference Board, be constituted. That this Board consist of nine members, elected in three classes: First class, to serve one year; Second class, to serve two years, and the Third class to serve three years, so as to retain six experienced men on the Board. That the officers of this Board shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, to be elected by the Board. That this Board be charged with the entire responsibility of fixing the claims of Conference claimants and distributing the funds received by the Conference for them.

And that this Annual Conference shall, through its Secretary, report to the General Board on or before January 1st next, following the session of the Central New York Conference "name and age of each claimant of the Conference, and give such other information as may be provided for by blanks furnished by the General Board. The Conference Board shall report to the General Board any urgent cases of need that arise during the Conference year, in order that relief may be given by the Board." (S. S., in plan of General Board.)

3. That one-half of the entire amount to be distributed among claimants shall be provided pro rata upon the basis of necessity, and the other half in the same manner, upon the basis of the number of years spent in the effective relation in any Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

To most expeditiously and pleasantly reach the end proposed in this plan, we recommend—

(1.) That when the complete documentary evidence required is before the Board, they should be permitted to pursue their preliminary work without the intrusion of any person, until after their first report has been read in the Conference. Then, at a time and place announced, all claimants, and others having complaints or other representations to make, should be permitted the fullest hearing.

(2.) That the Board always with a quorum present, and two-thirds present being required to carry a case—should first take up the list of applicants and determine who ought to be admitted for that year as a claimant for any amount.

(3.) That with the list of claimants thus determined, they should next equalize them, reviewing carefully the Quarterly Conference estimates, lowering them when evidently too high, and raising them if too low; especially bringing those in like circumstances, provided other things are equal, to a common basis. In this estimate only the questions of necessity should enter, as each claimant adjudged necessitous and admitted to the list, will receive his or her share on the basis of years of effective service, by another process.

(4.) That after the first report of this Board to the Conference, and the hearing of complaints and representations, accompanied by such changes as these have made necessary, the Board should prepare its final report, giving the list of claimants in alphabetical order, and the amount finally agreed upon for each,—“to assist such preacher, widow or child in obtaining a comfortable support”—for the ensuing year. These several amounts should be correctly added to answer Question 30 of “Disciplinary Questions.” When adopted by the Conference, these become the “basis of necessity” on which one-half of the total amount to be distributed shall be divided pro rata to the claimants.

(5.) That it should be the further duty of this Board, assisted by the Secretary of the Conference, who should provide the data required from year to year, to furnish also a column showing the years of service in the effective relation standing to the credit of each claimant. This column, correctly added like the other, while not a part of the report to be read to the Conference, will furnish the Board the basis for the division of the other half of its funds.

(6.) That the Board then upon the data thus furnished proceed to divide the funds in the manner above prescribed. When the two sums accruing to each claimant in the list are added, we recommend to omit all fractions of a dollar under fifty cents, and to call all fractions of fifty cents or more one dollar, thereby bringing the final amounts to dollars.

(7.) That the funds be distributed by the Board itself on the last day of the Conference at such time and place as it may appoint.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Missionary Cause.

Of the divine authority for this work we have an ever deepening conviction. Our Lord says go ye; we must not stay. The sincere offering of the prayer Thy kingdom come, involves our utmost co-working with God to that end.

Relying upon divine power for efficiency, we emphasize the human agencies. Our church recognizes the importance of these by her several organizations and various appliances. We rejoice in the widening fields and growing success of the Missionary Society, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and Woman's Home Missionary Society, and we pledge anew our hearty support of each of these according to disciplinary regulations.

Our church is well able to go up and take the ground of twelve hundred thousand dollars a year, and then march on to other heights. The needs of the work require this. A decrease in the gifts of our conference and of the church at large is cause for deep regret. We shall report this year $262 less than last year. Some of the causes of this decline might be remedied. The resulting debt and retrenchment, in the face of pressing demands for enlargement, urge us on with redoubled efforts to increase the collections and save the day.

We record with gratitude the legacy of $500 from the late Daniel B. Lindsley, of our church in Rushville. May his example be followed by many.

We note with satisfaction the increasing efficiency of the Sunday-School Missionary Societies. Last year more than half the amount raised in this conference was raised by the Sunday-Schools. The most hopeful feature of this is a rising generation of trained, systematic contributors for Missions. We recommend frequent Missionary Concerts whenever practicable, and at least a public anniversary of the Sunday-School Missionary Society.

Undoubtedly we may improve in the matter of keeping the subject more constantly before the people. Whatever other means are employed let us make diligent use of Missionary literature. "The Gospel in all Lands" is a rich magazine of fresh, vivid and valuable information. Let us extend its circulation. The juvenile papers connected with this are exceedingly well adapted to their purpose. "World Wide Missions" we hail with delight as meeting a long felt want. With these and tracts let us sow bountifully.

We still hold to the desirability of a larger number of public meetings. If they are not practicable on the several charges, we should at least have two conventions on each district.

In the appointment of Bishops Taylor and Thoburn to their respective fields we recognize a providential arrangement of great promise.

For President of our Conference Missionary Society we name Bishop John H. Vincent; for Vice-President, Thos. Stacy; Secretary, A. W. Broadway; Treasurer, C. T. Moss; for Directors, David Kepple, C. H. Wright, McKendree Shaw, C. C. Wilbor, U. S. Hall, T. Tousey.

Report on Temperance and Constitutional Prohibition.

In the conflict which is about us the Methodist Episcopal Church has providentially been ordered to the front. It becomes us, therefore, boldly to face the foe, hold the ground already won, and promptly advance upon the uncaptured strongholds of the enemy.

It is with feelings of satisfaction that we recall the words of our Bishops in their Quadrennial address, wherein they declare that "At an early day our Church took advanced ground in favor of total abstinence and our preachers were among the first in the field contending for the legal suppression of the liquor traffic."

Ours has been a forward movement to the present. We must not retrace a single step, but endeavor in every proper way to increase our efforts for the suppression of the traffic in intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

A traffic which in the language of our chief pastors is so pernicious in all its bearings, so inimical to the interests of honest trade, so repugnant to the moral sense, so injurious to the peace and order of society, so hurtful to the homes, to the church, and to the body politic, and so utterly antagonistic to all that is precious in life, that the only proper attitude toward it for Christians is that of relentless hostility. It can never be legalized without sin. No temporary device for regulating it can become a substitute for prohibition. License, high or low, is vicious in principle and powerless as a remedy.

We believe that the traffic referred to is outlawed by the Word of God and the natural rights of humanity. Therefore we will not parley with the enemy, nor compromise, nor sympathize, even, with any policy which, under the guise of restriction, puts principle and practice at variance. It is not license, high or low, not restriction, so called, not unrestricted sale, but absolute prohibition, for which we contend.

We hail with pleasure the light that has begun to dawn upon the glorious cause of Temperance and Constitutional Prohibition; in the successful labors of the W. C. T. U., especially those resulting in the scientific temperance instruction of the youth in nearly all the States and Territories; in the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States vindicating the most radical legislation against the liquor traffic in those States where prohibition is most advanced, and in the unequivocal position of the late General Conference as published in the last edition of our discipline.

We heartily sympathize with the efforts of our brethren and friends in the neighboring State of Pennsylvania in their efforts to secure favorable action in the legislature during the approaching winter by which a constitutional temperance amendment shall be brought directly before the people. We recommend that all our brethren sent within the boundaries of that State should familiarize themselves as quickly as possible with the state of affairs and enter heartily into the work of arousing the people, that nothing may fail through lack of interest.

"Finally," in the language of our discipline, "we proclaim as our motto, voluntary total abstinence from all intoxicants as the true ground of personal temperance and complete legal prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating drinks as the duty of civil government."

EDMUND B. GEARHART, Secretary.

Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society.

When we consider the great and important work done by the Freedmen's Aid Society during the past twenty-one years, and the increased demand for the church to go forward with renewed energy, we can but say, "Awake, oh Zion! put on thy strength."

The reports furnished us by the officers of the Society reflect great credit upon its founders and workers. $2,094,099.46 have been expended. The present value of property owned by the Society is $1,000,000. The number of students who have been taught in her institutions number more than 100,000. The estimate made, which is considered a reasonable one, is that the preachers and teachers in public and private schools, from among the vast multitude have had under their influence fully 1,000,000 of youth and adults of the South. What words can we use to express the glorious results achieved and yet to flow from this ever-widening current of intellectual and moral power. Twenty-two institutions, with one hundred twenty-four teachers and four thousand five hundred six students, have been maintained the past year among the colored people. Fifteen institutions, with eighty teachers and one thousand nine hundred forty-five students among the whites, have received aid.

While these facts are presented to us and we are rejoiced over the success of the society, how few comparatively are awake to the responsibility of the work. The increased demands made upon the society for money to carry on this grand and glorious Christian enterprise, make it almost imperative that the Methodist Episcopal Church come to the front with her millions of money possessed by her membership and aid this most worthy society in the prosecution of its work.

The last general Conference approved the policy of the Society which declares that there shall be no exclusion from any school aided by the Society, on account of race, color or previous condition. The establishment and maintenance of institutions among both colored and white people in the South was heartily approved.

The Society received last year ending July 1, 1888, from all sources, $172,514.65; of this amount $86,168.80 came from Conference collections. When we take into consideration the rapid increase of the colored people, we can only say increased responsibilities are upon us. It is estimated that the grand-children of the present negro population will number 50,000,000. The Methodist Episcopal Church has fallen heir to an immense responsibility in giving Christian leadership to these multitudes who will soon dwell on American soil.

WHEREAS, These great responsibilities being now upon us and lie at our feet must be met; be it therefore

Resolved, That we, as members of the Central New York Conference, will during the year procure the help so cheerfully and freely offered by the Society, and set apart a Sabbath during the coming Conference year and represent the cause of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society to our respective congregations, and if possible raise our appropriations.

Respectfully submitted,

P. T. HUGHSTON, President.

W. E. RIPPEY, Secretary.

Books and Periodicals.

Methodism from the beginning recognized the necessity of enlightenment for the people. Wesley was an earnest patron of the press, publishing and supplying his people with the best possible literature of the day.

In these days, when the enemy of souls is utilizing the press to its fullest extent to advertise his wares and destroy men, when vile books and papers are as abundant as the fallen leaves of autumn; when the agents for disseminating, corrupting literature are so vigilant and insidious in their efforts, it becomes the church of God to be alive and to arouse itself to the dangers which imperil us. The best way to meet danger is to anticipate it—that is, to occupy the fort before the enemy, to supply an abundance of good reading and pre-occupy the minds, especially of the young with it, leaving no room for that which is injurious. This has always been the theory of the church; for this she has striven. Hence the early establishment of the book concern.

We rejoice, that, while all the past of our publishing interests has been successful, the present is the time of the greatest prosperity, so that from the necessities of the business new and more commodious quarters are demanded, and will soon be completed without debt, the sale of the old building paying for the new.

We congratulate the agents, that under their management the profits have been such that the Book Committee have declared a dividend of ($100,000) one hundred thousand dollars for next year, which is the cen-ennial year for the book concern, which sum is to be distributed among superannuated preachers. In view of this we recommend that the Committee on Public Worship at our next annual Conference, set apart one service to the "Centennial of our Book Concern."

We rejoice in the prosperity of our book concern because of the excellent work which it does, providing us with the family of Advocates equal if not superior to any church papers published by any denomination.

We think that no one can, indeed, be an efficient worker in our church who does not take one of our church papers; certainly, no one who holds an official relation ought to be without a church periodical.

We commend our Sunday-school literature as being of the very best. Every effort should be made to see that our Sunday schools are supplied with the helps and books published by our own agents.

We believe the paper called Our Youth meets a special need, and should be placed in the hands of our young people. The Methodist Review has always afforded abundant food for the thoughtful. We are pleased to note marks of individuality in the first number issued since the election of the new editor, Dr. Mendenhall. We commend it to our ministers, and in an especial manner to the attention of our younger ministers.

We call special attention to our missionary periodicals: The Gospel in All Lands, for general reading; The Missionary World and The Little Missionary, for gratuitous distribution.

Watkins Church.

Your committee, to which was referred the financial condition of the Watkins church, submit the following report:

We find the present indebtedness of the Watkins church to be $3,228.25, with assets to the amount of $1,582.87, leaving an indebtedness unprovided for of $1,645.38. The conditioned pledge of this conference is $1,500. Last year the conference took the following action:

Resolved, First, That we request the church at Watkins to meet their part of this debt within one year.

Resolved, Second, That we renew our pledge to meet the balance of the $3,500 promised by the conference when this has been done by them.

Notwithstanding this action by the conference, we find that the indebtedness is substantially the same as last year. Why no effort has been made by the church to meet the conditions prescribed by the conference the committee is not prepared to state; but lest the embarrassments of the situation may not be appreciated, and to be indulgent toward a burdened church, we recommend the passage of the following:

Resolved, That a collection be taken this year in all our churches for the Watkins church in connection with the collection for the church extension society; that contributors be permitted to designate to what extent their contributions shall be directed to the Watkins church or to the general cause of church extension; and that the funds contributed for the Watkins church be paid over to the treasurer of our Conference Auxiliary Church Extension Society, to be paid by him to the trustees of the Watkins church or their representative, in amounts pro rata with amounts collected and paid by the said trustees on the share of indebtedness now remaining not assumed by this conference; except, that the last five hundred dollars of the share assumed by the conference shall be withheld by the said treasurer until he is assured that the said trustees have met their obligation in full.

Resolved. That Rev. Abram Fancher be custodian of the funds apportioned to Rev. D. Fancher, deceased.

Sinful Amusements.

The Committee on Sinful Amusements would respectfully submit the following report:

To the consecrated Christian who truly loves and worships God, the indulgence in light and sinful amusements by those who profess better things, is a spectacle for tears and sorrow. And the case becomes still more distressing as they consider that piety, spirituality and godliness must die out forever in a home where wordly pleasures are more congenial to the taste and disposition than the pure religion of the Lord Jesus Christ.

We believe that the dance, the theatre, and progreessive euchre are lowering in their tendencies, corrupting in their natures and damning in their characters; wholly unfitting the christian for family worship or service in the house of God. Their associate evils have been the instruments of cruelty and spiritual death to many a young convert, and bar to keep the sinner from the fount of cleansing. Through their bewildering fascinations the brightest hopes have been crushed and glowing prospects blasted both for this world and the world to come.

We lament that in many cases amusements of a questionable character are resorted to, to procure a part of the financial support of the Christian church. What could be more instrumental in deadening the moral susceptibilities of the masses and in leading souls away from Christ.

If we are to be separate from the world, and to touch not, taste not, and to handle not the unclean thing, but to cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit perfecting holiness in the fear of God, be it

Resolved 1st, That we, the members of this Conference, preach at least once this year upon this subject, or as often as the exigency of the case may require.

2d, That not only in our sermons, but in our daily conversation with the people upon our charges we will be active in condemning everything coming within the scope of sinful amusements.

3d, That while we take from them amusements of a doubtful character, we will try and supply them with singing schools, Chautauqua circles and various societies for moral, spiritual and intellectual development.

Report of the Corresponding Secretary of the Conference Historical Society.

It was the misfortune of the Society that its anniversary exercises last year were superseded, with the consent of its officers, to give place to the anniversary of the Conference Temperance Society. But the growing press of Conference business, and the other anniversaries, which demand the right of way for the important interests which they represent, emphasize the importance of having some other time and place for the proper management and successful prosecution of the work of the Historical Society. The election of officers is the smallest part of the work to be done.

We ought to have, in connection with our annual gatherings, well-prepared addresses by able men. There ought to be more social intercourse and interchange on historical matters and re-unions, at which personal experiences and reminiscences might be recited, essays read and discussed, and an occasional dinner or lunch enjoyed together. The ministers' wives and widows should be recognized as having part and lot in these re-unions and exercises, as they have been participants in the historical scenes and events.

It is feared that there is not a proper appreciation of the importance of the work contemplated in the purpose of the society, nor sufficient interest taken in furnishing material for its archives.

Impressed with these facts the committee, consisting of the officers of the society, appointed a sub-committee of five to take into consideration the propriety of arranging for our anniversary exercises to be held at some other place than at the seat of our conference; also to arrange for some other place, than the one now occupied, for the Archives of the Society; and, further, to consider the propriety and the necessity of publishing the annual proceedings of the Society, including the annual address and any other important documents, along with the officers and standing committees, and a catalogue of the articles. As every member of the Conference is ex-officio, a member of the Historical Society, every minister is supposed to have an equal interest in its affairs and its success.

There should be, of course, an annual report presented to the Conference, and the nomination of the officers for the year should be made and the election take place in Conference session, but all other exercises could be arranged for and had at some other time and place. All this could occur under the constitution as it now is.

It is sad to record the death of so many of the members of the society during the past year. The names, character and work of these beloved brethren have been duly commemorated by the Committee on Memoirs and these memoirs will go to the archives of the society.

The revised Register being prepared by the Secretary of the Conference will be of great value in the history of our Conference, especially to the younger members of the body.

For the statistics and contributions to the society, the report of the Archivist will furnish the data, and the Treasurer's report will show our financial condition.

We have maintained correspondence with other Conference societies and have furnished information and documents for the benefit of said societies and for other memorial purposes, as such information has been sought.

The sub-committee referred to in the foregoing consists of Brothers J. B. Foote, Munger, Erwin, E. M. Mills and T. R. Green. The committee to meet at the call of the chairman.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM REDDY, Corresponding Secretary.

Report of the Trustees of the Funds of the Central New York Conference.

The trustees have endeavored faithfully to execute the trust committed to them.

The interest of the funds are sacredly applied to the relief and support of the superannuated preachers, their families, and the widows and orphans of those who have died in the work. The principal is preserved intact. Our relation to these claimants as the custodians of these funds, has awakened a deep interest in us, not only to invest the same where they will yield the greatest revenue for their support, but also to raise the question whether some more effective measures may not be inaugurated, by which the fund itself shall be augmented. The larger proportion of the present fund is the result of the centenary subscriptions of 1866.

The Wyoming Conference, at its late session, raised several thousands of dollars towards a proposed fund of $100,000 for Conference claimants. This movement was largely seconded by generous laymen who were present.

Has not the time come, dear brethren, when some plans should be adopted by us, looking in the same direction and to the same end?

The increased wealth of our people enables them to provide a more liberal support for the pastors while in their effective work. Why should not the veterans and the widows who have shared so largely in the itinerant work also share in this better support? Will not the Conference take up the subject and at least consider its practicability?

Our faithful and careful Treasurer has reported to the Board the amount of interest collected for the year, and the Conference is authorized to draw on him for the sum of $560.

The term of office of Wm. Reddy and Benj. F. Barker having expired, they are hereby recommended by the Board for re-election.

The investments and the securities of the funds are as follows, viz.:

Mrs. Margaretta Miller, mortgage	$1500 00
S. W. Root, mortgage.....	3000 00
J. H. Switzer, mortgage.....	1000 00
Mrs. Grace Holmes, mortgage.....	400 00
Edward Walters, mortgage.....	600 00
Mrs. Maria E. Neighbor, mortgage	500 00
J. H. Melvine, mortgage	400 00
J. D. Clare, mortgage.....	250 00
F. G. Weeks, note.....	1500 00

Total.....$9150 00

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Bible Cause.

The Committee on the Bible Cause offer the following report:

Methodism recognizes the Divine Word as the only and sufficient rule both of faith and practice. All true Methodists love the Bible; they also feel the obligation resting upon them to give it to the destitute, the ignorant and depraved in our land, as well as abroad. Thus to save them not only from social and civil degeneration and misery in this life, but also to save them eternally, for the "Gospel is the power of God unto Salvation."

Hence, loving the Bible, there are some things which naturally and logically follow, viz. :

1. They love to read the book of books. How we remember the days when one of the most pleasing delights of home was reading, by father or mother, from "the family Bible that lay on the stand." While there are instances of decline in the family, and in many cases of personal habit, in this particular, yet on the whole, we have reason to believe that the study of God's Word is becoming more general.

2. They love to give of their means to extend the circulation of the Scriptures. Time was when the column of collections reported for the Bible Cause was fuller than it is now, not only in our own Conference, but also throughout the church.

In addition to the amount given by the churches, we gratefully acknowledge the receipt of a $500 legacy to the American Bible Society by the late Daniel B. Lindsley, of Rushville M. E. Church, which has been paid by the executor of the estate, A. C. Lindsley, Esq.

3. We must have an agency by which to do this work. The American Bible Society furnishes that agency. It has all the machinery and material for the printing of the Word in two hundred languages and dialects, which may be obtained at about the cost of publication, or given to the poor.

We offer the following resolutions for adoption by the Conference :

Resolved, That we have unabated confidence in the wisdom and fidelity of the administration of the American Bible Society, and commend it to the confidence and benevolence of our people;

2d, That we recommend and advise our people to co-operate with the county auxiliaries in whose bounds they may be located; to pay their monies into the treasury of the same, and bring their vouchers to Conference;

3d, That we will endeavor to have every charge reported with a Bible collection next year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HARSEY KING, Chairman.
W. H. PEARNE, Secretary.

Tobacco.

We do not deem it necessary at this time to call attention to the harm which accrues to society and to the individual from the cultivation, manufacture and consumption of tobacco.

High ecclesiastical and medical testimony join with the most casual observation in its condemnation.

It is unbecoming in a Christian to raise it; it is physically and morally hurtful to those who are engaged in its manufacture, and its use is beneath the dignity and incompatible with the cleanliness that is not unreasonably looked for in every Christian.

We further declare that, in our judgment, the reason this vice is regarded with so much indifference by the Christian public is lack of knowledge touching its real character. We therefore urge the press, the pulpit, and all teachers of youth to consecrate a part of their time and abilities to the correcting of this great evil. A constant, intelligent and earnest agitation will ultimately effect much. We also suggest the formation of "Bands of Hope" and kindred organizations in all of our Sunday-Schools, with a pledge which includes total abstinence from the use of tobacco. By this means the children will be arrayed against it, and the rising generation saved from an unnatural and exceedingly hurtful habit.

We recommend that petitions be circulated in all of our churches, addressed to the legislature of the state in which we may live, requesting that honorable body to enact a law prohibiting the sale or gift of tobacco to boys under sixteen years of age.

Sunday Schools.

The disciplinary regulations concerning Sunday Schools are so complete and explicit that no extended report is necessary. By way of emphasis, however, we offer the following suggestions:

First.—Our Sunday Schools should be organized according to the Discipline.

Second.—The Church and Sunday Schools should be brought into the closest relationship in all respects. Errors in this matter should be corrected as soon as possible.

Third.—Rejoicing in the wealth of Sunday School helps and literature furnished by our own Book Concern, we again allude to the advisability and necessity of a much wider use of this rich material in our Sunday Schools, for a liberal provision made in this direction will bring forth abundant fruit.

Sabbath Observance.

WHEREAS. The Sabbath was instituted by God for man of every age; and,

WHEREAS. Its lawful observance is in the interests of all the powers of our being, essential to the establishment and perpetuity of the best civil government, and the life and growth of the Christian church; and,

WHEREAS. So many, including some professedly Christian people, failing to recognize this fact, trample with impunity upon the law of the Sabbath, and so upon the God-given rights and interests of humanity; therefore,

Resolved, 1st. That we as a Conference greatly deprecate this tendency and earnestly exhort our people to remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy:

First, by abstaining from any action that tends to destroy the sanctity of the Sabbath, such as Sunday excursions, patronizing Sunday newspapers, buying or selling goods of any kind, social visiting and electioneering.

Second, by so attending upon the public ministry of the word, so using the social means of grace, so giving to the reading of the Bible and other useful books and papers, so giving themselves to meditation, to prayer, and to helping others in spiritual things, as shall best tend to their own spiritual advancement, to the best good of their fellows and to the glory of God.

Resolved, 2d. That we entreat our people (like Abraham of old) to command their children, and their households after them, that in the proper observance of the Sabbath they may keep the way of the Lord.

Respectfully submitted.

8. To furnish preachers in charge with blanks for their reports, at least one month before Conference.

9. To send to all claimants of the Conference, blanks for the use of the Quarterly Conference Committee on claimants, at least three months before Conference.

DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES OF THE MEMBERS.

1. Every member of the Conference will be expected and required to be present at the opening of each session, to participate in the devotional exercises, unless unavoidably detained, and no member may absent himself, without leave, from the seat of the Conference.

2. It shall be the duty of every member to have the business of his charge properly arranged and brought forward, for the action of the Conference, when called for by the President.

3. No member shall be allowed to vote on any question who is not within the bar of the Conference at the time when such question is taken, except by leave of the Conference, when such member has been necessarily absent.

4. Every member who is within the bar at the time the question is put shall give his vote, unless the Conference for special reasons excuse him.

5. It shall be in order for any member to call for the yeas and nays on any question before the Conference; and, if the call be sustained by thirty-five members present, the vote thereon shall be taken by yeas and nays.

6. It shall be in order to move that the question shall be taken without further debate, on any measure pending before the Conference, except in cases where character or Conference relations are involved; and if sustained by a two-thirds vote the question shall be so taken.

7. No member shall be allowed to speak without rising in his place, respectfully addressing the President, and having his right to the floor recognized.

8. No member shall be interrupted when speaking, except by the President to call him to order when he departs from the question, or uses personalities or disrespectful language; but any member may call the attention of the President to the subject when he deems a speaker out of order, and any member may explain if he thinks himself misrepresented.

9. When a member desires to speak to a question of privilege, he shall briefly state the question; but it shall not be in order for him to proceed until the President shall have decided it a privileged question.

10. No person shall speak more than twice on the same question, nor

11. When any motion or resolution shall have been acted upon by the Conference, it shall be in order for any member to move a reconsideration, except in a call vote, when he must have voted with the prevailing side; but a motion to reconsider must be acted upon without debate.

12. All motions or resolutions introduced by any member shall be written and presented in duplicate by the mover, if the President, Secretary or any two members request it; and all reports shall be presented in duplicate.

13. When a motion or resolution is moved and seconded, or a report is presented, and is read by the Secretary or stated by the President, it shall be deemed in possession of the Conference; but any motion or resolution may be withdrawn by the mover, with the consent of the Conference, at any time before amendment or decision.

14. Question XX.—"Was the character of each preacher examined?" was taken up. Syracuse District was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, W. H. Annable was passed and he represented his district as follows :

SYRACUSE DISTRICT.

The year has been one of prosperity and of pleasant results. Some things are vastly better than the preceding year, while others have not greatly bettered. The church property is greatly improved. Some enterprises begun about the time of the last Conference have been completed, and other new improvements have been carried forward during the year. The Centenary Church of Syracuse has completed the commodious new Sunday School room and parlors which were dedicated in December last by Bishop Vincent ; and they have been a great improvement to the facilities for church work. The church at Camillus was transformed into one of the most tasteful churches of the district. It was dedicated free of debt in January.

Under the auspices of the Syracuse Methodist Episcopal Union, the Geddes Mission Chapel was completed about the time of the session of our Conference, and was dedicated on the Sabbath following the close of the Conference. By the same organization another chapel was completed and dedicated in August last for the Erwin Mission in the Eighth Ward of the city, making the fourth building erected by this society within two years. At Navarino a prayer and Sunday School room has been added to the old structure thus improving the facilities for meetings. Aside from these, small amounts have been expended in various improvements on the church and parsonage property. The district has a fine church property, and for some years will not require a great outlay of money except as the congregations shall outgrow the present accommodations, and for the improvement of a few parsonages.

The indebtedness on the church property was reported at the last session of the Conference to be $25,127.00, which, while it has been reduced at some points, has been increased by new enterprises under the auspices of the Syracuse Methodist Episcopal Union, so that the amount will not greatly differ from the last report. I may say just here, that we have property belonging to the above named organization consisting of four chapels, each located on corner lots of not less than 90x132 feet, in growing parts of the city. At a low estimate this property is worth $10,000 besides the furniture. Upon this we have a debt of about $5,000.

The Syracuse City Mission work, of which I made mention in my last report continues to grow. We have six missions in operation within the city and suburbs, which are calling in many children and adults who would not, or could not go to other places of worship, and which are employing many of our people who needed room to work. At five of these missions we have regular preaching services, (from supplies) with Class and Prayer meetings; and also prosperous Sunday Schools. About one hundred and thirty conversions have occurred at these missions during the Conference year. The work has thoroughly united and enlisted all the churches of the city, and greatly broadened and strengthened the connectional spirit among our people. Other work is opening up to us, and probably within the next year one at least, and perhaps two new chapels will be erected.

The Connectional Benevolences have been kept before our people, and I have reason to believe from reports made to the District Conference that the contributions will be in advance of last year. The people as they become educated in this branch of Christian work respond more readily and uniformly from principle than formerly. Still there is much to be done in the way of patient, thorough training of our converts and Sunday School pupils. With this, and some dispensations of Divine Providence, we hope to see the end of that generation of Methodists who say Missions are a failure, and our great benevolent work a burden. Our Sunday Schools are all organized into Missionary Societies.

The Onondaga Indian Mission remains much as it has been for years. It is doing good in conserving a better state of morals among the Indians and is saving some, but there is nothing to awaken great enthusiasm. Some of the leaders among them are ambitious to be independent of white people so far as the management of the church is concerned—but still want the money from the Missionary Society. This notion has caused a good deal of embarrassment to the Missionary, and has required some positive measures to repress it. The idea is entirely impracticable and would soon bring destruction to the Mission and waste the results of many years of labor. The action of the Missionary committee in cutting down the appropriation to this Conference will make it impossible for the Missionary to obtain a comfortable support unless this body shall take some action to supplement the amount of money given by the Board of Missions. Brother Abram Fancher, the Missionary, is a wise and faithful man and is doing excellent service among the Indians. A hail storm during the summer damaged the church property to the amount of $100 in breakage of the stained glass windows, which loss the Missionary has helped to meet out of his own support.

The district camp meeting was held as usual in August, and was the best in every particular that has been held since my appointment to the district. It was well attended especially by our people from the rural sections of the District. Every pastor save one was present during some part of the meeting, and most of them all through. A grand impulse was given to the work of God through all the charges and to regions beyond the bounds of the District. Two days were given to Sunday School workers and their work and to young people, which days were among the most spiritual and helpful of the whole meeting.

The spiritual condition of the District is encouraging. Many of our people know the deep things of the Gospel and are living in the clear light of entire sanctification. Others are pressing on to the attainment with earnest purpose of heart. This is particularly true of the young people. From my best observation there is less worldliness and more zeal for the honor of God's cause among the young than among the older members of the church. There are but few among us who bring reproach upon the church by walking disorderly, or by an open breach of our rules. Still, judged by their love of the class meetings and some other standards by which we have been accustomed to measure the piety of our Methodist people, we are at fault and should improve.

Finally—The Ministry and their families. Two of our venerated brethren in the superannuated ranks have “finished their course with joy” and gone up on high. Rev. E. G. Bush, shortly after Conference, was stricken with apoplexy and fell asleep. His funeral was attended from his home in Syracuse by his many brethren and friends. Rev. Moses Lyon had been growing more feeble for a year past but in the early spring, one Sabbath morning he expired suddenly from heart failure. A sweet singer and a mighty man of prayer was taken from us by his death. Otherwise the ranks have not been broken. The pastors have generally been in good health except temporary ailments, and with two sad exceptions no deaths have occurred in the families of our preachers. Rev. W. H. Giles and his wife in March were suddenly bereft of their little boy, James Stanley, aged three years, which event brought darkness to their home. But that consolation which comes from God is theirs, and they can say "It is well"! In the summer Rev. F. W. Tooke and wife were bereaved of an accomplished daughter, aged 31 years, who at the time was a teacher in the Conservatory of Music at Framingham, Mass. She was a great sufferer for many weeks. Brother and Sister Tooke are sadly stricken but are resigned.

District Meetings.—Two sessions of the District Conference have been held during the year which were helpful and interesting. Three Missionary Conventions and three conventions of the official members of the District have been held at different points and have been occasions of great good in the edifying and inspiring the laity of the church. We hope for great good in the line of greater efficiency in meeting official responsibilities from the convention of official members.

With gratitude to God for his good care and constant help in my work, with love for the work and my fellow workmen with whom I have had such pleasant and profitable fellowship in labor, I submit the work of the year in hopes that it may meet with the approval of my brethren and especially of my Lord and Master.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called. They reported their collections and their characters passed: Loren Eastwood, W. D. Rockwell, G. C. Wood, W. J. Mills, F. W. Tooke, D. W. Sherman, R. C. Fox, G. S. Transue, S. F. Beardslee, McKendree Shaw, Henry Hoffnir, H. B. Smith, Alexander Harroun, Abram Fancher, J. L. Jones, Silas Ball, Wesley Mason, Thomas Stacey, L. M. Vernon, T. R. Green, Benjamin Shove, W. H. York, L. F. Congdon, W. H. Giles, J. C. Hitchcock, C. N. Sims, W. P. Codrington, O. H. Warren, A. S. Durston, William Reddy. On motion of W. H. Annable the relation of W. D. Rockwell, was changed from effective to supernumerary. On motion of the same the Bishop was requested to reappoint A. S. Durston, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at Syracuse.

ELMIRA DISTRICT.

To represent with any accuracy of detail, the various interests of thirty-two (32) charges in the narrow limits to which this report must be confined, is an impossibility. A few facts only can be stated, with no attempt at rhetorical embellishment, and chiefly such as pertain to the successes that have been achieved. But results may not truly indicating the work of a year, for while it is true that "there is no excellence without great labor," there may be conscientious and discreet labor with most unsatisfactory results. Morning found the Galilean fishermen with empty boats, although they had wrought for success the long night through. Who doubts that the toil of that fruitless night, was as heroic and more exhausting than the labor of filling their vessels with the marvelous results secured under the direction of the Master? Empty boats may result from timidity and unbelief, from apathy and indolence, and we would erect no shelter on the beach for idlers. But if some have failed to bring their nets to the shore "full of great fishes" it may not warrant the suspicion of inability or unfaithfulness.

The religious status of Elmira district is by no means discouraging, and yet there is a prevalent need of such intelligent and full consecration to God and His service, as will leave no place for reprehensible selfishness and worldliness, and which would multiply an hundred fold the devout and joyous worshipers at our altars, and the skillful and empowered workers in our churches—such consecrations as would make our pulpits reservoirs of power, and our pews generously fruitful in the resources necessary for the vigorous support of our home and foreign work.

An ordinary amount of revival work has been done during the year, resulting in the "strengthening the things that remained" and the conversion of a few hundred souls.

The following charges have shared most largely in such work :

The three churches in Elmira, Leona, Mansfield, Blossburg, Troy, Canton, Mainsburg, Burlington, Millerton, Rutland and Towanda. Full reports of most of the revivals have appeared in our papers and need not be stated here.

Young peoples' societies have been formed in many of our churches and the reports from them are very favorable. Initial steps have been taken toward a district organization.

The benevolent interests of the church have been on our hearts, and have received due attention, and yet I have some cause to fear that the advance we hoped to make in our collections have not been realized. If so I am sure that the spring frost followed by an unprecedented flood, which did extensive damage throughout our district have chilled and drowned our hopes.

The improvements in church property, including debts canceled are these: Six hundred dollars ($600) have been expended on the church and parsonage at Towanda, twenty-five ($25) dollars on the church at West Burlington, forty dollars ($40) used to improve the parsonage lot at East Canton, a new stove and carpet purchased for the parsonage at Rutland. Twenty-five dollars ($25) used to improve the church and parsonage at Mainsburg, and new pews and pulpit put in the church at Chandlerburg cost one hundred and sixty dollars ($160). A debt of three hundred and sixty ($360) has been paid at Mansfield, and a new pulpit and other improvements costing one hundred and twenty-six dollars ($126). The parsonage at Daggett's Mills has been newly roofed and painted at a cost of sixty dollars ($60), and a new chandelier and lamps for the church at Webb's Mills cost seventy-five dollars ($75). Fifty-five dollars ($55) have been expended for a new stove and some improvements in the parsonage at Millerton, and the church at Jackson Centre has been newly roofed and painted at a cost of one hundred and seventy-five dollars ($175). The parsonage at Canton has been newly roofed and painted, inside and out, at a cost of two hundred dollars ($200). Forty dollars ($40) have been expended for paint, paper and furniture for the parsonage at Reading Centre, a new coat of paint on the parsonage at Tyrone cost fifty dollars ($50), and Brother Van Vleet of that church generously presented an addition to the church lot which cost sixty dollars ($60). A debt on the church at Townsend of two hundred forty-five dollars ($245) has been paid. The church at Chemung has a new coat of paint and new walks costing seventy-five dollars ($75). In Elmira the Centenary church has paid eighteen hundred dollars ($1800) on their indebtedness, and three hundred dollars ($300) for new library chairs, carpet and furniture for parsonage. First church parsonage property improvements cost one hundred fifty dollars ($150), and Hedding church has expended ten hundred and fifty dollars ($1050) in repairs on parsonage and church. At New Albany a debt of long standing and growth amounting to more than eleven hundred dollars ($1100) has been paid, putting that charge on a better basis than ever before. The church at Forksville has a new roof and is now being finely papered at a cost of two hundred and seventy dollars ($270). Improvement on church and parsonage at Ulster, cost one hundred and fifty dollars ($150). The fine new parsonage at Blossburg costing eighteen hundred dollars ($1800) has been completed and is occupied by the pastor's family.

Our district gatherings have been marked by a brotherly spirit, and have contributed to the success of our general work.

We regret to note the impaired health of two or three of our brethren. Brother E. C. White was forced to resign his charge in the middle of the year by serious illness, and has only slightly improved. Brother E. A. Baldwin was transferred from the Wyoming Conference to take his place at East Canton. Brother H. B. Troxell was temporarily disabled, but two or three weeks of rest and treatment restored him to his usual health. Brother A. W. Green also has not been as well as usual and he has had to devote several weeks to much needed rest and treatment. These have proved very beneficial, but we see with sorrow that the close of the year finds him unable to assume the full responsibility of the pastorate. We earnestly hope that a brief respite from heavy work may result in such restoration, as will permit him to do as good and able work in the future as in the past. I desire to record my gratitude to God for the blessing of perfect health, for His abiding presence with me and His fatherly care over me, and to the pastors and other brethren of the district for their fraternal spirit, and for the warm greeting, the generous hospitality and the delightful fellowship which I have found at their homes. I am sure no one would care to know the number of miles I have traveled or number of sermons preached. I have given my time and strength to the work of the district, more anxious for its prosperity and the success and happiness of my brethren, than for my own ease or pleasure.

EDWIN J. HERMANS.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called. They reported their collections, and their characters passed : N. A. DePew, B. J. Tracey, H. A. Carpenter, S. F. Sanford, O. D. Davis, H. B. Troxell, E. C. White, F. M. Smith, Thomas Sharpe, C. C. Wilbor, A. W. Green, P. R. Pitman, C. D. Smith, B. F. Hitchcock, C. M. Adams, David Keppel, J. H. Day, R. D. Phillips, J. J. Turton, P. J. Bull, Joseph Merring, W. S. H. Hermans, H. C. Andrews, G. E. Hutchings, G. W. Moxcey, D. W. Myers, D. M. Van Tuyl, E. A. Baldwin. The Bishop announced the transfer of the latter to this Conference from the Wyoming Conference.

Cazenovia District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, U. S. Beebe was passed and he represented his district as follows :

CAZENOVIA DISTRICT.

The work of another Conference year on Cazenovia District has passed into history. A zealous and faithful company of ministers and an increasing body of loyal and earnest laymen have wrought together in the vineyard, and the tokens of favor and approval bestowed by the Master upon this corps of laborers have been rich and manifold.

Throughout the District there have been decided indications of increased spiritual vigor. Some of the charges report most wonderful manifestations of "saving grace." One hundred and fifty-six probationers were received at Homer as the fruit of a series of revival meetings held in the early Spring, very nearly all of whom will be received into full connection. At Vesper, on the Tully charge, a most precious revival season was enjoyed. About fifty of the converts have already been received into full membership.

The membership at Fayetteville has been increased more than fifty per cent. Meetings of marked interest were held at North Pitcher, South Otselic, Cincinnatus, McGrawville, Cortland, Morrisville and Nelson. Conversions and some accessions to the church are reported from the majority of the charges.

The Sunday School is a growing department among our churches. Our Schools are organized into Missionary Societies, and aid us very largely in keeping up an interest in the cause, as well as in bringing up the collection. The Sunday School Convention, held at DeRuyter in May, was an enthusiastic and profitable meeting, and its helpful influence is still felt in the work.

A full attendance of the ministers and the largest attendance of laymen ever known on the District, indicates the growing estimate of the value of the District Conference.

There has been earnest and persistent effort on most of the charges to increase the benevolent collections. While not all apportionments have been fully met, we trust an encouraging gain will be reported and we fully believe that were the various collections apportioned to the Districts in proportion to financial ability rather than to the numbers of the membership, it would be found that the little churches scattered over the hills and nestled among the valleys of Cazenovia District have brought up their full proportionate share.

No new enterprise in church building, involving a large outlay of expense has been projected, yet many valuable improvements have been made, and the aggregate expenditures is considerable.

About $1,200 have been raised and expended at Cortland in payment of debt and in enlarging and beautifying their Sunday School room. A floating debt of $300 has been cleared away at Homer, and $500 has been paid on their mortgage indebtedness. The church at Vesper has been thoroughly repaired, at a cost of $500. At Tully a pipe organ has been put in the church. The $500 of debt on the church at Scott has been provided for. The church at Preble has been repaired at an expense of $700. Considerable sums have been raised and expended in improving church property at Cincinnati, Canasara, Fayetteville, Peterboro, and a small sum at Taylor Centre.

Rev. Oren Switzer, who was re-appointed by Bishop Vincent to West Eaton charge, went from the Conference to his work and continued in it until April last, when he felt that business considerations justified him in leaving the charge and going to Mississippi. He has since removed his family to that State. In a letter received a short time since he asks the Conference to grant him a supernumerary relation.

Our beloved brother, Rev. L. B. Wells, was received on probation into the Black River Conference in April, 1857, and by the change of boundary lines in 1868 became a member of Central New York Conference. For thirty-two years he has done faithful and efficient work. During the last two years his health has been declining, and for some months past has been very severely impaired. Resolutely and against the advice of his friends he has remained at his post, rendering valuable and acceptable service to the close of the present year. Feeling that the demand for rest is now imperative, he asks that his relation be changed to supernumerary for the coming year.

The shadow of death has fallen on the parsonage at Nelson. Sister Millie S. Williams, wife of Rev. H. W. Williams, after an illness of two weeks, died Sept. 28th. A good and useful woman has gone. We are cheered by the thought that hardly had the sad good-byes of earth been uttered ere the cheerful welcome of Heaven was extended.

Bro. Williams is detained from the session of the Conference by the severe illness of his son Arthur. May this stricken family have our sympathies and our prayers.

Cazenovia Seminary is in a prosperous condition. Her work is of the highest order and in keeping with that of the sixty years of her history. The attendance of students is large for the opening term of the year.

The pastor who fails to call attention to the advantages offered by the Seminary for intellectual and moral culture, fails to do his best for the young people of his charge. Appended is the required

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, their characters passed, and they reported their collections : C. L. Connell, C. E. Mogg, J. B. Foote, F. M. Warner, W. W. Hunt, G. P. Auburn District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, L. C. Queal was passed, and he represented his district as follows :

AUBURN DISTRICT.

Auburn district has thirty-six pastoral charges and a State Prison. The chaplain has been a member of this Conference most of the time for many years. Our political affiliations make this possible, and our doctrine of universal atonement, and our welcome to penitents condemned by courts, and the Supreme King made it appropriate.

There are fifty church buildings. One is seldom used by us, not because it is at Twelve Corners, but because the Twelve have no successors there. There are fifty-nine places where the pastors of Auburn district preach. There are fifty-five Sunday Schools, a few of them are discontinued in the winter.

Most but not all of the church property is insured. There are twenty-nine parsonages; churches and parsonages are in fair condition. The exceptions are not improved by the very excellent condition of most of them.

The salaries of the pastors are thought to be large by some whose description calls for that which I wish had no more place among us. The orthography of the word stings the stingy, and some of the very poor in property and "getting on qualities" think the same. Our preachers are not being made rich, but many of us live in as good houses, eat at as good tables, wear as good clothes, read as many books, have as good society and educate our children as well as if we had been left to the pursuit of agriculture, the following of trades, or the practice of one of the professions.

Rev. E. A. Peck has supplied Cato the last nine months, and Rev. E. Hoxie has supplied Tyre since Rev. Horatio Yates was appointed chaplain of Auburn Prison. These Supernumeraries have proven effective men.

No serious illness has visited any of the pastors except two. Brother Levi Bird parted with his first-born a few days ago; a few months on earth and eternity with Christ. Brother Henry J. Davis, appointed one year ago to Union Springs, was smitten with an exhausting hemorrhage last January. He gave great promise of usefulness, being wise in administration, faithful in pastoral care, and able as a preacher. He is very feeble but not without hope for this world and assurance for the future.

Rev. William Hosmer, D. D., has fallen asleep. Paralyzed eighteen years ago, he began to die. His mental life lasted until near the end and his good life on earth has now been crowned with the life everlasting.

Rev. Albert Ensign, in poor health one year ago, died in great peace a few weeks after our last Conference. A good man rests and is crowned.

We all want the best appointments; and most of us define the best to be the appointment which will be best for the work, believing that our prosperity is secured in the increase of the kingdom. The pastors are the picked men of the church, and are leading on the Lord's hosts to the crown and the inheritance.

We have held two District Conferences and two Sunday School Institutes, all of them interesting and profitable. Arrangements are nearly complete for holding a Young People's Delegated Convention, out of which we shall be likely to come having inscribed on the banner of our young people's societies the birthplace of John Wesley.

The very wet summer and the failure of some of our crops will be seen in some of our connectional contributions, but I know that some of our charges have contributed more than in any late year. My observation justifies the statement that pastors who have communicated with the people without restraint concerning our benevolent enterprises have richly compensated them for their increased liberality. The current of increased liberality is irrigating this District, and yet we have some barrenness.

Raising money for improving church property, has made better parsonages at Savannah, Canoga, Union Springs, Fleming, Butler, and other charges. Tyre has added a good barn, so also has Red Creek. Both the churches on Fleming charge have been improved, and Butler and Port Byron have well begun what will end in more complete repairs. At North Rose, quite a number of excellent sheds and another coat of paint on the church reveal the thrift of this new society, and a thorough and very appropriate refitting of the Rose Valley church gives further proof of the enterprise and skill of Brother Reynolds, who rejoices in the completion of the work, and paying and providing for the same.

Wolcott has fitted up their church at considerable cost; and have put in an organ costing more than $1,500, and with their pastor, Brother Eddy, rejoices in an open way to spiritual upbuilding.

The revival spirit has obtained among us. Most of the charges rejoice in a few converts and the increased spirituality of their membership. Venice, Fleming, Ledyard, Cayuga, Weedsport, Port Byron, Savannah, Rose, and First Church, Auburn, have large increase in numbers. In some other charges and in some of these the need and the faith give promise of cheering harvests.

When one of the Quarterly Conferences which asked for my return to the District, voted under the assumed presidency of the pastor, I congratulated them on their grace of endurance, and added, it is not all on one side. Our fellowship has been Christian and our fraternity continues. This report is long enough, but may I tell you sir, and all; my conviction concerning our PRESENT NEED.

More knowledge of the conditions of mankind, more of practical brotherhood, a more distinct recognition of the fact that all nations and peoples are so neighbored by commerce, steamships, postal and telegraph lines that we shall rise or fall together ; and that Christ and His are arrayed against the works of the Devil everywhere. Also a more specific and enlarged consecration for the universal triumph of His cause and Kingdom. All this would increase intelligence, devotion and zeal in the work of the Lord. Indispensable to these high aims and Christ-like conditions is personal righteousness.

Our need is not so much for more popularity and more pay ; for our local churches more numbers and more financial ability. It is for less of the earthly and more of the heavenly.

L. C. QUEAL.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, their characters passed, and they reported their collections : O. A. Houghton, C. E. Babcock, M. S. Wells, N. M. Wheeler, Walter Statham, H. W. Sanford, James Crowe, C. E. Jewell, J. A. Roberts, W. M. Ward, Robert Townsend, H. C. Moyer, J. H. Zartman, C. J. Beach, W. H. Rogers, G. W. Reynolds, Edward Jarvis, E. A. Tuttle C. E. Smith, Horatio Yates, W. F. Butman, R. D. Munger, J. H. Rogers, Charles Eddy, H. G. T. Mitchell, William Searles.

Geneva District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, B. I. Ives, was passed and he represented his district as follows :

GENEVA DISTRICT.

We have had a good year in Geneva District in almost every respect.

First.—There have been no deaths, and no severe illness among the ministers or their families during the entire year. For this we are thankful and praise the Lord.

Second.—The preachers of the District have been faithful and true to their calling and their work. They and their people have labored together in great harmony, and in many of the charges with marked success.

Third.—God has blessed us with some very precious and powerful revivals, in which many souls have been brought to Christ and received into the church. This has been the case especially at Sodus Point, where for years it has been a hard struggle for the few good people that were there to “hold the fort” and maintain even an existence as a church. But God has come to their rescue and help, and has given to our Brother Campbell (in this first year of his ministry) a year of grand success. Some seventy-five to eighty persons have been received into the church. So that we now have a good live working church at Sodus Point. Also, at Sodus Village, under the faithful and earnest efforts of the pastor, Brother Broadway, about fifty souls have been brought into the church, who profess to have been converted to God. So at Marion, with Brother Easter, and although not very many persons were saved, the church was blessed and greatly helped by the revival meetings. The same was also the case at Palmyra, under the faithful labors of their pastor Brother Gearhart. At Lyons Brother Hamilton has been permitted to receive a fine class of young people into the church, who are now doing well and are active in all the work of the church. The same is true of Brother Nichols in his efforts at Geneva. Also of Brother Allen, at Bellona, and of Brother Hughston, at Seneca Castle, and of many other charges throughout the District. And while in some of the charges but few souls have been converted, the churches have been greatly helped and quickened through the earnest efforts of their faithful pastors.

Fourth.—During the year we have had two Sunday School Institutes, two Ministerial Associations, and one District Convention. In the convention which was held at Geneva, Sept. 10th, twenty-six charges of the District were represented, and “The Geneva District Epworth League” was duly organized. And as a result already several societies have been organized in different parts of the District. In all of these gatherings a large number of the preachers and people of the District were in attendance. The meetings were intensely interesting and of great benefit to those who participated in them.

Fifth.—A good work has been done during the year in the way of church and parsonage property improvement. Four churches have been dedicated. Two of them entirely new, and the other two substantially new. The new churches are at Benton Center and Sodus Village. These are both very fine and commodious houses of worship, and just what was needed in each case. The entire cost of each is well provided for, if not already paid. One of the reconstructe churches is at Hopewell Center, where they have expended and paid something over $1,600. And they now have a very beautiful church. Great credit is due the pastor Brother McKinstry for the part he took in the matter, and the way in which he helped on the enterprise. The fourth church is at Chapinville, where some $2,400 have been expended and very nearly all of it raised. Brother Davis has led on this good work most grandly and helped in every way in which a live Christian man could, and he has reason to congratulate himself, and the good men who rallied to the work with him, for what they have accomplished. The young people of the Canandaigua church have just expended something over $600 in re-arranging and much improving their Sunday School room and some other parts of the church. The church edifice at Hopewell, on the Hopewell and Flint Creek charge, has just been newly and well painted. This is the charge that Brother Barlthrop has served so well for four years past. At Milo Center, under the direction of Brother Mattison, $150 has been expended in the improvement of the church. At Italy Hollow, a great and good work has been accomplished under the leadership of Brother Galligher, who has supplied the Italy charge during the year. The parsonage has been enlarged by a fine addition, the whole has been newly papered and painted, and put in first-class condition. Also, the house has been supplied with some new furniture. A good new barn has been built on the parsonage lot and well painted. And not least of all a well has been put down near the house which yields an abundant supply of the very best water. This has cost between $600 and $700, which is now very nearly if not all paid. An old debt of $1,000 on the parsonage property at Phelps, which has been a cause of much anxiety, and of not a little trouble for years past, has at last been raised, greatly to the joy not only of the people, but also of their faithful pastor, Brother F. M. Wheeler. By the personal efforts and under the direction as well as help of Brother C. E. Hermans, a large and good barn has been built and paid for on the parsonage lot at Williamson. The parsonage at Sodus Point has been reconstructed, very much enlarged and the whole put in fine order, at a cost of something like $500, which has been mostly paid. Sodus Point is now a point no longer to be feared or shunned. It is really one of the best charges of its size in the District. Also at Pultneyville, where Brother Andrews has had a grand time for the past two years, (and the malaria all taken out of him.) A new barn has been built and paid for, and other improvements made about the parsonage and church.

Sixth.—Our Sunday Schools that can be are organized into Missionary Societies, and many of them are doing a good work in that direction. The schools are mostly well supplied with good books and papers, from the Book-Room of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is, however, greatly to be regretted that so very few of the children of our people in the larger towns and cities, ever attend a social meeting, or even the public worship of God on the holy Sabbath day. In many places, and with many families, the Sunday School is substituted for every other means of grace. This ought not so to be.

Seventh.—As to our collections, I am somewhat in doubt. While I am hoping for the best, I am also fearing that in some of the charges there will be a falling off in some of the collections, in view of the fact that so much has been done for other church purposes and work. Another great trouble with us is that so many of our people in some of the charges have fallen into the way of not paying anything—even the salary of their pastor—until the very close of the Conference year. This makes it entirely out of the question for the Presiding Elder or even the Pastor to know three days before the Conference, what some of the charges will pay for some of the collections.

One thing, however, I know, and that is, that the preachers of Geneva District, as a whole, have done the very best they could. I am thankful to God that when their names are called, I can say with all my heart, in regard to each man "not anything against him." And when they shall report their collections, I expect to feel like saying (in nearly every case) "well done."

B. I. IVES.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, their characters were passed, and they reported their collections: J. E. Allen, J. N. Sackett, Theron Cooper, D. D. Davis, J. H. McCarty, W. E. Rippey, M. J. Wells, J. C. Nichols, A. S. Durling, Porter McKinstry, A. J. Barlthrop, B. W. Hamilton, John Easter, W. C. Mattison, C. H. Wright, E. B. Gearhart, J. V. Benham, F. M. Wheeler, J. B. Sheerar, S. W. Andrews, D. M. Young, P. T. Hughston, A. W. Broadway, O. N. Hinman, P. M. Joralemon, C. E. Hermans.

Ithaca District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, M. P. Blakeslee was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

ITHACA DISTRICT.

The forty-eight churches of Ithaca District are distributed through portions of five counties and are organized into thirty different pastoral charges. I have visited each charge every quarter, and while this has frequently involved heavy toil, it has not been without spiritual blessing to my soul. God has been with his people and under their appointed leaders given them many victories, both material and spiritual.

SPIRITUAL CONDITION.

The spiritual condition upon the larger number of the charges has been an improving one. On careful inquiry it appears that about sixty-five per cent. of the membership recognize the class meeting by attending it more or less. The attendance would be still greater did not the custom too generally prevail of holding class meetings and Sunday Schools at the same hour.

Evangelistic services have been held on many charges which have resulted in the revival of some and the conversion of others. Upon Catharine appointment services have been held this summer which have resulted in fifteen or more accessions. In addition to the services of last winter an autumn meeting has been held at Lodi. The two meetings have resulted in more than one hundred conversions. At Enfield an encouraging work has been wrought and the membership increased by about fifteen. At Breesport a precious work has resulted in lifting that church out of darkness, and has added twenty-five to the membership. At Sullivanville the church has been revived and thirty received on probation. At North Lansing meetings were held and sinners were converted. The same is true of Townsendville, Trumansburg, Hedding and Watkins. At Millport a glorious work was done in which a large number of strong men were converted. Over fifty persons have been added to the church. At Pine Valley upon the same charge mercy drops also fell. At State Street, Ithaca, a work of grace began soon after conference which resulted in the reception of more than one hundred and fifty persons on probation. Of these the larger number continue faithful, and if not already received into full connection, soon will be. By the Union Evangelistic service held in Ithaca in April last the First Church was much benefited and received from it about thirty probationers. The churches of the West Dryden and Asbury charge were greatly quickened and about twenty persons were received.

PASTORAL SUPPORT.

By some errors in the report of last year the total deficiency upon the district appeared greater than it really was. It is believed that this year will show a commendable improvement. Almost every charge exhibited at the time of holding the fourth quarterly conference considerable improvement over the corresponding time last year. Nothing is clearer than that preachers' claims would almost invariably be paid in full if stewards were faithful to their work. Many of them shirk it utterly; more of them defer it until a late day in the year, and then endeavor to crowd into a few weeks a work that requires a whole year. Several charges have made great improvement in respect to methods this year.

BENEVOLENCES.

These have been kept before the people, and although I do not suppose many charges have reached the apportionments yet, I feel certain that most of them are nearer to them than they ever were before.

CHURCH DEBTS.

There has been some magnificent work done in the way of getting from under the curse of church debts. The church at Odessa has up to date met the required payments upon her loan from the Board of Church Extension. At Erin the debt of $356 is provided for and will be paid before January 1st, 1890. At Jacksonville an old and annoying debt of about $300 has been paid. Much of the credit for this belongs to the heroic pastor, H. T. Giles. At Lodi the floating indebtedness of $350 has been subscribed, and the way is preparing for an attack upon the funded debt. At the time of the last conference session nearly $500 of the debt at Newfield remained. Under the wise leadership of the pastor the last dollar has been paid. At Van Ettenville, where a lingering indebtedness of $600 had long been an embarrassment, the entire sum has been paid. The last $100 of this amount was generously given by Thos. E. Smith, a Methodist of New York City, who has a summer home at Van Ettenville. The sum of $1,000 to be applied upon the indebtedness of the First Church, Ithaca, is being raised. When this is paid, Brother Hiram Gee, a member of this Conference, stands ready to build a needed addition to the church edifice as a memorial to his deceased wife. The indebtedness of $3,600 upon the State Street Church, in Ithaca, has been raised and paid in the last three months. This brave and successful effort owes much to the pastor, and more to the stimulus given it by Brother Hiram Gee, who offered to pay one-quarter of the debt when three-quarters of it were collected and in the bank. A jubilant church full of faith in a triumphing Savior is now moving forward.

"The debt upon Watkins church,"—a phrase too familiar in the Conference, has lost its meaning. One year ago the debt was about $3,200. Before this Conference session closes we expect it will be nothing. The credit for this most wonderful result belongs to the persistent, faithful, and hard-working pastor. He has toiled night and day to clear this beautiful edifice of the incumbrance which has so long stood in the way of Methodist progress in Watkins. More than this ; he has found friends of Methodism from whom he secured funds with which to purchase at a cost of $500 a beautiful site for a parsonage facing upon the park near the church. As the time for the meeting of the Conference drew near he perceived more clearly than ever the need of a bell in the church tower. He soon found a friend, in Mr. William Newman of Watkins, by whose generous contribution it became possible to procure the coveted bell. Its rich tones have summoned us to our sessions, and I hope will for many years ring out across this valley in memory of the parents of the donor, who were pioneer Methodists in this region.

NEW CHURCHES.

The churches at East Genoa, Pine Valley and North Hector, which were approaching completion at the last Conference, were completed and dedicated in November. Some indebtedness remained upon each. It was all subscribed, and that at East Genoa and at North Hector has been paid. The subscriptions to meet the indebtedness at Pine Valley will soon fall due and be paid.

OTHER MATERIAL PROSPERITY.

The churches in Enfield and at Breesport have been beautifully painted. At Freeville the old pulpit has been removed and a modern one substituted. At Sheldrake the sheds for horses have been repaired. The sheds built at West Dryden just before the last Conference have been paid for this year. The interior of the church at Horseheads has been neatly and substantially renovated. Best of all they have a pulpit worthy of the name. The interior of the Havana church has been renewed, new windows of cathedral glass have been put in, a new heating apparatus provided, and other improvements made. These are all paid for. Beautiful rooms for social purposes have been finished in the basement of the Ovid church. These with a new barn have cost nearly $500. The church at Peruville has been newly decorated within. At Groton the old parsonage has been sold and with the proceeds an elegant new one has been placed by the side of the church. At Trumansburg too the old parsonage was sold, an additional sum subscribed and a commodious and excellent edifice builded on the large church lot. A new barn has also been built. At McLean, through the zeal of the pastor, Dr. Pearne, and by the kindness of his friends of former years, a bell has been procured and hung. The first repairs ever made upon the Watkins church have just been completed. These were not extensive, but were much needed for the preservation of the property, and the suitableness of it for further use.

The comfort of many parsonages has been improved by minor repairs and by the addition of new furniture.

INSURANCE.

Thirty-five of the forty-eight church edifices are insured, and nineteen of the twenty-six parsonages. The total insurance upon churches and parsonages amounts to $133,700. If any uninsured church property is destroyed by fire it cannot be said that the Presiding Elder neglected to urge the matter of church insurance in quarterly conferences.

CHILDREN.

The duty of instructing children in accordance with the provisions of the discipline of our church, has been often pressed upon the attention of pastors and people, and it is feared that if the law requiring the Presiding Elder to report to the annual Conference "the names of all Traveling Preachers within his District who shall neglect to observe these Rules," were to be enforced at the present session, it would be found that these rules are far more conspicuous "in the breach than in the observance."

PREACHERS.

There has been some sickness among the preachers and their families, but no case of death has occurred among them. The interruptions to the work by sickness have been few, except in the McLean charge, where the pastor was disabled early in the year, but owing to the peculiarities of the situation no change of pastor was made.

A great amount of hard work has been done upon the District by the preachers, as this report fully proves. A more hard-working and loyal body of men will be difficult to find. There are strong contrasts among the appointments ranging as they do from the large and strong city church to the very humble and weak country charge, yet cheerfulness and fidelity has prevailed among the preachers, and, as a result, we have perhaps the most encouraging report of the district ever made.

YOUNG PEOPLES' SOCIETIES.

There are twenty-one of these of various names and objects. They are proving to be valuable auxiliaries to church work and life. A convention is to be held soon after conference which will, we expect, aid in the unification of these societies.

IN CONCLUSION.

I have held two sessions of the District Conference, and have been present at all of the Quarterly Conferences. Three Conventions for our Christian Workers were held in different parts of the District with good interest, good attendance, and considerable profit to those attending them.

With devout recollection of the Author of all our mercies I mention the perfect health given me amid all the exposures and fatigue of the work.

I have been kindly received and hospitably entertained in the homes of both laymen and preachers. My relations with them have always been fraternal and pleasant.

The year is gone, and its record is closed; we leave it with a merciful God and a loving Savior, humbly trusting that its labors will be bringing forth abundant fruit in time to come.

Memoirs.

REV. EDWIN G. BUSH, M. D.

Rev. Edwin G. Bush was born at West Dryden, Tompkins county, N. Y., December 7, 1806, and died at his home, No. 4 Rust street, Syracuse, N. Y., November 6, 1888, aged 82 years save one month.

His parents, Calvin and Sally Bush, were Methodists, connected with what is now Lansingville appointment of the Ludlowville charge. From the beginning of this century until their death at an advanced age they remained in the fellowship of that charge.

At a very early age Dr. Bush acquired a love for books which he retained to the close of his life. He learned to read before attending school at all, under the direction of his mother, who was a lover of books, and as early as ten years of age read the Bible with great interest.

His religious life began at eight years, at which time he began to pray and felt his "heart warmed," as he expresses it, "by a new emotion," and he felt it was the love of God. At thirteen his experience deepened, and at fourteen he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and began the grand career of usefulness which has made him so dear to all who knew him and given to him so joyful a life.

The educational advantages afforded him from the age of ten to eighteen years were ordinary, but were so well improved that at nineteen he began to teach, and not only added constantly to his stock of knowledge by diligent application, but strengthened his mind by the effort to teach others.

During these years he gave himself heartily to Christian work, laboring in revivals, instructing and praying with inquirers, and he began to feel deeply on the subject of his call to the ministry. He suggested that possibly this was stimulated by the remarks of those with whom he was associated. But in the year 1826 he yielded to some inducements and began the study of medicine, and five years later received his diploma from Fairfield Medical College (of which Syracuse Medical College is the successor) in 1831. He practiced medicine with good success for six years and a half, but feeling the imperative call upon him to leave all and give himself to the work of the ministry he yielded, and in 1837 joined the Oneida Conference on trial.

Shortly after Dr. Bush began his practice of medicine he was united in marriage with Miss Jerusha Thompson, of McLean. He says in referring to this event: "That this step was directed of God, I have never doubted. She has been a helpmate to me in things temporal and spiritual. For fifty years she has been spared to me to bear her part at the family altar, as she did with much fervor and feeling an hour ago,"—a most touching tribute to her who has been his partner in labors, in sorrows, in triumphs and in holy hope for over a half century.

The outline of the labors of Dr. Bush as a traveling preacher and the list of places where he served as a pastor are soon told: Winsor, 1837; Broome, 1838; Berkshire, 1839-40; Nichols, 1841-42; Greene, 1843-44; Homer, 1845; Cayuga, 1846; Scipio, 1847-48; McGrawville, 1849-50; Elbridge, 1851-52; Camillus, 1853-54; Manlius, 1855-56; Madison, 1857-58; Chittenango, 1859-60; Hamilton, 1861-62; Morrisville, 1863; Fayetteville, 1864-65; Cardiff, 1866-68; Onondaga, 1868; Euclid, 1869-70; Lysander, 1871-72; Cicero, 1873-74. Superannuated in 1875 and settled in Syracuse.

But while this gives the itinerary of his ministerial career, there are results which can hardly be measured. On Winsor charge three hundred were added to the church. On Broome circuit over one hundred. At Berkshire the church property, which had been sold on a judgment, was redeemed and a good congregation gathered. At Nichols nearly two hundred were added to the church. And so we might go through the whole list of his appointments and the blessing of the Lord was with him. Several ministers of the Gospel were raised up from among those converted under his ministry. D. W. C. Olmstead, R. Van Valkenburg and Philo Cowles are his sons in the Gospel.

Dr. Bush occupied many important positions in the Conference—journalist eight years, one of the stewards for fourteen years, acting secretary and treasurer of the board. He was faithful and efficient in all.

As a superannuated member of the Conference he has been eminently a blessing in the church and among the brethren with whom he lived.

In closing a brief autobiography which he prepared to present to his Conference, he says: "Twelve years of my superannuated life have been spent in the Centenary church of Syracuse. That church understands how to make a superannuated preacher happy. My twelve years have passed pleasantly in relation with its ministry. No word of unkindness has cast a shadow thereon."

His reference to acquaintance with some eminent men of the church shows his heart: "My life has been made richer by my acquaintance with many holy and wise men whom I have known—John Dempster, George Garey, Glezen Fillmore, George Peck, Fitch Reed and W. W. Ninde. My intercourse with them has made me wiser, better, happier and holier than otherwise I might have been."

I cannot dwell longer on this memoir. Much more could be spoken. His failure in health came suddenly after all. To me it seems but a few months since he began to show signs of failure of his physical constitution. I noticed it first at the last quarterly meeting when he asked to be excused from any part in administering the communion, and hesitancy in speech at the love-feast. On Sabbath morning, November 6, the final stroke came and on Tuesday at 4 P. M. "he was not, for God took him." He was ripe and is with his Lord.

W. H. ANNABLE.

REV. ALBERT ENSIGN.

Rev. Albert Ensign, a member of the Central New York Conference, was born in Pitcher, Chenango Co., N. Y., Feb. 20, 1817, and died at Union Springs, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1888. He was the son of Solomon Ensign, Jr., and the oldest of a family of eight children. At the age of nineteen he began teaching school, which occupation he followed during the winter months for several years, working on a farm during the summer. In 1840 he married Olive R. Smith, who was also a citizen of the town of Pitcher. He was the father of four children, two of whom preceded him to the spirit world. Nellie died in the eleventh year of her age, and Bessie, who was the wife of Abel Finch, died about four years ago. Brother Ensign was converted about the year 1850, or 1851, under the labors of Rev. Ira D. Warren, who was then pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church where the deceased lived. His conversion was very clear and satisfying to himself, and immediately exerted a powerful influence for good on many of his neighbors. At the time of his conversion he was teaching a district school, and, as he stated to the writer of this memoir, and when he went to the altar as a seeker of religion he was followed by a large number of his scholars. Then he first realized the influence he exerted over his pupils, and felt that great responsibility rested upon him to train them for Heaven as well as to cultivate their intellect for usefulness here. Immediately after his conversion prayer-meetings were appointed at his house, and conversions were frequent in those meetings.

In 1852 he received a local preacher's license, and filled out the last six months of the pastoral term of Rev. Peter Bridgman, on the Pitcher charge, Brother Bridgman being unable to continue his ministrations because of sickness.

In 1854 he joined the Oneida Conference, at Madison, and his successful ministry demonstrated the fact that he was called of God to this most important work. His appointments were as follows: Lisle, Summer Hill, Montezuma, Union Springs, Cayuga, Ledyard, Varna, North Pitcher, Union Valley, Scott, McLean, Little Marsh, Millerton, North Chemung, Alpine and North Lansing. On all of these charges he had success, and on some of them great and sweeping revivals. Few men who have entered the ministry, have under God, seen more powerful revivals or greater displays of God's power than our departed and lamented Brother Ensign. As a Christian minister he had some peculiarities which are not common to all. It is well known to members of this Conference who have been familiar with him that he invoked that answer to prayer, either for himself or for others, God send flashes of light before his eyes, indescribable for brightness and glory. It was a common thing for him to say after praying for a soul or for a given object, "I saw the glory." He regarded this (as he believed divine manifestation) as the assurance that his prayer was, or soon would be answered, and many of us will remember how his happy words would ring out in revival meetings over the camp ground to comfort and encourage the people of God like the word of the commanding general on the field of battle.

Brother Ensign was a great lover of children, and this love which seemed to be natural to him, was cultivated and increased in his intercourse with them as a pedagogue, and found its greatest satisfaction in his usefulness in the Sabbath school and among the young people of the church, with whom he was always popular. He was a very social man and would readily attract to himself as friends those who were not of the household of faith, but disagreed with him in regard to the religion he preached. Two years ago this last fall he superannuated and moved to Union Springs, where he died in great peace, as stated above. His funeral was largely attended at the Methodist Episcopal church, Dr. Queal conducting the services, assisted by Revs. Hiram Gee, Wm. Searls, D. D., H. J. Davis, H. W. Sanford, E. Hoxie and the pastors of the Presbyterian and Baptist churches. As the last tribute of respect the children of the Sabbath school covered the casket of their friend and teacher with flowers, which they had procured for the occasion. His remains were laid to rest in the village cemetery in Union Springs.

Life's work well done,
Life's race well run,
Now comes rest.

ELIAS HOXIE.

REV. WILLIAM HOSMER.

William Hosmer was born in South Blamford, Hampden county, Mass., May 29, 1810, and died at his residence in Auburn, N. Y., June 17th, 1889, aged 89 years and 18 days. He was converted at Kanona, Steuben county, N. Y., in 1820. He had a common school education, and spent six months at Prattsburg Academy, where he studied Latin and Greek very successfully. In 1830 he was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of the Bath Circuit; and in 1831 was received on trial in the Genesee Conference. At the last session of the "Old Genesee" in 1847 he was re-elected to the General Conference, having been first elected in 1843, and subsequently in 1851 and 1855. At the General Conference of 1848 he was elected to the editorship of the Northern Christian Advocate, to which he was re-elected in 1852. In 1847 he gave to the public his work on "Self Education" of 250 pages, and which was re-published the next year. In 1853 appeared the "Principles of Female Education," 300 pages, which passed through five editions. Then came the "Higher Law," 250 pages, also "Slavery and the Church," 300 pages, two editions, and lastly, "Christian Beneficence, 200 pages. His articles published in the Quarterly Review were: A Review of Dr. Dick, on "Covetousness;" of Prof. Caldwell, on "Christian Perfection;" and the "Prohibitory Liquor Law." For a number of years he wrote the "leaders" for at least two dailies. And thus he worked on, for it was his nature to do so, until stricken with paralysis, he could do it no longer. After this sad event he said: "I have come to know, when too late to be of much use to me, that God intended men to go to bed, to sleep, and not take three or four editorials with them, as I have done, and then get up at three o'clock to write them out." Much later he wrote: "One of my greatest afflictions is the fact that I cannot work, for even life without the privilege of working is a doubtful blessing. But I have hope in God that I shall by faith attain the glorious consummation which is hastening on." At 6 A. M. the 17th of June, 1889, this was attained, and his great soul escaped from the work-house in which it had lived so long and wrought so well.

REV. MOSES LYON.

Rev. Moses Lyon was born at Milford, Otsego Co., N. Y., April 18, 1809, and died at his home in Bridgeport, N. Y., March 24, 1889, aged nearly 80 years.

Brother Lyon was converted at the age of 16 years, and while still in young manhood was made a class teacher and licensed to exhort. In 1836 he was recommended to the Black River Conference for admission into the traveling connection, having previously served two years as a supply. He was admitted and received his appointment to North Manlius, where he began his long and useful ministry.

In many respects Brother Lyon was a strong man. He was a fervant, solid, Evangelical preacher, mighty in prayer, and a singer with peculiar and touching pathos of voice and style. Without art or special training of his vocal powers, he would move an audience to raptures or to tears with his Christian songs. Old Members of the Black River Conference will remember some of those memorial occasions which Brother Lyon would close by singing, "We are gathering homeward from every land, one by one," or, "How sweet to reflect on the joys that await me." Sometimes in the midst of the Conference business session, I have seen Bishop Ames or Jones sobbing like children while he sang some pathetic song, to relieve the pressure of a long tiresome session.

He preserved his power in prayer almost to the last. Often since I have been upon Syracuse district, I have called upon him to assist in the services, and especially to offer the prayer. He would seem at first to be very feeble, but after a moment or two his voice would get strength and fulness until it would ring like a clarion through the house and thrill every heart in the worshipping assembly. He was a wise administrator and good pastor, winning souls by careful but thorough presentation of the truth both publicly and privately.

The fields of labor occupied by Brother Lyon are as follows: Beginning as a supply at Williamstown and Granby, 1834-35, joined Black River Conference in 1836, stationed at North Manlius, 1836; Granby, 1837; admitted into full connection in 1838, and stationed at Clay that year, at Lysander in 1839-40; Clay again 1841-42; Liverpool, 1843; Rose, 1844-45; Wolcott, 1846-47; Carthage, 1848-49; Clayton, 1850-51; DePauville, 1852; Rodman, 1853-54; Bellville, 1855-56; Mannsville, 1857-58; Van Buren, 1859-60; Brownville, 1861-61; De Pauville again 1863-64; Brownville again 1868, Black River, 1866-67; Bridgeport, Central New York Conference, 1868-69-70; Elbridge, 1871; Centerville, 1872-73; Collamer, 1874-75; Bridgeport, 1876-77-78; superannuated in 1879, since which time he has quietly lived, and labored as he could to aid in the good work to which his best energies had been given. For a year past he has been growing feeble, and at my last visit to the charge before his death, he declined my invitation to assist in the public exercises on account of his feebleness. During the Love Feast I felt impressed that we should soon lose the "Sweet singer" of the old Black River Conference, and I asked him if he could not sing "We are gathering homeward." He responded and began to sing like as of old, but could only sing a few strains when he broke down, and it was the last I heard him sing. He attended the church services as long as he was able. On the Sabbath of his translation—for it was so quiet a change that it might be called so—he had not been to church, and his wife was helping him across the room, when he sank down and was gone from the scenes of his earthly toils and triumph.

The funeral services were held at his late home in Bridgeport, and were in charge of the pastor E. R. Perkins. His death was not known among the brethren until it was too late for many of them to reach the place in time for the funeral services. A district meeting was in progress at the time and myself and several of the brethren were in attendance, and did not receive word until late the night before the service was to be held, and so were prevented from going to pay our tribute of love to the noble man of God. One of the blessed, golden links between the heroic past and the glorious present of Methodism has dropped out of the chain, but he is with God. His son Rev. Eldridge M. Lyon a member of this Conference, and Geo. Gary, of Seattle, Washington territory, with his devoted wife survive him. A daughter, Miss Minnie A. Dunham, preceded him to the skies some few years since.

Brother Lyon was twice married. His first marriage was with Miss Mary A. Halliday, who was the mother of two sons. His second marriage was with Miss Ann Baxter, who was the mother of the daughter departed, and who for many years shared his labors, and now mourns his loss.

W. H. ANNABLE.

REV. JAMES W. WILSON.

Rev. James W. Wilson closed a long and painful illness in death, at his late residence in Syracuse, N. Y., February 14, 1889.

Brother Wilson was born of a highly respectable parentage at Williamsport, Pa., February 14, 1822. He received his preparation for college in the village of his nativity, and at an early age entered Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., from which he was graduated with honor. At the age of eighteen, while in college, he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Meadville. Hearing God's voice calling him to the Christian ministry, he was too loyal to the inmost and urgent convictions of his soul to resist, and was licensed to preach, and recommended to the East Genesee Conference, by the Nunda Quarterly Conference February 10, 1849. He united with the East Genesee Conference, on probation, at its next session, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes in 1851, at Penn Yan, and by the same bishop was ordained elder at Elmira in 1853. He spent twenty-eight years in the effective pastorate, serving in the following charges: Springwater, Avon, Hornellsville, Rushville (two terms,) Rochester, Sodus, Port Gibson, Seneca Falls, Geneva, Trumansburg, Lodi, Canastota, West Eaton and Fayetteville. During his second term at Rushville, while enduring the extraordinary work of building a new church, his health failed to such an extent that he was compelled to take a supernumary relation, which he retained for four years, from 1867 to 1869, residing at Trumansburg, and doing considerable work as a supply. He then resumed the work so dear to his heart, and for ten years continued to preach the Gospel in the regular pastorate. He was, however, far from being a well man. For twenty years he had suffered and struggled against a disease which finally ended his life. A man less determined than he, or less devoted to his life-work, would have rested sooner. Seven years ago last October, at the session of the Central New York Conference, of which he had become a member by the changes of Conference boundaries, he finally, like a maimed and weary warrior, laid off his armor, and returned to a beautiful home in Syracuse, from which he ascended to his crown.

He was wedded to Miss Phoebe Phillips, of Gorham, Ontario county, August 26, 1851, and through all the varied experiences of a protracted itinerant life, she was a loving and sympathetic wife, a wise counselor, a quiet, but efficient co-laborer. She greatly aided him in building up a model Christian home. She was to him his chief earthly support in sickness, and with her son, J. W. Wilson, Esq., of Syracuse, sorrowfully closed his eyes in death, and now mourns his departure from her home.

As a man, Brother Wilson was upright and full of integrity. He was of such a character that he won the confidence of all classes with whom he came in contact, whether in the church or in the world.

As a Christian, he made no pretensions which he did not sustain by his life. He lived a consistent Christian life and strove to adorn his profession by the practical virtues of religion. At the same time he had a well-defined, deep and glowing Christian experience, which was founded on God's word, and was well wrought out by the Holy Spirit. The joy of the Lord abode with him in his severest struggles with disease. During a visit made to him by Rev. Thomas Tousey, a life-long friend, and the writer, he referred them to Psalms CIII. After it was read by Brother Tousey, we shall never forget the rapture of spirit and glow of countenance with which he commented upon some of the beautiful passages of that wonderful psalm of David.

In his home his pure life shone forth in its brightest luster. There he was ever the kind husband, affectionate father and genial host. With an intellect well stored and cultured, with ready powers of conversation, and a trusting heart, he could charm his guests into forgetfulness of the passing hours.

As a preacher, he was painstaking and thorough in the preparation of his sermons, methodical in arrangement, evangelistic in thought and spirit, earnest and forcible in delivery. Despising all sensational methods of preaching, his purpose was manifestly to build up character into permanent goodness through the Word of God. The words of his son in a letter to the writer are so true and appreciative that we cannot forbear to quote them:

"My father's work was like that of the parent and teacher; it was education, and required growth and development to produce the harvest from the seed. My own observation soon taught me that his best work was little appreciated at the time; often the cause and the result seemed not to be connected. I felt that my father seldom saw the full fruition of his work. The kindest things have been said by those who spoke of his influence in the formation of character, which was always healthful, quiet and strong. There was no relaxation in the tendencies to good started by his labors, but a constant growth."

As might be expected, Death found our brother a victor. He was ready to depart and be with God. A short time before his death he said to his son: "I am not tired of living, only of this body." He is not dead, but among the living in that blest clime where "there shall be no more death."

"It is not death to fling aside this sinful dust,
And rise on strong, exulting wing to live among the just."

BENJAMIN SHOVE.

MRS. MARY C. BALL.

Mrs. Mary C. Ball, widow of the late Franklin Ball, D. D., who was an estimable member of the Central New York Conference, departed this life at Elmira, N. Y., July 29, 1889. She was born in Dumfries, Prince William Co., Va., in 1822, was converted when sixteen years of age and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1842 she was united in marriage with Franklin Ball. Three children were born to them, two of whom died in childhood; the other, Mrs. Annie B. Humes, still survives to mourn the loss of a devoted father, who died three years ago, and a tender and loving mother, who has entered the realm of light and glory. Her bereavement in the death of her husband prepared her to enter into and sympathize with the sufferings of others. Mrs. Ball's life was uniformly quiet and unpretentious; it was filled with constant and effective Christian service. Her mind was enriched with useful knowledge and practical wisdom, and both mind and heart were endowed with the refining and elevating graces of the Holy Spirit. Thus she was well furnished for the high positions to which she was called, both in the family and in the church. She was a loving, gentle and devoted mother, a true, helpful and affectionate companion and an exemplary and useful Christian. One of the chief characteristics of her life was consecration to the Master's service. Whether in the cheerless gloom of the prison cell, where she often went to minister comfort and consolation to the unfortunate, or among the wayward, the weary, the sad, or with the young people and children, she was ever alert to speak of the knowledge of Christ and the power of his gospel. Many from the various spheres of labor where she incessantly toiled will cherish for her a grateful remembrance and rise up to call her blessed. Her consecration was complete, her devotion real, her piety consistent and luminous. She has bequeathed to the family and church as a precious legacy the beauty and fragrance of her saintly life. For the last three years she was unable to work publicly in the vineyard of her Lord, yet she possessed the spirit of resignation, was always patient in weariness, rejoicing in hope of a happy re-union with those who had gone before. Her faith reached within the veil, where God the Father, Christ the Mediator, angels pure and bright, saints perfect and glorious forever dwell. Divine grace gave her the final victory; her right to the companionship of the skies was assured by her illumined, transfigured face. The glory of the upper sanctuary lit up the earthly tabernacle as the spirit ascended into the heavenly mansion of delightful tranquillity, where she now converses with the bright intelligences on high, there to wear the fadeless crown and wave the imperishable palm of victory forever and ever. Her remains were laid by the side of her husband in the State of Virginia, four miles from the nation's capital, to slumber until the orchestra drum-beat shall wake the mighty dead, when she shall arise.

THOMAS SHARPE.

MRS. ALANSON BENJAMIN.

Mrs. Mary J. Benjamin, widow of the late Rev. Alanson Benjamin, a venerable and beloved member of the Central New York Conference, departed this life at Norwich, N. Y., in the — year of her age. She early consecrated her heart and life to the service of Christ, and lived a consistent and devoted Christian life till death closed her earthly pilgrimage. Her conversion was clear and satisfactory. Her Christian testimonies were pointed, full, and cheerful, and her life a beautiful illustration of the purity and blessedness of our holy religion. Many years before her death she became the wife of Brother Benjamin, when the circuits were large, and the support meagre. But she bravely endured the hardships and wants of the itineracy with cheerful piety, and an abiding trust in God, and during the long period of her husband's superannuation she comforted him in affliction, and ministered to his necessities. Always grateful for the assistance furnished by the Conference, and never complaining because it was no more, she toiled from day to day to furnish the table, replenish the wardrobe, and make home comfortable and delightful. Her home was a hospitable one, and she always had a place at the table and a restful bed for her ministerial brethren, or any other Christian friends. She was a good wife, a tender and devoted mother, and a warm and faithful friend. Her mission is accomplished, and her work is done. The Master saw her cheerful and happy in her toil, and said: "It is enough. Come up higher," and she rests from her labors in the home of angels and of God.

MRS. REBECCA P. BROWN.

Rebecca P., widow of Rev. John W. Brown, late of the Central New York Conference, was the daughter of Absalom and Rebecca Hadden. She was born May 11, 1832, and born again in 1844. She was married to Brother Brown Nov. 12, 1853, and died March 27, 1889. In 1868 she, with her husband, began itinerant life. All the years of my acquaintance with her she has been walking in the more excellent way described in 1 Cor. xiii. As a pastor's wife she was thoughtful, wise and helpful. Her home was cheery and bright; she had great pleasure in Christian work. In the church at Pultney, where she found a home and opportunity for work since she buried her husband, a large adult Bible class with many tears and commendations testified their appreciation and love of their teacher at her funeral. Her niece, in the house where she died, talked of her departure as if going to the house of a loved friend, saying: Aunt and I have thought and talked so much about it that it seems a pleasant thing to go." In one of her last letters she reported herself well if her heart were not broken. Her death, by heart failure, was very sudden and painless. She rests at home. The funeral service was conducted by the writer, aided by the pastor of our church in Pultney. Her body is buried by the side of her late husband. They are absent from their bodies and present with the Lord.

MRS. SARAH EASTER.

Mrs. Sarah Easter, well-known by the pastors who have labored in Geneva, N. Y., during the latter half of the century, died at her residence in Geneva, on the 16th day of September, 1889, in the eighty-sixth year of her age.

She was a native of Kessingland, England, where she was born October 9, 1803. At the age of twenty-one years she became a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church. In the spring of 1827 she was married to the Rev. John Easter, a local preacher of the same church. In 1830 they emigrated to this country, and soon after Mr. Easter joined the Genesee Conference, and during his effective ministry served in the pastorates of Clyde, Rushville, Canandaigua, and Seneca Falls; and Mrs. Easter faithfully shared with her husband the varied experiences of the Methodist Itineracy.

It was an era in the history of Methodism in Western New York when the financial support of her ministers was very meagre, and many were the privations of their families.

In 1842 Mr. Easter died of injuries received from the accidental explosion of rockets at a public celebration in Geneva, and Mrs. Easter, thus suddenly bereaved of her husband, was left in early widowhood with a family of young children, consisting of two sons and five daughters, all of whom survive to mourn the loss of a wise, faithful and affectionate mother. One of the sons is the Rev. John Easter, Ph. D., of the Central New York Conference.

Mrs. Easter was usually blest with good health, and retained her native vigor remarkably until a late period of her protracted life, possessing a strong, vigorous mind, enriched with the fruits of extensive reading. She was a person of excellent judgment, firm in her religious attachments, and blameless in her daily deportment.

For a brief period before her decease she suffered severely from a painful and incurable disease. But during the closing scene of suffering and feebleness, as during the whole period of her Christian life, she realized the sufficiency of saving grace in her extremest need, and we are comforted with the assurance that to her the death was but the portal to Paradise. Some of her latest expressions were as follows: "I have not the extacies with which some have been favored; but I have great peace." "I am a wonder to myself."

"Not a doubt doth arise, to darken the skies,
Or hide for a moment my Lord from mine eyes."

Thus lived, and thus died, Mrs. Sarah Easter, a venerated mother in our Israel,—a blameless disciple of our Lord.

D. D. BUCK.

MRS. MARY R. RAINES.

Mary Remington Raines was born at Canandaigua, Sept. 12th, 1815, and died at Rochester, April 19th 1889. She was married to Rev. John Raines, of blessed memory, May 8th, 1838. Mrs. Raines cheerfully met the toils and trials of itinerant life, and the more severe trial of superannuation until in 1877 her husband was called to his reward. During her husband's effective ministry she was faithful and useful as pastor's wife, possessing the confidence and high esteem of the churches. Her sweetness of disposition, perpetual cheerfulness, exalted piety and clear intelligence were a constant benediction to the people. The center of her Christian influence was her own family, where as wife and mother her example and teachings were most salutary. She was happy in being able to shine in the domestic circle, and from that circle to extend an influence over the homes of the community. Several of her sons have attained eminence in their profession, and her children rise up and bless her memory. A severe trial came to her late in life in the entire blindness of her esteemed husband. But her Christian graces appeared the brighter under trial. She exemplified the true Christian character of submission, and the patience of faith. During her last illness, she proved the ripeness of her graces, by her patient endurance of physical suffering, and the clearness of hope. Her four surviving sons bore her to her last resting place, and left her among the vernal flowers, in bright expectation of the resurrection.

MISS HATTIE E. TOOKE.

Hattie E. Tooke, daughter of Rev. F. W. and Amie Tooke, of the Central New York Conference, was born in Sangerfield, N. Y., August 24, 1857, and died in South Framingham, Mass., June 7, 1889. Nurtured in a Christian home and consecrated in infancy to Christ in holy baptism, she was early converted and received into the church in 1874 at Manlius Station by her pious father. Hattie was an alumnus of Cazenovia Seminary, having graduated with honors in 1877. Her taste and accomplishments led her into music as a profession, and availing herself of the best advantages, she took high rank as an instructor of this divine art, and won golden opinions in Boston, South-bro and South Framingham, and wherever she was known. Graceful in manner, amiable in disposition and lovely in spirit, she attracted a large circle of admiring friends around her. Her smile was their joy and her goodness their inspiration and delight. Her great care was for the welfare of her pupils, not merely that they might excel in music, but that they should cultivate noble virtues and shine in a Christly life, and many a young man through her instrumentality was incited to form a noble, manly character and a higher Christian life. With a fine, sensitive temperament, she was ever quick to see and do justice to the better side of humanity, and though gentle and unobtrusive, her implicit hold on the divine promises gave her the courage which martyrs had. Her illness was protracted, and for five months she was a great and constant sufferer, but in her "patience had its perfect work." Submissive, cheerful and resigned, she diffused the sweetness of her serene, confident spirit among her many sympathizing friends, dispelling the gloom of the valley and shedding the light of Heaven upon the border land. She said to her weeping mother, sister and other dear ones when the messenger came: "This is the happiest day of my life; I am about to take a beautiful journey, but Christ has prepared the way." She enjoyed the tender ministrations of her revered parents and the sympathy and love of cherished friends in her last sickness. Every want was anticipated; beautiful flowers filled her room with their rich fragrance, and love tokens lay scattered profusely around her. Ripe in the Christian graces, washed in the blood of the Lamb, God said, "It is enough, come up higher." Death to her was a grand promotion to the innumerable company before the throne, "having the harps of God." She has struck a higher note, sweeter, richer, fuller in her celestial anthem.

"Music cheered her last on Earth
And charmed her first in Heaven."

Her funeral was attended from the residence of Mrs. J. O. Freeman June 10, three of the prominent clergymen in the city officiating, and all that is mortal of this gifted child of song was laid in the beautiful Edgelt Grove cemetery, South Frammingham, Mass., until God shall bid it rise.

J. ERWIN.

MRS. MILLIE S. WILLIAMS.

The Presiding Elder of our District said yesterday in his report, "The shadow of death has fallen upon the parsonage at Nelson." Yes, so it is! But the substance of eternal life, has dispelled that shadow; and a sanctified spirit, escaped from a suffering body, has gone "to be with Christ," thus proving the reality of the assurance, "He that liveth and believeth on me shall never die."

Millie S. Williams was born at Sand Spring, near Memphis, N. Y., Feb. 16, 1844, and departed this life at Nelson, Sept. 28, 1889. She was converted at the age of 13 years, since which time she has maintained a consistent Christian character. At 22 years of age, March 19, 1866, she became the wife of Brother, now Rev. H. W. Williams.

It was my privilege to have but a limited acquaintance with sister Williams, but from the little I have seen of her, I can heartily endorse the brief glimpse here given of her life, the substance of which was handed me by another. She was a willing and efficient helper in her husband's work, and was greatly beloved on all the charges where they labored. She was a woman of love so great and sympathies so deep that her friendship was a privilege. In a remarkable degree her life was devoted to those with whom she mingled, and her home influence was strong and pure. She is not known ever to have made an enemy, and she never gave her husband one unkind word. How then, but by going before, could she have begotten in his heart the slightest longing for a better world? To span the interval between their shadowy life and life's reality as best they may without her, she leaves her sorrowing husband, two daughters and three sons. The sickness of one of the sons prevents the presence here of any of the family at this hour. May the Infinite Comforter be with their lonely hearts until the glad reunion.

Pastoral Address

To the Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, within the bounds of the Central New York Conference.

DEAR BRETHREN : In sending to you our Pastoral Greetings as an Annual Conference, we wish here gratefully to express our thankfulness to God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, for the visible displays of the Holy Spirit's presence, and power in our churches, during the past year. Despite the prevalence of ungodliness, and the worldly tendencies of the times, in this materialistic age of ours, God, even our own God, has been with his people ; and his presence and blessing are our boast and joy. While this awakens our gratitude, to record this as true of our churches, as a whole, would not be true to history, or fact. As your pastors, we wish to emphasize the conviction that never was there a time when greater necessity existed for making actual God's ideal of what his church should be, than now. In the beginning God created a perfect world, which in every part should express his thought and wish and reveal his glory. Then he created a perfect man, and placed him in a garden of delight and perfection, whose minutest object was relatively as perfect as its maker. When sin entered the world, and alienated man from God, and disturbed every existing relation and made earth a scene of mourning lamentation, and woe. God re-stated his thought, by creating a perfect humanity in the person of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who became the model, and example, of all his followers ; and who not only remind us of the lost dignity and glory of Eden, but prophetically tells us of what man may, and should be, when re-created in knowledge and holiness. God has been from the beginning creating a perfect church. The original idea still exists in the divine mind ; and has by real action been communicated to us. This ideal, we are to make actual, both in ourselves and others, so as to be prepared for the Master's use on earth, and our perfect fitness for membership in the church above. As Christians, then, there are two questions we should often ask ourselves, am I really saved ? And, why am I saved ? The Holy Spirit alone can answer the first ; and the Word of God plainly answers the second. The substance of Bible teaching, both as to personal character, and Christian living, may clearly be seen from the following Scriptures : "Christ died for all, that they which live, should henceforth live not unto themselves, but unto Him, that died for them, and rose again." Christ gave himself for us that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works ; which God hath before ordained that we should walk in him." "For Christ loved the church, and gave himself for it, that he might sanctify and cleanse it, with the washing of water by the word, that he might present it unto himself, a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing, but that it should be holy and without blemish. This is the eternal, visible reality, which only will be seen in its perfection in heaven ; when Christ's purpose in it, is fully accomplished ; and he shall receive it as his coronation gift, a glorious and glorified church. We cannot form too high an estimate of the honor, of being personally a part of this church, in relationship to Him, who is not ashamed to be called, Our God." And we ought never to forget, that the church of God, is the living body of men, who are called by him out of the world to exhibit in the world, by word and life, what humanity was, is, and may be in the idea of God.

Christ's church is to be in the world, yet not of it ; and it can only fully realize its vocation by being sanctified through the truth. The dangerous action of the world upon the church is two fold ; upon its morals, and upon its spirit, upon its social virtue, and upon its devotion. Every Christian can but feel the danger of being strongly tempted by his senses, and is easily affected, if unwatchful, by the contagion of the world's spirit and life. Thus he becomes tempted to walk as a man, rather than as a Christian ; and then rather lower himself to the existing standard of conduct around him. Let him elevate himself to the standard of God's word.

Dear Brethren, as members of the visible church of Christ among men, and citizens of the "Heavenly Jerusalem," ought we not to be living representations of eternal things, by imitating his example, who could say, "I have glorified this on the earth. I have finished the work thou gavest me to do." We would re-affirm, and emphasize the utterances, and advices of Pastoral Addresses, without entering upon the discussion of the topics enforced, and advices given in them ; especially asking your prayerful thought to the following, which will always be worthy your deepest consideration.

1. The Continued Cultivation of a Personal, Progressive Piety.—To begin well is not alone sufficient. To run well for a season, meets not the terms of a true covenant of consecration to the Lord. To realize this, and the fullness of growth and development which belongs to it, we may well study and copy the Savior's own life and that of his servant who said: "This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Only thus will your growth be steady, healthy and satisfactory.

2. The Religious Care of Your Families.—Religion is the most essential thing in home life. Personal, consistent living before the family. Constant devotional services in, and with the family, as well as the participation of the family in public church services, from Sabbath to Sabbath, will alone bring you the joy of seeing "Your sons grow up as plants in their youth; and your daughters as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace."

3. We Urge You to Make Greater Use of Your Bibles for Christian Instruction.—It should be your daily companion and study. Use it, until its truths shall be transmuted into your Christian characters, which they surely will be if you "Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom."

4. Seek and Obtain a Higher Appreciation of Church Responsibilities, and the Demands the Times are Making on You, as the Result of Your Relation to It.—This will lead you to a more earnest study of the wants of the world, both at home and abroad, and the Christian obligation resting on you to meet them.

5. Give yourselves up to a more complete identification with, and absorption in, the work of the Lord, which will come when you are "Crucified unto the world, and the world to you."

6. Lastly.—Obtain a better knowledge, by study and prayer, of the distinctive work of the Methodist Episcopal Church of which you are members, and a better preparation to do your part of the work in aiding it to spread "Scriptural holiness over all lands," and thus hastening the coming of the hour when "All nations shall be blessed in Christ, and in return call him blessed."

Reports of Committees.

Conference Commission.

Your Commission was appointed "to devise and report to the Conference a plan for the more systematic and equitable distribution of funds for Conference claimants."

The Commission met in the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 6th, 1888. The chairman presented documents containing valuable material upon this subject, to which, especially, to the report of its commission, adopted by the Northern New York Conference April 19th, 1887, we hereby acknowledge our indebtedness. Much of said report we have adopted in our report. After examination of material thus furnished and careful deliberation, under the best light we could gain in the methods of other Conferences and the practical workings of our own, we are profoundly impressed with the delicacy and importance of the work committed to our hands.

The Central New York Conference raises annually about $5,300 to support its needy servants who have passed beyond labor or have left their dependent families to our care.

While this is not more than two-thirds of the amount asked for, and only about one-third of the amount the estimates of the Quarterly Conference Committee called for, it is, nevertheless, the fruit of some sacrifice on the part of many who contribute to this fund, and is the token of that love and good will which the church has for its disabled ministers and their families. It is not a light thing, therefore, to be the custodians of such a fund, not because of its magnitude, but because the Conference is the almoner of the church, and, as such, becomes the judge among worthy and needy claimants. The peculiar difficulties besetting this relation make necessary proportionate care and courage in dealing with them. This we have appreciated. We have likewise been persuaded that the continued support of this cause by the church will depend in a good measure upon the conviction in the minds of the people that this fund is wisely administered, and that the most needy and most worthy do not fail to get their due proportion of the same.

We have reviewed all the steps in the process of securing aid from the Conference funds. We find that, while they are admirable at some points they can be materially strengthened in the direction of greater security against imperfect data.

These considerations lead us to make the following recommendations:

1. That no person be admitted as a claimant in the number of necessitous cases upon the funds who does not furnish the most complete documentary evidence required of his or her financial necessity.

The Conference has, for a few years, sent a question circular to each supposed claimant asking for a full and frank statement of his or her pecuniary condition, the number in the family wholly or in part dependant upon the claimant, with other like statements calculated to enlighten the Annual Conference Stewards upon the real necessities of the case. This has not always brought the information desired; and, indeed, some seem to have evaded it entirely. Our Conference claimants will easily perceive that this is in no sense an improper inquisition into the private affairs of any one, but a sincere desire to do equal justice to each and every claimant. They are asked to forward to the Conference in writing as full and complete answers to the interrogatories sent them as they may be able to make, because it cannot do them full justice and afford proper relief without having this definite statement of the circumstances of their respective cases.

In addition to the above statements required of each supposed claimant, provision has been made, especially in the last blanks used, for a certified estimate of the amount which could be allowed each claimant, based on 362 of the Discipline of 1884, as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the Quarterly Conference of each charge within whose bounds a superannuated preacher, or the widow or child of a deceased minister may reside, to appoint a committee whose duty it shall be to make an estimate of the amount necessary to assist such preacher, widow or child, in obtaining a comfortable support, and such estimate shall be sent up to the Annual Conference with which the claimant may be connected, and subject to the action of the said Annual Conference."

Quite often that estimate has been omitted, and the Annual Conference Stewards have been left wholly to their own judgment as to the amount which would be awarded.

Some omit entirely the question circular itself, and appear either in person or by proxy before the Conference Stewards, and, upon merely verbal statement, and without the legal proof of necessity such as the church in her highest law has ordained, gain a dividend. This ... to be wrong, and hereafter those who may be charged by the Annual Conference with the duty of fixing the claims, should be prohibited from considering any alleged necessitous case, unless specially directed to do so by the Conference, that has not the certificate of a Finance Conference Committee, to the effect that the applicant is needy and claiming the smallest amount that in its judgment ought to be awarded, provided that by three-fourths vote the Conference may put exceptional cases upon the list of Conference claimants.

And as a further step towards making these estimates as reliable as possible, we recommend that they be required to be adopted by the Finance Conference, respectively appointing said committee, such estimates being fully certified to by the President and Secretary of the Finance Conference, to give the amplest time for the fulfillment of these requirements. The Finance Conference Secretary should send the requisite blanks to the Finance Conference not later than a full quarter before the session of the Finance Conference.

We recommend the following as the form of the Question Circular to be sent to the Finance Conference:

1. That a Board of Conference Claimants for the Central New York Conference be constituted. That this Board consist of nine members, divided into three classes: First class, to serve one year; Second class, to serve two years, and the Third class to serve three years, all members to be experienced men on the Board. That the officers of the Board be a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, all to be elected by the Board. That this Board be charged with the responsibility of fixing the claims of Conference claimants, and of the funds received by the Conference for them. That the Board be organized and pleasantly reach the end proposed in the following manner:

2. That the complete documentary evidence required is before the Board. That no person should be permitted to pursue their preliminary report until after their first report has been made to the Finance Conference. Then, at a time and place announced by the Board, and others having complaints or other representations should be permitted the fullest hearing.

3. That the Board always with a quorum present, and two-thirds of the Board to carry a case—should first take up the list of claimants who ought to be admitted for that year as a preliminary.

4. That when the list of claimants thus determined, they should be reviewed carefully the Quarterly Conference estimates, and if they are found to be too high, and raising them if too low; especially bringing those in like circumstances, provided other things are equal, to a common basis.

(4.) That after the first report of this Board to the Conference, and the hearing of complaints and representations, accompanied by such changes as these have made necessary, the Board should prepare its final report, giving the list of claimants in alphabetical order, and the amount finally agreed upon for each,—“to assist such preacher, widow or child in obtaining a comfortable support” for the ensuing year.

(5.) That the Board then proceed to divide the funds in the manner above prescribed. In the amounts accruing to each claimant we recommend to omit all fractions of a dollar under fifty cents, and to call all fractions of fifty cents or more one dollar, thereby bringing the final amounts to dollars.

(6.) That the funds be distributed by the Board itself on the last day of the Conference at such time and place as it may appoint.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Education.

Your Committee having carefully considered our educational interests respectfully report :

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

We rejoice in the good work accomplished by the Board of Education. The aid it is annually rendering in the education of ministers, missionaries, and teachers commends it to the support of our people. We are gratified by the evidence of increased enterprise in the management of the affairs of the Board, and the widening of the field of its operations.

We recommend that collections be asked for in behalf of our conference educational purposes under one head. That we ask for $3,000, the same to be apportioned by the Presiding Elders. That the funds so gathered be forwarded as soon as may be to the Conference Treasurer, and be divided by him equally between Syracuse University, and Cazenovia Seminary. Also as recommended by the Discipline, that whenever practicable a collection be taken in the Sunday School in aid of the Sunday School fund of the Board of Education.

And as a further step towards making these estimates as reliable as possible, we recommend that they be required to be adopted by the Quarterly Conference, respectively appointing said committee, such action being duly certified to by the President and Secretary of the same. To give the amplest time for the fulfillment of these requirements, the Conference Secretary should send the requisite blanks to all concerned not later than a full quarter before the session of the Annual Conference.

We recommend the following as the form of the Question Circular: (See Document A.)

2. That a Board of Conference Claimants for the Central New York Conference be constituted. That this Board consist of nine members, elected in three classes: First class, to serve one year; Second Class, to serve two years, and the Third class to serve three years, so as to retain six experienced men on the Board, That the officers of this Board shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, to be elected by the Board. That this Board be charged with the entire responsibility of fixing the claims of Conference claimants and distributing the funds received by the Conference for them.

To most expeditiously and pleasantly reach the end proposed in this plan, we recommend:—

(1.) That when the complete documentary evidence required is before the Board, they should be permitted to pursue their preliminary work without the intrusion of any person, until after their first report has been read in the Conference. Then, at a time and place announced, all claimants, and others having complaints or other representations to make, should be permitted the fullest hearing.

(2.) That the Board always with a quorum present, and two-thirds present being required to carry a case—should first take up the list of applicants and determine who ought to be admitted for that year as a claimant for any amount.

(3.) That with the list of claimants thus determined, they should next equalize them, reviewing carefully the Quarterly Conference estimates, lowering them when evidently too high, and raising them if too low; especially bringing those in like circumstances, provided other things are equal, to a common basis.

(4.) That after the first report of this Board to the Conference, and the hearing of complaints and representations, accompanied by such changes as these have made necessary, the Board should prepare its final report, giving the list of claimants in alphabetical order, and the amount finally agreed upon for each,—“to assist such preacher, widow or child in obtaining a comfortable support” for the ensuing year.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

The development of this our home University for the past year has been phenomenal. We notice with great satisfaction the following specific evidences of this progress. A new library building almost ideally perfect, has been completed at a cost of $40,000, and is now in use with its library of 45,000 volumes; and a librarian and assistant librarian, give their whole time to its management. A new department of Physics and Theistic Science has been established, and the celebrated Eugene Haanel, Ph. D., now fills that chair. The chemical laboratory has been re-organized with entirely new apparatus and appliances. Ten thousand dollars have been expended upon the grounds and buildings. The John Crouse Memorial College has been completed at a cost of about $500,000, and is perhaps the most magnificent single college building anywhere. Its furniture embraces a double system of heating, hot air blast, and direct steam radiators, put in at a cost of $40,000, a Roosevelt, three manual organ, worth $1,000 operated by steam, a chime of bells, nine new pianos from the best makers, with desks, tablet chairs, cases, drafting tables, etc.

Among the special gifts received within the year are a large invoice of Plaster casts for the use of drawing classes.

Mrs. Harriet Leavenworth, of Syracuse, has purchased and donated to the University the celebrated collection of portrait engravings gathered by Dr. Heinrich Wolf, of Brown University, Germany, comprising of 15,000 engravings, representing every prominent engraving known to history, with a complete catalogue in 45 volumes, including both the engravers and their subjects. Besides many smaller gifts $10,000 has been received from William Griffin, D. D., and $5,000 more the bequest of the late Milton S. Price, of Syracuse, will shortly be paid to the Treasurer. The property of the Medical College, worth $75,000 has been transferred to the University, and the college begins its work for the current year with two buildings and a library, and an addition of choice apparatus.

The total number of students will number about 100 in Liberal Arts, 70 in the Arts and Sciences in Medicine, in all 185.

The property of the University amounts in round numbers to $1,000,000 of which $875,000 is in real estate, $445,000 in library, and the balance endowment resources yet unproductive.

The number of students in attendance is 600 under the care of 44 professors. The largely increased facilities made necessary by late additions to the grounds and buildings there will this year be an estimated

The two most pressing needs of the institution are Scholarships for needy students, and increased endowment. The calls for Scholarships within the bounds of our Conference alone, would exhaust the whole number yet founded. We believe the time has fully come when this Conference should take active measures to complete the endowment of its Professorship begun seven years ago, and to pay in full the interest for its support until the principal is all available.

We pledge ourselves to every effort in our power to promote the endowment of the University, and to induce the attendance of students.

We nominate the following as visitors, Hon. Charles T. Saxton, A. L. Cole, C. E. Jewell, J. H. Zartman, Wesley Mason, R. C. Fox and George A. Guernsey.

CAZENOVIA SEMINARY.

It is gratifying to note that notwithstanding the almost perfect system of graded schools and high schools in the cities and larger towns within the bounds of our Conference, this time-honored institution is filled with students and is in a prosperous condition.

Prof. I. N. Clements still fills honorably and efficiently the position of Principal. He is ably assisted by the same corps of Teachers, with the exception of Miss E. M. Peck, a graduate of the State Normal, who has been engaged as teacher of English, and Mr. Marshall, of Cazenovia, who has been put in charge of the art department. Both of these teachers are making a fine record.

A hopeful class of twenty-three were graduated at the last commencement. The productive endowment of the institution is $30,000. The buildings are kept in good repair. The entire income of the institution is $24,000. By the wise and economical administration of its affairs, due largely to the efficiency and watchfulness of the principal, the expenses of the Seminary are kept within its income. One of the pressing needs of the institution is better and more ample accommodations for gentlemen. To meet this demand for better rooms some of the smaller rooms have been converted into double rooms. While this gives better accommodations it reduces the capacity of the Seminary building. We recommend to the attention of the church this specific need of the Seminary in the hope that funds may yet be donated for the erection of another building.

Another pressing need is a larger endowment. The income of the Seminary is not sufficient to adequately compensate the teachers already at work on meager salaries, much less to increase the force of instructors to meet the growing demands of the work. There is also needed a fund for the increase of the library. A sum of money should be annually expended in books that the library may be supplied with the latest works, and so kept in pace with the advancement of the age.

The moral and religious tone of the school is fully up to its former high standard.

The present term opens promisingly with a larger attendance than for three years past. Indeed we are satisfied that with the money and facilities at its command, Cazenovia Seminary is doing a work of which the church may be both devoutly gratified and justly proud.

We recommend the election of C. E. Mogg as Trustee in place of Thomas Rousey resigned, Willard A. Crandall in place of George L. Rousey, deceased, also the election of U. S. Beebe, T. W. Thayer, William Gee, Theron R. Green, and E. M. Mills.

The following are nominated as visitors: Boyd McDowell, W. A. Hunt, C. M. Eddy, Henry Fearon, A. B. Blodgett, J. J. Smith and Arthur Copeland.

WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY.

We rejoice to learn of the prosperity of Wesleyan University, and note the evidence of its progressive character in the provisions for post graduate studies.

We nominate as visitors T. R. Green and Andrew Roe.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOLS.

We have received with pleasure the announcement of the prosperity and usefulness of Garrett Biblical Institute, Drew Theological Seminary and Boston School of Theology. These schools are fortunately located and well equipped for the work of preparing young men for the ministry of the Gospel. It is with pleasure that we have seen that an increasing proportion of the students of these schools have previously received the discipline of a regular college course. We warmly commend these institutions to the patronage of young men called of God to preach the Word, are seeking to be thoroughly trained in their work.

We recommend as visitors to Drew Theological Seminary, George W. M. Mott and D. M. Young; to Boston School of Theology, A. A. Johnson and C. T. Moss.

We request the presiding Bishop to appoint C. N. Coddington Professor in Syracuse University and W. P. Coddington Professor in Syracuse University. We also request the presiding Bishop to appoint C. N. Coddington Principal of Cazenovia Seminary.

Temperance and Constitutional Prohibition.

The Committee on Temperance and Constitutional Prohibition reports :

Another year of anxious hoping and waiting brings us, as we believe, nearing to the consummation of our desires,—the suppression of the liquor traffic by statutory enactments or Constitutional Prohibition.

If we had no evidences but those of sense, we might be led to conclude that the dawn for which we have so long been looking had been deferred.

The sky has apparently grown darker. The failure of the friends of Temperance to retain their foothold in Rhode Island, the defeat of the constitutional amendment in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, may seem to some to have decided the question in favor of the opponents of Prohibition.

But, as the darkest hour is just before the day, we have no reason, nor right, to be discouraged. There are streaks of light that show the day of our redemption from the bondage of the saloon to be at hand.

We have heard from the Dakotas, and we have summed the votes in favor of Constitutional Prohibition, to find that it is no inconsiderable host.

But in this great cause we walk not by sight. We know that it is God's cause, and on his side we contemplate no such thing as defeat. No doubt we have lacked wisdom, and our measures have not always been judicious, but we are asking God to teach us his way.

We believe the traffic in ardent spirits is the wickedest thing under the sun. If slavery could be called "the sum of all villanies," this traffic may justly be called "the multiplication of all villanies."

We reaffirm our most pronounced utterances of the past ; we will not retract, we have pledged ourselves to the suppression of the liquor traffic, and we renew the pledge to do our utmost to accomplish it. We have no interest in its regulation—why should we ? As well contemplate the regulation of murder and arson and theft, as the regulation of that which produces all these crimes and more !

We are not to be deceived by any promised benefits from High License. We regard that as the invention of the evil one to retard, rather than hasten, the destruction of the monster evil.

We are not to be frightened from our position by the assertion that Legal Prohibition cannot prohibit ; we have too much confidence in the masses of our fellow citizens to regard such slanderous declarations ; we are a law abiding people. And that prohibition does not prohibit where it is being fairly tested is shown to be an un-

We therefore advise our pastors to labor both in public and private to foster a love for the church in everything pertaining to its life and organization and to lay special emphasis on our modes and agencies as best suited to the ends we seek.

Perceiving the importance of young peoples societies as means for relieving the educational want just acknowledged, we hail with satisfaction the tide of interest setting in the direction of their organization, and especially the unification of such societies under a common managing head ; and approving the general features of the Epworth League as suited to the needs of the church for fostering the religious life and promoting the efficiency of the young in Christian work, we recommend the affiliation of all young people's societies with the Epworth League.

We recommend the organization of young people's societies whenever practicable in all our congregations where not now existing.

We recommend the organization of a Conference, and District Epworth Leagues to facilitate the work of such unification, and to encourage the good endeavors of the young ; and the holding of an anniversary meeting in connection with the next session of our annual Conference.

Missionary Report.

OBLIGATION.

We have no doubt of the obligation resting upon every lover of our Lord Jesus Christ, to sustain the cause of missions.

The Missionary cause is of God. The Missionary spirit is the spirit of Christ. His command to go into all the world and to preach the gospel to every creature, is the voice of God to each one of his followers, and cannot be unheeded without displeasing him. To support only the gospel at home is not giving the whole gospel to the whole world. As a rule those who do most for the gospel at home do most for the cause of Missions. The call from all parts of the globe for the gospel is the call of God and the church must and will honor it.

OPPORTUNITIES.

As individual Christians and as organized Christian workers approaching the opening of another century, we find ourselves in the presence of an opportunity almost overwhelming in its magnitude. These opportunities are seen in the increased diversities of nationalities, race and religions coming to our shores, the conference of the governments and peoples of this continent, as expressed by the Pan-American Congress, now convened, which is likely to augment the influence of our country upon other American nations, the persistent demand of the Pope for a restoration of temporal power, thus alienating the Italian government and progressive minds there open to light ; the wonderful interest concentrated upon Africa ; the eager desire for the benefits of Christianity on the part of Japan and India, and the multiplication of open doors in China, Corea, and other countries, our increased facilities for the spread of the gospel in printing presses and publishing houses, in the marvelous growing wealth of our country in which our church shares, the increased number of young men and young women preparing for work in our institutions of learning, and, above all the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon our Mission Stations and missionary work, by which God has directly widened the door and multiplied the calls.

MONEY AND HOW TO RAISE IT.

The greatest need of the Missionary Society is not money but collectors. Give us these wise, persistent and earnest collectors and there will be no lack of money. While in the Conference we rejoice in an increase of missionary money, we regret that some charges report a decrease. This is not money saved but withheld in many if not all cases from the treasury of the Lord. Let us know and work the Disciplinary plan, let us hold our Missionary Prayer meeting ; organize our Sunday Schools into Sunday School Junior Missionary Societies, appoint collectors, circulate missionary literature, attend District Missionary Conventions, and give to every man woman and child the privilege to bring an offering to the Missionary Treasury.

THE OUTLOOK.

The increasing unrest and dissatisfaction manifest in the heathen world concerning their ancient religion is cause for devout gratitude to God. The removal of ancient barriers to the spread of Christianity, the increased enthusiasm of the church give hopeful outlook for the success of the gospel, and that we are being ushered into the fullness of time for the universal conquest of the world by the gospel of Christ.

We rejoice in the manifest success and enterprise in the mission fields of our own land, and most heartily commend the proposition of our beloved Missionary Secretary Chaplain McCabe to establish missions among the Romanists of our own as well as other lands.

Behold God has set before us an open door. Let us go forward with the watchwords. Christ for the whole world. The whole world for Christ.

We nominate for President Bishop J. N. FitzGerald ; Vice-President, John Easter ; Secretary, J. R. Drake ; Treasurer, C. T. Moss ; Directors, David Keppel, C. H. Wright, McKendree Shaw, C. C. Wilbor, U. S. Hall, T. Tousey, A. W. Broadway.

Report of the Committee on the Historical Society.

There is a voice of God in history. The examples of his workers are for our instruction. Our Society is endeavoring to collect the Christian examples of the founders and fathers, the agents and burden-bearers of the church in the years gone and preserve them for further use. We have already done much of this work. We have in our archives a considerable quantity of books, periodicals, College, Seminary and other educational annuals, Conference minutes, benevolence reports, local church histories and records, maps, manuscripts of sermons and addresses, personal statistics, interesting and valuable relics in the way of portraits, parchments and other memorials. A classified catalogue was prepared at some expense some time ago. Its publication has been proposed and recommended, but as yet the funds are wanting for such publication. Attention has been called to our various objects. We will only specify now three points.

1. The importance of preparing Local Church Histories. Some of the preachers have shown much interest in this line and have such histories published, some in pamphlet form, and some in the local papers. Editors are glad to get such articles. In this case the articles should be clipped from the newspapers, properly arranged, and as also in the case of the pamphlet form, and sent to our archivist. Breth-the gospel to every creature, is the voice of the followers, and cannot be unheeded without port only the gospel at home is not given to the whole world. As a rule those who do this are most for the cause of Missions. The call for the gospel is the call of God and the

As individual Christians and as churches, we are approaching the opening of another era. The presence of an opportunity almost everywhere. These opportunities are seen in the ties, race and religions coming to governments and peoples of this continent. The American Congress, now convened, will exert the influence of our country upon other nations. The demand of the Pope for a restoration of the Italian government and the wonderful interest concentrated upon the benefits of Christianity open the multiplication of open doors in the land. Increased facilities for the spread of the gospel, publishing houses, in the many lands in which our church shares, the training of young women preparing for service above all the outpouring of the Spirit and missionary work, by which the calls are multiplied.

MONEY

The greatest need of our churches is collectors. Give us these and there will be no lack of support. In an increase of mission work there is no support a decrease. This is the case in all cases from the treasury to the Disciplinary plan, let us turn our Sunday Schools into training centers, appoint collectors, and let our Missionary Conventions have the privilege to bring an offer

Sinful Amusements.

Members and ministers of the Christian Church, we are not to amuse the world, but to save it. We are to announce the Gospel, win souls, and train them for God's kingdom. The world, however, may demand amusements, though Rome burns, but it takes earthly triumphs and celestial joys to gladden Christian hearts.
We advocate useful and instructive diversions, recreations which give vigor to the body and culture to the mind, but we find no place in the society of the Christian Church for mere worldly amusements, and especially those which are sinful or misleading.

Money ought to flow into the treasury of the Lord from a deep conviction of the values which the Gospel confers, on body and soul, on society, industry, and commerce, without the expectation of any worldly equivalent.

We would counteract this tendency to worldly amusements, not by harsh reproof, or stern rebuke, which is too often misunderstood and unaccepted, but first, by occupying and interesting our youth in the ample social, literary and scientific advantages which our church is now offering to its people through its societies, circles and leagues.

Secondly, by an example of propriety and Christian dignity to be furnished by the older class, (parents and teachers) at home and in public circles. Too often a foolish catering to worldly amusements has been made by church members and leaders, not on their own account, but as they say, "to please the young," forgetting that the church is a spiritual leader and teacher. Thus moral power and Christian influence are exchanged for a supposed control, or a small gain, when in reality all this advantage could be won by worthy leadership, without compromise to the church.

Without itemizing the things which should be rejected in the line of amusements, we prefer in Bible manner to exhort you to a supreme love to God, and a loyalty to the purposes of His Church, leaving it with your conscience to "renounce the devil and all his works, the vain pomp and glory of the world," and "the taking such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus."

S. S. BARTER, Chairman,
WM. W. HUNT, Secretary.

ren, do we not owe it to the churches, to ourselves to see that such local church histories are prepared.

2. We recommend that local church records be placed by the Quarterly Conferences in our archives.

3. And we suggest that our older members write for a title: "Observations in the First Ten Years Recollections of What I Saw in the Church and papers might be called out by the programs of the conferences.

The archivist in his report says that "the of the Chancellor of the University to organize a list history in the library of that institution, secured a good deal of material from our Society. He visited to put our collection into a niche in the library it into it. But at a meeting of the executive committee November, 1888, the matter was considered, and it was thought best for the present to remove the collection to the building, where it had been kept in a small room of the Syracuse Methodist Episcopal Church, the City Savings Bank Building, a fire-proof building of the city, convenient of access for any one to consult it. This organization which rents the building as a library, and asks us, "if the Conference will pay $10 per annum, towards the rent, though the report also urges the need of money to purchase materials for properly preserving parchment and also to warrant the publication of a Catalogue."

The report of the Treasurer shows receipts for the year issued by the Executive Committee just of $10.53 for fifty persons, and expended for the purchase of archives and for circulars and postage $10.75. Amount added at this Conference from individuals. We further present:

1. That we appreciate the work thus far done by the Historical Register for publication in our conference and the work until a complete set of our former instructions.

Army Chaplains.

The moral and religious condition of the army has received little attention from the churches or the public since the late war. Yet what our army is and what it should be in these respects ought to be dear to all churches and Christians; and should lie as a special concern upon their hearts. That the government has made inadequate provisions for this highly important matter is evident to all acquainted with the facts. What has been done by Congress in instituting the Army Chaplaincy as a means for providing for moral instruction and religious ministration is merely a small concession to the religious sentiment of the nation. "It is not the result of a careful and studied effort to provide for the moral and religious improvement of the army. It is rather the result of a half and half policy, a regard on the one hand for the extreme interpretation of the doctrine of the divorcement of church and State, and on the other an acknowledgment of the fact that the American people are Christian, and that as such there should be some recognition of it in government institutions. The idea of an army without a chaplain would be an anomaly among Christian and civilized nations. But the policy has been 'the less the better,' and consequently while there have been from 140 to 150 posts within the United States occupied by troops, there have been only from 30 to 34 chaplains. As chaplains do not travel from post to post, but are confined in their ministrations to the garrison to which they are assigned, three-fourths of the occupied posts have been and are without a chaplain." In view of these considerations be it

Resolved 1. That we believe it to be the duty of the government, in order to promote morality and religion in the army, to provide chaplains in suitable numbers and suitable qualifications for the army, and we respectfully recommend to Congress that provision be made by law for a corps of at least one hundred chaplains, on the general plan of the medical corps now existing in the army; we believe that the need for this corps of chaplains is urgent and should be met without delay.

Resolved, 2. That we also recommend and that due provision be made for securing suitable ministers for the corps of chaplains by examination of candidates by army chaplains experienced in the needs and requirements of the military service; furthermore we believe that no chaplain should be appointed by the President except upon the advice of such examiners.

Books and Periodicals.

Celebrating as we shall in a few weeks this, the Centennial year of our Eastern Book Concern, and the Semi-Centennial of the Western, it becomes us to rejoice in the wonderful growth attained in this department of our church work, and to enter upon the second century of the history of our publishing interests with even greater vigor than heretofore. While we lament the death of our beloved and honored brother, John M. Phillips, Esq., who for so many years has been at the head of the New York Concern, we hereby express our satisfaction with the appointment of Rev. Dr. Eaton, as his successor. We recognize with pleasure the wise and aggressive management of the Concern by both the agent and local committees. It is gratifying to note that the net assets are $2,633,400.83, and that the net gain for the past fiscal year is $241,043.89. This is a marvellous showing, when we remember that one hundred years ago in Philadelphia John Dickens founded the Book Concern with only $600.00. We hope that in the celebration of the centennial year, both the Church and Sunday Schools throughout the connection will heartily unite, and become enthused with the spirit of renewed consecration, and be inspired to distribute with even a more generous hand the choice literature given us from our own presses.

Of the great family of Advocates representing a circulation of 145,000 weekly copies, we make special allusions to the New York Christian Advocate, and the Northern. Of the latter, situated as it is in one of the great centers of education, it should receive the liberal patronage of our Methodist families, in order, that it may sustain that rank which the future and its local relations will demand it to be, viz, one of the foremost of our religious weeklies. We note with approval the improvement made in the Sunday School department, and the place given in its columns in the interest of young people.

The Methodist Review, under the management of Dr. Mendenhall has grown in great favor, and has largely increased its circulation. We heartily approve of spirit, of its enlarged scope, and of the introduction of its new departments. We commend it to both ministers and laymen, who are interested in, and read our higher literature. We earnestly and clearly speak out for "Our Youth," and endorse it as the official organ of the "Epworth League." We believe that with a few changes it can be made one of the best Young People's papers in the land. We think that as soon as possible the price should be reduced to one dollar per year. The "Gospel in all Lands" is making a great demand. Of its kind, we regard it as one of the leading magazines in circulation, and should be in the homes of all of our ministers and the leading families among the laity. We submit, that the support of these great enterprises is a question that involves loyalty to our ministerial vows, and fidelity to the interests of our beloved Zion. The maintenance of our connectional publications is of peculiar significance at a time when the Church, as such, must contend with so many influences and rivalries from secular sources. We look with grave apprehension upon the establishment of local and private enterprises that in any way weakens our connectional strength. The generous distribution of $100,000 among the Conference claimants of the whole Church, sufficiently emphasizes the preachers' interest in the Book Concern, to warrant its support from every one of them. Moved by the marvels, of the past and stirred by the impulses which the present hour excite, we pledge ourselves to labor more zealously than ever in behalf of our own publications.

W. H. ROGERS, Chairman.

A. W. BROADWAY, Sec'y.

Sabbath Observance.

Believing the observance of the Sabbath to be both a physical and a moral necessity, and deploring the continued, indeed, in some particulars the increasing disregard of the Sabbath, we consider this question of ever extending importance, and deserving of the most serious attention of our ministers and people.

Rejoicing in the decreasing of Sunday traffic, notably on the New York Central and West Shore Railways, we enter our most earnest protest against the running of excursion trains on God's Holy Day.

Seeing that corporations derive their existence and power from government, and that government is created to protect the moral and religious, as well as the civil rights of the people, we insist upon the enactment of such laws, as will effectually guard the sacredness of the Sabbath.

We would express unqualified approval of the action of our Post-Master-General in preventing, so far as his power reaches, the carrying of Sunday mails, and profound gratitude for the beneficial results already realized, raising the tone of public sentiment.

We deem it important that our pastors preach, at least once, next Conference year, specifically on this subject, and that our people teach, more and more, by vigorous precept, and faultless example, the true scriptural sacredness of the Lord's Day.

FREDERICK DEVITT, Chairman,
J. E. ALLEN, Secretary.

Report of the Trustees of the Trust Funds.

The trustees in reporting the condition and amount of the funds of the Conference of which they are the custodians, would say that they have endeavored faithfully to execute the trust committed to them.

The principal has been preserved intact with an addition of a bequest that has come into their hands of $611.08, from the estate of John Gray, of Pompey, N. Y., and a reinvestment of the Margaret Miller mortgage of $1,500, which has paid in full in March last. So that the total amount of the investment and securities now in our hand is $9,761.08. The Conference has already been authorized to draw upon the treasurer for the sum of $435, which we hoped to have increased by $180 more at this Conference, but for some reason unknown to us it is as yet delayed.

We are glad to have added to the principal during the past year, and hope to be able to do so more and more from year to year. Wherever bequests are known to have been made to the Conference we trust any member will esteem it a privilege to make it known as early as possible to some member of the Board that it may receive early attention. All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. ROE, Sec'y. and Treas.

Real Estate and Real Estate Securities IN KANSAS,

Are Unequaled by Any Other Form of Security.

As soon as there was an outlook for the partial failure of crops of 1887 (which was not more complete in Kansas than nearly all the other agricultural States), the old-time enemies of our State began their denunciations, which were made up in most part of gross misstatements as to our soil, our laws and our people. All of this was done in behalf of parties and institutions at the East interested in stopping the flow of money to the rapidly-developing western States.

IN SPITE OF THIS, The fact remains that the investment public has been convinced that the stocks and bonds of Wall street are not to be compared with western investments wisely laid, as to profit and freedom from the annoying fluctuations of a speculative market.

But these maligners caught us at a time when our crops were so small. They knew that our reliance is in our crops, and that the fact of our crops being so small was the cause of our financial difficulties.

could put into their slanders, they made many people of means timid and distrustful. Now, to these we address this letter.

Let us grant the short crops and the consequent dull times, and the discouragement which followed to many inexperienced farmers. There are other facts to be considered.

THEY ARE IMPORTANT. They should convince you that Loans placed on Kansas Farms and desirable City Properties are safe beyond question.

Perhaps you have Loans in Kansas, and for the past eighteen months or two years your interest payments have come tardily, or maybe not at all in some cases, and you are inclined to criticise this statement of safety and profit, in view of your experience or perhaps the experience of your neighbor. But does that experience disprove our proposition? Beyond furnishing just grounds for adverse criticisms, what does it prove as to the real basis of security? ABSOLUTELY NOTHING.

If the basis for safe Loans in Kansas were insecure, if the depression of the farming interests in Kansas for a couple of seasons destroys or impairs the intrinsic worth of Farm Lands, then it is the Loan Companies of Kansas which should be commiserated. They have borne the brunt of the burthen. They have advanced for the borrowers the sums due the eastern lenders. They have put their millions of money into this business, and upon their knowledge of the securities they have sold East, they have staked their resources. Pitiably indeed would be their condition if our premises are not laid in facts.

AND WHAT ARE THESE FACTS? Summarized, they are:

FIRST—Land is the basis of all securities.

SECOND—There is more land in Kansas susceptible of profitable cultivation than in any other State of the Union of equal area.

THIRD—Kansas lands, where properly cultivated, will average, during five years, larger net profits than those of any other State of the Union, taken as a whole.

FOURTH—There are in Kansas, this year, THOUSANDS OF ACRES THAT NET, IN SINGLE CROPS, $20 per acre.

FIFTH—There are practically no lands in Kansas, properly cultivated, that will not net at least $5 per acre in a single crop, taken on an average of five years.

The Hon. Secretary of State Board of Agriculture tells us that THE CORN CROP This year reaches the enormous sum of 267,000,000 bushels. Counted at even 20 cents per bushel, this represents gross profits of $53,400,000. This corn has been raised upon farms embracing only 7,000,000 acres. The area in corn does not exceed one-third the whole. Consider these figures.

THE WHEAT CROP, In round numbers, is 34,000,000 bushels of finest quality. The area embraced in the farms raising wheat—1,000,000 acres—not to exceed one-third was sown to wheat. Count the crop at 50 cents per bushel, and we have gross profits on a half—or put it a whole—million acres, in one year, $17,000,000.

FARMS EMBRACING 1,310,000 ACRES produced 40,000,000 bushels of oats. At 20 cents per bushel, we have, for oats, $8,000,000. If we add to these figures the income from the OTHER CEREALS, to be tabulated later in the season, all of which will show abundant yields, and to that the sorghum industry and dairy product, and stock and cattle yields, and it is safe to say that $200,000,000 is not a high estimate of the income to the farming and cattle community of Kansas.

Just 60,000,000,000 acres are embraced in these farms—less than one-half the State's area—the proportion of such farms under cultivation running from one-eighth to one-half.

We challenge the Union to produce another State of Kansas's population or area, which can bear comparison with these figures, these figures be true—and they are true—why, you ask, do we borrow much money? The answer is in the figures themselves. The State only in the morning of its development, less than half in farms, and so it is boasting as farm land. Less than half the farmed area is under cultivation.

THAT IS THE CONDITION TO-DAY. It is to develop this condition that we stand as a medium between you and the borrower, as our local means to encourage and help the borrower, and in doing so, afford you profitable employment for your means. Suppose we borrowed in this borrower, and he skips out and leaves his farm, goes to Oklahoma or "back to his wife's folks," the land is there, and you do well if you can get the land for the amount of money we advance on such lands. Or suppose he stays, but some bad seasons come and he can't pay his interest, and he can't sell his land to pay you; obligation draws 12 or 10 per cent. after due, and it is only a matter of other seasons that the fellow who sticks to his farm will raise even a new season to pay off all back interest and the principal. In my experience, this is the case this year, as all loan companies in the State testify. We have numbers we were carrying for three or four seasons, and were just on the point of foreclosing upon, who have, ready paid off the whole thing out of their wheat crop, or notified when they will do so.

If you don't want to loan for interest, buy the lands for profit. You cannot fail to realize big returns.

THINK OF IT! LANDS to be had at $5.00 PER ACRE, which will produce in crops that much, or more, in one favorable season. So says, not far hence, Kansas will be developed from border to border, her lands will all be tilled, her farms will be the basis of her greatness, and will command "full value received" in transfer of ownership. Then men who buy these farms will be glad to get them at a price which they can realize 5 per cent. interest per annum. WAIT TILL THEN? GO IN NOW, ON THE GROUND FLOOR.

THE GENERAL POWERS AND PRIVILEGES OF THE CHARTER ARE:

1. To Loan Funds for itself or others.
2. The Purchase of Real Estate, the Erection of Buildings or other Improvements thereon.
3. The Sale of Real Estate for itself or others.
4. The Purchase or Negotiation of Investment Securities for Commission, such as Mortgage Loans and Municipal Bonds.
5. The Guaranteeing of Securities on Commission.
6. To receive Money on Deposit at stated rates of Interest.
7. To issue the Company's Debentures.

This Company has been organized by Mr. John D. Knox, to handle the large business which has grown up incidental to the Mortgage Loan business of John D. Knox & Co., Investment Bankers, such as the purchase of real estate where special bargains are offered for large profits, and dealing in all kinds of desirable securities which offer safety to investors and handsome profits to the Company. The organization also meets the demands of a large number of investors who desire larger returns upon their money than they can reasonably expect on any mortgages that are safe—many such have turned their mortgages into stock of our Company. Mr. Knox is the largest shareholder, and is president of the Company. The others associated with him in the Directory have been selected for their fitness and ability.

A dividend at rate of 8% per annum was declared at the meeting of directors August 30, 1889. Up to this date, more than two-thirds of the stock is sold to about 128 shareholders. The experience of nearly twenty years in this line of business, being at the head of the Company, leaves little doubt that shareholders will realize at least 8% per annum, and the management is sanguine of a larger average.

The Debentures of the Company are to run fifteen years, and bear 6% per annum, payable half-yearly in New York and Boston.

If you want stock or Debentures, or lands or lots, write at once for particulars, or enclose draft with instructions.

WHEREAS, The extension of the time limit, adds to the gravity of the evil : therefore

Resolved, That we respectfully request our chief pastors to make no transfer to an appointment of medium grade and upward within result, the Secretary was instructed to make the records harmonize with Disciplinary directions, which he did by striking out the words "of immorality."

AUBURN DISTRICT.

To the Presiding Bishop and Members of Central New York Conference :

In giving some account of the work on Auburn District since our last annual session, I gratefully record :

First.—The church property, consisting of forty-nine houses for worship and twenty-eight parsonages, has been well cared for, and in some charges improved. There has been expended in improving property by the various charges as follows : Butler, $200; Savannah, $110; Locke, $40; New Hope, $35; Cato, $50; Union Springs, $50; Moravia, $400; beside the ordinary repairs.

There has been paid on indebtedness by First church, Auburn, $500; by Wall St., Auburn, $700; by Savannah, $132; by Seneca Falls, $500; and by Fayette, $1,600. The remaining indebtedness on our church property on the District is about $10,000; $8,000 is against the churches in Auburn.

Second.—Pastoral support was not by any charge diminished at the beginning of the year.

If the charges have paid the amounts allowed in some instances, they have done so by more than usual liberality and effort.

Third.—Our contributions to connectional enterprises I fear will be less than last year. I think the pastors are better informed concerning our benevolent work, and more fully instruct our people, and we are in possession of, or acquiring the knowledge essential to the recognition of our obligation and responsibility for the extension and triumph of Christ in all the Earth. If less money is reported it results from the failure of crops and business depression. But out of this we shall come with renewed courage and larger success.

Fourth.—Two District Conferences, two Sunday School Institutes, and one Epworth League Convention have been held, in all of which we have sought, and in a good degree secured, the interest of our people and the success of our work.

Fifth.—The pastors have shown an intelligent devotion to their work.

The prevailing sickness of last winter prevented the continuance of revival work in which there had already appeared first fruits of larger harvests. Most of the pastors have the cheering record of ingathered souls. Clyde and Fleming have the larger lists of new members; other fields of less opportunity show good cultivation. A very large per cent. of the late probationers are now approved members of the church.

Sixth.—Rev. Charles E. Smith, appointed to Owasco charge one year ago, had won the hearts of the people before he was sick with the prevailing influenza, after which in March he was prostrated with hemorrhage from the lungs, and went steadily down to his rest and crown, in July. A good and useful man has received his last and best appointment.

Seventh.—The need of the present will only partially be met by an increase of denominational zeal, more money and liberality, an educated ministry, and conspicuous church loyalty. Our supreme need is a great Spiritual uplift, that waits a more perfect consecration of pastors and people. When that is received our home expenses will be cheerfully met, our benevolences sustained and enlarged, our experience meetings full and inspiring; and the young men and young women, for their part of the work, shall offer themselves for the fields of toil now white for the harvest.

May He whom we seek, suddenly come to His temple and fill it with His glory.

With thanks to the pastors and members of Auburn District, and a humble acknowledgement of our common Lord and Saviour, I submit this fifth report of the work committed to my care.

L. C. QUEAL.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called their characters passed and they reported their collections : O. A. Houghton, C. E. Babcock, M. S. Wells, N. M. Wheeler, H. W. Sanford, Arthur Copeland, D. B. Kellogg, A. C. Smith, C. E. Jewell, J. A. Roberts, E. A. Peck, R. Townsend, H. C. Moyer, C. J. Beach, W. H. Rogers, G. W. Reynolds, Edward Jarvis, E. A. Tuttle, R. N. Leake, Elias Hoxie, W. M. Ward, R. D. Munger, D. M. Young, Charles Eddy. The names of H. G. Mitchell, Horatio Yates, and William Searls were called and their characters passed. The names of R. N. Leake, and E. A. Tuttle were referred to the committee on Conference Relations.

CAZENOVIA DISTRICT.

The work of the ecclesiastical year was commenced under more than ordinary discouragements. The great amount of rain, the consequent muddy roads, the dark nights, but above all the prevalence of the grippe in the homes of the pastors and of the people, thinned the Sunday Congregation, diminished the attendance upon the social means of grace, closed some of the revival services which were in progress and prevented the holding of others which had been planned for. No sales of butter and cheese, the staple products of the farm in this part of the country, or sales at ruinously low prices, produced a gloom never before realized in business circles and nearly paralysed the financial plans of many of the churches. Absolutely no money in the pockets of the laymen left little but credit with which to supply the wants of the preachers and their families. Talk about liberal contributions toward apportionments for the benevolences seemed the sheerest folly. But the Master had not forgotten his people. In the midst of the gloom He was walking among the candlesticks.

With the recovery of health and the return of brighter weather later in the season, it was found that there was a spirit of conviction among the people. At their homes sick, or waiting beside sick ones, many hearts had been touched, many wills bent, and almost unasked, seekers found their way into the prayer and class-meetings. Most of the charges shared in some degree these gracious influences. On some they developed into wide-spread and powerful revivals. At Canastota one hundred and thirty were received on probation ; most of these have joined the church in full connection. At Cortland nearly one hundred have been received into the church. One of the best works was realized at Cazenovia. Considerable accessions are reported from Cincinnatus, Cuyler and DeRuyter, Fayetteville, Free-town, Summit Station, Tully and Oneida.

Following the spiritual refreshing, financial prospects began to brighten ; salaries began to be paid. We trust the deficiencies reported will be little if any in excess of those of other years. Earnest, faithful and persevering has been the effort in behalf of the benevolences. We have succeeded beyond our hopes. The aggregate will be about the same as last year.

The improvement of church property has not been neglected. The repairs upon the church at Vesper, in progress at the time of our last annual session, were completed at an expense of nine hundred dollars. Six hundred of this has already been paid ; the remaining three hundred is fully pledged.

Ten years ago the little band of Methodists at Truxton being destitute of any church edifice, were invited by the Presbyterian congregation of that place which for some time had been without a pastor, to secure a pastor and to occupy for the time the Presbyterian church. The proposition was accepted and the following year Truxton and East Homer were united as one charge, Truxton having the afternoon appointment. This arrangement has been continued during the ten years, the greatest harmony and good feeling prevailing between the the two branches of the congregation. In February last the trustees of the Presbyterian church conveyed by lease the whole church property, comprising a fine site, the church edifice, session house and parsonage, to trustees elected by the Methodist Society, to be held and occupied as long as religious services are maintained and the property kept in repair ; and these are the entire conditions demanded by the terms of the lease. About two hundred dollars have already been raised and expended in improvements. The repairs of last year upon the church at East Homer amount to five hundred dollars. They have been provided for and paid. About two hundred dollars each have been expended in new roofing, painting and otherwise repairing the churches of Fayetteville, Chittenango and Kirkville, and lesser sums upon church property at East Virgil, South Spafford and Union Valley. At Jamesville a house and lot for a parsonage has been bargained for and the purchase price, with the exception of one hundred dollars, has been secured on subscription.

We note a slow but steady growth from year to year in the membership of the Sunday School department. This percentage of growth might be greatly increased by a more frequent and thorough canvass of the communities in which schools are located. A Sunday School Convention held at Tully in the month of May was well attended and its influences remain a blessing to our schools. The District Conferences were well attended by ministers and laymen. The addresses, papers and discussions were listened to with marked interest, and the business was better done than it would have been by the individual Quarterly Conferences.

Rev. O. G. H. Phillips, detained from the last session of the Conference by illness which proved fatal on the 18th of October, 1889, passed from the toils of earth to the rewards of heaven. In the early Spring our venerable brother, Wesley Fox, at the ripe age of 77 years, and having been in the ministry more than half a century, passed over to answer at the roll-call in the skies.

Cazenovia Seminary maintains her position at the head of the institutions of her grade in the State. The attendance of students for the year has been large, and the financial report is encouraging.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, they reported their collections and their characters passed : C. L. Connell, C. E. Mogg, J. B. Foote, F. M. Warner, W. F. Butman, G. P. Avery, H. Meeker, W. H. Robertson, Philo Cowles, A. N. Damon, E. J. Brooker, James Crowe, J. H. Zartman, M. S. Leete, H. W. Williams, O. G. H. Phillips, W. H. Bunnell, C. T. Moss, S. A. Chubbuck, W. H. Curtiss, Charles Haynes, William Wardell, O. J. Purington, T. F. Harris. The name of I. N. Clements was called and his character passed. The name of S. A. Chubbuck was referred to the Committee on Conference Relations.

ELMIRA DISTRICT.

Another "harvest is passed," and another "Summer is ended." The field assigned to me for oversight was never so well supplied with reapers as during the past year. All except four of the pastors of Elmira District are honored members of our Conference, and two of the others are promising young men waiting at our doors for admission. The relations of these brethren to each other have been very pleasant, and their bearing toward me has been cordial and kind. I hold them in high esteem.

The year has not been the most favorable for great achievements. The open winter with its almost ceaseless rain, and roads so constantly and deeply muddy as to be a "weariness of the flesh" together with a wide spread epidemic from the "grippe," from which no parish was exempt, have so retarded or hindered the work of the harvesters as to make the number of sheaves gathered far less than we had hoped.

These causes and a prevalent depression of business have affected our financial interests also. The result has been that the salaries of most of the pastors have been slowly, and in some cases I fear, not fully paid; and it has been difficult to so present our great connectational interests to the people as to secure the results for which we have toiled and prayed.

Few if any of the pastors have failed to be true to these interests, and from the information that has reached me I have reason to hope that we have not receded from the position hitherto attained, and have possibly made another slight advance.

Our District is abreast with the recently intensified interest in our young people as an important factor in church work. We have a well officered District Epworth League with active auxiliaries on many of our charges. Reports from them are encouraging.

Due prominence has been given to Sunday School interests, and our schools are doing a good work. I regret to report that notwithstanding frequent reminders, explanations and exhortations a few of them are not yet organized into missionary societies.

Our church property generally is well cared for and in good condition. In a number of instances however, both churches and parsonages are without insurance. The folly of such negligence had a striking illustration in the burning of our church and parsonage at Roseville, on the Rutland charge, with no insurance, by which a weak charge was very seriously crippled.

The parsonage at New Albany has been painted inside and newly papered at a cost of $40. The church at Forksville has a new roof, and has been thoroughly renovated and beautifully papered, at a cost of $225. The church at Greenwood has a chandelier costing $20. A new organ in the church at East Troy cost $90. A new porch on the parsonage at Smithfield cost $25. The parsonage at Leona has been newly papered at a cost of $35 and $30 has been paid for a new range with furniture. The contract for repairing the church at Wetona has been let for the sum of $825, and the amount nearly all subscribed. The church at West Leroy has been thoroughly repaired and beautified inside and supplied with a new furnace at a cost of $700, and about an equal amount is being expended on the church at East Canton, which will be paid when the work is completed. The church at Canton has new stained glass windows costing $500, and an addition to the parsonage, with other improvements, cost $250. The church at Burlington has a new carpet and pulpit furniture costing $80. At Blossburg $250 has been used to improve the parsonage lot. The church at Lawrence Corners has a new carpet costing $20. A new bell for the Mansfield church cost $264. The Centenary church debt has been nearly cancelled by the payment of $1444, and a piano and some furniture have been purchased at a cost $250. An old debt of $180 upon the church at Judson Hill has been paid. At Millerton a debt of $170 has been paid and $70 invested in a new library. The Jackson Center church has been freed from debt by the payment of $60. $50 has been expended for improvements at Wellsburg. The parsonage at Big Flats has been painted without and within at a cost of $125. The Hedding church parsonage has been improved at a cost of $450. A floating debt of $920 has been paid at the First Church, and $250 expended in the parsonage. About $400 has been pledged for much needed repairs on the parsonage at Caton and the work has been commenced.

Revival services have been conducted upon the following charges with very gratifying results in most cases: Mansfield, Blossburg, Mainsburg, Towanda, Canton, First Church, Centenary Church, Hedding Church, Millerton, Smithfield, Wells, Daggett's Mills, Burlington, North Chemung, Chemung, Ulster, Rutland, Forksville and Tyrone. The work at Mansfield was of unusual power and extent.

I report with sorrow that the health of Brother H. B. Troxell was so seriously impaired during the first half of the year as to necessitate entire relief from pastoral care and work. Fortunately Bro. E. C. White, whose health failed during the previous year, had so far recovered as to be able to take his place as pastor of the Caton charge. No other serious break has occurred in the health of the pastors or their families.

I desire to record my gratitude to God for the perfect health and the manifold blessings that I have enjoyed through another year, and for which I would render to Him more perfect loyalty, and more efficient service.

EDWIN J. HERMANS.

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective Elders were called, they reported their collections and their characters passed: Walter Statham, B. J. Tracey, H. A. Carpenter, S. F. Sanford, H. B. Troxell, O. D. Davis, Dewitt Myers, E. A. Baldwin, C. D. Smith, Thomas Sharpe, C. C. Wilbor, L. H. Pearce, P. R. Pitman, F. M. Smith, C. M. Adams, David Keppel, J. H. Day, R. D. Phillips, J. J. Turton, P. J. Bull, Joseph Merring, W. S. H. Hermans, H. C. Andrews, G. E. Hutchings, G. W. Moxcey. The name of H. B. Troxell was referred to the Committee on Conference Relations.

Geneva District was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, B. I. Ives was passed, and he represented his district as follows :

GENEVA DISTRICT.

1. A great amount of faithful, earnest, hard work, has been done by the ministers of Geneva District during the past year ; but I am sure that the visible results do not in all cases properly represent the faith, the sacrifice, and the toil of the laborer.

2. The very elements have seemed to war against us. Such terrific winds. Such almost incessant rain storms. Such unfathomable mud, and impassable roads, so many awfully dark nights, and very stormy Sabbaths, together with la grippe the measles and the whooping cough so diminished many of our congregations for a large part of the year as to greatly interfere with all revival work and the holding of any extra meetings.

3. Then also the blighted crops, and the very low prices have so discouraged many of the people in the country charges, as to render it almost impossible to raise even the very small allowance made for the pastor's support, and do much of anything for the benevolent enterprises of the church.

4. And yet the ministers like true and faithful men of God have stood to their post, held the fort and done the best they could in every department of our church work, and their record and reward is on high.

5. But over and above all these circumstances and surroundings, God in his mercy has come to our help, and has given us prosperity, and we have had some glorious and powerful revivals. This has been the case to some extent at Newark, Palmyra, Sodus, Pultneyville, Sodus Point, Geneva, Hopewell Center, Rushville, Hopewell and Flint Creek, Dresden, Dundee, Italy, Penn Yan, Barrington, and perhaps some other charges that I have overlooked.

6. Something has also been done in the way of church and parsonage improvement. At Sodus Point the church has been raised up several feet, a new and substantial foundation wall built, and also a very fine basement story for prayer and class-meetings. At Williamson a good cement walk has been put down in front of the church and parsonage grounds costing $100. At Lyons a new barn has been built, which was much needed as they had none before, and other improvements to the sum of $450 all paid. At Phelps a new steel roof has been put upon the church, a new sidewalk laid in front of the church lot and a supply of good water brought into the parsonage, all costing some $600 which has been paid. So at Clifton, a new roof has been put on the parsonage and some important improvements made in and about the church. At Geneva a new steam boiler has just been put in the church, and radiators all through the house above and below, so that the entire building is now warmed by steam. At Rushville $250 has been expended in church and parsonage improvements. The church at Dresden has been nicely painted and new stained glass windows put in, and all expenses paid.

7. Some of the charges I know have done well in their benevolent collections, but I fear the district as a whole will not stand where it did last year. So many of the country charges do so very little, and they are growing worse every year and not better.

8. During the year we have held two Sunday School Institutes, two Ministerial Associations, and one Epworth League District meeting. These gatherings were all well attended and intensely interesting, and I think that all of them were helpful to the work of the district. The Epworth League meeting was much the largest, most interesting and perhaps the most profitable of anything we have had on the district. Our young people are quite wide-a-woke on this subject, and I think the Leagues throughout the district are doing a good work and are really helpful to the church in many ways.

9. Our Sunday Schools are all organized into Missionary Societies, are generally well supplied with books and papers from our own book room, and are doing a good work in their department.

10. I very much regret that so few of our people, in the country charges especially, take or read our church papers. Ignorance as to the condition of the world, and what our own church is doing, and trying to do, is really the great obstacle in the way of raising all we need to carry on the great enterprises we have in hand.

11. Though there has been quite an amount of sickness among the ministers and their families during the year, I am glad to say there have been but two deaths, and nearly all the rest are now well again. Brother A. S. Durling of Gorham and Voak charge was taken ill soon after Conference, and he has been able to do but little real work during all the year. He has remained on the charge and has done the very best he could. I believe he thinks himself better now and hopes to be able to take work again. May it be so. Brother A. J. Barltrop of East Palmyra charge, was compelled to quit work in the month of June, and has not been able to do anything since. He spent some time at Clifton Springs, but grew worse instead of better. It was therefore thought best for him, while he could do so, to return to his friends and home in Canada, where he now is, and very feeble indeed, so that I fear we shall never see him among us again. Let us all remember this dear good brother in our prayers.

12. The wife of our Brother J. M. Bull, of Clifton Springs, died in great peace in the early part of the Summer. She had a long and very painful illness, being entirely helpless for many months, but she was enabled to bear it all without a murmur, and with real Christian resignation, until God was pleased to take her to Himself. So also the wife of our Brother S. S. Barter of Benton, after a short illness of only ~~ten~~ days, passed away in great peace, and in full hope of eternal glory, in the early Sabbath morning of the 21st of September last.

May the God of all grace and consolation comfort the hearts of these dear brethren in their great bereavement.

REV. OLIVER G. H. PHILLIPS.

Rev. Oliver G. H. Phillips was born in New York city, Dec. 30, 1846, and died at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage in New Woodstock, N. Y., October 18, 1889, in the forty-third year of his age.

Brother Phillips was converted while living in Slaterville, N. Y., in 1876, and afterwards united with the Methodist Episcopal church in Cortland. The conviction that the Master pointed to the Christian ministry as his field of labor was an unwelcome one and for some time resisted; but the call became so imperative that he promised the Lord that if the way should open he would no longer resist. The way was soon opened by a call from his presiding elder to fill a vacant pulpit on the district. True to his covenant, he went to the district conference held December 14, 1881, passed the required examination, received a local preacher's license and was appointed by Rev. Thomas Tousey to supply North Pitcher charge. Here he met Miss Eliza J. Smith, with whom he was united in marriage October 30, 1883.

Brother Phillips was received on probation by the Central New York Conference in 1882, was ordained a deacon by Bishop Harris at Elmira in 1884, and an elder by Bishop Andrews at Canandaigua in 1886. His fields of labor were North Pitcher, 1881-2; Peterboro, 1883-5; New Woodstock, 1886-8; and by Bishop FitzGerald he was re-appointed to the same charge for the fourth year. He was an earnest, practical, growing and efficient preacher, and a most exemplary Christian man. His was a character that would bear the strictest scrutiny—one that from the severest trial would come forth with a brighter lustre. A gentle and refined nature; genuine Christian modesty was a marked characteristic of his life, yet he was faithful and fearless in the presentation of truth; independent in his thinking, ready to declare his opinions when demanded and to defend them if they were assailed. While of delicate constitution his methodical habits and promptness in action enabled him to accomplish more than many others of more vigorous constitution and firmer health. His work was usually finished up to date.

His genial nature, Christian courtesy and a vein of quiet humor which he possessed made him a welcome visitor in the homes on his charge, and there grew up between himself and his people an attachment strong and enduring. The ending of his pure life was glorious indeed; striking and joyous the testimonies of his closing hours in reference to the presence and saving power of Jesus.

Visiting him on the last day of his stay on Earth he inquired about the Conference which had just closed, whether we had been avored with the special presence of God, and said the Master had been specially present with him. When asked as to the outlook in the future he said, "All bright, it was never brighter. I know it is bright over there." A little later he said, "If I could come back I would be more faithful in little things. Tell the brethren to be faithful in little things." He asked us to sing "Nearer My God to Thee." While we sang his soul seemed filled with the thought and prayer of the poet. Prayer in which he joined followed the singing, and the room seemed "Quite on the verge of Heaven." And then the parting! No sadness, no gloom; cheerful, hopeful good-byes until the meeting beyond the river. In such a room

"There is no death! the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And high in Heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forever more."

The funeral services were held in the Methodist church at New Woodstock, conducted by the writer, assisted by Revs. W. H. Robertson, H. W. Williams, H. Meeker and the pastor of the Baptist church of New Woodstock. The remains of our brother were conveyed to North Pitcher for burial.

REV. WESLEY FOX.

Wesley Fox was born in West Dryden, Feb. 14, 1813, and died at Homer, Cortland Co., N. Y., Dec. 22, 1889. He united with the old Oneida Conference in the year 1840, having been previously employed under the Presiding Elder for two successive years. His work in the Oneida Conference territory, now included for the most part in the Central New York Conference, will long be remembered. His early conversion and earnest faith, together with superior natural endowments, made him a successful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Upon entering the ministry he determined to be well furnished for the great responsibility that pressed his heart in the call from God to this work which he could not mistake. While it was not his privilege to enter the ministry with a collegiate education, he sought to make up that deficiency by earnest application of time and energy in general reading and careful study. He was a hard-working student. He was always well supplied with books and papers and such helps as were needful for his greater usefulness. Consequently he was a well read man. He brought to his work a rare judgment, firm and reliable, which served him well on many occasions and in the most critical times during his ministry. He was a good preacher. His sermons were thoroughly studied and very practical. He understood the great doctrines of the Bible and the Church, and was able to defend them in a masterly manner. While he possessed a rare gift for clear concise statements of truth, he excelled in true sympathy.

He might well have been called, "The Son of Consolation"—a Barnabas in the ministry. His work was principally in the years when evangelistic labor was common in the pastorate. This element of power served him well. Large revivals followed his labors. Often these would become wide-spread and continuous during his pastorates.

As a pastor he was much desired. He was the chosen friend of the people. They came to him for counsel and consolation in the hours of trouble. At the bedside of the sick he was always welcomed. He had for the sick and suffering fitting words, hopeful and inspiring. Far and near the people called upon him to attend funerals and sympathise with the sorrowing.

He was greatly favored with the gift of song. When clear logical statements of truth at times seemed to fail, the people would be moved to tears while he sang so sweetly, "China," or "Mear," or "Bridgewater." Every tone was musical, and coming from his clear rich voice, moved all hearts upward towards God and Heaven. He was an impressive preacher. While the people loved the man, they loved his message more. He was a gospel preacher. He had the courage of his convictions. He never trifled with the great truths of God. If any differed with him in his convictions they did not doubt his sincerity, and never lost respect for the man. The power of concentration of thought lifted every theme he handled into one of seemingly the greatest importance. He seldom spoke without unction, the gift of God. His sermons were very persuasive. He strengthened the faith of Christians, convinced the doubting and aroused the careless. In these respects he was almost irresistible. Of kindly feelings, modest bearing, graceful demeanor, charitable judgments, he was the personification of true Christian manhood.

During the late war he lost his only son, John Wesley Fox, named after the great founder of the church to which he belonged, and which he so ardently loved. This sorrow was only equalled by the stern decree that required him to resign his work in the active ministry, on account of hopeless sickness. He had seldom wept before, but at this time the fountain of tears was opened. It was a hardship for him to give up the work that he so much loved. He committed the situation to God, and followed the divine leadings. While he had a weak body, he was strong in faith and hopeful for the future.

As a husband and father, he was kind, tender and loving. His home was one of joy, made such by the sweet loving spirit that he possessed. He had lived with the companion of his early life in sweet conjugal affection for over fifty-six years. Sister Fox survives him, though weak in body and with broken health.

Of four children given them, two are living and two are in Heaven. Of the latter, D. Augusta was the first wife of our lamented fellow laborer in the ministry, Rev. A. J. Kenyon. John Wesley Fox lost his life in the service of his country in the late war. Two daughters remain. A. Louisa is the wife of Rev. Geo. S. White of North Dakota Conference, but recently of the Central New York Conference. Mary E. the widow of Rev. M. D. Haskins, resides with her mother.

Truly a noble man has fallen. The converts of his ministry are scattered over nearly all parts of the territory of our Conference. These will join the large circle of friends and mourners, submissive to the Providence that has called him to his long home, but with grateful memories of his manly virtues and successful labors.

The funeral services were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Homer, N. Y., and attended by a large gathering of friends and neighbors. Brother Fox was the older brother of the Rev. Reuben C. and Warren D. Fox, of the Central New York Conference. May God bless the precious ones left behind and finally bring them together again in the higher state of being.

REV. JOEL HOWD.

Rev. Joel Howd was born at Camden, Oneida county, N. Y., Aug. 1, 1831, and died at his home in De Pere, Wis., March 22, 1890. While a mere youth, through the faithful labors of a devoted pastor, he was soundly and intelligently converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal church. His love for the church was ardent in youth, and active and vigorous through life. He rapidly developed qualities of mind and heart fitting him for the work of the ministry, and in 1853 received an exhorter's license. Aug. 5, 1855, he married Miss Louie A. Wilcox, in his native village. Immediately after he emigrated to Wisconsin, where he entered at once upon the work of the itinerancy; was ordained deacon by Bishop Simpson at Appleton in 1856, and two years later received elder's orders at the hands of Bishop Morris at Beloit. During this connection with Wisconsin conference he served the following churches: Port Washington, Summit, Oak Creek, Palmyra, Stoughton, Fort Atkinson, Tree Bay, and De Pere, and Oneida Indian Mission. In 1870 he was transferred to Central New York Conference, where he labored three years at Onondaga Castle, three years at Lysander, Cardiff two years, North Syracuse two years, Constantia three years, Georgetown two years, and Eaton one year, at which time, by reason of failing health, he was induced by the advice of his physicians and the solicitations of friends to take a well-earned vacation, and with his faithful wife set out at once to visit the scenes of their former labors in Wisconsin. Before reaching their destination, they were intercepted by a message from Presiding-elder Cole, of Appleton district, urging them to supply Oneida mission, which had been left vacant by the death of Missionary Olmsted's wife, and the subsequent resignation of Brother Olmsted. To this appeal Brother Howd acceded, his burning zeal for the cause of Christ and his attachment to these people, growing out of his former labors among them, overcoming the protestations of friends and the dictates of a broken constitution and for the next three years, though often undergoing the most severe bodily suffering, with the help of his devoted and efficient wife, he not only performed successfully the arduous duties of this mission field, but in addition, the whole parsonage property was rebuilt, and the entire situation very materially improved. But the time had surely come, when by reason of the flesh failing, the weapons of an active warfare must be laid down. This was doubtless the hardest trial of his life, and yet in this he seemed to find promised grace sufficient, for with cheerful patience, wonderful to witness, he waited for the final summons. As a son he was dutiful; kind and true as a husband; as a friend, generous and sincere. He ever had a kind word and smile for the young and the aged; he was faithful as a pastor and so well as a preacher as evidenced by revivals on nearly every stage he visited, where the truth sweeping, and all productive of abiding fruits. In his last illness prayer, an hour before the fatal stroke he passed for the divine blessing upon all with whom he had to do, and thus earnestly implored forgiveness for any want of faithfulness on his part. Memorial services were held at the Methodist Episcopal church, where he was decorately draped and a sermon for the occasion was preached, which he conducted the services assisted by past H. H. Wills, former pastor, and Kers Hall, of Greenwood. Mr. Howard, Woodside of Kankana, Rochester, of Auburn and R. A. Kellogg of the Presbyterian church. A large number of friends testified the universal esteem and sympathy. The remains were taken to Greenwood for interment from whence they will in due time be removed to the family burying-place at Canastota, N. Y., and be laid beside those of the loved ones gone before. Brother Hall leaves a devoted Christian wife, three brothers and two sisters, the sister having recently preceded him to the heavenly home.—P. W.

REV. JOHN W. STEELE.

John W. Steele was born at Ulisses, Tompkins Co., N. Y., Sept. 14th, 1819, and died at Flint, Mich., May 21st, 1891. He was converted in early manhood. In 1850 Dr. Isaac Parks, Presiding Elder of Cazenovia District gave him an exhorter's license. In 1851 he was recommended to the traveling connection by the Church in Ithaca, and admitted to probation in Oneida Conference. He was ordained a Deacon by Bishop Simpson in 1853 and an Elder by Bishop Baker in 1856. His ministerial labor was distributed as follows: North Lansing, 1851-52; Slaterville, 1853-4; Varna, 1855-6; North Lansing again, 1857; McLean and Peruville, 1858; Lake Ridge, 1859-60; Cardiff, 1861-2.

On account of his wife's continued ill health he took a supernumerary relation in 1863, and settled in Ithaca, where he engaged in boat-building. He was busy, preaching much, especially attending funerals. The year 1865 he supplied the church at Kennedy's Corners. He carried his religion into his business uncompromisingly and beautifully.

By changes in boundaries he found himself in 1873, when he returned to the regular work, a member of Central New York Conference. He served successively the following charges: Virgil three years, Ovid two years, Jacksonville two years, New Hope three years, Locke three years, Butler Center two years, and Enfield and Kennedy's Corners two years.

Because of increasing physical debility in 1889 he took a supernumerary relation. He soon removed with his household effects to Flint, Mich., where in the home of his wife's sister he and his wife hoped to enjoy well earned rest. In six days he took to his bed where he spent the winter. In April he rallied sufficiently to ride out and to walk a little. When it became evident that he could not recover he said: "I have perfect confidence in God, and fully believe his inspired word. I love him with all my heart, enjoy perfect rest of soul, have no fear, and notwithstanding all my faults I expect to live in eternity with my Saviour."

His ministry was attended with both material and spiritual prosperity. Hundreds of converts yet live to call him blessed, and many testimonials to his pure and beautiful Christian life have been given. One writer said: "he was the nearest perfect of any man I ever knew." He advocated not only total abstinence, but the entire legal prohibition of the manufacture and sale of strong drink. As a pastor he was faithful. As a preacher he sought to do good rather than to delight the ear. As a man he was a model. As a husband none could be more kind.

His marriage with Miss Charlotte E. Hungerford occurred at Slaterville in 1855, the Rev. Dr. Fitch Reed officiating. They were not blessed with children and Mrs. Steele finds in a sister her nearest surviving relative.

The funeral was conducted by James E. Jocklin, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Flint. Eight clergymen of the city were present. The remains were laid in Glenwood Cemetery far from his compeers, but his spirit is with God, where presently they will meet him.

REV. CHARLES E. SMITH.

Rev. Charles E. Smith died of consumption at Owasco, N. Y., July 20th, 1890, aged 36 years. Brother Smith was born in Ledyard, Cayuga Co., N. Y., and there spent his boyhood. His parents and he embraced religion about the same time, in the fall of 1869, during a series of meetings held in a private house in the neighborhood by the Rev. Elias Hoxie.

His religious life was decided and thorough from the first. The church early began to feel that he had grace and gifts which the Master wanted used in the ministry. Concerning God's call to him personally he afterwards made this record "Although I had considerable earnest prayer and thought upon the subject, and always felt it to be too great and holy a work for me, and rather shrank from the idea, still there came an hour one Sabbath in the year 1871, when the Lord very plainly brought it before my mind as my duty, and it came before me with such clearness and power that I could no longer doubt. I felt that I must then decide. After praying over it I was enabled to believe that He who had saved and called me was also able to give me power even for this the greatest of requirements. Thus believing, although feeling entirely unworthy I said, I will do it."

In 1875, he received license to exhort, and in 1876 was licensed to preach by the Auburn District Conference. His discourses were manifestly blessed of God. He pursued his studies at Aurora and Canastota until the fall of 1876, when he entered the Junior class in New Theological Seminary, and finished the course in Feb. 1878. Feb. 9th, 1875, he was married to Miss Reine Henne, of Aurora, and immediately started for Medford, Wis., which charge he served as a supply until the session of the Wisconsin Conference in October. He then joined the conference and was returned to Medford. During his stay there he was instrumental in building a church. After leaving Medford his charges in the Wisconsin Conference were Almond, Plover, New London and Hingham. On each of these charges he was successful in building up the church and in winning souls to Christ.

In 1887, he was transferred to the Central New York Conference, and stationed at Sterling where he labored for two years with great acceptability. During his stay there bronchial difficulties developed, and warned him that he must remove to a greater distance from Lake Ontario. At the last session of the conference he was stationed at Owasco. His opening work there gave promise of greatly improved health, but La Grippe took hold upon him, leading to hemorrhages of the lungs, and after four months of wasting he passed away. On a beautiful Sabbath morning while the bells were tolling for the services of the earthly sanctuary he passed triumphantly into the heavenly sanctuary to join in its everlasting worship. Brother Smith possessed a beautiful Christian spirit. All who knew him loved him. No one who was acquainted with him doubted the completeness of his devotion to Christ. He was an excellent preacher, studious, methodical, earnest and successful. The four months of his sickness were a constant sermon. His trust, patience and triumph in Christ will never be forgotten by that community. While he would gladly have lived to work for Christ and to care for his family, he cheerfully accepted the will of God.

In the funeral services held at his church in Owasco the pastors of the Reformed and Presbyterian churches feelingly expressed their appreciation of his worth of character. His remains were taken to his father's house, where appropriate services were conducted by his presiding elder, Rev. Dr. Queal, and participated in by Rev. Messrs. Moyer, Jewel, Hoxie, Herrick, Taplin and Babcock, after which he was buried at Aurora. He leaves a wife and three children who will have the earnest prayers of the church.

MRS. MARY BRISTOL.

Mrs. Mary Bristol, widow of the late D. W. Bristol, D. D., died at her home in Syracuse, May 31, 1889, aged seventy-five years.

Although she had long been in delicate health, and more recently seriously ill, at the last her death was very sudden. She had spent the day about the house interested in all home matters, and had just completed a letter to an absent daughter, when she fell in a deadly faint, and in a few moments breathed her last.

Mrs. Bristol was born in Ellensburg, Jefferson Co., N. Y., was converted at twenty-one years of age, and not long after became the wife of the earnest minister through whose labors she was brought to Christ. For well nigh half a century she was his sympathizing efficient helper in the itinerancy. Her congenial field of labor was the home which she made under many roof-trees, a haven of rest to her own family, and a delight to the many who shared their hospitality.

Her own life almost went out with her husband's. Since his death she never ceased to be homesick for Heaven. Repeated expressions of undoubted sincerity to her pastor and other near friends, attest this fact. Still she remained cheerful, keenly alive to all that was going on in the church and community, and quietly but efficiently wrought in the vineyard to the very last.

Burial was made in Oakwood Cemetery, to which the body of Dr. Bristol and other precious kindred dust have since been transferred.

MRS. ELIZA ANN BULL.

On Wednesday morning, Dec. 4, 1889, at their home at Clifton Springs, Mrs. Eliza Ann Bull, wife of the Rev. J. M. Bull, was released from her bodily suffering. There possibly has never been an instance of greater physical suffering in the community than that of Sister Bull. But throughout she revealed to all, the possibilities and fullness of grace. Her sick room was a very Bethel. She was born in the town and county of Buckingham, England, July 2, 1813, and was married June 8, 1835. As a minister's wife she proved herself always and everywhere true and helpful.

Often in the course of her husband's long ministry has the touch of her gentle spirit in the domestic and social walks of the various parishes re-enforced his pulpit utterances on the Sabbath. It was characteristic of her never to complain. Was the field of their labors rough and stony, she went to work to smooth and beautify it. Was the parsonage poor and out of repair, her tongue was silent but her hands were busy, and soon the transformation would be visible to all eyes. Were jarring notes sometimes heard, her gentle spirit soon brought hearts that were estranged together again. Only in the final summing up of all human accounts will it be seen what good she wrought in the quiet walks of life, what seed she scattered over the ground pressed by her feet.

She died as she lived, and when her feet touched the river brink and she beheld the glory beyond, toward which her feet had been traveling for many a year, she could not speak, but the sweet smile on her face told her friends plainly what she saw. Her remains were carried to Marion for burial, where she sleeps in hope of the resurrection morning.

MRS. LOIS A. JEROME.

Lois A. Jerome was born in the town of Onondaga, N. Y., April 30, 1813, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Washburn, in Brooklyn, Jan. 10, 1890. She was one of a somewhat remarkable family, who inherited strong puritan traits of character and was a zealous worker throughout her entire life. She experienced religion at the age of nineteen and immediately entered upon a life of earnest work for the Master. In 1839 she was married to the Rev. William Jerome, and she faithfully assisted him on all his charges until he was called to his reward in 1871. She was a devoted student of the Bible and its precepts were the guide of her life. It would be hard to tell wherein she most excelled, but none could see any Christian grace she lacked. Her life was a benediction wherever she went. Her husband ever called her "blessed," and gladly confessed that much of his prosperity was due to the steady helpfulness of his wife. From his death, with constantly failing health she awaited the Master's call, and when it came she was fully prepared and passed triumphantly to receive her reward.

MRS. RHODA A. REDDINGTON.

Mrs. Rhoda Ann Reddington, wife of the Rev. Lyman K. Reddington, of the Central New York Conference, was born in the town of Skaneateles, N. Y., March 27, 1818, and died in the city of Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 25, 1890, aged 71 years and 10 months. She was married at the homestead Oct. 1, 1834, and for fifty-five years shared her husband's labors, his sorrows and his joys, both as an active itinerant and as a superannuated minister. Sister Reddington was converted at six years of age, but owing to the sentiment then prevailing that children could not intelligently assume the responsibilities of church membership, she did not go forward in open profession of her faith. Alone in her chamber she would engage in Bible reading, prayer and song. When sixteen years of age she united with the Methodist Episcopal church in the Shepherd neighborhood, near Marcellus village. From that day she was a fervent and efficient laborer in the vineyard of the Lord.

In 1832 she was a student in Cazenovia Seminary, and there developed considerable literary taste and talent for both prose and poetic composition. She had an impressive manner of address, and in religious meetings would command the attention of the audience. At the conference love-feasts and at camp-meetings she was a great power in testimony, prayer and evangelistic work. For forty-five years she walked in the light and joy of the experience of entire sanctification. Many years ago I heard her testify that she dwelt in the land of Beulah, where the sun never went down. Her positive uniform and rich experience made her very helpful to others in seeking and finding this great blessing. I remember experiencing, when I was on my first charge at Floyd, Oneida Co., N. Y., days of blessing to myself and people from a visit of Brother and Sister Reddington.

This was my first acquaintance with them, and the impression made at that time has been a lasting blessing.

Sister Reddington outlived the majority of a precious circle of friends, but has now gone on to join them. Her death was as a translation. She fell asleep in Jesus calmly, peacefully she passed away and was at rest. Her dear husband lingers awhile amid the scenes where these happy lives have been spent. Immortal hope buoys him up. A sweet submission to God's will quiets all murmurs and repining. Grace is sufficient.

MRS. S. S. BARTER.

One by one the servants of the Master pass from sight, but not from the vision of our faith. They still live and love. They belong to us, and we belong to them. While we are thinking of them, they remember us. They are not very distant. The thinnest partition separates this world of sense from the world of spirit. We live on the border of the invisible. The unseen is consciously near. The devout soul is within touch of Heaven.

"There is no death to those who know of life :
No time to those who see Eternity."

Mrs. Kate D. Barter, beloved wife of Rev. S. S. Barter of the Central New York Conference, was called to her heavenly home from the Methodist Episcopal Parsonage at Benton Center, on the 21st day of September, 1890, in the 51st year of her age.

"She thought her good-night kiss was given,
And like a lily her life did close;
Angels uncurtained that repose,
And the next waking dawned in heaven."

Sister Barter was the youngest daughter of W. N. Phelia Fitzgerald, early and prominent Methodists of the city of Newark, N. J. For many years, her father sustained the relation of Steward and Class Leader. Through the teaching and influence of this Christian home, this daughter bowed at the Cross and was converted to Christ in early womanhood. Soon after she was connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Canandaigua.

As a Christian she was consistent and consecrated. Her faith was intelligent and strong. Her love for Christ won for him all of her activities.

As a church member she paid her vows and was faithful in service. She loved the church and her ordinances. She was a living and fruitful branch of the true vine.

A little more than three years ago, Miss Fitzgerald was united in marriage with Rev. S. S. Barter, and with him entered upon the trying and responsible work of serving the church as the wife of one of its ministers. Most acceptably and usefully did she fill this position.

She was indeed a helpmeet to her husband in the Lord's great work. She was the bearer of his burdens as well as the sharer of his joys. In disinterested love she poured herself out in humble service for the kingdom of God.

One year ago Brother Barter was appointed pastor of the Benton Center Church. With ready hand and loving heart, this devoted Christian woman, entered upon her work with good cheer, courage and faith. Was it because it was her last year that she wrought so well? Did her soul gather inspiration from the nearness of the end? Were there unseen and unknown influences from the closeness of the eternal, that brought her to her best during these last few months of her life? May not the soul catch whispers from within the "veil," that fill it with fortitude and develop its strength?

Sister Barter was not long in winning her way to the hearts of the people of Benton. With a frankness and openheartedness that made her incapable of deceit; with a robust Christian character that yielded not to discouragement, and with a heart of warm sympathy, her presence soon became a power for good.

After a brief illness she fell asleep in Jesus, ripe for her reward. At the last, as her husband and friends stood around her bed, she said: "My friends are around me, but underneath me are the everlasting arms." The funeral service was held from the Benton Center church in charge of Presiding Elder Ives, assisted by several ministers from adjoining charges.

The address of Dr. Ives was full of pathos and power, a Gospel message of consolation to a stricken pastor and people. We felt that death was not so dark, with the bright setting of immortality. With glorious Resurrection planted by the graves of our dear dead they lose their gloom.

Since Christ hath conquered here, we have power to cry, "O death, O grave, where is your victory?"

Pastoral Address.

Dear Brethren, Members of the Churches of the Central New York Conference:

We your pastors, send to you our fond and loving greeting. We sympathize with you in your sorrows, rejoice with you in your joys, and congratulate you in the accomplishment of your Christian deeds.

In the performance of our loving duty, on this occasion, we desire to call your attention to a subject which, it seems to us, is of vital interest to each and all. We ask you earnestly to consider prayerfully, what we have to say to you concerning the nature of Christian service, and also to consider a few of its many phases.

Service is the act of serving. It is the performance of labor for the benefit of another. It is the attendance of an inferior upon a superior, in keeping with the wishes of that superior. This is the ordinary sense of the term service. The higher and spiritual sense is, to engage in humble and devout worship, and to render obedience to the divine commands. But let it be remembered that the required capabilities are, not according to nature but according to grace. No man can render acceptable service to God unless he truly loves the Lord Jesus Christ, for Jesus says: "If any man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him and we will come unto him and make our abode with him;" and on the other hand St. Paul says: "If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ let him be Anathema Maranatha." When there is an evident disinclination to engage in the service of God and an evident lack of delight in this service there is also correspondingly an evident lack of divine grace in the soul. The stream flows no higher than its fountain head; and the fruits of the spirit, whatever that spirit may be, are manifested in the daily life, and indicate the real condition of the heart. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

The capabilities of this service then are not according to nature but according to grace. "Where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. Know ye not that to whom ye present yourselves as servants unto obedience, His servants ye are whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death or of obedience unto righteousness? But thanks be to God that whereas ye were servants of sin ye became obedient from the heart to that form of teaching whereunto ye were delivered, and being made free from sin, ye became servants of righteousness"—servants of God.

The sum of Christian service is embraced in the terms worship and obedience, and the relation existing between worship and obedience finds ample and conclusive illustration in Jesus' statement about the vine and the branches. "I am" says He "the vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing." So, "as the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye except ye abide in Me." We learn by this, that he, who would be an "epistle known and read of all men" must be so vitally attached to Christ the true vine as that he may experience the life current of the Son of God throbbing in his heart and permeating his being; and until such is his blessed condition, he cannot reflect the true light upon a dark and sin-stained world.

But on the other hand, he who would be triumphant over every spiritual foe, for time and for eternity, must be so vitally attached to Christ that "Neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor hight, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate" him "from the love of God." It was this undecaying power of the living vine which enabled the dying Rowland Hill to sing of Jesus:

"He'll not live in glory and leave me behind.
We too so are joined,"

Now let us consider some of the phases of Christian service, and we conceive them to be expressed in the terms voluntary, solemn, reasonable, and profitable.

1. This service is voluntary. In it there are no conscripts, no mercenary hirelings. All who under the leadership of the Captain of our Salvation, engage in war for victory over the world, the flesh and the devil, are volunteers. God invites to this service, but does not compell. God welcomes to this service, but does not drive. God warns, threatens, commands, but does not overpower the will, nor interfere with its volitions. The power and privilege of choosing come as an actual inheritance to every sane member of the human family; since the head and representative of our race, in the garden, was endowed with the same awfully solemn responsibility of choice.

The method by which God deals with man in inviting him to Christian service is this: "How long halt ye between two opinions?

If the Lord be God follow him, but if Baal then follow him." "Seek ye the Lord." "Call upon his name." No compulsion, but freedom of choice. The Christian service is absolutely a voluntary service.

2. It is also a solemn service. It has for its object the glory of God and the welfare of man, and in a certain sense every one engaged in this service becomes a savor of life or a savor of death to those around him. Great and momentous issues hang on his words and actions. How important then to have the wisdom of serpents and the harmlessness of doves. I can think of no more terrible announcement, unless it be the sentence of eternal doom itself, than to learn, when standing in the presence of the judgment throne, that some silly, idle, foolish word robbed God of his glory, or that some unkind, uncharitable, unchristian act sent a soul lost and undone to the regions of despair. In view of the fact that the eye of Him, with whom we have to do, is ever upon us, and in view of the fact that an account of every idle word even, shall be given in the day of judgment, we must necessarily conclude that the Christian service is a solemn service.

3. It is also a reasonable service. God is the great Creator. He made all things that were ever made. He made the earth, the air the sea, and filled them with their teeming populations. He outspread the heavens and spangled the same with stars; He marked out the paths of the sun and planets; He determined the seemingly erratic courses of comets and meteors, and made the space between the heavens and the earth the theatre of storms. He made all things, "and without Him, was not anything made that was made."

Again: God is man's Governor. All the universe is under law, and whether we speak of moral or natural law, God is the Author, and either directly or indirectly, the Executor of the same. No space within the bounds of the universe but feels the force of his authority; no object within this space but finds itself within the realm of divine direction. From central sun to most distant star—from center to circumference—all creation is rightfully and from the very nature of things, under the government of God.

Again: God is man's Benefactor and Preserver. God hears the ravens when they cry, observes the sparrow's fall, and man in the divine estimate is of "more value than many sparrows." The hairs of his head "are all numbered." In the hand of God our breath is; and truly in Him we live, and move, and have our being. He makes the years to come and go with their recurring seasons. He holds firm and secure the pillars of earth, He gives time and space in which on life's great theatre each may act his part. Unnumbered blessings crowd our paths, unnumbered mercies crown our days, every good and perfect gift cometh from above, and every hour brings evidence of God's bountiful protection and manifold benefactions.

Again : God is man's Redeemer. This implies the advent of sin, and with sin "death and all our woe." Sin is the awful shadow which lies on the pathway of humanity and puts us out of harmony with God. But "God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." He gave His Son to be an all-sufficient Saviour, and so the Apostle says "Ye are not your own, ye are bought with a price," and the purchase price is no less costly than the precious atoning blood of Jesus.

To render service to God is reasonable, for he is man's Creator, Ruler, Benefactor and Redeemer ; and the height of the argument is reached by St. Paul, whose words are a fitting conclusion to the argument also—"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God which is your reasonable service.

This is in marvelous harmony with the statement of the Wise Man of the Old Testament Scriptures : "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter. Fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of Man." Thus the Christian service is a reasonable service.

4. It is also a profitable service. Human nature is interested, more or less in the financial results of an enterprise. The machinery of business is heard without cessation in every mart of trade, because there is money in it, or because money is expected to be found in it. It is a deep laid principle in human nature that for every expenditure of effort in any direction whatever, there must be the realization of an equivalent of corresponding value. No one proposes to continue long in any particular line of action unless there be the promise of satisfactory results ; and this promise must be something more substantial than expectations never realized ; it must culminate in what we call commercial value ; then and then only is human nature satisfied.

If there be no compensation, it will be said, "it is a vain thing, and of what profit is it." So said the Jews in the days of Malachi in regard to the service of God. But were they right in making such a statement ? Let us see.

In the service of God it is impossible for man to render the least equivalent. God, so to speak, sets him up in business, gives him a good stock in trade, replenishes the stock, gives him a comfortable bank account, sends him wave after wave of prosperity, and then allows him the free and full enjoyment of the entire avails. All that is demanded in return is compliance to the Fatherly request, "my son, give me thy heart." The trouble with the ancient Jews was this: they failed to conform to this requirement—they failed to place their highest and purest affections upon God, and so his service was truly to them a vain thing and profitless, and therefore Malachi expostulated with them, saying: "bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, and prove me now herewith saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

A heartless service is truly vain and profitless; but when the divine conditions are fully met by a soul whose love is warm, pure, changeless, a living fire, then this service becomes wonderfully profitable.

In this service, when burdened with cares, we may cast our cares upon Him and He will sustain us, when our hearts are crushed with deepest woes. He is our strong tower, and place of refuge in time of trouble; when we come to test the avails our Master's service brings in all the vicissitudes of life, then "the Lord God is a Sun and Shield; the Lord will give grace and glory, no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly." When we come to bid farewell to time and earth, to walk within the misty shadows of the border land and feel the chilly spray of Jordan's stream, then he will go down with us into the valley and the shadow, and we shall fear no evil, for he will never leave us nor forsake us; when we enter within the gates into the city where with the blood-washed multitude we shall sing the anthem of redeeming love, then "God shall wipe all tears from all eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away."

Truly the Christian service is not only voluntary, solemn, reasonable and profitable, but it is also blessed and glorious. It is not a vain thing to serve God, therefore let this be the motto of each and every one:

To serve the present age
My calling to fulfill,
Oh may it all my powers engage,
To do my Master's will.

The State of the Church.

NUMBER ONE.

The good shepherd who careth for the flock of God is solicitous first for the spiritual welfare of the sheep. All other interests of the church are best conserved by promoting its spiritual life. The offerings are always free and full when the heart is in sympathy with Jesus. This being the point to be especially guarded in our work we would call attention first to all the provisions of our Discipline for promoting the religious experience of our people.

Among these we note especially the class meeting which we are pained to admit has in a large measure fallen into neglect. The multiplication of societies, social, religious and benevolent, the increasing prominence of the Sunday School work, and the pressure of business cares and social demands have drawn upon the time and religious activities of our people to the neglect of this primitive means of grace. We are still held by the conviction that no device can be advantageously substituted for the class meeting as a means of promoting religious experience. If we maintain a personal oversight of each member of the flock, guarding their daily walk, checking any tendency to lukewarmness and apostacy, correcting their faults, admonishing, rebuking and exhorting them, it must be done through the class meeting system. To neglect this means of grace is to lose this personal oversight, and in that event we are not different from other churches. The crying need of the hour is godly, zealous and faithful class-leaders who will by personal consecration of time and energies visit their members and carry out the provisions of the Discipline. The trouble is that we have forgotten the first reason given by our Discipline for the division of our societies into classes. It is not class-meetings, but the "sub-pastoral oversight rendered necessary by our itinerant system," and that necessity is rendered doubly imperative in our day by the multiplied allurements to sinful and worldly pursuits and amusements, and by the pressure of otherwise legitimate and worthy engagements.

Such is the tendency of the times to new organizations that to maintain this oldest and best institution of the church will cost an earnest effort, but if the class meeting languish there is no reason why the sub-pastoral oversight contemplated in the Discipline may not be maintained, and thus may we "Watch over one another in love."

We count it a fact of painful significance that depression of business and stringency of the times more prominently manifest themselves first in diminished contributions to the benevolent offerings of the church, rather than in decrease of extravagance in living and self-denial in the matter of luxuries and self-gratification. The scale of the apportionments becomes a too sensitive indicator of the fluctuations of trade. We cannot feel that the causes are too numerous, and the apportionments too high when we know that so much of the money of Methodists goes for "needless self-indulgence." Self-denial that we may have money to consecrate to these great causes seems not to have occurred to many of our people as a duty or privilege.

We note also in connection with this fact a lamentable indifference on the part of very many of our people to the subject of systematic beneficence. The amount of our benevolent contributions is determined by other and often unchristian motives, rather than by the size of our incomes, and too frequently it is left to a selfish impulse. "For Jesus' sake" is the high and holy motive of Christian beneficence. Christian stewardship, a wise use of worldly goods, and our responsibility to God touching them should receive more prayerful attention. Our people must ever keep in mind that we are stewards and not proprietors, and that God will call us to account for the manner in which we use what is committed to our care.

In keeping with this same spirit of worldliness is the tendency so manifest on the part of some in the church to indulge in such worldly amusements as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus, when professedly Christian people spend money freely to gratify a craving for amusements that are of a misleading tendency and of questionable propriety not to say morality, and have little or nothing to give for the benevolent enterprises of the church, it is evident their hearts are not right with God. We exhort our people to live so near to Jesus that they will be able to see the harm of these things, and that will put them into such sympathy with Him that self-denial for the sake of His cause among the poor and benighted of earth shall be regarded as the sweetest of privileges.

It is with the hope that it will conduce to a revival of spiritual life among our young people that we welcome with delight the rise and phenomenal growth of the Epworth League. We give it our entire endorsement and approval, and exhort our young people to enter heartily into its work.

For the same reason we hope for large things from the Deaconess movement, and we commend it to the prayers and practical sympathy of the church, with the expressed hope that all of these enterprises will not operate to localize and call in to any degree from all lands our Christian sympathy and helpfulness.

We affectionately exhort our people to seek earnestly for a greater baptism of the Holy Ghost than they have ever before received. Let our beloved church arise and put on her God-ordained strength. Let the coming year be characterized by deep and powerful revivals of spiritual religion. This will correct all worldly tendencies, and stimulate and direct her offerings.

In reference to the observance of the Centennial anniversary of the death of John Wesley we recommend that attention be called to the subject, and that such observance of the day be made in the various churches as the respective official boards thereof may direct.

Respectfully Submitted,

WHEREAS, About the year 1883, the Conference included the Cazenovia Seminary in the benefits of its Educational Collection, all of which pledges were made prior to the action of the General Conference on the subject of education in 1884, and their fulfillment is necessary to the well being of the University and Seminary, and

WHEREAS, The Discipline expressly recognizes the propriety of designating gifts to special interests on Children's Day, and therefore properly opens the way to the redemption of these pledges by moneys raised on that day, therefore

Resolved, That we take a collection for Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary on the second Sunday in June, and wherever practicable a collection for the children's fund in the Sunday School

We recommend the appointment of C. C. Wilbor as Treasurer of the funds collected for Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary, and that all moneys raised for these institutions be paid over to him as soon as collected, the treasurer to send out a circular stating the needs of the case, and also a form of report. We further advise that the funds thus collected be equally distributed between Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary, and that the sum of three thousand dollars be asked for, the same to be apportioned by the Presiding Elders.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

We gratefully record another year of great prosperity in our University. Growth is evinced in manifold ways. Never was there so large an attendance of students. The present enrollment exceeds 700. In the present Freshman class are 125 Liberal Art students, 75 Fine Art students, and 25 Medical students. Changes in state legislation are already felt in greatly increased life and attendance upon the Medical College.

The working resources of the University have materially increased. Especially is this true in the department of science. The chemical laboratory has been completed, and a new and thoroughly competent Professor has been placed in charge of this department. The department of physics has received $6,000 worth of new apparatus. The pressure of work in the musical department of the Fine Art College has necessitated an increase of the teaching force. Prof. Goetschius, from Stuttgart, who comes to take charge of the department of theory is an accession to the faculty of the University of marked and peculiar value. Altogether three members have been added to the faculty.

The unique gift of the Rev. Hiram Gee of $10,000 to establish a fellowship in painting is worthy of special commendatory notice. The possibility of securing the benefits of this fellowship is already creating a marked inspiration among the students.

A good increase has been made in the general endowment. The entire property of the University now aggregates in round numbers $1,700,000. The needs, however, have grown more rapidly than the resources. Let our brethren everywhere remember this fact and seek for gifts which shall strengthen the bulwarks of this stronghold of our Methodism.

The Christian work and Christian character of the University were never so strong as now. During the last summer vacation beautiful rooms have been fitted up for the Young Men's Christian Association. That organization is doing a work of great value among the students.

We commend the untiring diligence and self-consuming zeal of our Chancellor. In his great efforts to upbuild Syracuse University there has been exhibited a zeal, a wisdom, and a patient and long-continued course of earnest labor rarely equalled. The entire management of the institution is such as to merit our unqualified confidence.

We recommend the election of J. G. Brooks in place of J. G. Brooks, and Rev. Hiram Gee in place of Hon. David Decker, deceased, as trustees of this institution.

We nominate as visitors, C. L. Connell, L. H. Palmer, Thomas Jones, H. M. Kellogg, J. Easter and L. H. Pearce.

CAZENOVIA SEMINARY.

Two-hundred and eighty-seven students have been under instruction in this excellent institution during the past year. Its income from all sources is $24,000. The incurring of debt is not allowed.

All the members of the faculty are retained in their positions. We are happy to say that the present prosperity of the Seminary is largely due to the untiring vigilance of the principal, Prof. I. N. Clements. Both trustees and students grant him their complete confidence and respect.

No less commendatory is the ability and fidelity of the teachers in the various departments. We are satisfied that no Seminary affords a better opportunity to place our sons and daughters under competent instruction and where their moral and religious life will be more conscientiously and powerfully guarded.

The report of the State Board of Regents shows that no Seminary in the State stands higher than does Cazenovia. Its grade of excellence is constantly rising.

The material resources of the Seminary are increasing. An excellent working laboratory has been put in at a cost of nearly $700. A friend of the Seminary has donated $100 for the increase of the library, which amount will be duplicated by the State. Rev. Hiram Gee has added to previous gifts the sum of $500.

At the same time the Seminary has great and pressing needs. The first of these is increased endowment. The Seminary should be kept strong and well equipped. Let special attention be called to the needs of Cazenovia Seminary in this respect.

More teachers are also urgently needed. The present corps is overworked, and needed lines of work cannot be developed without added forces. Then there must be more room for students. Some must be turned away unless the dormitory accommodations are increased.

A gymnasium is also required to make possible successful competition with other institutions possessing this inducement.

Above all, we need the attention of our own people to be called to this honored institution. Let this be done everywhere. We recommend the appointment of William Searls as Financial Agent of Cazenovia Seminary.

We recommend the re-election of the following as Trustees: I. N. Clements, I. N. Sherman, Wm. Watkins, W. A. Crandall, C. E. Mogg. Also the election of the following new names for one year, C. Will Chappell and Thomas Jones. For two years, Wm. Searls and Harlow B. Andrews. For three years, Douglass E. Petit and D. F. Wilber. We nominate as visitors, C. E. Jewell, Wm. Hunt, W. H. Giles, G. A. Guernsey, A. Copeland, Lester Paddock, L. M. Vernon and D. Keppel.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOLS.

Reports indicating conditions of marked prosperity have come to hand from the School of Theology of Boston University and the Drew Theological Seminary. The great and increasing advantages arising from excellent instructors, the best of lecturers, well filled libraries, and the contact with the intense life of great cities, commend them to the consideration of every young man preparing for the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Expenses have been reduced to the minimum, while there are many open doors for such service as young men can perform consistently with their school duties. We trust that our Conference will give these schools a liberal patronage.

We recommend as visitors to Drew Theological Seminary, T. Sharpe and A. W. Broadway; to Boston School of Theology, Wm. Searls and W. Mason.

WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY.

We recommend the election of E. M. Mills as Trustee of Wesleyan University, and name as visitors, T. R. Green and C. C. Wilbor.

We request the appointment of C. N. Sims as Chancellor, and W. P. Coddington as Professor in Syracuse University, and of I. N. Clements as Principal of Cazenovia Seminary.

We desire to express our deep sense of loss in the death of the Hon. David Decker, so long and honorably associated with the educational work of our Conference, and to record our grateful remembrance of his faithful personal services and generous gifts to our educational institution.

O. H. WARREN, Chairman.

E. B. GEARHART, Secretary.

Prohibition of the Liquor Traffic.

Your committee on the Prohibition of the Liquor Traffic would respectfully report as follows:

The letter and the spirit of our General Rule, and the further Disciplinary statement that we "regard voluntary total abstinence from all intoxicants as the true ground of personal temperance, and complete legal prohibition of the traffic in alcoholic drinks as the duty of civil government," clearly and forcibly present the fundamental principles on the temperance question held by us as a denomination.

We would express our gratification at the growth, increased efficiency, and vigorous efforts put forth by the various temperance societies of our country and state.

We are pleased to note the greater prominence attained by this question in our nation as evidenced by the facts of discussion and legislation connected with the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States as to the sale of liquors in original packages, and by the fact that in a large number of our states the majority of the voters have declared for some kind of a prohibitory law, to say nothing specifically of advancement made in various ways in parts of other states.

The fact that the Church of God in general, manifests an increasing interest in this great question, brings satisfaction to us.

Finally, we rejoice at the privilege given to us by the Legislature of our Empire State to vote upon a constitutional amendment forever prohibiting the traffic in alcoholic beverages.

In view of all the circumstances, we deem certain things very essential for the more rapid advancement of the temperance reformation.

Increased efforts should be made to instruct and pledge our children, and to make our influence felt along the lines of total abstinence and prohibition in our communities by our local churches in their organized capacity.

Being extremely careful to avoid all things possible that may create and foster divisions and friction among temperance people, we believe that a careful consideration of the matter will lead to the conclusion that it is the imperative duty of every Methodist Episcopal pastor and every member of our church to do all that he or she can, in connection with others, to further the interests of the present campaign for constitutional prohibition. Whatever may be our individual opinions concerning some matters connected with this movement, the time has come for us to close up our ranks along this non-partisan line of battle, and to march against the foe with a solid front. We are not responsible for victory, but we are responsible for fighting with all our power. We Methodists should be in the very fore front of this mighty battle with the saloons in this state, where the liquor power is such a tremendous and demoralizing agency.

In addition to this, special efforts should be put forth by us, as pastors and temperance committees, to show our people and our committees what the history and the position of our Methodism is in regard to the temperance question. Among other things, the people need to know that we hold that the liquor traffic "can never be legalized without sin." The rich and abundant temperance literature furnished by our Book Concern should be sown broadcast among our people.

Recognizing the fact that proper statutory laws and efficient officials are necessary to secure the results intended by the adoption of a constitutional amendment, and realizing that the restrictive features of existing excise laws are not enforced as they should be, we would call attention to a part of the resolutions of the last General Conference as follows: "We must supplant the five or six thousand legislators and the tens of thousands of municipal officers who have long stood as the body-guard of the saloon in its ravages upon the home." This question sets before Christian men an all important duty of the hour. Christian people must more and more make their power and influence felt in civil government and political life.

We would nominate the following persons as officers of our Conference Temperance Society: President, O. A. Houghton, Vice-President, C. C. Wilbor; Secretary, Arthur Copeland; Treasurer, Thomas Stacey. Executive Committee—E. B. Gearhart, T. R. Green, L. Eastwood, Thomas Sharpe, G. S. Transue.

We also suggest that these officers do as much as possible towards marshalling the Methodist forces in this campaign.

R. D. MUNGER, President,
J. H. ZARTMAN, Secretary.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

The subjoined telegram having been presented to the committee, the following supplementary report is submitted:

ELMIRA, N. Y., October 9, 1890.

Central New York Methodist Episcopal Conference:

New York State Woman's Christian Temperance Union sends greeting. Read Nehemiah, IId Chapter 17th and 20th verses.

ELLA A. BOOLE, Secretary.

In relation to the telegram from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the State, we would suggest the following reply:

Central New York Conference in response to the greeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New York:

We recognize the requirements of the hour, and stand side by side with you in the great conflict for God, and home, and native land, under instruction found in Nehemiah IV: 14.

R. D. MUNGER, President.
J. H. ZARTMAN, Secretary.

Missionary Cause.

OBLIGATION.

We have no doubt of the obligation resting upon every lover of our Lord Jesus Christ, to sustain the cause of Missions.

The Missionary cause is of God. The Missionary spirit is the spirit of Christ. His command to go into all the world and to preach the Gospel to every creature, is the voice of God to each one of His followers, and cannot be unheeded without displeasing Him. To support only the Gospel at home is not giving the whole Gospel to the whole world. As a rule those who do most for the Gospel at home do most for the cause of Missions. The call from all parts of the globe for the Gospel is the call of God, and the church must and will honor it.

OPPORTUNITIES.

As individual Christians and as organized Christian workers approaching the opening of another century, we find ourselves in the presence of an opportunity almost overwhelming in its magnitude. These opportunities are seen in the increased diversities of nationalities, race and religions coming to our shores, the conferences of the governments and peoples of this continent, which is likely to augment the influence of our country upon other American nations, the persistent demand of the Pope for a restoration of temporal power, thus alienating the Italian government and progressive minds there open to light; the wonderful interest concentrated upon Africa; the eager desire for the benefits of Christianity on the part of Japan and India, and the multiplication of open doors in China, Corea, and other countries, our increased facilities for the spread of the Gospel by printing presses and publishing houses, in the marvelous growing wealth of our country in which our church shares, the increased number of young men and young women preparing for work in our institutions of learning, and above all, the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon our Mission Stations and Missionary work, by which God has directly widened the door and multiplied the calls.

MONEY AND HOW TO RAISE IT.

The greatest need of the Missionary Society is not money but collectors. Give us these wise, persistent and earnest collectors and there will be no lack of money. While in the Conference we rejoice in an increase of missionary money, we regret that some charges report a decrease. This is not money saved but withheld in many if not all cases from the treasury of the Lord. Let us know and work the Disciplinary plan, let us hold our Missionary Prayer meeting; organize our Sunday Schools into Sunday School Junior Missionary Societies, appoint collectors, circulate missionary literature, attend District Missionary Conventions, and give to every man woman and child the privilege to bring an offering to the Missionary Treasury.

THE OUTLOOK.

The increasing unrest and dissatisfaction manifest in the heathen world concerning their ancient religion is cause for devout gratitude to God. The removal of ancient barriers to the spread of Christianity, the increased enthusiasm of the church give hopeful outlook for the success of the gospel, and that we are being ushered into the fulness of time for the universal conquest of the world by the Gospel of Christ.

Behold God has set before us an open door! Let us go forward with the watchword:—Christ for the whole world; the whole world for Christ.

Historical Society.

The officers and committee of the Historical Society would respectfully make the following report:

1. We regret we are obliged to omit this year our usual anniversary.
2. We express our thanks to all those who have acted upon our suggestions of last year and heretofore to send articles of interest for our archives, among whom is Rev. N. A. DePew who presents a book entitled, "History of Methodism by George Bourne," published in Baltimore, 1807—perhaps the only copy in existence. We have also a copy of the Methodist Magazine of 1813 and some other books from a lady in Chittenango.
3. Official thanks are due to M. P. Blakeslee for a carefully prepared historical account of the "Old Teetertown Meeting House," and its successors. This was the first Methodist Church edifice erected west of the Hudson. A log church built in 1797. In connection with this paper Brother Blakeslee presents to the Society a beautiful gavel which he has had made from the oak wood of the frame building built in 1802—the log structure having been consumed by fire in 1801. He also presents a number of pieces of the wood, which is to be utilized for the interest of the Society. Returning thanks to Brother Blakeslee, we will preserve the paper in our archives, and the Conference directs the Secretary to forward a copy for publication in the Northern Christian Advocate.

4. In conclusion we refer to the several suggestions printed in the Minutes of last year, and earnestly urge all to use diligence to gather the historical articles we need for our archives.

J. B. FOOTE, Ch'n.

Missions Within the Bounds of the Conference.

Your committee most respectfully submit the following report: That the amount appropriated by the Missionary Society for the current year, $700, be distributed as follows, viz: $500 for the Onondaga Indian Mission and $200 for the Oneida, and we request the Missionary Society to appropriate the same amount for the ensuing year.

W. H. ANNABLE,
For the Committee.

Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society.

The Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society is facing a stupendous work. What has it done? What is necessary for the completion of this work?

A glance at the report of the officers of the society will show a vigorous growth and a small increase of financial support. During the years 1889-90 the society received from all sources $266,684.48.

They have 40 institutions of learning, 315 teachers, and 8,336 students. Yet what are these among 20,000,000 of Southern population of whom fifty per cent. can neither read nor write, and the number of illiterates is on the increase.

The students of these institutions are going out to fill responsible positions as teachers, physicians and ministers of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

While these institutions are very efficient they are not sufficient. Five millions of the colored race, four millions of the white race in the South are unable to read their ballots or the Gospel of Christ. Fettered and in darkness! They are crying to the Methodist Episcopal Church for help. These can be saved to the nation, the home and the church by Christian education. This people must be saved from ignorance and vice to intelligence and God.

The Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society is sufficient for this work if we fully equip her. Our prayers must be gold-lined.

Last year the society received from Conference collections $103,653.00. This will do little more than maintain the schools already in the field.

Of this amount our Conference gave $1,604. This year we are asked to give $5,100.00. This sum may be fully reached if we as pastors faithfully present this cause to our people by giving them information as to the work and need of the society.

Your committee recommend that this amount be apportioned to the several charges as the Discipline directs.

The Christian Educator published by the society is full of information, and represents well the work and need of the society.

We call your attention to the earnest wish of Dr. Chadwick, that we do not omnibus this collection.

WHEREAS, We are confronted by this Divinely commissioned work; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Central New York Conference, do pledge ourselves to present the cause of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society to our people together with information as to its work and need, by devoting one service on Sabbath exclusively to it, and that we will do our utmost to raise our apportionment.

Bible Cause.

Your committee report in regard to the collections of the year for the work of the American Bible Society as follows:

Auburn District, $45.00; Cazenovia District, $54.00; Elmira District, $58.00; Geneva District, $261.00; Ithaca District, $70.00;

Syracuse District, $97.00. Total amount for the Conference, $585.00

We desire to call attention to some facts in regard to these collections :

1. Of the total amount one district gives about one-half.
2. The average amount per charge is $2.61.
3. Forty-nine charges have given but one dollar each.
4. Sixty-eight charges have given nothing.
5. The amount given this year is $163.00 less than last year.

We submit that the work of the American Bible Society is worthy of a more earnest and liberal support.

We recommend that our pastors pay over their collections for the American Bible Society to the treasurers of their respective county societies, taking their vouchers therefor. This will entitle us to draw Bibles for distribution among the districts.

Respectfully submitted.

H. B. SMITH, Chairman,
J. R. DRAKE, Secretary.

Report of Auditing Committee.

Your committee on auditing accounts report as follows :

We have examined the accounts of the Conference Trustees, also of the Onondaga and Oneida Indian Missions and find them to be correct.

We have examined the accounts of the Conference Treasurer, and find them neatly and correctly kept.

We have examined the accounts presented by the Conference Secretary in regard to the expenses incurred at the trial of W. M. Benger at Watkins, and find them to be correct.

Your committee find bills incurred by the prosecution in the case of W. M. Benger to the amount of $72.47 which are not provided for as follows :

|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Bills incurred by Conference Committee on Watkins Church . .                 | $12.00 |
| Bills of Wm. Reddy for traveling expenses to Meadville and return . . . . .  | 15.00   |
| Bills of Chas. Eddy for traveling expenses to Meadville and return . . . . . | 10.00   |

|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Bill of M. J. Wells for moneys paid to counsel for obtaining evidence . . . . . | 10.00 |

S. S. BARTER, Chairman,
C. E. FRY, Secretary.

Conference Relations.

Because of certain tendencies of the times we deem it important to give emphasis to the following principles :

1. The Annual Conference is the authority to decide the matter of a change in the Conference relations of its members.
2. Personal convenience should not be the ground of an application for such change.
3. Heart-loyalty to the administrative economy of the church will not permit the subordination of the constitutional appointing power to individual pre-arrangement, nor regard the appointing authority of the church as simply clerical.
4. The laws of the church do not authorize or permit a caste division among its preachers, nor permit the supernumerary relation to be used as a convenient outlet from an equity-status for a man whose first choice of an appointment is not attainable.

J. H. ROGERS, Ch.
L. EASTWOOD, Sec.

Books and Periodicals.

The committee on Books and Periodicals refer with a just pride to the Book Concern with its new building, its appointments and management. It is our own publishing house and we ought to feel a deep interest in the circulation of its books and periodicals, not only from their intrinsic worth, but also from the benevolent and Christian purposes of the originators of this institution.

Our highest success as a church demands that our members have intelligent ideas with reference to our doctrines and polity. Methodist books and periodicals ought to be in every Methodist family and every Methodist Sunday School.

The country at the present time is flooded with cheap books and papers, many of them excellent in character. How are we to compete with these cheap books and papers? We are pleased with the commanding position our publishing house has in the commercial world. But we cannot afford to neglect the souls of men, for the sake of securing equal profits, in our business in books and periodicals, with those whose only motive is financial gain.

And while recognizing our obligation to our superannuated preachers, we must insist that the first duty of church organizations is spiritual rather than temporal benefit. We commend, therefore, to the consideration of the Book Committee the propriety of reducing the price of our books and periodicals to such a standard as will encourage the widest circulation of our literature, in harmony with the benevolent and evangelistic purposes of the church.

We commend to the attention of our people, our excellent Sunday School, tract, and missionary publications, among which we would specify The Gospel in all Lands and World Wide Missions.

We also again commend to our people, the Northern Christian Advocate, not only on account of its literary merit and general adaptation to the wants of our people, but also because of its relation to our Conference as a part of its patronizing territory and its important service in behalf of our local church interests. We hail the advent of the Epworth Herald and rejoice in its adaptation to the wants of our young people. We speak for it an extensive circulation.

The Methodist Review by its thorough and scholarly treatment of the vital questions of the day deserves a place in every preacher's study and in the homes of our laymen. We are especially interested in the department of the Itinerant Club, and expect therefrom a still larger circulation.

We appreciate the arduous undertaking of our beloved Bishop Foster in putting into the literature of the church the results of a lifetime of diligent investigation and research, and we urge upon all, especially our younger ministers the importance of possessing and studying with care "Studies in Theology" which promises to be the most able and thorough of all works in the English language traversing the same field.

In conclusion, the committee feels that a great need of the church, in order to keep abreast with the times and to be emphasized is cheaper books and cheaper papers.

F. D. HODGSON, Chairman.

M. J. WELLS, Secretary.

Watkins Church.

Your committee to whom was assigned the duty of receiving the accounts of the committee on Watkins church would respectfully report as follows :

1. The committee, whose work we were to close having already examined Mr. Benger's books and reported them correct to the best of their belief, it was not deemed necessary to repeat the examination.

2. The committee found in the bank the sum of $245.47, of subscriptions made for the benefit of Watkins church, and $204 from Conference board bills. The latter sum was afterwards increased by $15.25 received as rebate from certain hotels. The further sum of $80 was drawn from the Conference treasurer under the resolution of Conference.

3. Such money as was in bank was immediately transferred to the account of the pastor, but was demanded by the trustees; the latter finally consented to allow the pastor, a member of this committee, to expend the money under their direction.

4. The committee personally and on the day after the Conference adjourned attended to the payment of many bills which had accrued during the Conference session, and then authorized the pastor to act for the committee in settling those remaining.

5. It was found that the church had a floating indebtedness of over $800, including the bills paid the day after Conference. The monies on hand were applied to the payment of such indebtedness as in the judgment of the committee might appropriately be cancelled therewith, and the pastor went at the task of raising enough more to pay up the remainder.

Although no part of the business of this committee, they take pleasure in recording the fact that in the face of great discouragement the entire amount was provided for, and with the exception of a few dollars is paid.

6. The committee found one debt for which no provision had been made, namely an expense of twelve dollars for the rent of the room in the Magee House for the use of the committee of trial. Recognizing the fact that to leave this bill unpaid would subject the Conference to unpleasant criticism, they paid the bill, and by this report request the Conference to reimburse them.

7. An itemized bill is in the hands of the committee for examination by any member of the Conference who may be curious for particulars.

M. P. BLAKESLEE,
E. M. MILLS,
GEO. FOSBINDER,
Committee.

Observance of the Sabbath.

Rejoicing in the fact that most of the leading railroad and steamboat companies have, the former largely and the latter almost entirely curtailed their traffic, and especially their excursions on the Holy Sabbath; deploring however that yet in many localities that holy day is desecrated by base ball playing and other sports, especially that most popular of all recreations, Sunday visiting and travelling; being convinced that the strict observance of the day of rest is both wholesome and essential in its physical as well as moral aspects, we have great reason to rejoice and express our heartfelt gratitude for the agitation in political circles to hallow the Sabbath day as touching the opening of public museums and libraries, and especially to close the world's fair to be held in Chicago in 1892.

We most heartily endorse the Sunday Rest Bill before the Senate of the United States, and also the platform of the American Sabbath Union, assured as we are that these movements are in the interest of religion, public morals, patriotism and humanity.

Believing that the observance of the Sabbath day will promote the Spiritual and moral welfare of the nation, since "righteousness exalteth any nation" and will be potent for good and abiding in its influence to raise the status of public morals. Therefore

Resolved, 1. That the preservation of the Sabbath is the best protection of our Christian homes, churches and all organizations looking toward the promotion of the national welfare.

Resolved, 2. That the Christian pulpit must fearlessly declare the truth of God concerning the claims, sanctity and obligations of the Sabbath.

Resolved, 3. That in view of the neglect to enforce the Sunday laws promulgated to conserve public morality and order, and to protect the liberty of Sabbath rest and worship, it has become an imperative necessity that the church of God urge the officers of the law to perform their duty.

Resolved, 4. That it is absolutely necessary that the Christian conscience be quickened to the responsibility of personal example in keeping the Lord's day, especially by abstaining from travel, from purchase and sale of Sunday newspapers and other publications, and from all social entertainments whatever.

Resolved, 5. That each pastor of the Central New York Conference be requested to preach at least once in the year on the observance of the Sabbath.

Resolved, 6. That the Commissioners of the World's Fair to be held in Chicago be requested to close the fair on the Sabbath day, assured as we are that this request is in the interest of public morals, patriotism and religion.

Deaconesses.

In gratitude to God and hearty recognition of the work done by the Presiding Elder of the Syracuse District, and other brethren in Syracuse, the Board is happy to report that the Deaconess movement has been inaugurated. A Deaconess' Home has been secured at 1519 Grape Street, Syracuse.

A constitution, for the home, providing for a Board of Control and the necessary officers and committees, has been adopted.

The officers have been elected and a superintendent of the home has been selected. Two Deaconesses are in course of training in New York City for the work. Two things are desired :

1. That the members of the Conference shall call attention to this movement, now confined to Syracuse, and as far as consistent to secure, in practicable ways, needed assistance. It ought to be considered that any one of our larger towns may desire for a longer or shorter period, a Deaconess from this home.

2. It is desirable that a training school for Deaconesses be instituted in Syracuse ; therefore we recommend the following resolutions :

Resolved, That we will call the attention of the people to the Deaconess' movement begun in Syracuse, and induce them to give aid to it so far as is practicable.

Resolved, That we recommend the organization of a training school in the city of Syracuse, for this Conference, and other Conferences concurring in this plan.

F. M. WARNER, Chairman Pro Tem.

B. J. TRACY, Secretary.

Committee on Tobacco.

Another year of observation has more than ever impressed us with the fact that our usefulness as a church is materially diminished by the presence of the tobacco evil among us. We note with satisfaction and gratitude the recent action of the Presbyterian church in refusing to ordain to their ministry, any man who is addicted to the use of tobacco.

Believing as we do that the church of to-day demands clean men in both pulpit and pew, and believing farther, that the usefulness of any individual, either lay or clerical, is greatly impaired by its use ; therefore,

Resolved, That we are unalterably and forever opposed to the cultivation, manufacture, sale and use of tobacco in all its forms.

Resolved, That we earnestly and affectionately urge all our people to desist from the use of this filthy and poisonous narcotic ; and,

Resolved, That we urge upon our people the importance of employing as Sunday School workers only such persons as are entirely free from this habit ; and,

Resolved, That we deem it important that by both precept and example, we show our uncompromising opposition to this evil ; and

Resolved, That we approve the proposition to incorporate in the teaching of hygiene in our public schools, lessons concerning the baneful effects resulting from the use of tobacco ; and lastly,

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the recent action of our State Legislature in making it a criminal offence to sell cigars and cigarettes to minors under sixteen years of age.

L. S. BOYD, Secretary.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with our brethren in their afflictions, and assure them of our continued confidence and love.

Resolved, That we request the Secretary of the Conference to convey to them this expression of our love and sympathy.

WHEREAS, By the authority of the church, a number of our brethren have been transferred to other fields of labor, therefore,

Resolved, That we highly appreciate and are grateful to the pastors, members and people of this church, and to all the citizens of Oneida for the generous hospitality they have extended to us.

Resolved, Also, that we extend our thanks to the churches of Oneida for the fraternity manifested in giving the use of their edifices to facilitate the business of this Conference. We also extend to the Protestant Episcopal Church our thanks for the courtesy shown us in granting to us the use of its Guild rooms.

Report of Trustees.

The trustees would respectfully report that all the interest due on our invested funds has been promptly paid during the year, with the exception of that on the S. W. Root mortgage. The interest on this mortgage had been regularly paid for a number of years until the last payment, which was obtained with some difficulty, after the session of the last Conference. This lapse of interest and of some payments of principal due led to a determination to foreclose. We hope in the final outcome to recover our full claim. This procedure will materially lessen the amount of interest to be divided this year.

The Neighbor mortgage has been paid and reinvested.

We have received a bequest during the year from Susan B. Losey, of Manlius, of $452.39, which has also been invested. Also a bequest of $100 in hand from Rev. J. Howd, a deceased member of this Conference.

All other funds remain invested as last year.

Having paid over to the Treasurer of the Conference in November last for Rev. T. Tousey the sum of $180, we can only report for present division, $370. The Conference is therefore authorized to draw upon the Treasurer for the sum of $370, as interest for this year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. REDDY, President.

A. ROE, Treasurer.

The XXth Question.—The twentieth question, "Was the character of each preacher examined?" was taken up.

Auburn District.—Auburn District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, L. C. Queal, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

AUBURN DISTRICT.

The observed results of the work done by Methodists on Auburn District the last year are not all we have desired.

The devoted and faithful work of pastors and people has been greatly encouraged by the blessing of God.

The sheep have not been scattered, and their number has been increased.

The lambs have had the tender and faithful care of pastors.

The various benevolent enterprises of our church have by most of the pastors been presented, explained, and liberal collections urged for the same.

Some charges vary considerably in amounts given, because of changes in the ability to give, and new pastors do not always do or leave undone, according to the pattern set them in the itinerancy.

This year of good crops has cheered quite a portion of this district which has been much depressed for the want of them for the two preceding years, and it is reasonably expected that the collections for missions and other causes will show some improvement.

Apportionments for benevolences were made by a committee of ministers and laymen appointed by the District Conference early in the year. Some confusion has come in by an apportionment for missions coming from the missionary office, changing some charges to more, and some to much less than the district committee made.

To the credit and praise of the people I can report that pastoral support has been maintained, though many have had increased financial burdens.

The church property is well cared for. Improvements have been made on the Sterling, Red Creek, Butler, Cato, Port Byron, Union Springs, Junius, Canoga, Cayuga, Summer Hill, Locke, Moravia, Seneca Falls, Trinity, and First Church, Auburn charges, costing from fifty to fifteen hundred dollars each. These express enterprise and devotion on the part of the pastors and the people.

Indebtedness is small and the burdened churches are being released by payment of the same.

The spiritual life of the church is rising, manifested by more love to God, and more for his church and people. In nearly all the charges sinners have been saved and Christians led to more completeness in Christ.

At our last District Conference, the pastors reported more than six hundred conversions during the year.

Two District Conferences have been held. They were largely attended, and by discussions and comparisons inspired and encouraged us all.

Two Young People's Conventions were held, in which the distinctive work of the Sunday-school, and wisely directed activity for the saving of the young people received careful attention. These conventions were large and enthusiastic. Most of the young people's societies are Epworth Leagues.

We need a revival of religious reading.

When the names are called for reports, and passage of character, two will cease to appear on our roll. Rev. Elizur House, for several years a superannuated member of this Conference, has been transferred to the largest Conference of Methodist preachers in the Kingdom of our Lord. He lived and died well.

The other is in painful contrast with good living and safe dying.

My sixth year of work on this district is near the end. I should like to make every pastoral charge, and every pastor happy and prosperous. Bishop Joyce, in this I seek your aid.

My regular work has called for holding of one hundred and forty-four Quarterly Conferences, two-thirds as many Sacramental Services, and Love Feasts, and about two hundred and forty sermons. They have not all been great in length, material, or results, but such as I have had, the people have received.

Three or four weeks of illness kept me from my work.

Our need is an able ministry, the preaching of the word in demonstration of the Spirit, and with power. Our estimate of scholastic training is not too high.

Scholarship does not save souls, neither does the lack of it prevent the divinely called from winning souls. The learned in many books and those with coveted opportunities, and those of less advantages, alike need a nineteenth century Pentecost which will give individual endowment after the pattern shown in Jerusalem.

During many months of the year the work that has commanded my thoughts and consumed my time has been rest to me, while my heart has cried in the strain of Tennyson,

"But O! for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still!"

More hopefully I have oft repeated—

"All along the valley by rock and cave and tree,
The voice of the dead has been the living voice to me."

Brighter still, I have claimed in the fatherhood of God, and in the tenderness and might of Jesus our Lord, hope.

With hearty thanks to the brethren of the District for cordial kindness and generous aid; and with humble acknowledgement of much less usefulness than I earnestly desire, I submit this report to the Bishop and brethren of this Conference.

L. C. QUEAL.

Pastors' Reports.—William Reddy moved that in making the reports, the pastor's report also what has been raised for Conference claimants. F. M. Warner moved as a substitute, that the reports be made in harmony with the disciplinary requirements, and the substitute prevailed. Bishop Joyce requested the pastors to report the conversions that had occurred on their charges.

The following effective elders were called, their characters passed, and they reported their collections, and the number of conversions : O. A. Houghton, C. E. Babcock, M. S. Wells, N. M. Wheeler, Levi Bird, H. W. Sanford, Arthur Copeland, B. A. Partridge, Edward Jarvis, A. C. Smith, O. N. Hinman, E. A. Peck, Walter Statham, H. C. Moyer, C. J. Beach, G. S. Transue, E. Hoxie, C. E. Jewell, D. B. Kellogg, R. D. Munger, D. M. Young, C. L. Connell ; the names of H. G. Mitchell, Horatio Yates, W. H. Rogers, William Searls were called and their characters passed. When the name of W. M. Ward was called, his Presiding Elder announced that he had surrendered his parchments and withdrawn from the ministry and membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and his name was entered under the twenty-sixth question as having withdrawn under charges.

CAZENOVIA DISTRICT.

Another campaign is closed. We gather from the various fields of Cazenovia District to report no disastrous defeats, but many encouraging victories and marked advancement all along the lines.

The preachers have maintained their well earned reputation for zeal and fidelity in their work. The preaching has been plain, practical, scriptural. The people love Methodism, and are all loyal to the doctrines and discipline of the church.

The history of the year is one of spiritual refreshing. The attendance upon the Quarterly Love Feast, and the sweet and positive testimonies have marked a decided growth in the spiritual life of the church.

A wonderful outpouring of the Spirit at DeWitt, doubled the membership of the church on that part of the charge. Manlius reports more than one hundred conversions.. At Homer Avenue, East Homer, Eaton, Blodgett's Mills, Cincinnatus, Cortland First Church, Homer, Kirkville, Erieville, Summit Station, and Clockville, revival influences were realized, resulting in a large ingathering of precious souls. Conversions in lesser numbers are reported from other charges.

Fine additions have been made to the church property, and commendable zeal manifested in clearing off old incumbrances. The church at Cuyler has been repaired at a cost of $2,300, and is now one of the finest country churches on the district. The expense was fully provided for.

At De Ruyter, a debt of $800, remaining on the church from the time of dedication, has been paid.

The church at Jamesville, which in the early winter was seriously damaged by fire, has been thoroughly repaired; the debt on the parsonage cancelled, leaving the property without incumbrance.

About four hundred dollars have been raised and expended upon the church at Eaton. The Fayetteville people have re-carpeted their church, and made needed improvements on the parsonage.

At Chittenango Falls the church has been re-roofed, painted, papered, and provided with new windows, new seats and new carpet, making it substantially a new church; the outlay is provided for and nearly paid.

A mortgage on the church property which for years had been a serious embarrassment to the society at Kirkville, was cremated on September 13th, in the presence of a large congregation amid songs and rejoicings.

At the close of our last Conference session, Bishop Ninde read, "Homer Avenue, C. E. Hamilton"—an appointment where no services had been held; no class formed; no Sunday-school organized; without membership and without congregation.

A fine lot in a pleasant and prosperous neighborhood, and a neat and commodious, but empty chapel, which had been provided by the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Cortland, made up the charge.

Being called and appointed the young pastor hastened to this novel field. Arriving at Cortland he found one hundred earnest, praying men and women, who, under the call of the Lord were banded together and ready to leave their cherished home and beloved brethren and sisters in the old First Church, and only awaited their leader to go up and possess the promised land.

A goodly land it has proved, a land flowing with milk and honey.

In the dead of winter, guided by Providence, they enlarged the chapel, doubling its seating capacity. In the early spring they purchased a beautiful parsonage property adjoining the church, and at the formal dedication in June, provided for the whole expense of the enterprise, and now report a Sabbath School of three hundred and twenty-five, and a church membership of one hundred and twenty-five.

The benevolences have not been forgotten. Most of the pastors will report collections all taken, and we trust the sums reported will prove that they were well taken.

Two District Conferences were held with an attendance which crowded the churches to their utmost capacity. The papers and addresses were spirited and instructive. The socials, furnishing opportunities for making and renewing acquaintances, added much to the usefulness, as well as to the enjoyment of these gatherings.

Chapters of the Epworth League have been organized on fifteen of the charges of the district, with seven hundred and ninety-four members and usually with encouraging results. For the most part the leagues have organized only the religious department of work; but in the larger places where the other departments have been tried they have proved very helpful.

The annual convention in May, at Cuyler, was a very enthusiastic gathering, over two hundred delegates being present. The Epworth Herald, which is proving itself a very helpful and interesting paper for Methodist young people, has some subscribers on nearly every charge, but the number should be increased ten-fold. Pastors and young people are showing an increased interest in the League work, and present indications point to the formation of several new chapters during the coming year.

Cazenovia Seminary has enjoyed a prosperous year. The aggregate attendance of students by terms being five hundred and fifty-five. The year was characterized by a good religious tone, with frequent conversions. The Seminary is never without the influence of earnest religious workers among the students. Books valued at $200 have been purchased for the library, and a plan is now devised for expending from two to five hundred dollars each year in further additions.

The Endowment fund has had a perceptible but slow growth. Rev. Hiram Gee has added five hundred dollars to his pledges previously made, and now proposes to be one of ten to endow fifty scholarships. The buildings are now in good condition, having undergone extensive repairs during the summer vacation.

The present year has opened propitiously, with a registration of one hundred and eighty-five students, foreshadowing a full two hundred for the term.

Genuine revival interest is being felt. Eight conversions have already been reported. Students are realizing great benefit from the widened experience and observation of Professors Knight and Jeroleman, recently returned from extended tours in Europe and the Holy Land.

How can we better serve the church than by encouraging the attendance of our young people at the Seminary?

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, their characters passed, and they reported their collections, and the number of conversions: Loren Eastwood, F. T. Keeney, McKendree Shaw, W. F. Butman, D. D. Campbell, C. E. Hamilton, O. A. Retan, W. H. Robertson, H. B. Smith, Philo Cowles, A. N. Damon, E. J. Brooker, James Crowe, J. H. Zartman, M. S. Leete, H. Clements was called and his character passed. W. O. Peet was announced as transferred to the Genesee Conference.

Elmira District.—Elmira District was called. The character of the Presiding Elder, E. J. Hermans, was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

ELMIRA DISTRICT.

Elmira District is an attractive and promising field of Christian work, broad enough to furnish ample scope for the diligent use of the best gifts and consecrated powers of thirty-two pastors; and also a place and demand for supervisory work, so arduous, that he who performs it faithfully and well, will scarcely detect a need for the enlargement of districts.

The distance between its extreme points at the north west and south east, is one hundred miles. Twelve of its charges are in New York and twenty in Pennsylvania. The natural relation of these latter to the former was felicitously expressed in the report of a Presiding Elder made years ago, when he designated Troy District as "that part of New York which lies in the state of Pennsylvania."

Twenty-eight charges have parsonages, with a fair amount of furniture, and are in such repair as to be comfortable, and most of them very pleasant homes for the families of the pastors.

The church edifices also, of which there are fifty-one, are generally in good condition. The exchange of the old parsonage property at Towanda, on a low back street, remote from the church, valued at $2,000.00, for a house and lot adjoining the church valued at $6,000.00, locates the future home of the pastor, on the most desirable street in the village, and so enlarges the church lot, as to make room for a much needed new edifice, which I am sure that strong and vigorous society will erect in no distant future.

One thousand dollars have been raised to meet the expense of this exchange, and $300.00 expended in roofing and painting the church.

The parsonage at New Albany has been furnished with a new stove, costing $30.00, and the Overton church is being enlarged, furnished with a bell, and thoroughly repaired, at a cost of over $500.00, and will be re-opened soon without debt.

New carpets and furniture have been purchased for the parsonage at Burlington, costing $110.00.

For a cistern and lamp at Ulster, $35.00 have been expended.

The church at Wetona on the Leona charge has been thoroughly repaired, beautified and re-furnished, at a cost of $1,200.00, and was re-consecrated without debt.

The church at Big Pond has secured a bell (good as new) for the nominal sum of $20.00.

The sum of $260.00 has been raised on the East Troy and West Burlington charge for the payment of debts.

A novelty in Methodism, in the form of a baptistery, has been placed in the church at Canton, at a cost of $40.00.

The East Canton Church has been thoroughly and beautifully repaired and provided with a new furnace, for which $890.00 have been raised. Repairs have been made in the parsonage at Mainsburg at an expense of $30.00.

The church at Daggett's Mills has been painted and otherwise improved at a cost of $100.00.

Beautiful new seats and paper in the church at Liberty Corners have made it very inviting, for which $400.00 were expended.

The church at Tyrone has been painted at a cost of $70.00.

At Reading Center $300.00 have been expended upon a new foundation, porch, pulpit furniture and paper for the church.

The dilapidated old parsonage at Caton, which was devoid of either beauty, convenience, or comfort, has been transformed under the wise direction of the pastor, into a neat, commodious, and comfortable home at a cost of only $400.00.

The Beaver Dams church is undergoing repairs, including stained glass windows, the expense of which is estimated at $200.00.

The parsonage at Chemung has been painted and the church is being newly papered and carpeted at an expenditure of $120.00.

A new lamp and carpeting in the church at North Chemung cost $15.00.

Improvements have been made upon the Hedding Church and parsonage at a cost of $170.00.

The heating apparatus of the First Church, Elmira, has been improved at an expense of $90.00, and the funded debt of the church abated by the payment of $500.00.

A new church is being built at Roseville, upon the foundation of the one that was burned last year, and nearly enough secured on subscription to complete it.

The sum of $25.00, has been paid for furniture in the parsonage at Big Flats, and $190.00 paid upon the debt on the church at Catlin.

The spiritual tone of the district, though not eminently satisfactory, is yet full of promise. The tide of religious fervor must rise higher, before the mind which was in Christ Jesus, will so pervade all the "body of which He is the head," as to invest it with the full-est power promised to a consecrated church. And yet the promise of the Father, has so come upon some waiting, working churches as to give them signal victories, in the name of the Lord.

Revival services, the aggregate results of which have been the conversion of scores of people, have been held in the following charges: Mansfield, Mainsburg, Blossburg, Rutland, Millerton, Daggett's Mills and Webbs, the three churches in Elmira, Tyrone, Big Flats, Chemung, Ulster, Towanda, Monroeton, Burlington, East Troy and West Burlington, Canton, Troy and Forksville.

The benevolent interests of our church have been faithfully presented to our people, and their generous support earnestly solicited. But I have some apprehensions, for reasons that I need not state, that, for the first time in six years, we may have failed to secure an increase in the amounts contributed.

I deeply regret that the salaries of some of the pastors which were meager enough at best, have not been fully paid. This has resulted in some cases from the decrease in financial ability, caused by the deaths or removals of some of the best members, and in others is attributable to the narrowness, inefficiency, and unfaithfulness of those who ought to give an account of their stewardship and be stewards no more.

Our Sunday Schools have received appropriate attention and are doing a good work.

Our Young People's Societies have not multiplied rapidly, but where they have been wisely officered and discreetly directed, they have proved an efficient arm of service.

The annual meeting of the District Epworth League held at Canton in December, was a delightful and helpful gathering, and contributed to the intelligence and enthusiasm which already characterized our young people in their work.

A Methodist Union has been organized in Elmira, designed to foster and strengthen the fraternal spirit existing among the members of the churches in the city; and also to secure and direct a hearty co-operation of these churches in the promotion of all the interests of Methodism in the city. The Union began its work by the immediate purchase of a lot in the south eastern part of the city upon which to erect a mission church. And some subscriptions have been secured for the accomplishment of this design. I hope the future will demonstrate the wisdom of this action.

Our district gatherings have been uniformly characterized by thoughtful discussions of the live questions that are closely related to our work; and they have intensified the fraternal spirit that ever exists among true brethren.

Death has invaded our ranks, and its shadows have saddened our hearts. Our dear Brothers, Tousey, Granden and McKinstry "are not for God hath taken them." Fitting expressions of esteem in which we held them, for their own, and their works sake, will be uttered when the memorial services occur. The death of the infant child of our Brother Kartzholtzen and wife, brought to them a grief, for which our Father only has an adequate balm. Later came a sorrow, than which there can scarcely be a greater, to the hearts of our brother and his children in the parsonage at Towanda, when a loving and much beloved wife and mother, succumbed to the power of disease, and folded her weary hands for the endless "rest that remaineth to the people of God. While they cherish tender memories of her sunny face and loving heart, her bright mind and kindly, buoyant, and hopeful spirit, they are sustained and cheered by the presence and blessing of Him who is "the resurrection and the life." To each of these stricken households our hearts go out in tender sympathy.

At the close of this my final year upon Elmira District, I desire reverently to record my gratitude to Almighty God, for His protecting care and His manifold blessings. And also for the pleasant memories I shall bear with me, of the six years of hard work, wrought out in the midst of brethren both ministerial and lay, whose uniformly kind greetings, generous hospitality and hearty co-operation, have helped to abate the rigor of my work, and have contributed largely to whatever value they possibly have detected in it. I shall sadly miss the fellowship of these brethren, both in their sanctuaries and their homes. Let me bespeak for my successor, whoever he may be, greetings as warm and co-operations as cordial.

EDWIN J. HERMANS.

“Fathers and Brethren, of the Central New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, convened at Cortland, N. Y., September 30th, 1891.

The following recommendation of its committee on Home Missions, was unanimously adopted by the Presbytery of Chemung, Tuesday, Sept. 18th, 1891.

To wit, ‘That a committee of three members of Presbytery, two ministers and one ruling elder, be appointed by the moderator, which shall confer with the Methodist Episcopal Conferences, and the Baptist Associations within our bounds, and shall solicit their co-operation, through mutual concessions and exchanges, to the end, that small churches in little settlements, may if practicable, be united.’

I now appear as chairman of this special committee of three, respectfully to request this Christian body, if it shall seem to it advisable, to appoint a committee, which by acquainting itself with the general situation, and by conference with our committee, both it and our committee, may thus be able to report to their respective bodies, whether the time be ripe for inaugurating a movement in the direction indicated in the recommendation.

ALLEN F. DE CAMP,

Committee on Overture.—On motion of C. C. Wilbor, a committee of one from each district was appointed to whom the overture from the Chemung Presbytery was referred. The following named were elected as such committee: R. D. Munger, W. H. York, L. H. Pearce, J. C. Nichols, J. H. Ross, and L. M. Vernon.

The XXth Question.—The twentieth question was resumed. Geneva District was called, the character of the Presiding Elder, B. I. Ives was passed, and he represented his district as follows:

GENEVA DISTRICT.

Before representing the District I desire to express devout thanks to my Heavenly Father for His great goodness in keeping me in perfect health during the entire year, so that no appointment has been missed or any disappointment caused on that ground; and not only during the entire year just passed, but also during the entire six years that I have been on the District.

With but a few exceptions the pastors and their families have all been well through the whole year.

A great amount of earnest, faithful, hard work has been done by the ministers of the District during the year, and God has given us some prosperity nearly all along the line. We have been blessed with some grand and glorious revivals of religion, some of which were characterized by deep and pungent conviction for sin, and then of course followed by clear and scriptural conversions to God, such as some of us used to see in the years gone by. Among the most marked of these blessed revivals was at Middlesex, where more than a hundred were thus saved. Also at Potter, which was much the same as to power and numbers blest. So at Dundee, though not as extensive, it was a wonderful revival in view of all the circumstances. The same is true at Vine Valley, where as the result of the revival a society of some fifty members has been organized, and a beautiful little church, costing some $3,000 has been built, and all the expenses well provided for. We had a grand good time at the dedication of the church last week on Thursday, Sept. 24th. Much credit is due our brother, M. J. Wells, for his faithfulness in gathering up the fruits of his revival and in so successfully engineering the building of the new church. He has, with God's blessing, accomplished wonders. We have also been blessed with revival power and converting grace at Phelps, at Clifton Springs, at Canandaigua, Lyons, Sodus, Sodus Point, at Seneca Castle, Flint Creek, and I think at some other points on the District that I have overlooked.

Notwithstanding the pressure of the times and the great scarcity of money, especially among the farmers, yet our church property has been cared for generally. At Palmyra some $700 has been expended in painting, re-carpeting and otherwise improving the church. At Lyons $600 has been raised to pay the debt on the parsonage that was built a few years ago. At East Palmyra the debt on the new parsonage and debts to the amount of $475 have been paid. At Dresden they have paid $350 on the parsonage debt and for church improvements. Also at Milo Center a new block of sheds has been put up, costing $300. The same also at Benton Center at a cost of $250. At Bellona $200 have been paid for church and parsonage improvement. One hundred dollars have been paid for new sheds at Kenney's Corners, on the Branchport charge. The Chapinville people have paid $200 on their church debt. So at Shortsville, $100 have been paid on their debt. The people of Gorham have raised some $400 for the improvement of their church. At Potter their parsonage has been improved to the amount of $100. At Italy $100 worth of new furniture has been put into the parsonage. So at Phelps, $150 have been paid for church improvements. At Clifton Springs the parsonage has been helped to the amount of $100. So also at Port Gibson and at Marion, and some other places.

The ministers, in nearly every case, I think, have done their full duty in trying to raise the amounts set to their charges for the benevolences. I know that some of them have toiled hard, and have raised but little. It has come to pass that but very little dependence can now be put upon simply a public effort to raise the apportionments made to the charges. In many cases the whole work has to be done by private solicitation, and that requires a great amount of time as well as talk. If, as I have many times suggested, all our people would take and read some one of our church papers, it would greatly help the pastors in this now very important department of their church work. Some of the charges, for reasons beyond the control or influence of the ministers, will not do as well this year as last. But a few of them, I expect, will do better, and therefore I have hope that the Geneva District will still stand at the head of the column, as she has for a few years past. But however that may be, the pastors have done their duty.

During the year we have held two Sunday School Institutes, two Ministerial Associations, and a District Epworth League Convention. These gatherings were all largely attended and were occasions of intense interest and real spiritual power.

The Epworth Leagues in the District are a real power for good. They are doing a grand work for the young people, and are also greatly assisting the church in many ways, in building up the Kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ. I praise God for this distinctively denominational organization for our own young people, and for the good work that the League is accomplishing for God and Methodism.

We have some of the best organized and arranged Sunday Schools that I have ever known. They are all organized into Missionary Societies, and some of them, I think, have been doing better work in that department during the past year than ever before.

I have to record that three members of this Conference belonging to Geneva District have died during the year. Brother Orrin Trowbridge, who came to us as a superannuated man from the Genesee Conference in the division of men caused by the change in the boundaries of the two Conferences. He died at Newark, on April 5th, where he had lived for some years past. I think he was about eighty-two years of age. Brother Albert S. Durling, who was appointed to Milo Center at the last Conference, went to his charge in good heart and with courage that he would come up in health, and though he was far from being a well man, he struggled on and did the best he could for a little more than half of the year, when the Lord took him to Himself. He died at the Sanitarium in Geneva on June 18th.

Brother A. J. Barltrop, who came to us from Canada but a few years ago, and was given a superannuated relation one year ago, returned to his home in Canada, thinking that a few months rest would bring him up all right again, and during the first part of the year appeared to be getting better but went down quite suddenly at the last and died on August 15th.

As memoirs have been prepared for each of these dear departed brethren, I have thought best to only mention the fact of their death in this report.

As I suppose this will be the last report that I shall make in regard to Geneva District, I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to the pastors and their families, and also to all the people, for the very kind and brotherly treatment that I have received from them all during the whole time that I have served the District.

How heartily I have been welcomed to the homes of ministers and their people, and what delightful, social and spiritual occasions we have enjoyed together!

In addition to the work of the District, I have been blessed with the great privilege of preaching on an average, six times a week during my whole term of six years.

Our week day afternoon and evening meetings have generally been very well attended, and in some cases, largely so, and have become occasions of real interest and great helpfulness to the churches. The Love Feasts have been spiritual and most wonderfully uplifting in their influence. The Sacramental occasions have generally been times of real heart searchings, and of the manifestations and power of the Holy Spirit among the people.

While it is true that Geneva District is rather a hard District to get over, and especially at certain seasons of the year, yet I shall think of the years that I have gone over the District as the best six years of my life, and this last year as the best of them all. I have enjoyed more of the Divine presence in my own soul, and realized greater help from God in the preaching of His word than ever before.

If it were not for certain obstacles in my way that I do not just know how to overcome, I might regard with favor the unanimous wish of the ministers and people to serve them another six years. But, as William Ward said during the war, "if he was drafted he should resign." I think in view of all the circumstances I will resign the

Pastors' Reports.—The following effective elders were called, their characters passed and they reported their collections and the number of conversions on their charges : N. A. DePew, J. E. Allen, W. E. Rippey, G. W. Reynolds, T. R. Green, D. D. Davis, J. V. Benham, G. B. Galligher, B. W. Hamilton, J. E. Nichols, O. D. Davis, S. S. Barter, J. H. Rogers, W. C. Mattison, C. H. Wright, E. B. Gearhart, L. F. Congdon, P. T. Hughston, John Easter, D. M. Van Tuyl, S. W. Andrews, M. J. Wells, S. F. Beardslee, A. W. Broadway, P. M. Joralemon, C. E. Hermans. On motion of B. I. Ives, the case of Mrs. A. S. Durling was referred to the Board of Stewards.

ITHACA DISTRICT.

The District has had a year of blessing. The Lord has been with his people. The preachers have been permitted to gather some rich fruitage from their faithful labors. No blighting divisions or differences have occurred. Above five hundred penitents have been at our altars. The benevolences have advanced and the membership has been kept up to its full number.

To accomplish the results thus briefly stated has required large and constant effort. The district is mostly rural and its population has been decreasing. The loss during the last few years is more than two thousand, and this, notwithstanding the fact that two or three of the larger places have increased in population considerably during the same period.

To make good the losses of membership, to keep up pastoral support, and to advance the benevolences has not been easy. That it has been done testifies to the fidelity of the preachers and the devotion of the people.

It cannot be doubted that some changes are needed by which fewer men can do the work and at the same time enjoy a better material support.

The twenty-five Epworth Leagues of the district are in line for Christian work. They have been inspired and aided by two enthusiastic conventions, one in November the other in June. The latter has not been equaled for interest and spiritual profit by any district gathering I have known in five years. There are three or four young people's organizations on the district which yet stand outside the church and independent of the Quarterly Conferences, but which are doing good work in their respective localities. It has not seemed wise to antagonize their anomalous position, but rather to wait for their own enlightened and godly judgment to direct them into line with the most hopeful movement of modern Methodism.

The multiplication of local Sunday-school associations in which our ministers and people participate, has seemed to meet the demand for such gatherings and therefore none have been held this year in the name of the District.

An excellent preacher's meeting was held at Mecklenburg. The exercises were mostly of a literary character. Mutual criticism and suggestion gave profit to the occasion.

The District Conference held two interesting sessions, both of which were well attended.

The homes of our stationed preachers have not been darkened by the shadow of the death angel. Nor has serious sickness entered any parsonage save at Van Etnenville where the aged mother of our brother J. N. Sackett was stricken down by paralysis and still lingers in great suffering. On the fourth of September, suddenly, our brother Rev. M. Coyle, a supernumerary member of our body residing within the district at North Hector, passed to his reward.

Our church property is generally in good repair and properly insured. Some improvements in the property may be noticed.

Both churches on the Burdett and Reynoldsville charge have been renovated within, in a very beautiful manner. The parsonage at Catharine has been sold with view to using the avails in improving the church edifice. As the first step towards a parsonage at Odessa on the same charge, Mrs. Merchant, an esteemed member of our church, has given a spacious and suitable lot of land. The debt which is owing the Board of Church Extension, by the Odessa church is all provided for, and will be paid off when due on January 1st, next. At Dryden the first payment of interest on the mortgage of $400 has been made.

The pastor at Enfield has been permitted to rejoice in seeing the work of his hands prosper in the payment of an old indebtedness at the home point, while at Kennedy's the interior of the church has been neatly renovated and a new carpet has been purchased. A payment of $30 has been made on the Breesport church.

That which had appeared impossible has been realized in Freeville. The church edifice has been removed from the outskirts of the village to a central location by the side of the parsonage, an addition has been made in front including a beautiful tower, in which already hangs a sixteen hundred pound bell, the gift of the young people of the village. The roof has been carried up to a steeper pitch, windows of cathedral glass have been placed, rooms for social meetings provided, new seats furnished, and the entire edifice has been put in first-class repair. It is expected that the dedication will occur in a few weeks after Conference. The entire cost of the removal and reconstruction will be about $2,200.

The Groton church has paid $225, covering past indebtedness, and the cost of some improvements on the church. At Havana, $75 have been raised for debt and improvements. The auditorium of the Horsehead's church is graced with what is practically a new pipe organ. An old one formed the ground work, but many new pipes were added together with new case and new work. The expense is all met. The First Church, Ithaca, was enabled a few weeks after the close of the last conference session, to pay the debt upon which consideration the Gee Memorial Chapel was promised. The chapel is now being erected and will fittingly preserve the name of a beloved wife. A system of ventilation is also being put into the church by which pure air can be introduced into both the Sunday-school room and auditorium in needed quantities at all times. Repairs have also been made upon the parsonage. The State Street Sunday-school room has been beautified and benefited by the building of a handsome fireplace. The Sunday-school room at Jacksonville has been renewed and outside improvements made amounting to about $50. It is with great pleasure I record the fact that two thousand dollars are on subscription for liquidating the mortgage indebtedness on the Lodi church and parsonage. The result has been reached through the untiring zeal of the pastor. The Millport people have paid $50 on their parsonage debt, and have added to their parsonage furniture. The North Lansing parsonage has had a needed addition. That at Ludlowville has been newly roofed. The parsonage at Shelldrake was sold for the sum of $1,400 to be included in the grounds of a rich gentleman who had builded by it. The edifice itself was reserved and has been removed to a lot by the side of the church where it is being fitted up. A good sum of money will be saved out of the sale, the interest of which will aid in church support. The Varna parsonage has been beautifully renovated within by paint and paper. The exterior has also been painted. Money is raised for painting the Etna church. The West Dryden church has, through the efforts of the Epworth League, a newly beautified auditorium.

Spiritually we have had some grand times. Special meetings were held during the year on nearly every charge with encouraging results, especially in quickening the Church. What might be termed powerful awakenings were those at Jacksonville and at Trumbull's Corners. At both these places sinners literally flocked to the altar. The work at the First Church was also general in the congregation, At Reynoldsville, Catharine, Kennedy's, Erin, Groton, Horseheads, Mecklenburg, Cayutaville, Pine Valley, Ovid, East Steamburg, Waterburg and Varna good revivals were experienced. Mercy drops fell also at other places. The results have been seen throughout the latter part of the year in larger attendance at the quarterly love feasts and reports of increased attendance upon class meetings.

In conclusion I may say that I have profound reason for gratitude in two respects, first to my Heavenly Father for the excellent health which has enabled me for five years to meet all my appointments, and second, to the people for the cordial reception they have given me throughout the district. My relation with the preachers and the official members of the district have been exceedingly pleasant. The work has brought weariness to the flesh sometimes but with faith in God it has gone forward.

M. P. BLAKESLEE.

SYRACUSE DISTRICT.

This report will be my sixth presented to you as Presiding Elder of Syracuse District. I can hardly realize it, so swiftly have the years followed each other, but the end is here, and my successor will soon assume the responsibilities which I lay down.

I have become much attached to the District, to my co-laborers in the ministry, and to the laity as well. The rugged hills of the south, over which I have traveled under summer skies and amid winter's blasts have not only become familiar but possess a charm which I did not once appreciate ; and even the monotonous plains of the north, with their oozy swamps and sandy flats, and often impassable roads, look brighter than in the fall of 1885 when I was feeling my way over the District.

Among the bright memories of my life will be the pleasant homes where I have been entertained, and the worshipping congregations to which I have ministered.

The difficulties are all forgotten, even so soon, in the brighter memories which I have. I have had a pleasant, and I trust a somewhat successful six years of labor on Syracuse District.

Some work has been organized during my administration which has developed well and will, I believe, be very helpful in the years to come. I refer to the organization of the Syracuse Methodist Episcopal Union, and also the Syracuse Deaconesses' Home. Already wonderful results are realized in the line of church extension and evangelistic work, Seven healthy missions have been founded, beside maintaining occasional services and summer Sunday Schools in such places as we could find and have access to. In these seven established missions we have had between seven and eight hundred Sunday School scholars in attendance, and nearly as many attending services on the Sabbath, where four years ago there were no services. In four of these, good, eligible corner lots have been secured, and commodious chapels built. Three of them are housed in rented property.

The property now owned by the Union is valued at $13,000, which is a low estimate. There is in the neighborhood of $4,500 incumbrance upon it. One of these missions, named for our revered and beloved brother, James Erwin, and supplied by him during the year, has by the consent of Bishop Ninde been raised to the dignity and responsibilities of a charge, and although small in numbers has much vigor and promise in it.

The Deaconesses' Home has three candidates for the office and work of Deaconesses, one of whom comes from the Northern New York Conference for training, and is supported by that Conference. These candidates are progressing well in their course of study, and are quietly but effectively moving about through the city in their work of visitation, and precious results have attended and followed their efforts. I cannot of course enter further into this part of District work.

The ordinary work of the District has been carefully attended to, and I trust has not lost ground but gained some. I have endeavored to look after and assist every charge in its local interests as well as to keep before pastors and people the connectional enterprises of the Methodist Episcopal Church. I fear I have not succeeded in bringing everything up to the best ideal of Methodistic order and efficiency, but still the work has gone on.

Improvements in church property have been made as follows :

At Borodino the church has been nicely decorated inside and painted on the outside.

Skaneateles has improved the appearance of the Sunday-school room and class rooms by painting and polishing. Quite extensive repairs have been contemplated but not begun as yet.

At Mottville they have improved their prospects, by taking off that fashionable device, more common than comfortable—a mortgage from their church property. They concluded to do without it and are pleased with the change. The pastor, Brother H. R. Shoemaker, is entitled to great credit for his courage in attempting the work in the face of the prospective diverting of the limpid waters of Skaneateles lake outlet to the throats of the thirsty Syracusians.

At Cardiff a troublesome debt upon the parsonage has been paid, and a good church property is free from debt.

The Marcellus people have completed quite extensive improvements on their church edifice making it one of the most attractive and convenient churches on the district. It is an improvement long needed and will be enjoyed the more by those who have endured the inconvenience so long.

At Camillus a new parsonage is nearly if not quite completed. It will make a beautiful home for the pastor who may drop down into that pleasant village.

The ladies of the University Avenue church have newly carpeted the large and beautiful auditorium and added some new furniture at considerable expense but to the improvement of the place. While speaking of their church, I may say that the Trustees concluded to sell the parsonage and apply the proceeds towards payment of the debt on their property. They have now reduced the debt to so small an amount that the sale of some vacant lots that they own will nearly cancel the whole.

Of the work of the Holy Spirit among us I can only speak of those outward tokens which may be recognized in revival seasons. I mean by this, the quickening and strengthening of the church life, as well as the conversion of sinners. Of these Borodino has had the most marked results considering the fewness of the working force of the church and the discouragements that have befallen them. Over twenty substantial additions to the membership and a thorough quickening of the spiritual life of the whole church is the result of this work.

Skaneateles has had a good work and sixty additions to the membership from probation.

Camillus has received some accessions from a series of union services held under the direction of Rev. Wm. Searls of this Conference.

Brewerton, which last year was made a second appointment of the Cicero charge has had such a revival as has not been known for many years in that vicinity. As to the exact number who have united with the church I cannot state, but a large and substantial addition has been made to the membership and a new impulse given to God's people in their spiritual life.

East Syracuse has had some valuable additions through the regular means of grace, and a short series of meetings held during the winter.

Manlius Station has had a large addition of young people to its working force through a precious revival which occurred early in the Conference year.

Phoenix also has been visited with showers of awakening and converting grace, and numbers and strength have been added to our vigorous church.

Liverpool has been enjoying the gentle rain of righteousness. The spirit of the church has been greatly improved and some conversions have occurred.

In the city of Syracuse, in most of the churches, revivals of greater or less extent have been enjoyed and additions to the membership have been made. It might seem like extending this report into too minute details to mention each of these churches by name with the specifications as to members added and particulars of the work. I will only say that Syracuse Methodism is stronger in numbers and influence and is on a higher plane of spiritual life than ever before.

The Tuesday meeting held weekly at the Methodist Union rooms for the promotion of scriptural holiness is a helpful and delightful means of grace to the churches and is doing great good among our people who can attend, and no doubt exerting quietly a most precious influence upon the city.

Our camp meeting in spiritual results is probably the best we have had during the six years of my administration on the district. From beginning to end it was Pentecostal in its spirit and influence. I devoutly pray that the District Camp Meeting may continue to be an institution of Syracuse District.

The benevolent enterprises of the church have been kept before the people by district meetings and conventions, as well as by personal presentation of these respective causes to the local congregations by the pastors. Three Missionary conventions have been held at different points on the district, at which, two of the Missionary Secretaries were in attendance and gave great interest and power by their forcible and eloquent presentation of the claims of the missionary cause.

A meeting in the interest of Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education was appointed by Dr. Gray, one of the secretaries of the society. By some misunderstanding as to the advertising of the meeting, and the failure of speakers selected by Dr. Gray, the occasion hardly met the expectation of the managers as to numbers in attendance. Still the meeting was a good one, and increased benevolence toward this object is seen on this district.

Our benevolent collections have not had a very good chance this year, especially in the farming portion of the district. The drought has almost impoverished some parts of our country, and with no crops to speak of, there could be little or no money to pay; but the pastors have been heroic in their efforts and the people generally liberal in their contributions, considering their condition.

I hope that the missionary apportionment will be fully met and all the benevolent collections increased.

The salaries of the preachers have come slow. There has been much real pecuniary stress upon some of our brethren, but they have been patient, and after all I think the deficiency in salaries will be small. Last year on salaries aggregating $25,369 the deficiency was but $346. I hope it will not be more this year.

Two ministers belonging to the district have died during the year. Rev. Wm. Jones who took a supernumerary relation one year ago, came to the city of Syracuse with his family soon after the close of the Conference session, hoping that relief from the care of a charge might give him yet a few years of usefulness, was soon prostrated, and after much suffering, died. He had great peace and rest in the blessed gospel which he preached so eloquently for many years. Selah Stocking, an aged superannuated member of this Conference, who, while not having strength for the duties of the pastorate for a number of years, still has been a helper to the pastors, especially to the pastors of the Furman Street Church of Syracuse, where he attended, yielded up his life sweetly and trustfully, early in the year.

The health of the ministers and their families, with few exceptions, has been good, so that the work has not seriously been interrupted. Rev. W. L. Bryers has been very ill for some weeks past, and it was feared that he would be permanently laid aside. A good Providence has raised him up again, and we hope for years of usefulness. Rev. C. W. Herman has also been prostrated for a few weeks from over work in prosecuting the new parsonage enterprise, but we hope it is only temporary. The wife of our brother, Rev. J. C. Hitchcock, was very dangerously sick about the time of the last Conference session and since that has been at times, in a very critical condition, but at present, though still delicate, is improving.

Of my personal labors I will only say that I have preached every Sabbath of the year, save two. I have preached during the week from three to seven times; the latter occurring but seldom perhaps, but I think five times a week, including Sundays, would be a moderate average for the year. I have presided at all the Quarterly Conferences except two or three during the year. I have been beyond the bounds of Syracuse but little, because I have had no time. A vacation of a few days would have been a relief, but it being the last year of my term, and a short one I could not take it. I have tried to keep in harmony with God's will, and follow the leading of His Spirit in my work, and in my administration of the rules of the church. I have a good conscience as to my purpose, but, I am not perfectly satisfied with the results. I trust the Master has accepted the first, and will over-rule the second for His glory. I know what I did not know once—and perhaps it is something, that, if the opportunity offered, it would be helpful for all to learn, that the Presiding Eldership in the Methodist Episcopal church means more than a name, or "going about" over a prescribed territory four times or less during the year, and with this knowledge, I shall be in deepest sympathy with my successor and with each and all of the dear brethren who may be appointed to this important office.

MEMORIAL.

The ecclesiastical code of the Methodist Episcopal Church has been improved, and may be further improved. Believing the following a desirable change in modes of administering Church discipline, we ask for the same candid consideration :

1. Change ¶ 72. question 28, so as to read : Who are the eighteen selected to be the triers of members of the Annual Conference? Change question 28 to 29, and question 29 to 30.

2. Change ¶ 222, §1, so as to read : It shall be the duty of the presiding elder of the accused member of an Annual Conference to give the accused a certified copy of the charges and specifications, and reasonable time to prepare for his defense ; and to fix time and place for the trial of the accused ; and to call together the triers of members of the Annual Conference, of whom not less than nine nor more than fifteen shall constitute the committee for trial ; and further, he shall notify the Bishop having charge of the Conference, who shall preside at the trial or appoint a traveling preacher to preside; and the records shall be kept by the secretary of the last Conference or one of his assistants.

3. Omit ¶223 and ¶229, and leave out of ¶230 "either an investigation or," and conform §2 and §3 under ¶222 to §1 under the same ¶.

Reasons for the proposed change :

1. All trials should be as soon after the offense or crime is known as justice to the party will permit.

2. Justice is more likely to be done separate from prejudiced or sympathetic currents of feeling sometimes prevailing during the session of an Annual Conference.

3. The trial of a preacher during the session of his Conference is likely to be hurried unwisely and sometimes unjustly.

4. The Conference business and anniversaries should be participated in and enjoyed by all the members.

5. The changes incident to the itinerancy may prevent some from the deliberate and judicial thinking necessary to a good committee-man.

6. Trials at Conference sometimes destroy charity, alienate brethren, and leave a prejudice which prevent the usefulness of good and faithful ministers of Christ.

7. Trials by a carefully selected court out of Conference sessions will better promote the peace and purity of the Church, and will safely guard the rights of an accused brother.

Surgery requires knowledge and skill, how much more the cutting off of one who is a member and minister in the Church of our Lord Jesus Christ !

L. C. QUEAL.

E. M. MILLS.

The IId Question.—The second question, "Who are admitted on trial?" was taken up. The recommendations of Lewis L. Wilcox, Eli Pitman and Eli A. Huntington from the Cazenovia District Conference, Lawrence P. Kartzholtzen from the Elmira District Conference, Charles C. Tucker, from Potter Quarterly Conference, DeWitt S. Hooker, Sevellon A. Brown, Bradford V. Bauder, and Alvan C. Willey, from the Syracuse District Conference, and William O. Shepherd from the Ithaca District Conference, were read by the Secretary. These brethren were introduced to the Conference, their examinations were reported, they were represented by their Presiding Elders, and admitted on trial.

Closing.—Announcements were made, and notices given. J. B. Foote was appointed by the Bishop to conduct the devotional service on Monday morning. Bishop Joyce made some eminently practical remarks concerning the morrow's services, anxiety about appointments, &c. The doxology was sung, the benediction was given by R. D. ---

The committee on Permanent Organization recommended the election of the officers of temporary organization to be those of permanent organization. They were elected.

The chair appointed the following Tellers :

Fayetteville—Fred. Simmons ; Cazenovia—H. O. Nottingham ; Elmira—E. F. Morgan ; Geneva—Albert Dodd ; Ithaca—Chauncey Jones ; Syracuse—W. W. Porter.

A committee from the Annual Conference was introduced, and stated that the Conference wished the Lay Electoral Conference to convene with them in the First Methodist Church at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The invitation was accepted, and the Lay Conference was introduced to the Bishop and the brethren by President Sager in a very neat speech, to which Bishop Joyce responded in a grand and stirring address, the like of which the laymen probably never listened to. The Lay Conference then retired to the First Presbyterian Church.

On motion the roll of Presiding Elder Districts was called in alphabetical order, and the candidates were placed in nomination at such time.

When Auburn, First Church, was called, Emmett Rhoades, the delegate from that charge, arose and in a very forcible speech placed in nomination Thomas Jones, of Auburn.

James H. Hoskins of Auburn was also nominated.

When Hedding Church, Elmira, was called, Francis E. Baldwin stated that Elmira and Ithaca Districts had combined upon one candidate. He presented the claims of the Southern part of the Conference, and in a clear and forcible manner placed in nomination the name of Geo. A. Guernsey, of Canton, Pa.

W. D. Hollowell of Penn Yan was nominated by some gentleman from the Geneva District.

Edwin Nottingham placed before the convention in an eloquent speech the name of A. B. Blodgett, Syracuse, N. Y.

On motion the Conference proceeded to ballot. The ballot was taken and the Tellers retired to count the votes. While the Tellers were counting the votes, a collection was taken to defray the expense of printing the proceedings of the Lay Electoral Conference in the Annual Conference Minutes. Amount of collection, $14.11.

The following resolution was offered :

Resolved, That each delegate of this Conference be entitled to vote for two delegates to General Conference on one ballot, and that the two persons receiving the highest number of votes, and a majority of all the votes cast, be the delegates to the General Conference. Each delegate to vote but one ballot.

Resolved, That it is the desire of this Conference that the number of Presiding Elders' districts be reduced from 6 to 4. A lively discussion followed, but the resolution was finally laid upon the table.

The Tellers announced the result of the first ballot :

Whole number of votes cast, 108 ; necessary to a choice, 55. G. A. Guernsey received 55 ; A. B. Blodgett received 50 ; J. H. Hoskins received 34 ; Thomas Jones received 29 ; W. D. Hollowell received 24 ; F. Z.

Wilcox received 5 ; F. G. Weeks received 3 ; C. B. Hitchcock received 2. George A. Guernsey was declared elected.

A second ballot was then taken and the Tellers retired to count same.

Moved and carried that a Committee of six, with the Chairman, one from each district, be appointed to prepare a program as a guide for subsequent Lay Conferences, which resulted in the following committee being named :

The Tellers reported the result of the second ballot :

A third ballot was then taken and the Tellers retired to count the votes.

Moved that we proceed to elect Alternate Delegates.

Moved and carried that the usual order of electing as Alternates those who received the highest number of votes on the first ballot.

The Secretary was instructed to cast the votes for W. D. Hallowell, Penn Yan, N. Y., as First Alternate Delegate, and Jas. H. Hoskins, Auburn, N. Y., as Second Alternate Delegate. They were declared elected.

The Tellers announced the result of the third ballot :

Whole number of votes cast, 100 ; necessary to a choice, 51. A. B. Blodgett received 51 ; W. D. Hallowell received 49. A. B. Blodgett was declared elected as Second Delegate.

Memoirs.

REV. WM. H. PEARNE, D. D.

In the city of London, England, within sound of "Bow Bella," January 23d, 1816, was born the subject of this sketch. When four years of age his parents brought him to America. On the passage across occurred an incident which he often related as illustrating the watchful care of our Heavenly Father over his creatures. "He was a favorite with the sailors, one in particular frequently amused himself with tossing the little fellow in the air and catching him as he came down. On one occasion while leaning against the rail engaged in this pastime, the ship lurched over so that the boy was falling into the sea. The sailor, reaching far over the side, caught between his thumb and finger the hem of the boy's skirt, and with a jerk swung him so that he fell just within the rail," and thus was preserved a life which was destined to be of great good to mankind.

He learned the carpenter's trade, his last work in that trade being the shingling of a house. As he often remarked, "I went from the house top to the pulpit."

He was converted at an early age and licensed to exhort when 18 years of age. In his own language the account of his entry into the ministry is, "After I had passed my nineteenth birthday the Presiding Elder appointed me to travel and preach on a circuit. Then I made a bargain with the Lord that I would preach if he would that year give me a horse and a hundred souls. As the year rolled away the stipulation was made good, and ever since I have been preaching the Gospel."

Being of studious habits he read and learned much during the years of his circuit riding. He mastered Latin while on horseback and acquired a knowledge of Greek by the light of the logs blazing on the spacious fireplaces of his parishioners. He obtained one year's course of study at the Cazenovia Seminary.

In 1836 he was admitted on trial into the Oneida Conference. He filled most acceptably many appointments, possessing in a remarkable degree the ability to unite and build up disrupted and lagging charges. His singleness of purpose in serving the Master was so manifest that failure was impossible, and his mind was so firmly set upon his work that the ordinary affairs of his life were often neglected, and his personal matters were not financial successes.

For a number of years he was agent for the American Bible Society in eastern New York. At the breaking out of the war he took a lively interest and active part in securing volunteers, and fitting out troops, and was very anxious to enter the service of his country in a military capacity, but was dissuaded upon the ground that his natural eloquence, and his earnest labors would accomplish more in other fields.

Early in 1865 he went to New Orleans, La., to reorganize and build up the churches there, which had become broken up and their members scattered and discouraged by the vicissitudes of war, and also to look after the spiritual welfare of the large army congregated there. And here again his interest in his work and his unselfish devotion to the cause in which he was enlisted shone forth in striking contrast with some who were there on the same mission, and who have since attained high places in worldly fame and riches. While they declined to preach until churches were furnished them in which to minister to souls of their fellow beings, he was busy gathering them together and preaching in the open air, in halls or buildings of any kind or description, and during his stay there he distributed eighteen thousand Bibles to soldiers and sailors, and laid the foundation of the new, or rather for the rebuilding of the old Methodist Episcopal Church.

From New Orleans he went to Memphis, Tenn., as Presiding Elder of the West Tennessee District and established many churches throughout that portion of the state. At that date it required courage as well as zeal to work for what was called the "Church North" as is evidenced by the fact that on some occasions when every building was closed against him, and he had gathered together a congregation in the woods, using a stump for a pulpit. Gangs of the rough bush-whacking element mounted on horses and armed with shot guns sought to break up the meeting, swearing that no Yankee should preach in that neighborhood. He held them at bay and concluded the usual way, a revolver in each hand and the Bible open on the stump before him. Frequent threats were made to shoot him on sight, but regardless of these he went about his Master's work, and is now receiving his reward. While in Tennessee he held several important positions, among which was that of Superintendent of Public Instruction and Superintending Commissioner of Police for the City of Memphis. During his administration of the latter office, the gambling houses and brothels which had run openly for years were closed, and the city enjoyed the most orderly period of its history; his most bitter opponents accorded to him the credit of the best police administration the city had ever known.

In 1837 he married Miss Phebe M. Wright, of Tompkins County, N. Y., who was called to the life above after five years of wedded life, leaving him with an infant daughter. September 1843 he was married to Miss Clarissa Jeanette Dillaye, of DeRuyter, N. Y. who was his companion and a true helpmate during forty-two years of active labor which marked his unassuming but eventful life, and bore him three children. In October, 1885, she passed to her reward and in January, 1887, he married Mrs. Mary J. Russel, who survives him.

His life's record is one of which his four children are justly proud. On several occasions when the writer has remonstrated with him upon his submission to the seeming partiality and oppression of those in ecclesiastical authority, his reply was always: "My son, I am working for the Lord and the good of mankind; not for worldly wealth or honor, and my reward is sure hereafter."

If ever a man served God and His church with entire self-abnegation, faithfully and fervently, that man was my father, W. H. Pearne. His record summarized is, over 5,000 persons converted and received into the church; 18,000 Bibles distributed to the army; $75,000 collected for the American Bible Society; over $150,000 raised for church purposes; twelve churches built; forty churches organized! What more glorious achievements can one life desire?

Though feeble and without hope of recovery, he was cheerful and patient unto the end. His last days and burial are most aptly described by his brother, Thomas H. Pearne in the following language: "A brother and a sister were present during the last few days. On Sunday afternoon he recognized his brother Benjamin. He was very happy. He repeatedly said he was going to his heavenly home and it was so glorious. Sunday night and Monday he lay in a stupor until 5 p. m. Then he roused up; his eyes were bright and clear. He said he knew his brother, that all was bright. In answer to a question whether he trusted in Jesus, he said in a whisper: "Yes, I trust in Jesus." These were his last distinct expressions."

"A wife, four children and eleven grand-children survive him. At the house his pastor, the Rev. Mr. Damon, officiated. At the cemetery at Syracuse Drs. Warren and Erwin and two others participated. On a bright, beautiful November day his remains were laid away in Oakwood cemetery beside those of a beloved wife, Mrs. Jeannette Dillaye Pearne, awaiting "the resurrection of the just." My brother was noble and true. God honored him. After life's weary toil he sleeps in Jesus."

That we may emulate his noble Christian character, and live so that we may meet him in glory hereafter, is the prayer of his son,

REV. THOMAS TOUSEY.

Thomas Tousey was born in Covington, Genesee county, N. Y. Aug. 24, 1823. His grandfather Curran, on his mother's side, was a Methodist from Ireland, and of the family of the Irish orator, Curran. His father, Alonzo Tousey was also a Methodist, whose native place was Newton, Conn. Thomas was twelve years of age when his father moved to Portage, N. Y., at which place he grew to manhood, and all through his changeful life in the itinerancy, "Old Portage" was home to him.

He was converted at the age of twenty years, and immediately felt called to the ministry. Indeed, he said before his conversion, that, if he gave his heart to God he should have to preach the gospel; and afterward he pursued his study with that in view. In 1848 he joined the East Genesee Conference, at its first session held in Rochester. The townships of Portage and Nunda included several villages and school districts where services were held, and together they were called the Nunda circuit. The Nunda church gave Brother Tousey his license to preach, and so high was their regard for the abilities of their "boy preacher," as they fondly called him, that they requested the Bishop to appoint him first to their circuit. This fact was always a gratification and inspiration to him.

After serving the Nunda circuit, he was pastor of churches in the following places: Painted Post, Addison, Dundee and Starkey, Trumansburg, Penn Yan, Palmyra, Asbury Church, Rochester, Geneva, Corning, Palmyra a second time, Penn Yan a second time, First M. E. Church, Elmira, Watkins, Aurora Street Church Ithaca, Seneca Falls and Clyde. He was also Presiding Elder of the Elmira and Cazenovia districts four years each. In these various places he did forty years of pastoral work. In each place he accomplished some marked religious work and endeared himself to many hearts.

In 1874, Mr. Tousey married Miss L. Elizabeth Andrus, daughter of Chester Andrus of Portage. Five children were born to them: Elbert A., who died in 1878, Thomas E., and Chester A., of Chicago, Mrs. F. W. Hayt of Park City, Utah, and Miss Fannie C., of Elmira.

Brother Tousey's fondness for Elmira led him to choose it as the home in which to spend the declining years of his life. While at Clyde he received the first warning of approaching death in a stroke of paralysis; though he by no means gave up his hope of recovery. He moved to his Elmira home, where, ever hopeful and cheerful, he remained for nearly three years, until God took him home to heaven. Never was there heard a complaint or expression of doubt from his lips. Though loving life and life's activities intensely, there was never any discontent or repining. During the months intervening between the time of his second attack in December and the time of his death he waited patiently and hopefully, longing for rest. Many beautiful and inspiring words were spoken by him while his mind was yet active and clear. His presence was a benediction, and his home, while life lasted, seemed filled with the brightness and sweetness of his character.

Brother Tousey early took an advanced stand on the question of temperance; from his boyhood he was an ardent abolitionist; indeed, on all the great questions that have agitated the times in which he has lived he has never hesitated to pronounce himself conscientiously and positively on what he believed to be the side of right and God. He was outspoken in his opposition where he believed he should oppose, but his frank and manly spirit disarmed prejudice, and preserved to him his friends.

During the war he went south as an agent of the Christian Commission, to help care for the wounded and dying. He was sent as a delegate to the General Conference in 1872. He helped to organize the Mutual Aid Society of the East Genesee Conference, and always took special pleasure in meeting the assessments which he knew were to benefit needy families of Methodist preachers. He was for several years a trustee of Cazenovia Seminary and labored faithfully to build up that institution. He was generous, and gave freely to every cause that lay near his heart. His disposition was cheerful, even to marked degree. He was humorous and at times jocular with his intimate friends. This made him a pleasant companion even in sickness. His humor was sparkling and his laugh hearty, even when going down the decline of life. While lying helpless on his bed, in daily expectation of the coming of death, this buoyancy of spirits prevailed. There was none of the fretfulness and peevishness sometimes consequent upon long continued feebleness.

His faith in the gospel and its saving power was unwavering to the last. He talked of death as pleasantly expectant, as though it were an invitation to a banquet ; as indeed it is to the faithful child of God ; for is it not an invitation to the marriage supper of the Lamb? the precious promises of the Word were often on his lips, and he took peculiar pleasure in testimony to the present saving power of Christ. "I want you to know," he would say, "that the gospel that I have preached to others so long, saves me?" At times when nearing the end, and when his mind wandered to scenes of other days, he would fancy that he was conducting a revival meeting, when he would break out in pleading words, urging sinners to come to Christ ; calling forcibly to mind the verses that we sing so often :

"Happy if with my latest breath,
I may but gasp his name;
Preach him to all, and cry in death,
Behold, behold the Lamb."

Our dear brother sank to his final rest like a child going to sleep on its mother's bosom. What more peaceful end could be desired? Surrounded by a loving family, whose ministrations were tender and unceasing ; with conscience void of offense ; with a useful life complete ; with age well advanced toward the three score years and ten ; with an honorable record in the Christian ministry ; with a certainty of eternal salvation that made his faith exuberant and inspiring ; with no work left undone ; his last messages spoken ; sustained by the presence and power of the Comforter,

"Sure the last end
Of the good man is peace. How calm the exit;
Night dews fall not more calmly on the ground,
Nor weary, worn out winds expire so soft."

But Thomas Tousey has left words not only to his family that they will hold in loving remembrance ; he has also left to his brethren of the Central New York Conference his word of cheer.

You shall have them as he dictated them. While the lips that uttered them are perished, he being dead, yet speaketh. It was on the 14th of December, having been for nine days helpless, that he dictated these words :

"A message to my brethren in the Conference, with whom I have labored forty years : In your kindness, my brethren, you will say enough about me, more than you ought, perhaps, but my message to you is of the Savior and what he has done for me. I wish to exalt him. I take pleasure in exalting the Savior. I believe in this salvation through Christ. I have never swerved from that faith. All the promises put together cannot equal his love. Christ feels honored to be counted our Savior. He wished the whole world, the universe, to know that God had honored him by making him the Savior of His people, as we may know by His prayer : 'Glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee. Glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. * * * Father, I will that they also whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am ; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me, for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world. And I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it, that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them.'

The Savior has dealt very gently with me since paralysis came; taking me down gradually, with no pain, and giving me peaceful rest. I have continued to enjoy your society, my brethren in the Conference, and since I have been feeble you have all treated me with great consideration and care. The only things that endure are our kindnesses to one another.

Some of those who began work in the ministry with me, have gone over to the better home and others are still left; but I hope to meet them at last.

'Strange that a harp of a thousand strings should keep in tune so long.' I do not feel sick now; I have laid my tired body down to rest; my intellect is clear and I am thankful to go with my eyes wide open.

The promises of God are more than realized. The Savior has fulfilled every promise to me excepting the last one, 'that He will come again and receive me unto Himself'; and as I lie here, in full view of the Holy city, I am waiting for the fulfillment of that last promise. There is no death for me; I am only waiting for the Savior, and when He comes, I shall take His arm and walk away to the home where we can all be with Him. My mansion in the sky is prepared for me. It is a beautiful one, the streets of the city are paved with gold; the fields are light, the climate is equable. There is no sorrow there, no weeping, for God shall wipe away all tears.

Some may think that I make these heavenly things too literal; but they all come to my mind with a rich reality. They are real to me."

"O mother dear, Jerusalem,
When shall I come to thee?
When shall my sorrows have an end?
Thy joys, when shall I see?
O happy harbor of God's saints;
O sweet and pleasant soil;
In thee no sorrows can be found;
No grief, no care, no toll.

In thee no sickness is at all,
No hurt, nor any sore;
There is no death nor ugly night;
But life forevermore.
Thy walls are made of precious stones,
Thy bulwarks diamond square;
Thy gates are made of Orient pearl;
O God, if I were there!"

"Will there be time," said this dying man of God, "to speak of the Resurrection and the Life?" , He has spoken.

REV. WILLIAM JONES.

The Rev. William Jones was born at Heuvelton, N. Y., November 1, 1826, and died at Syracuse, N. Y. January 7, 1891, aged 64 years and two months.

His early life he spent at the place of his birth except when at Gouverneur and Ogdensburg. At the age of fifteen years he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. From boyhood he gave tokens of his future calling by his fondness for what pertained to ministerial life, and his efforts to preach to his companions. Soon after his conversion his call to the Christian ministry became clear to himself and the Church, and he received his first license from the Rev. Ebenezer Pease in the year 1847. A church letter given from Ogdensburg and signed by the Rev. P. D. Gorrie as pastor shows that he held this relation in 1848. He was employed as a supply on Bangor circuit by the presiding elder, the Rev. Isaac L. Hunt, for part of the year 1849. At the next session of the Black River Conference he was admitted on trial and appointed to Massena and he served successively Parishville, Cape Vincent, Rose Valley, Cato, Pulaski, Camden, Mexico, Scriba, Baldwinsville, Lowville, Canton, Herkimer, Little Falls, Lyons, Marcellus, Jordan, Syracuse First Ward, Owasco, Chittenango, Tully and Ovid, at which place he closed his active work of forty-one years in the ministry of the blessed gospel, and the pastorate of twenty-three different charges. He worked—and worked faithfully and effectively to the end. He was admitted into full connection with the Black River Conference in 1851 and ordained deacon by Bishop E. S. Janes. In 1853 he received elder's orders from Bishop Matthew Simpson.

This is the bare outline of the itinerary of this gospel minister and of his official relation to the great work of the Church. But little can be written or said of those years of devout study of God's word, of prayer, of consecrated energy, of hope, anxiety, weariness of flesh and sorrow of heart, of the uplifting of the spirit, of triumph and of trophies won for the master. The Lord has been fully cognizant of it all and in the book of remembrance it is written. It is enough now that he is held in precious memory by multitudes who by him have been helped to overcome the world and find their way to Heaven. I may say that those forty-two years were crowded full with holy purpose and faithful labor. Brother Jones was a diligent student, a conscientious pastor and faithful administrator of the rules of the Church. His grasp of gospel themes was wonderful and his sermons were carefully elaborated for presentation to the people and delivered with power and in demonstration of the Holy Spirit. His mind was continually engaged either in literary work as a more perfect preparation for preaching, or in planning for something pertaining to a work of a minister of the Gospel.

He was the author of a very helpful work for ministers entitled "New Testament Illustrations" and of several tracts published by the Methodist Tract Society, one of which, "Hints to Young Ministers", is now in press (accepted a few weeks ago). His contributions to our church periodicals and to the secular papers were able, practical and helpful.

Brother Jones was faithful in all things. He could not be superficial nor indifferent in the work of the church. Anything pertaining to the Master's work was important and must be done thoroughly. He said to me a few days before his death: "I have been misunderstood sometimes by my brethren because I could not consent to let matters pass as of trifling importance. I felt that I must be thorough and just right." "But," he continued, "my heart has been warm and loving toward all." And those who knew him best felt that his heart was true and warm.

Personally I have been drawn toward Brother Jones in my feelings for several years. He was the pastor of my father and mother in their later life and officiated at my father's funeral. His words on that occasion I have never forgotten. His brotherly sympathies were revealed in that sad hour and his appreciation of the labors of my father was so kindly and considerably expressed that he was thereafter to me a little nearer than before, and a closer bond of sympathy existed between us. You may know what this means. The candid man who voices what your heart feels concerning your loved ones departed, and who does it, not to flatter or please, but from having weighed them and proved their value, has a sacred place in your heart.

Of Brother Jones' family life I may briefly say: In May, 1851, he was united in marriage with Miss Emily Buck, of Buck's Bridge, St. Lawrence Co., in this state, who was a helpmeet to him in his long itinerant life and who is left now without his cheerful companionship, but waits a little—a relict of those days of activity in the great field of God. Six children were born to them, three of whom—A. B. Jones of Syracuse, William A. Jones of Seattle, and Miss Carrie Jones—survive him. Three have gone on before.

His decline began two years ago, but while suffering much at times he persistently held to his work, preaching as it seemed to his friends with greater liberty and unction than ever, as if he must crowd into the brief time left him years of work. Compelled at times to stop for a little, still he held on until his physical powers were completely exhausted. At the last session of the Conference he asked for a supernumerary relation and laid down his burden and laid himself down to work no more. His struggle with the fact that his active work was ended was hard, but sweet submission came and with it joy and peace in Jesus most delightful. It was a benediction to hear his testimony to the power of the gospel to save from fear. He has done well. He is crowned at last.

The funeral was held at the University Avenue church, Syracuse, Jan. 9. The service was in charge of the presiding elder of Syracuse District, who presented the obituary. The Revs. James Erwin, L. D. White and M. P. Blakeslee, presiding elder of Ithaca District, made remarks. The Rev. W. T. Titus made the prayer at the house and the Rev. J. B. Foote at the church. A large number of ministerial brethren were present at the service and expressed their brotherly sympathy with the surviving friends.

REV. ELIZUR HOUSE.

When Elizur House ceased to breathe, a good man went to heaven. He was born in Washington Co., N. Y., July 24, 1808, and died in Sempronius, Cayuga Co., N. Y., March 23, 1891, in the eighty-third year of his age.

He was licensed to exhort, Nov. 12, 1844, by Oliver Hesler, pastor of Truxton charge, and was licensed to preach, Jan. 15, 1847, by Presiding Elder, L. A. Eddy, at Truxton. He was ordained Deacon by Bishop Janes in 1851, and he was ordained Elder by Bishop Baker in 1860. He was admitted on trial at New York Mills in 1855, and was received into the Conference in 1858. He was pastor of thirteen different charges, was returned twice to former charges, and his pastorate extended from 1849, to 1878, in which year he took a superannuated relation.

He gave eleven of his best years to the adjoining charges of New Hope and Summer Hill, and when the years of superannuation came, he settled midway between these charges to spend his remaining days. His hold upon the affections of the people with whom he had labored so long and so faithfully was such that his services were in demand even after increasing years and failing health suggested rest and quiet. He was always welcome and his presence was a blessing and a benediction.

As a preacher, Brother House was earnest, fervent, eminently spiritual, and at times as for instance at camp meetings, his efforts were attended with most blessed results. He was a man of strong character, and in addition to his pulpit utterances, his every day life stood as a bulwark against the tide of wickedness and wrong.

Rev. L. C. Queal, D. D., preached the funeral sermon, and a large concourse of people followed the remains of Brother House to the grave. "Blessed are the the dead who die in the Lord."

H. C. MOYER.

REV. ORRIN TROWBRIDGE.

Orrin Trowbridge was born in the town of Tully, N. Y., Oct. 29, 1809, and died in Newark, N. Y., April 5, 1891. His parents moved into Wayne county when he was an infant, and settled upon what was long their homestead, between Newark and Lyons. The itinerant ministers soon came, and in 1812 Orrin's father and mother were among the converts. Soon their house became a place of worship, and meetings were held there many years.

He says: "The visits of those early messengers were occasions of greatest interest. We often looked upon them as superhuman beings, and the log-house was packed with attentive hearers, some of whom came from far. I never lost their impression."

In his eighteenth year he came to Jesus. Then all was changed. Having received license to preach from the Quarterly Conference at Lyons, where he was teaching, he was after two or three years recommended to Genesee Conference, received on trial at the session of 1839, and appointed to Rushville and Middlesex, with Abner Chase preacher in charge. In 1840 he was at Lawrenceville, Pa.; in 1841 on Canton Charge, Pa. In June he married Martha Genung, of Havana, the ever faithful wife and mother. By their united efforts and industry they secured a competence; but as a friend remarked, "How in the world did they live on the small salaries then received? $300, $400 or $500 being about the largest." They did live comfortably, helped to build churches, parsonages and lay the foundations of our schools and colleges, educated their children and contributed liberally to all the benevolent objects.

After traveling in the itinerancy about twenty-five years, Brother Trowbridge felt that the time had come to give his children a higher education, and moved to Lima, still continuing to supply adjoining charges three or four years. While at Lima he was elected Steward of the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, and continued three years. His excellent financial skill and executive talent were brought into requisition. He succeeded, with the assistance of his wife, to the satisfaction of the trustees, retaining the esteem of the students generally. From the institution at Lima two of his daughters were graduated. Mrs. Nutton, deceased, late of Newark, and widely known as one of its most gifted and brilliant students, and the wife of Judge W. M. Bateman, of Cincinnati, who spent some time traveling in Europe. The son, Frank E. Trowbridge, of New York, is also a graduate of Syracuse University, and a trustee whose generous gifts to that institution have added to its adornment and its facilities for scientific instruction.

His appointments, beyond the years mentioned were 1840, Lawrenceville, with E. G. Townsend; 1841, Canton, Pa.; 1842, Corning Circuit; 1843, Castleton and Orleans; 1843-45, Sardinia; 1846, Pike and Portageville; 1847, Aurora; 1848, Covington; (Genesee Conference divided, transferred to East Genesee Conference) 1849 Mansfield and Wellsboro; 1840-51, Victor; 1852-53, Pultneyville; 1854-55, Lodi; 1856-57, Waterloo; 1858-59, Benton Center; 1859-60, Mt. Morris; 1861, Walworth; 1862-63, South Sodus; 1864, Superannuated and moved to Lima; 1865-66, Taylorville and Canadice, supply; 1867-70, steward of Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, Lima.

On returning from Lima he returned to the scenes of his early life. There he became interested in the Sabbath-school work, and for a year or more conducted a large school at East Newark. He gave to the church as he had opportunity, and has left a good example. Thus for over fifty years he had been in the ministry, and for thirty years was engaged in the regular work. No amount of toil, privation and suffering was too great in order that "he might finish his course with joy, and the ministry he had received of the Lord Jesus Christ." When he had been in feeble health for some years the end came suddenly yet peacefully. From his late residence he was carried to his last resting place, the services being conducted by the writer, assisted by the pastor, C. H. Wright, Brother Van Benschoten, and Dr. Burgess.

J. L. EDSON.

REV. SELAH STOCKING.

Was born of New England Christian parents in Glastonbury, Conn. His father's name was Jeremiah Stocking whose house for a quarter of a century was the regular preacher's place, where primitive Methodism had its free and powerful manifestations.

His mother was a holy woman of rare excellency. She raised a family of eleven children, seven sons and four daughters. Five of the sons became ministers. Three of them became ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church and two of them ministers in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Selah was the youngest of the family and the last one converted, all the other children having previously been converted and received into the church.

Soon after his conversion which occurred when he was about 18, he felt the inward call to the work of preaching the gospel and entered Wilbraham Academy of which Dr. Wilbur Fisk was then Principal. Under Dr. Fisk's hand he received both his license to preach and was recommended to the New England Conference. He was received on trial the same month and year in which he had been licensed. He immediately took rank as a preacher, his first appointment being Marble Head, then a leading appointment. His following appointments in that Conference were Higham, Andover, Lynn, Newburyport; all in Massachusetts. At the beginning of this year he was married to Miss Mary Blood who proved to be a helpmeet indeed, and who still survives him. He was transferred to the Oneida Conference and was one of its charter members in 1828. His first appointment was at Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he had the most extensive revival of his ministry. He held his rank in this new Conference. In it his appointments were as follows: Windsor Circuit, Berkshire, Cortland, Windsor Circuit, Auburn, Cortland, Corning, Sauquoit. In 1846, he was appointed to the Chenango District where he remained his full term. During the ensuing Conference which was held at Honesdale, Pa., he was nervously prostrated which so affected his brain as that ever after he was restrained from prolonged or close study. But he so far recovered as to take light work and with some alternations as to his Conference relations he served the following charges: Pittston, now in Wyoming Conference, Sherburne, Coopers-town, Fort Plain, Stockbridge, Canastota, Marcellus, Wall Street, Auburn, Jamesville and Dewitt. From 1872 he lived a quiet but blameless life in retirement in the city of Syracuse, where he was most highly esteemed, co-operating with his pastor in all the work of the church as a valuable counsellor and helper, where he died in great peace and assurance, April 10, 1891, aged 85 years.

He attributed much to his excellent mother as to his conversion and the moulding of his character, and very much to his highly appreciated wife for his success in the ministry. He was an excellent, clear and forcible preacher; a man of sound mind and judgment, a kind husband and an upright and blameless man. Those who only knew him in his superannuation can hardly appreciate the strength of his character and his ability in his earlier ministry.

His work was unobtrusive, but heathful and abiding. The short space allowed for this obituary forbids the introduction of much that would enhance the estimate of his character, and serve to illustrate his worth and especially would heighten the estimate of his birth and breeding in that Christian home from which he sprang. It doubtless is without a parallel that in one family there should arise six prominent ministers. The father an ordained local elder and five sons all prominent and useful gospel ministers.

WM. REDDY.

REV. J. L. SEABURY GRANDIN.

The following data respecting this honored minister of Christ, has been furnished by his devoted daughter, Mrs. Anna G. Baldwin, at whose home in Elmira, he exchanged mortality for life, April 21st, 1881. He was the second son of the Rev. William and Ann Seabury Grandin, and was born at Papakating, N. J., April 17th, 1804. His early education was conducted by his mother until he was perfectly familiar with all the common branches. He then taught for a while and took private lessons in Latin and Greek. He also spent some time in Cazenovia Seminary. He was converted in 1827, and in 1831 received his first license to preach at Hector, N. Y., Rev. Abner Chase presiding elder. In 1832 his father died leaving upon him the support of the family consisting of the mother, three younger sisters and a brother. Finding an opportunity to enter the Custom House at New York, on a salary of $800 a year, he left the seminary. This gave him funds so, that in connection with his business, he also entered the "New York Theological Seminary" and graduated in 1841. He retained his position in the Custom House until the year before he graduated; was offered a liberal salary to become rector of a Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, but he declined it. His license was renewed by the Duane Street Quarterly Conference the 27th of July, 1841. In this year he joined the Genesee Conference and was appointed to Angelica. In 1842 he taught school and supplied Honeoye Falls, and in 1843 supplied Westfield, Pa. In 1844, Sept. 21st, he was married to Miss Elizabeth M. Knapp, while on the Tioga (Pa.) Circuit. He was ordained deacon in 1845 by Bishop Hedding, and elder in 1849 by Bishop Morris. A severe throat difficulty, from which he never fully recovered, led him to superannuate in the fall of 1866. He was agent of the American Peace Society for a number of years. About five years ago he relinquished his claim on the superannuated fund, yielding to those more needy. He lingered three years and four months after the death of his wife; but those years were spent in increasing weakness of mind and body until both became a wreck. Rev. S. McGerald writes that it was his pleasure to be the junior preacher under Brother Grandin on the "Coke's Chapel and Bristol" circuit, East Genesee Conference, in the Conference year of 1857-58. We found him to be a man of sterling quality and the year was one of prosperity on the charge. His beloved wife was a helpmate in the truest sense. The funeral services were in charge of Dr. Pearce, of the Hedding Church. Remarks were made by Rev. E. J. Hermans; Scriptures were read by Dr. Wilbor and prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas Sharpe. The interment was in the Woodlawn cemetery. Brother Grandin was actively employed in the ministry of the Genesee and East Genesee Conferences twenty-two years. His preaching was scriptural, methodical, interesting and very instructive. On special occasions, and before large audiences, as at camp meetings, his sermons were grandly eloquent and laden with convincing power. I think that I can truthfully say, he was eminently suited to a great occasion. He was one year my senior in the old Genesee Conference, and his death, I think, the one hundred and thirteenth from among those whom I have known and loved in that and the East Genesee Conferences. Tender memories of these often thrill my soul, and cause me to rejoice in the hope of a reunion with those so true and good, in the house and home eternal.

REV. GEORGE W. FOSTER.

The Rev. George W. Foster was born in Masonville, Delaware Co., N. Y., Sept. 11, 1831, and died in Masonville, May 9, 1891. He received a fair education at Unadilla Academy, at Franklin, N. Y., and at Wyoming Seminary, Pa. He was converted at nineteen years of age under the labors of Rev. E. P. Beebee, at Masonville, N. Y. His conversion was bright and clear, and he died in the triumphs of faith. He was received on trial at the Oneida Conference at Ithaca, April 1860. He served the church as a minister for thirty years in the Oneida and Central New York Conferences. His motto was: "Be ye filled with the Spirit."

A wife and two daughters survive to mourn their loss. He awaits them in the home above.

REV. ALBERT S. DURLING.

Brother Durling was born at Trumansburg, N. Y., Dec. 23, 1844. He was converted at eleven years of age in Trumansburg, at a revival during the pastorate of Rev. Nathan Fellows. Soon after his conversion he felt impressed that he ought to preach the gospel. If he had had proper instruction and encouragement he doubtless would have fitted himself for the work and entered the ministry much earlier in life than he did. But the impression grew less marked by delay and for some years he gave up the thought of preaching. During the war of the rebellion he entered the army and served for a few months. During these months in the service of his country, his health became impaired, and he never entirely recovered it. He was united in marriage Oct. 25, 1865, to Miss Alice M. Chapman of Trumansburg. For some years previous to his entering the ministry he was connected with the Trumansburg Praying Band and did effective service at camp-meetings and in aiding churches in revival work. During the years of connection with the praying band the old call to the ministry was revived and he decided to dedicate himself to that work. After making such preparation as circumstances allowed he was received on trial in the East Genesee Conference at its session in 1870 and served the following charges respectively in that Conference, Beaver Dams and Big Flats. In the Central New York Conference he served Rutland, Townsendsville, Freetown, Georgetown, Scott, East Steamburg, New Albany, South Sodus, Erin and Breasport, West Dryden, Gorham and Milo Center. Brother Durling was a man of strong convictions and positive traits of character, and had a deep religious experience. He preached with zeal, force and power. He loved to be in revival work, and generally had on his charges good revivals. He dearly loved the doctrines and polity of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was faithful and true in all his work. It may be truthfully said of him, "He was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith." Through his labors and instrumentality many souls were converted and brought into the church. His health became very much impaired during the second year of his pastorate on the Gorham charge, so that some time during that year was spent at the Sanitarium at Geneva. It was thought by his friends that he would have to retire from the active work at the approaching session of his conference, but during the latter part of the year, his health became so much improved that at the time of the Conference he felt it safe to take an appointment and he was stationed at Milo Center which was a lighter charge than the one he had been serving. He entered upon his work with zeal and hopefulness, and for the first half of the year appeared to improve in health. He was well and kindly received by the people of Milo Center. About the first of June last he grew suddenly worse and was taken to the Sanitarium at Geneva where he died on the 18th of June, 1891. During these few weeks of intense suffering he was calm and trustful, and enjoyed much of the Divine presence, and frequently expressed himself as resigned to the will of God. He leaves a widow and three daughters who deeply feel and mourn their loss of a kind husband and an affectionate father. His funeral was attended in the Methodist church at Trumansburg. A large congregation was present. Impressive and appropriate services were held, participated in by brethren from Geneva and Ithaca districts. His body was laid at rest in the beautiful cemetery of that village. Much credit is due the people of Milo Center for the kindly manner in which they cared for Brother Durling during his sickness, and the sympathy and kindness shown his family in their great bereavement.

REV. PORTER MCKINSTRY.

This beloved minister of Christ died at the home of his son, at Penfield, N. Y. Saturday morning August 1, in his eightieth year, having been born in the town of Junius, N. Y., Feb. 13, 1812. He was converted to God at the early age of 12 years, and joined the Genesee Conference in 1838. His first circuit was Eden, with Amos Worcester for his colleague. It was a year of great prosperity, one hundred and fifty being added to the church.

When the East Genesee Conference was organized in 1848 he fell within the boundaries of that Conference and was stationed that year with W. W. Mandeville junior colleague on the Ontario Circuit, Rochester District, then one of the most important circuits in the Conference, having a membership of four hundred.

This was a term of great prosperity. God abundantly blessed the labors of these devoted servants of the church. While Brother McKinstry was on this circuit two very successful camp-meetings were held near Walworth, at which a large number were converted. Dr. and Mrs. Palmer of New York, with Mrs. Lankford were present and labored efficiently, and a goodly number entered into the enjoyment of perfect love. It was at this camp-meeting that the editor of the ADVOCATE was baptized by the Rev. Dr. John Dennis. Brother McKinstry in writing afterward about his labors on that circuit said: "These were two years of most gracious manifestations of saving power. I can scarcely understand how we could perform so much work; but there are exceeding great and precious promises, and these were graciously fulfilled."

Brother McKinstry filled with great credit the office of presiding elder on the Bath and Corning Districts in the East Genesee Conference, and in 1860 he was one of the delegates to the General Conference which convened in Buffalo.

On the ninth of September, 1839, he was united in marriage to Miss Chloe Ann Hadley, who died at Hopewell, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1887.

When the East Genesee Conference was absorbed and lost its identity Brother McKinstry's lot fell within the bounds of the Central N. Y. Conference, of which he was a member when he died.

Brother McKinstry's conversion was clear, and he was favored with a deep experience in the divine life. He was a true brother, an excellent preacher, a faithful servant of the Church, a most affectionate father, and came down to old age with a sweet Christ like spirit that won for him friends wherever known.

From the Buffalo Advocate.

REV. ALFRED J. BARLTROP.

Rev. Alfred J. Barltrop, the second son of Chas. R. and Mary Barltrop was born in Essex, England, Dec. 12, 1847. At two years of age he came to America. So sympathetic and agreeable was he that in childhood, as always after, he was eagerly sought as a companion. The law of kindness was in his tongue, and he so partook of the Christ spirit as to melt to tearful tenderness under the plaint of another's sorrow. His conversion was thorough and hence satisfactory. In connection with his father in cottage prayer-meetings he was instrumental in leading many to the Cross. After spending sometime in local preaching and seeking educational furnishing he was employed in 1874 as assistant to the Rev. J. R. Gundy, in the Toronto Conference, Methodist Church, Canada. Waterford was his first charge. Subsequently he spent three years at the Methodist School of Theology, Montreal. In 1881 he was transferred to the Manitoba mission field, where for four years, with his slight body, he braved the rigors of the inhospitable climate. This is deemed the fated step leading to his early taking off. In 1885 he took work in the Central N. Y. Conference and was faithful in all his service till the year 1890 when congestion of lungs began the end which came in a brief year. As pastor Brother Barltrop was unremitting in his sedulous care; the details received as earnest labor as if they were his entire work. In pulpit ministration he was emphatically a teacher. Nothing sensational nor speculative found place in him; but the gospel pure, clear, and always orthodox did he earnestly present. Though cheerful, sometimes, indeed to merriment, he was profoundly reverential, and often solemn, without being ascetic or austere. His preaching was practical and he saw results. He loved nature in all her moods. His language was fragrant as new mown meadows or flowers freshly pressed. The thought of the Divine Authorship in nature he always held aloft. His suffering and decline illustrated the power of grace to uphold,—a theme which for fifteen years he had confidently preached to others. He wrote: "Often when I lie down I am too weak to pray, but I lie near the heart of God." When his mother had been praying for his recovery he said: "Mother, pray for the heathen, the Savior's soul is in travail for them till their salvation is accomplished." Upon being commended by his physician for bravery and patience unparalleled in his observation, the Christian hero said: "Why, Doctor, if God has placed me at one of the outposts to fight alone, I am not going to flinch or murmur". His last testifying was "All is calm"; and the death struggle was brief,—then his freed spirit hastened to its God. A good, pure, true man of God has gone to his reward, and the unfeigned sorrowing of those who knew him best attest his real worth.

REV. MICHAEL COYLE.

Was born of respectable Roman Catholic parents, was converted at a Methodist meeting when a young man, and felt the call of God to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He earned money enough to give him an academic course and entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Genesee Conference in 1857. By the change of boundary line he fell into the Central New York Conference, of which he was a member at his death. The period of his ministry was 34 years, during which he won many souls for Jesus Christ, having been very successful as a "Revival preacher." His last charge was Odessa, where he had a very prosperous time, leaving the church strong in numbers and finances. He was some years a Supernumary during which time he was engaged as a merchant, at which business he was very prosperous. His last work on earth was in the interest of Christ's kingdom. He had been engaged to address a Sunday school picnic on an adjoining charge, and after driving eight miles in an open vehicle, when the mercury was up to 90 or 100, he spoke very earnestly for an hour, and then after refreshments were served, he again addressed the people for forty minutes. By his effort he became very much exhausted and drove home, feeling very poorly, was not able to get out of the vehicle without help, staggered across the lawn, sat down on a chair, his wife sent for a doctor, but before he arrived our brother was unconscious, never returning to consciousness until death took him at 4 o'clock on the 28th day of August, 1891. Brother Coyle was naturally eloquent, especially so in prayer, and often spoke with great unction and power. He was benevolent, open-hearted and kind. The interests of the church were on his heart, and long before his death, he made arrangements to leave much of his property to them. The dispositions of his will are as follows: To the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church $2,000; Woman's Home Missionary Society $1,000; Freedmen's Aid Society $1,000; Board of Church Extension $2,000; Wm. Taylor Mission in Africa $500; Five Points Mission $500; for a second Carrie Coyle Scholarship, Syracuse University, $1,000; Syracuse University, toward the professorship, $1,000; for Education of Methodist Ministers $1,000; in addition to these bequests he gave several years ago $1,000 to establish a scholarship in the name of his deceased daughter Carrie. He had also for a time been supporting a native preacher in India.

FREDERICK DEVITT.

REV. JOHN H. DAY.

Rev. John H. Day, an honored member of the Central New York Conference, was born at Warwick, N. Y., June 22, 1819. He was well reared and religiously instructed, by his devout parents, who were members of the Presbyterian Church; in which church his father was an elder for 45 years. He had a clear and joyful religious experience when about 16 years of age, and soon after united with the Methodist Episcopal Church; with the doctrines and polity of which he found himself in hearty accord. His ardor and skill in church work, led to his being licensed to preach in the year of 1845. After serving the church as a local preacher with marked usefulness for five years, he was "admitted on trial" in the East Genesee Conference, and was appointed to the historic and renowned Loyalsock circuit, a very small part of which now constitute the Forksville charge. He was subsequently pastor of the following charges: Springfield, Canisteo, Thurston, Potter, Canoga, Mecklenburg, Horseheads, Hector, Jacksonville, Havana, Rush, Bellona, Hopewell, Gorham and Voak, Canoga, Rose, Lodi, Enfield and Kennedys, Millport, Milo Center, Reading Center and Millerton. With scarcely an exception, revivals attended his ministry upon these charges, some of them of great power and extent. For forty years he answered to his name at the roll call of his Annual Conference. Brother Day's preaching was eminently practical, evangelistic and fervent. As a pastor he had few equals and the success of his ministerial life was due to his systematic, industrious and religious visiting of the people committed to his care. One year ago our brother found his health and strength so impaired that he was constrained to ask for a superannuated relation. During the past year he preached often and was active in church work, though it was apparent to his family that his strength was gradually and steadily declining. He died at his pleasant home near Nelson, Pa., Oct. 4, 1891. His was the death of the righteous. Among his last utterances was this: "I rise above all my fears, and triumph in the living God." Besides a loving wife, whose practical devout life contributed largely to his success, he leaves two sons and two daughters to mourn his departure, while they cherish precious memories of a true husband and loving father.

MRS. JOANNA WILKINSON.

On the sixth of February, 1891, there passed to her eternal rest, Mrs. Joanna Wilkinson, widow of Rev. George Wilkinson, who died at Painted Post, N. Y., thirteen years previously. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Georgia Dorn, in Elmira, N. Y., where she had made her home for ten years. Between three and four years ago she received a stroke of paralysis; though she seemed to recover in a measure from the attack, yet she sank again, and during the last two years of her life was a confirmed invalid; her mind and body going down together. She finally sank into an unconscious state during the night, and remained so until her death the next day at four o'clock P. M. She was the daughter of Deacon Joel Jones, of Elmira, where she was born seventy-six years ago. Brought up in the Presbyterian Church, she was taught according to the old time doctrines of that church, and acquired a reticence as to the expression of her religious experience in public, that continued with her through life. She was nevertheless a great help to her itinerant husband in his work, and cheerfully bore with him the burdens of the ministerial life for the twenty-nine years previous to his death. She was the mother of Capt. M. C. Wilkinson, of Fort Snelling, Minn., and of Mrs. Alvah Bronson, of Painted Post, as also of Mrs. Dorn with whom she was making her home. Her last words, uttered before going into the sleep from which she was not to awake in this world, were, "All right." She seemed peaceful and happy during the last days of her life, and ready for the summons to a country where the inhabitants never say, "I am sick."

MRS. LAURA M. EDDY.

Laura M., wife of the Rev. L. A. Eddy died in Cazenovia, N. Y., June 4, 1891. Mrs Eddy was born July 12, 1806. Her girlhood was spent in Cazenovia, where her father, Jessie Kilborn, was a prominent citizen. She entered Cazenovia Seminary in December, 1824 with the first class, eight in number. In July, 1828, she was united in marriage with the young principal, the Rev. Nathaniel Porter, who after a year or two of service entered the regular work of the ministry in the state of New Jersey. He was stationed at Newark at the time of his death in 1831. She then returned to her home in Cazenovia, and she had occupied the same house for fifty-five years at the time of her death. That home for all these years was the center of Methodistic circles. In 1849 she was married to the Rev. L. A. Eddy, and they together were prominent in happy relations both with the seminary and the church. A few years ago they endowed one of the buildings at the seminary, now known as "Eddy Hall" and it is both an ornament and a blessing. In person Mrs. Eddy was graceful and attractive, in manner vivacious and social, and above all most efficient and constant in all departments of church work with hand, heart and purse. She was instrumental in bringing Mrs. William Butler to organize the first W. F. M. S. at Cazenovia. She was the first President. For nearly forty years she held the position of assistant superintendent. It was hers to see almost the beginning of Methodism in Cazenovia and to be mainly identified with it through the interesting years of its growth and progress. In his great loss Brother Eddy has the sympathy of a large circle of friends to whom they were endeared by their long years of loving service. She has left one son, Col. William B. Porter, in whose care and that of his family she passed her decline. The services of the funeral were tender and impressive, conducted by the Rev. F. T. Keeney, the pastor, with remarks by Prof. I. N. Clements and the writer, and she rests amid the scenes that were dear to her in life.

DWIGHT WILLIAMS.

MRS. ELLA HERMANS.

Ella Cramer, wife of Rev. W. S. H. Hermans, of Central New York Conference, died at the parsonage in Towanda, Pa., Aug. 19, 1891. She was born Nov. 3, 1848, in Mendham, N. J. Her excellent natural abilities received careful training. Receiving the best instruction early made her a specialist in instrumental music. At time of their marriage Oct. 2, 1867, she was a member of the Presbyterian Church and soon after joined the Methodist Church. After some years spent in teaching they began the itinerant life. For twelve years she has shared the work of a diligent and successful pastor. By consecration to God, by wifely devotion to her husband, by motherly tenderness and care of her children, and by enthusiastic devotion to church work, with attractive social manners she made friends for herself and family, and increased the number of earnest and useful Christians. Her health was impaired by a severe illness three years ago. Her passage to the gate outward was at times very painful but she was sustained by the sufficient grace. She has finished her course with joy and entered into rest. Brother Hermans and his motherless children are sorely bereaved, and are comforted with memories of the past, and with hope making bright the future.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

EDUCATION.

The committee on education would report as follows :

HOME INSTITUTIONS.

We are highly favored in having located within our borders two such institutions of commanding excellence as Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary. For them we must do our very best in the furnishing of money and students. Both are prosperous and growing, blessing the present and inspiring larger hopes for the future, but both need our attention and aid now no less than in the past. Our Conference pledge of $42,000 to Syracuse University for the endowment of a professorship, is as yet but partially fulfilled. The interest of the remainder must be paid, or the current expenses of the institution fail to be met. Cazenovia Seminary also while waiting for increased and sufficient endowment, looks to us as its only source of financial aid.

In view of these facts and the pressure to relieve Children's Day of competing educational interests, we recommend the observance of an educational week, beginning on the first Sunday of June next and ending with the second Sunday of June; that on the first Sunday a subscription and collection be taken in all our congregations in behalf of Syracuse University and Cazenovia Seminary, the proceeds of which shall be equally divided between these institutions and reported in the minutes of the succeeding session of this Conference, in a column especially provided therefor.

On the second Sunday of June we recommend the taking of a collection for the Children's Fund in our Sunday School, according to the provisions of the Discipline and the recommendation of the Board of Bishops, which shall be forwarded to the Board of Education at New York.

To aid in carrying out the above plans, we request Chancellor C. N. Sims and Principal I. N. Clements to prepare a program for the first Sunday in June, which shall be called Central New York Conference Educational Day, said program to contain cuts of our educational buildings, information concerning our educational institutions, appropriate music and responsive readings, and be furnished gratuitously to our pastors.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

We are glad to report another year of marked prosperity in the history of Syracuse University. Seven hundred and eighty-four students have been enrolled. The entering class in the college of Liberal Arts, numbers over ninety and the other classes are correspondingly large. The faculty consists of fifty-one teachers. Professors Mace, Hargitt, Emens and Holtzworth have been added to the faculty during the year. They are men with special fitness for the chairs they have been called to fill. The property of the university aggregates something over $1,700,000. But the productive income is not quite adequate to meet the current expenses, hence it is necessary to provide for a deficiency by private donations. However, the university possesses property which will in the near future add from $12,000 to $15,000 to its income. The building now in process of erection for gymnasium and Christian purposes, is admirably adapted to the same and will soon be completed. In addition to these material resources, we are pleased to note the enlarged place that the university is holding in the hearts of our people, and their increasing interest in its prosperity. We would not fail to commend the religious character of the institution and the thoroughly Christian spirit pervading its teachings, recognizing the fact that only Christian education can enable the church to do her largest and best work in the elevation of the people.

We hereby express our high esteem and hearty endorsement of Chancellor C. N. Sims and our appreciation of his earnest zeal and abundant labors in behalf of the university and pledge him our continual sympathy and support. We request the appointment of C. N. Sims as Chancellor and W. P. Coddington as professor in Syracuse University and of B. I. Ives as financial agent of the Central New York Conference Endowment Fund. We nominate J. B. Brooks as trustee in place of J. B. Brooks and S. F. Sanford, Thomas Stacey, Arthur Copeland, D. Keppel and D. D. Campbell as visitors.

CAZENOVIA SEMINARY.

This time honored institution still holds its high position in the community where it is located, among the educational institutions of the country and in the estimation of the church. 271 different students have been in attendance during the past year; and an aggregate by terms of 555. Thirty-four were graduated, fifteen of whom have entered college. The income of the seminary for the year was $24,946-12 and the disbursements about the same. The faculty remains as last year, except that Professor Earlman Fenner, a graduate of Syracuse University, takes the department of elocution and Mrs. Gertrude Cushing the art department. Professor I. N. Clements continues to fill efficiently and honorably the position of principal, and assisted by his very able corps of teachers, to administer satisfactorily the affairs of the seminary, keeping it in the front rank of institutions of its grade. With gratitude to God, we record that the moral and religious standard and life of the past is still maintained. Several conversions have taken place during the year, while the gospel services and religious meetings are times of spiritual refreshing. The needs of the seminary are more endowment, a thoroughly equipped gymnasium, a number of scholarships, and an enlargement of the library. Rev. Hiram Gee, who has already given largely both to the seminary and to Syracuse University, stands ready to gradually build up the scholarship fund, if the Conference and the friends of the seminary will unite with him in this needed and laudable work. The board of trustees during the year started a fund to increase the library, the whole amount raised to be duplicated by the state, and it is hoped that this interest will find favor with the friends of the seminary. Let this school have the moral and financial support of our Conference and people.

We nominate the following trustees: Term to expire in 1894—J. C. Tillotson in place of J. C. Tillotson, Rev. Benjamin Shove in place of Rev. Benjamin Shove, F. G. Weeks in place of F. G. Weeks, Rev. M. P. Blakeslee in place of H. T. Noyes, Rev. O. A. Houghton in place of Rev. O. A. Houghton, C. W. Chappell in place of C. W. Chappell, and Thomas Jones in place of Thomas Jones. Term to expire in 1893—G. L. Wells in place of I. N. Sherman, resigned.

We nominate the following visitors: J. E. Rhodes, J. C. B. Moyer, E. J. Hermans, C. E. Hamilton, L. Eastwood and W. W. Hunt.

We request the appointment of I. N. Clements as Principal of Cazenovia Seminary, and Wm. Searls as Financial Agent.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARIES.

Drew Theological Seminary, the School of Theology of Boston University and Garrett Biblical Institute, are institutions of learning that command our highest respect. They report appreciable advancement in the number of students and in property and equipment. They aim to give the best advantages at the least possible expense to their students; and the thorough training and excellent opportunities offered by these "schools of the prophets" commends them to the consideration of every young man looking toward our ministry, and to the fostering care of the Church.

We nominate as visitors to Boston Theological Seminary, G. W. Moxcey and Thomas Sharpe ; to Drew Theological Seminary, M. S. Wells, Theron Cooper and J. V. Benham.

THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY.

We recognize the fitness of the national capital as an educational center. We commend the far-sighted wisdom of Bishop John F. Hurst, and those co-operating with him, in securing a magnificent site of ninety-two acres at a cost of $100,000, contributed by the citizens of Washington for the American University, under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church. We hope and pray that this great Protestant enterprise may receive the favor of God and the adequate support of the entire church.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

We recognize in the Board of Education of our church, an important connectional organization, which is doing a much needed work. We heartily endorse the efforts of its secretary, Dr. C. H. Payne to secure unity, harmony and the greatest efficiency in the management of all our educational interests, and commend to careful consideration the plan for the federation of our Methodist institutions of learning, recently presented to the church by Dr. Payne.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

We have observed with satisfaction the movement of university extension whereby the learning of our educators is to be utilized for the benefit of many people who cannot attend the colleges and we approve the steps already taken by our Syracuse University, in harmony and co-operation with the regents of the state, in its arrangement to provide courses of lectures for localities within its reach, in harmony with the university extension idea.

L. M. VERNON, Chairman,

M. J. WELLS, Secretary.

TEMPERANCE.

We will not equivocate, we will not retreat, we will be heard. All we have said in the past in condemnation of the liquor traffic is as true now as when we said it. We hold ourselves steadily to the most advanced line of battle, the call of God and the cry of the oppressed join in demanding of us a solemn pledge in this presence that we will oppose the saloon and all its friends with the best wisdom we can command as long as we live, and when we fall on the field of battle we will bequeath the holy conflict to our children, with the earnest prayer that no truce may be made with the enemy until there shall be no more of this curse in the land. We would welcome a speedy triumph, but are ready for a long war.

We note some signs of progress and encouragement :

1. The friends of temperance are closing up the ranks and seeing eye to eye as never before, as is witnessed by the large and enthusiastic conventions embracing all shades of opinion among temperance workers.
2. A profounder spirit of tolerance and kindly charity towards those of the different opinion prevails more widely than formerly.
3. We regard the increased activity, wide spread influence, and hearty spirit of co-operation of the W. C. T. U. with the liveliest feelings of gratitude and satisfaction.
4. We are happy to observe an increased interest in the total prohibition of the traffic and against any regulation of it that implies the complicity of the citizen with its crimes. We earnestly urge all our church papers to give no aid or comfort to the enemy by taking any position that can be construed as favoring the license system.

OBSTACLES.

1. We deplore the fact that too many leading politicians continue to evince too great friendliness toward the liquor traffic and that the solutions they offer of the question appear in too many instances to have first received the endorsement of the saloon.
2. We think the Christian man's ballot often savors of sympathy with this great wrong—we fear many a man has made a record at the ballot box which he will not wish to meet at the judgment. We believe the time has fully come when we should all vote the doctrine of our discipline : "It cannot be legalized without sin."
3. We are greatly gratified at the position of our church on this question, and we resent any advice coming from any source to Methodists to be disloyal to their church, because of the relation individual members sustain to any political party.

4. We earnestly condemn the deliberate and systematic effort of the state department at Washington in seeking a market for American beer in foreign countries. This should cause the blush of shame to mantle the cheek of every lover of his country.

5. We also apprise the leaders of the political parties of this state that we are not ignorant of the fact that they conspired together to prevent a vote on the prohibitory Amendment last April.

IN GENERAL.

We do not regard the legal status so important as the education of the people, and the formation of a sound public sentiment. We recognize it to be our duty to preach it in our pulpits and teach it by word of mouth and example among the people, to train the children and youth and to be faithful along all lines of work of this kind; so that what is registered by law may be maintained by the people.

NOMINATIONS.

G. S. Transue, President; McKendree Shaw, Vice-President;
Geo. E. Hutchings, Secretary; S. F. Sanford, Treasurer.

W. H. ROGERS, Chairman,
D. M. YOUNG, Secretary.

THE STATE OF THE CHURCH.

Judging from the reports that have been made by the presiding elders and the pastors concerning their respective fields of labor, and all other indications of prosperity, we have reason to be profoundly thankful to God for the advancement that our church has made within the bounds of this Conference. There have been revivals of religion and accessions to our churches on most of the charges, and, notwithstanding the stringency of finances, the collections for missions show a healthy growth, and we believe this to be true of our other disciplinary benevolences. Besides this, churches and parsonages have been improved, mortgages cancelled, debts paid or greatly reduced, and other signs of encouragement. In a few instances our lines of battle may have been demoralized and the enemy has apparently gained a temporary victory, but generally speaking we have advanced our lines, recruited our ranks so that we are fuller than ever before, and the esprit de corps of the army was never better than now. Encouraged by the victories of the past, we feel confident that the army is ready to be led to greater achievements during the year upon which we now enter.

We rejoice especially in the great prosperity of the Epworth League, and believe that this organization has completely answered the question, "How shall we utilize our young people?" Like all new pieces of machinery this may have created a little friction in a few places, but we trust that all things have been, or soon will be, so adjusted that our whole work will run smoothly. Our church has many lines of work and each member should have an interest in the prosperity of every department. The young people and the older people should not be divided in interest, but should encourage each other in all possible ways. It would be a great calamity to our church if our Epworthians should ever entertain the thought that they have no responsibility in the church work and social meetings except such as belong to their organization. It would, also, be a great mistake if our older people should withhold cordial sympathy from the league because they are not eligible to membership, or have no place to work in them. Both old and young are necessary in our churches, and each class should encourage the other in all possible ways.

It grieves us to call attention to a few things that are not as they should be. We would affectionately lay these questions upon the hearts and consciences of our people. Is not family religion lacking in too many of our homes? Are there not too many vacant seats in our social meetings? Do all of our pastors receive that hearty sympathy in their work that is necessary to their greatest success? Are not our people too much controlled by the spirit of the world? Do we sufficiently realize that the "friendship of the world is enmity against God?" Do we sufficiently show our strong faith in the promises of God by our heroic deeds? Are we paying the vows we made when we were baptized and when received into the church? May the Holy Spirit press these and many other like questions home to our consciences.

We greatly fear that there is too much surface piety in our churches. The deep convictions, the clear conversions and the rich religious experiences of earlier Methodism, are, we fear, rapidly on the decline. This alarms us and is without excuse. We greatly deprecate, as tending to this superficiality in experience, the occasional practice of passing cards in revival meetings, for the signature of persons that intend to become Christians, and then reporting them as converts, when they have not prayed for pardon or ever knelt for prayer. Such converts are apt to be lovers of social parties rather than social meetings.

But, notwithstanding such unfavorable indications as may confront us, we rejoice that the Holy Spirit is still in the church, that our great leaders are experiencing and testifying of His power more and more, and that so many of our laymen, young and old, are bearing witness to being saved to the utmost by him, which is the blessed experience of all of God's dear children.

OBSERVANCE OF THE SABBATH.

There are many reasons why a strict observance of the Sabbath in our day on the part of God's people ought to be emphasized.

There is a growing tendency on the part of many of the world and some of the Church to desecrate God's Holy day by seeking pleasure, visiting, attending public places of amusement and patronizing Sunday excursions.

Believing that the Sabbath was made for man and that upon the proper observance of it will depend the prosperity of the Church and perpetuity of the nation ; therefore,

Resolved, That the Church should strongly oppose the Sunday newspaper, the opening of Fairs, halls of art and all places of amusement on the Lord's day. That Sunday excursions should on no account be encouraged by Christians. That social visiting and family reunions on the Lord's Day are manifestly demoralizing and ought to be denounced.

Resolved, That we protest against the World's Fair on the Sabbath day and most earnestly pray the Commissioners to respect the religious sentiment of this age by closing the gates and thus prevent the wholesale desecration of the Lord's day in this Christian nation. That the churches which have not already taken an expression of their congregations in regard to said closing be requested to do so.

Resolved, That we deprecate the action of any preacher of the Gospel, who leaves his pulpit and becomes the chief attraction of the Inter-State Fair on the Sabbath, thus drawing hundreds of people to such a place and away from God's house.

144      Central New York Conference, 1891.

REPORT OF THE AUBURN DISTRICT CHAUTAUQUA COMMITTEE.

TO THE CENTRAL, NEW YORK CONFERENCE :

The committee appointed by the last session of the Auburn District Conference to attend a meeting called by the Presiding Elders, of Central New York Conference at Fair Haven, N. Y., Sept. 23, 1891, to examine the lands offered for the location of the Central New York Conference Chautauqua there, and additional offers, for the same purpose, and to report the same to this Conference, beg leave to report as follows :

They attended said Fair Haven meeting, viewed faithfully the offered lands, carefully heard the liberal propositions of the responsible parties, found that capitalists stand ready to form an association with no lack of money, to buy the 275 acres, of which 100 acres are grove, known as the Platt and Harrison peninsula, bounded east by Fair Haven Bay ; north by lake Ontario ; west by Blind Sodus Bay, and south by Meadow Cove and a neck of land to Blind Sodus Bay, to build all the buildings the Conference wants for the uses of the Chautauqua work, to back and support financially the said Central New York Conference Chautauqua there for the years to come, to have the same ready for the free use of the Conference by the 1st of July next, and keep it repaired and improved to any reasonable extent without cost to the Conference or the possibility of any debt of the Conference forever, only that the Conference shall conduct or carry on an annual Chautauqua of first rate grade on said peninsula.

Another eligible offer by Mr. Backus, near Union Springs, N. Y., was fully considered. The gift there of 23 acres of grove on the shore of Cayuga lake and about 30 acres cleared land connecting the grove with the public highway and the railroad running through the grove, is offered for the Conference to build upon and support at its own cost a first class Chautauqua from year to year there beginning next July.

The wise choice of offers and the due consideration of the minutiae involved and the organization and conducting of the great institution contemplated, being impracticable by the entire Conference here and now, we, therefore, without favoring either offer as against the other, recommend the appointment by the bishop of a commission of nine with full power to act for the Conference to select the location, establish and prepare the whole Chautauqua work, form and carry out the program for next July and August, to involve the Conference in not a cent of debt, and make report of all these duties done for our further action at our next session, and that we hereby pledge ourselves to heartily co-operate with the plans made by this our said committee.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DEACONESES.

With this session of our Conference the Deaconesses' Home comes to the end of its first year of work and ministry.

The year opened with Mrs. N. W. Bass as superintendent, and three young ladies as probationers for the office of Deaconess. The committee of instruction having secured the services of Rev. E. C. Bruce, a retired minister of the Northern New York Conference, together with the co-operation of other clergymen of the city feel confident that our Home has been doing excellent work in the course of study prescribed for the Deaconesses.

Very encouraging compliments were made at the Lakeside Deaconesses' convention this summer on the work done in our Home in the matter of instruction.

The year has been one of great prosperity and the work has grown wonderfully on our hands.

The Home began the year occupying rooms on the second floor of 1519 Grape St., Syracuse, N. Y., but so rapidly did the work multiply that to-day the whole house is required for the work.

During the year 1,100 visits have been made; 1,470 hours spent in nursing the sick; 20 copies of the Bible placed in homes where there was none, a large number of tracts have been distributed; 200 children have been brought into the Sunday school and many souls led to Christ.

Much of this success is due to the efficiency of the superintendent whom we feel is the right person in the right place. While grateful to those who have assisted us in our work we would most earnestly urge our pastors to lend aid and to give encouragement to this work and its workers.

W. H. YORK, Chairman.

MEMORIAL ON EVANGELISTS.

The office of "Evangelist" is a divinely constituted and designated office in distinction from that of "Apostle", "Prophet", "Pastor" or "Teacher," its functions properly exercised, is an important auxiliary to the general work of the Lord in the Church.

Some abuses have grown out of the assumption of the office by self-authorized, incompetent, or injudicious persons. But much good has resulted in many cases by the wise, spiritual, and efficient labors of evangelists.

There is a place and a demand for this class of gospel laborers in the Methodist Episcopal Church. But our Bishops are not allowed to formally appoint regular itinerant ministers to this work, though the Annual Conference may officially request such appointments, for the reason that such permission is not given in the list of exceptional appointments, outside the usual and regular pastoral work. The change in the relation of Rev. Dr. S. A. Keene from the regular pastorate to a supernumerary relation, that he might give himself up to the work of an evangelist at large; and that too with the consent and approval of his Conference, emphasizes the importance of some new provision to meet this growing demand; therefore,

Resolved, That we memorialize and petition the next ensuing General Conference, so to change the discipline in Paragraph 161, Item 3. Under the title of "The Election of Bishops and their duty," as to include in the "Exceptions," there enumerated, the appointment of itinerant ministers as "Evangelists" for the Conference or "at large" when requested to do so by the vote of the Conference;

Resolved, That our delegates to the next General Conference are hereby instructed to present this petition to said Conference and use their united influence to effect its adoption and incorporation in the Discipline.

WM. REDDY.

CONFERENCE RELATIONS.

- The report of the committee is re-adopted as follows :
Because of certain tendencies of the times we deem it important to give emphasis to the following principles :

1. The Annual Conference is the authority to decide the matter of a change in the Conference relations of its members.
2. Personal convenience should not be the ground of an application for such change.
3. Heart-loyalty to the administrative economy of the church will not permit the subordination of the constitutional appointing power to individual pre-arrangement, nor regard the appointing authority of the church as simply clerical.
4. The laws of the church do not authorize or permit a caste division among its preachers, nor permit the supernumerary relation to be used as a convenient outlet from an equity-status for a man whose first choice of an appointment is not attainable.

Moreover, we recommend that hereafter all candidates for admission on trial or into full connection in the Conference, the full lists of the supernumerary and superannuated ministers, and all changes of relation from the effective ranks, be referred for careful investigation to this committee.

R. D. MUNGER, Chairman,
J. H. ROGERS, Secretary, pro tem.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO CHANGE THE PLAN OF CONFERENCE EXAMINATIONS.

WHEREAS, There is a growing demand on the part of the Conference Classes and the Board of Examiners to be relieved from the pressure of work incident to holding the examinations the day before the session of the Annual Conference ; and,

WHEREAS, It is desirable that we make our courses of Conference study more largely beneficial to those pursuing them, and the examinations more thorough, therefore your committee recommend the following plan :

I. Have the chairman of each committee so apportion the work among the members of the class that they will finish their study—one part January 1st ; one part March 1st ; one part May 1st ; one part July 1st.

II. Let each examiner send to each student at the beginning of each period such suggestions as may prove helpful in preparing his work.

III. Each examiner shall require from each student a synopsis of each book, to be prepared by the student at his home, and sent to the examiner by the time indicated for the completion of that study.

IV. In addition to the present Board of Examiners a superintendent of instruction, to be appointed by the presiding bishop, who shall by correspondence with the chairman of each committee, see that this plan is wisely carried out, and who shall have power, with them, to provide for any emergency that may arise.

V. A final examination, both oral and written, at some place or places to be agreed upon by the examiners not later than Sept. 1st, at which the work of the year shall be finished, thus giving to brethren who are in the various classes complete freedom to finish in the best way the other work of the year.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ACTION OF CHEMUNG PRESBYTERY.

Your committee appointed to consider the request of the Presbytery of Chemung that a committee be appointed by this body to confer with like committee from that Presbytery and the Baptist association relative to the consolidation of the weak churches in that territory report the following resolution which was unanimously adopted :

Resolved, 1. That we recommend the appointment of a committee of three from the territory covered by the Presbytery of Chemung to confer with the committee from that Presbytery, and a like committee from the Baptist association, in the same territory, to ascertain and report what in their godly judgment can be done to strengthen the church work in the weak places,

2. That the presiding elder of the Elmira District, L. H. Pearce and D. W. Smith constitute that committee.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES.

Your trustees would respectfully report that all the interest due on our invested funds has been promptly paid during the year. All monies uninvested and on hand at the last Conference and that have come into our hands since and including the avails of the Root mortgage have been invested. All other funds remain invested as last year. The trustees join heartily with the Conference in receiving with thanks, a donation to our funds of one thousand dollars from Rev. E. C. Curtis. This will make the total of our invested funds $11,011.08. We are glad to know that other friends of our Conference claimants are also inclined to remember this fund in their wills and that several have already indicated to us that they have done so. We earnestly hope that many more of our preachers and laymen will add to this worthy fund either by direct gift or bequest. The terms of Revs. Wm. Reddy and B. F. Barker having expired, we recommend the election of Wm. Reddy in place of Wm. Reddy and R. C. Fox in the place of B. F. Barker. The Conference is authorized to draw upon the treasurer for the sum of $540 interest for the year. All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. ROE, Secretary and Treasurer.

LAY DEACONS.

The question referred to your committee is that of the wisdom of establishing training schools, in our larger cities, for "Lay Deacons" in which lay workers shall be prepared to be efficient helpers for pastors and to do the best possible work, under some wise system, in carrying the gospel to the masses. Your committee are inclined to believe that the proposed movement is one of great importance and if properly inaugurated would bring about most desirable results. We would commend the subject to the further, more careful and more general consideration of the Conference.

Resolved, That it has given us great pleasure to welcome as our Presiding Bishop Rev. I. W. Joyce, D. D., His administrative ability resulting in the rapid dispatch of the business of the Conference has commanded our respect and his intense loyalty to Methodist doctrine and policy, his revival spirit, and his eloquent words made a power to reach our hearts by the Baptism of the Holy Ghost, will linger with us as a benediction and an inspiration to more consecrated service during the years to come. We urge the attendance upon the meetings of the county auxiliaries and urge them to use their money in supplying the destitute and if not so used, to forward it to the parent society to be placed to their credit. ### ARMY CHAPLAINS.

Your committee raised for the purpose of considering the present moral and religious needs of our army posts, and the merits of a certain "bill" called "An act to increase the number of chaplains in the army of the United States, to define their duties and increase their efficiency" would report as follows :

1. The statement made that "promotions are made [in the army] without reference to the moral character of an officer. A man may be a drunken sot, or a gambler, or a debauchee, and it will not interrupt his progress of promotion" is an alarming fact and meets with our most severe condemnation.

2. We favor the bill above referred to, that has for some time been before congress, a copy of which is before us, that seeks to more perfectly define the duties and increase the efficiency of army chaplains.

3. We recommend, that in accordance with the request of Chaplain Orville J. Nave, of the U. S. A., and corresponding secretary for corps of chaplains, that our Presiding Elders be requested to bring this matter before the several quarterly Conferences, on their first round, for the purpose of memorializing in some suitable manner, the senators and representatives of the several congressional districts, to support said bill and secure its passage.

FREEDMAN'S AID AND SOUTHERN EDUCATION SOCIETY.

We recognize the great work accomplished by the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society during the past twenty-five years.

Its disbursements have increased from $37,139.89 in 1866-7 to $321,953.94 in 1890-1 making a grand total of the magnificent sum of $1,939,785.29.

Its institutions have increased to forty-three including twelve colleges, twenty-nine Academies, three medical and two Theological schools, with an attendance of 9,275..

This great work needs the most hearty co-operation of every Methodist.

We believe that the education of the people is the best possible solution of the Southern problem and that the plans of this society are wisely adapted to secure their ends in training for the professions and for industry the greatest number.

We most heartily approve of the plan for a federation of all these schools under one system with uniform instruction and text books.

The increasing magnitude of this work demands every dollar asked for this work.

The amount apportioned to our Conference for 1881-2 is $4,510.

We earnestly recommend that we make our best effort to secure this amount, and that we present this cause on the fourth Sunday of November as requested by the Society.

W. E. RIPPY, President,
C. E. FRY, Secretary.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

To the Central New York Conference :

The Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church makes general statement of the work of twenty-five years.

The organization of this work, though directed by the General Conference of 1864, was not completed until the latter part of 1865, and the work really began in 1866, so that its first quarter of a century closes in the year of our Lord, 1891.

During this period the Board has collected and disbursed in round numbers, (the exact figures change daily,) . . . $4,250,000

Of this, the General Fund, derived chiefly from collections, but including special gifts for Frontier Churches, $250 each, and Mountain Fund specials of $100 each, contained a little less than two-thirds, for use by donation to churches, or . . . $2,750,000

The Loan Fund contains a permanent capital of . . . $750,000

And churches borrowing from it have returned an equal amount . . . $750,000 $1,500,000

Making the aggregate above given . . . $4,250,000

With this the Board has aided 7,700 churches, more than one-third of the entire number owned by our church.

Our Conference has shared in this work as follows :

|                                                                                                                         |             |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| The collection taken in our churches from the beginning to the close of the session for 1890, have aggregated . . . . . | $34,858.67 |

It is manifest that the efficiency and value of the Loan Fund depend upon the fidelity and promptness of churches, borrowing from it, in meeting their obligations. To fail in this is a most serious fault, which the Board in Philadelphia, as the custodians of the Fund, should not, under any circumstances permit. We urge our churches to meet every obligation with the strictest fidelity.

Christianity in Earnest, being issued every two months, gives fresh and valuable information concerning Church Extension and suggestive discussion of this and kindred subjects. It is a great help to the pastors, and a larger circulation among our people, especially our official members, would promote the interest of this cause.

Glad Tidings, with its service of song and condensed information, is pre-eminently adapted for a Church Extension service in every church and Sunday school. We cordially recommend its use in taking the Annual Collections.

Church Architecture has been greatly improved under the auspices of the Board, and we earnestly advise all who contemplate building to avail themselves of the facilities which the Board has to offer.

In organizing new churches, and in taking titles to church property, there should be great care to conform to the laws of the State and the Discipline of the church. The necessary information is now accessible to all in the book on Laws and Forms for Churches, prepared by the Corresponding Secretary, Dr. A. J. Kynett. This, and the necessary blank forms can be obtained of him.

We recommend for adoption the following resolutions :

1. We congratulate the church upon the great work accomplished by our Board of Church Extension, and commend it to the enlarged liberality of all our people.

2. The fact that our country is new, that our population doubles in less than thirty years, so that within another quarter of a century we shall exceed an hundred millions of people, and that the powers of evil are intensely active, demand that the work of Church Extension shall be greatly enlarged in the quarter of a century to come.

3. We will not be content until, in the enlargement of this work under the direction of the General Committee and Board of Church Extension, we shall fully perform the part assigned us as a Conference.

4. In order to do this we will, in our several appointments, endeavor to lead all our churches to respond in full to the call made upon them in pursuance of the plans of the Discipline.

J. C. NICHOLS, Chairman,
T. R. GREEN, Secretary.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

The Committee on Books and Periodicals desire to make the following report :

The Christian Press we regard next in importance to the Christian Pulpit. If the world be saved to righteousness, it will be because of types and talkers. The more lines of print, the more lives of saints. The more readers of Methodist books, tracts, hymns and papers, the more Methodists and the more Christians.

We regard the Eton College boy who founded the Book Concern, and the Oxford College boy who founded the Itinerancy, co-laborers in kind and co-rewarded in degree,—and their like after them.

We congratulate the Church on its past record in the publishing business. It has printed as well as preached and sung its way from weakness to strength, from ignorance to knowledge.

We will forever hold in honor the saddle-bag libraries and librarians—Asbury a student of Adam Clarke's Commentaries,—the preacher a book buyer, book reader and book agent.

We commend the Book Agents at New York for their business like management of our publishing interests,—a management never to be surpassed, if equalled ; but we believe that our Agents, our Book Committee, and our Editors, should endeavor to promote an old fashioned revival of religious reading, by putting our publications at a price, especially our Advocates, where our preachers can circulate rather than beg them into the homes of our people. We denounce the cry raised against cheaper prices as un-Methodistic and un-American. Give our preachers a chance to compete with other weeklies published from independent and secular presses,—and we will double the revenue of our Book Room and centuple the power of our Methodist press in the enlightenment and elevation of the plain people of this country.

In this connection we commend World Wide Missions as the beginning of a brighter day and the opening of wider doors into the kingdom of Christian facts and faces, which is also of the kingdom of God. We rejoice in the 33,000 subscription list of the Epworth Herald, and commend the evangel of League light to all the young people of the church.

We also generally commend our own Northern Christian Advocate, and are grateful for its history of fifty years' service.

And we recommend that during the coming Conference year every pastor strive to sell more books, distribute more tracts, circulate more papers, and thus make intelligence in the world which professes to be in Jesus, keep pace with intelligence in the world which yet lieth in the wicked one.

A. BROADWAY, Chairman,

A. COPELAND, Secretary.

TOBACCO.

Another year of observation has more than ever impressed us with the fact that our usefulness as a church is materially diminished by the presence of the tobacco evil among us. We note with satisfaction and gratitude the recent action of the Presbyterian Church in refusing to ordain to their ministry, any man who is addicted to the use of tobacco.

Believing as we do that the church of to-day demands clean men in both pulpit and pew, and believing farther, that the usefulness of any individual, either lay or clerical, is greatly impaired by its use, therefore,

Resolved, That we earnestly and affectionately urge all our people to desist from the use of this filthy and poisonous narcotic; and,

Resolved, That we urge upon our people the importance of employing as Sunday school workers only such persons as are entirely free from this habit; and,

Resolved, That we deem it important that by both precept and example, we show our uncompromising opposition to this evil; and

Resolved, That we approve the proposition to incorporate in the teaching of hygiene in our public schools, lessons concerning the baneful effects resulting from the use of tobacco; and lastly,

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the recent action of our State Legislature in making it a criminal offence to sell cigars and cigarettes to minors under sixteen years of age.

C. A. WILLSON, Chairman,

L. S. BOYD, Secretary.

CHURCH INSURANCE.

The committee on Church Insurance beg leave to report that in view of the importance of the subject and the impossibility of giving it the degree of attention demanded at the session of an annual Conference, therefore,

Resolved, That a commission consisting of the Presiding Elders of the Conference be appointed to thoroughly investigate during the year the subject of Church Insurance and especially the provisions of the Church Insurance Associations recently incorporated by the State of New York ; and to report matter for our action at our next session.

J. H. ROGERS, Chairman,
C. R. MOGG, Secretary.

Are You reading
Roswell G. Horr's great articles in The Tribune ?

IF NOT, YOU ARE missing the best and finest writing on the particular topics, which are uppermost in this campaign, and will be uppermost next year, that has been seen in The N. Y. Tribune since the days of the inspired Horace Greeley himself. The Tribune has engaged Roswell G. Horr, the witty orator, for many years a Member of Congress, especially to educate the public of America on the Tariff, the Currency and the Coinage. These topics are all understandable enough ; the Republican policy with regard to all of them is right and patriotic and absolutely impregnable ; but dust has been thrown in the people's eyes, and the air has been filled full of fog, by lying and tricky Tariff-Reform orators and the newspapers published in their behalf.

Read The N. Y. Tribune this year and next ! you cannot do without it. Mr. Horr begins at the beginning of every subject, and makes it so clear that everyone can understand and no one can answer him. Ask any neighbor who reads The Tribune what he thinks of Mr. Horr's writings. He will tell you that they are genial, clear, entertaining and perfectly unanswerable. A specialty is made of answering questions.

Through Two Campaigns, for $1.

This is the price of The Weekly Tribune. Pay your $1 now and get the paper until January 1, 1893. Or, you can pay $2 and get the Semi-Weekly for the same period ; and The Semi-Weekly Tribune is the most charming general newspaper in America. To get the benefit subscribe this Fall.

There is a page for old soldiers in The Tribune ; a great editorial page ; and a variety of foreign letters and special and costly articles on a hundred topics.

Hitchcock Manufacturing Company.

"OUR STORY."

The highest priced vehicle is not always the best ; nor is the cheapest the most desirable. The happy medium is the procuring of a good article at the nearest to cost price possible, and give to the manufacturer a living profit, and enable him to pay for raw material, and his employee's wages.

This is the very best that can be asked by a purchaser or consumer, and hope to have the manufacturer continue his capital in business.

What every purchaser of goods dislikes to do, is to be compelled to pay the manufacturer's percentage for losses which he makes by sales to irresponsible parties, while he is compelled to pay his bills in full. Nor does he care to help pay the salaries and expenses of traveling salesman ; no customer would do this, if he had the figures plainly added to his bills ; say five per cent. for bad debts, and ten per cent. cost of salesmen.

Yet can anyone doubt but that these expenses are included in the bills by every firm that sends its traveling men to your place and gives to their customers long time credit.

Now it is the plan of the Hitchcock Manufacturing Company to have their customers write for Catalogue, and find accurately described just what they wish to purchase at the price we name.

This costs but a few cents in postage to either party, and our price will be a guarantee to you that we do as we say ; make no bad debts, nor ask you to pay expenses of salaried salesmen and thus have saved over $100,000.00 to our Customers.

We have used the SPOT CASH system for over two years to the entire satisfaction of our customers and ourselves.

Our goods are fully guaranteed ; we have to day more people using our work in Cortland, than all the other factories combined.

We do as we promise. See our list of Manufactured articles.

In our wagon department we make an extended variety of Cabriolets, Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Buck-boards, and Road-wagons ; Platform Combination, and Three Spring Wagons.

A complete assortment of tops, a large amount of Sleighs, Cutters and Bobs and some eight or ten different styles of Carts.

We also carry a full line of standard harness unrivalled for excellence and price.

In our Foundry Department we make the celebrated Victor Mowing Machine, and the Standard Farm Machinery now in use.

We also make a very complete and practical line of wood and iron working machinery, adapted to every class of carriage work, and used by every principal builder in the U. S.

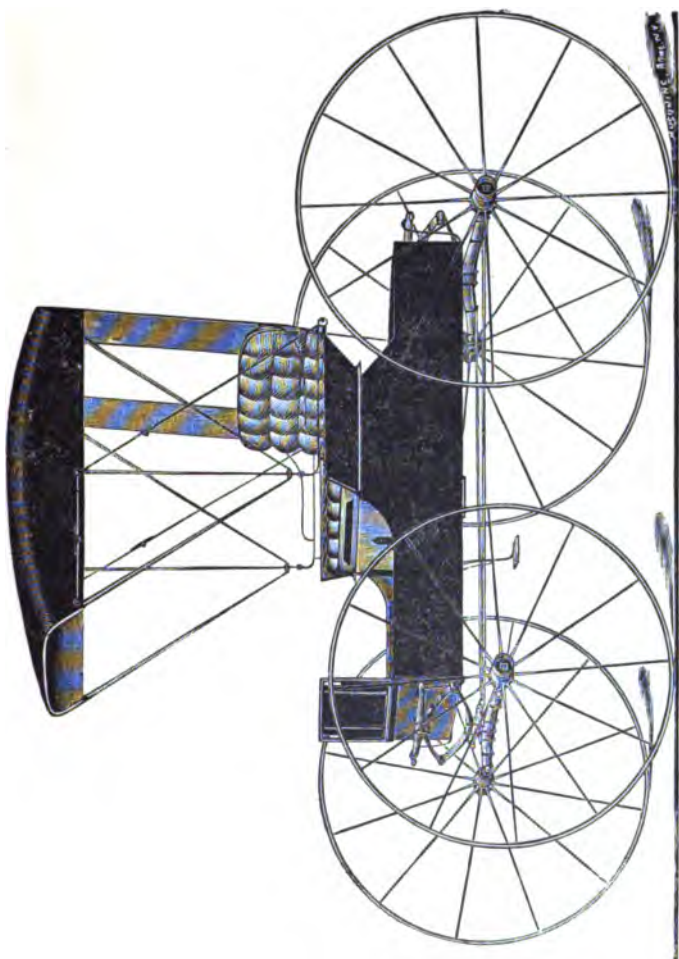

Write for Catalogue.

In our Animal Trap Department we make a most complete line of Double and Single Jaw traps with and without chains, and own the most modern and useful inventions in this line of industry now extant.

Our "Hints on Trapping" is widely sought and found of great value to Trappers in general.

If you write to us, we will send you free our Catalogue, and to the Clergy we will sell at wholesale prices.

Address, Hitchcock Manufacturing Co., Cortland, N. Y.

"The Test of the Pudding Is In Chewing the String."

We will sell this fine End Spring Buggy to the clergy for $44.80. It has full lined rubber top, broadcloth trimming, steel tires and axles, and a buggy that will cost at any other factory in the state from $10 to $15 more at wholesale.

COMMENDATIONS FROM THE BISHOPS.

I am delighted with the "Life of Matthew Simpson." You know that I am not a great admirer of biography, but you have made an interesting book, and one that I cannot doubt will find a wide circle of readers, both of our own Church and others. You had a great subject, and have done ample justice to it.—R. S. FOSTER.

The book is worthy of its noble subject. The full knowledge which Dr. Crooks has of the recent history of American Methodism, his sound judgment, and his rare literary skill have enabled him to furnish a life-like portrait of one whose "gift and graces" put him easily into the front rank of ecclesiastical leaders. It is a book which will interest, instruct and inspire in no ordinary degree.—EDWARD G. ANDREWS.

I have read the "Life of Bishop Simpson" with great interest and pleasure. There was good reason to expect an excellent work, because of both the subject and the author, but the result is far beyond my anticipations. The youthful period of Bishop Simpson's life is treated with remarkable skill and sympathy, and the whole history of it is a magnificent piece of wise dealing in detail and a triumph of accurate search into the obscure and early forces of a majestic and brilliant ministerial career.—JOHN F. HURST.

The "Life of Bishop Simpson" is one of all the most valuable of all recent contributions to Methodist and American Church history and biography. . . . Dr. Crooks, one of the ablest writers of his Church and of his times, has done his work wisely and well; and every library of every minister and of every loyal layman, and of every Sunday-school in the church should contain this admirable life of Bishop Simpson.—JOHN H. VINCENT.

I find it an admirable portrait of the great and good bishop, a very complete presentation of his unique personality, a penetrating study of the sources of his power, and a sympathetic treatment of the environments which stimulated his genius.—DANIEL A. GOODSSELL.

You have executed your task with great fidelity and excellent taste. We are greatly indebted to you for a graphic portrait of the great bishop and his times, which will retain its place through all the future classics in our denominational literature.—W. X. NINDE.

For the accommodation of our friends at the East, we have prepared a form of Certificates of Deposit with coupons attached. The Certificates of Deposit bear interest at 5 per cent. and can be paid at any time desired. The coupons are very convenient for collecting the interest quarterly or semi-annually as desired. This is better than depositing in Savings Banks at lower rates of interest.

We can give you some very choice 6 per cent. loans running 5 to 20 years, which we will guarantee, and you can always rely on prompt payment of interest.

We shall be pleased to serve you.
